Westmount Club Wins Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—The George S. Lyon Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the Ontario team golf championship, will return to Kitchener for the fourth time in six years, but this time to the Westmount Country Club.

The Westmounters captured the trophy in Friday's scorching play at Toronto St. George's for the first time. The three other Kitchener wins have always been by the Rockway representatives.

Westmount came through by 10 strokes over London Hunt, 299 to 309, the third successive year that the Londoners have finished runners-up.

The Westmount quartet which disposed of 25 other clubs was made up of Gerry Kesselring and Gordon Ball, each with a 73, Grant Shirk, 76, and Don Heller, 77. It was the only team to have all four members in the select 70 circle.

Kitchener Rockway was third with Humber Valley fourth. Scarboro came next with St. George's and Brantford trailing.

Smokey Harvester Wins 1st Race In 2 Yrs.

TORONTO (CP)—Smokey Harvester, a big grey gelding owned by Dick Johnson and Pete Piquet of Oshwego, Ont., won his first race in two years Friday.

His reord showed only two thirds in 11 races and he had drawn the outside position—a bad spot in harness racing where the first turn comes quickly on the half mile tracks. His odds were 50 to 1.

Accordingly, when the big grey came pounding down with his nose in front of Dulcie Dillon in the sixth race he registered the biggest single race payoff of the Thorncliffe Raceway season — a whopping $101.60 for a $2 straight ticket. Driven by Gordie Kitchen

MANGRUM TAKES LEAD

CHICAGO (AP)—Dapper Lloyd Mangrum dropped an 18-foot birdie putt on the 17th green Friday that paid off for a second-round 68 and shot him into a one-stroke lead with 137 at the end of 36 holes in the $25,000 All-American golf tournament.

Mangrum, who is 39 today, pinned his 33-35—68 to an opening 69 to snip seven strokes off par at Tam o'Shanter, a course he represents on the tournament circuit.

Grouped on his heels at 138 were Jimmie Clark, 32-year-old ex-marine from Laguna Beach, Calif., with a 69 Friday; the 1953 Canadian Open champion, Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., with 67; Ed Furgol, withered-armed pro from Clayton, Mo., who forfeited a stroke to par after being trapped on No. 16; and Porky Oliver, who fired a sparkling 65.

Ol' "Pork Chops" hit all of Tam's greens but the 18th where he had to chip dead to salvage par 4. His best shot was sticking a No. 4 iron three feet from the cup on the 215-yard 16th for a deuce.

Henry Martell of Edmonton scored a second-round 73, and this coupled with his earlier 75 gave him a 148 total, far down the field.

On the heels of the leaders were such veterans as Lawson Little of Pebble Beach, Calif., who hooked a 69 to his first round of 70, and 120-pound Bob Toski, North Hampton, Mass., who welded a 34-32—66 to his 73.

Little Betty Hicks of Culver City, Calif., the 1941 women's U.S. champion, continued to set the pace in the A-American Women's Open with a sparkling second round of 37-36—73 for a halfway tally of 149, three under par.

Child's Temper

ren. They crop up most frequently when youngsters are depleted physically ar emotionally. Too much adult pressure produces a rebellious youngster. Perhaps there has been too much excitement or too many orders.

No good comes from blaming a child for his angry feelings. He needs mother's help to realize that a temper tantrum does not "pay off". A little more rest or less strict discipline, may be two practical ways to lessen the frequency of these outbursts but they will not help all tempestuous scenes. If a child is using a temper tantrum to attract attention or because he is jealous of a new baby in the family, these reveal his loneliness or insecurity.

Learning emotional control, like growing up, is a long slow process. Parents help their children if they realize that temper tantrums are part of this growth process of the very young. With patience, and understanding and love, these emotional flare-ups will gradually disappear — although at the beginning of adolescence they may re-appear in another form.

The child with a temper tantrum is a child in distress who craves help — not a naughty youngster who needs harsh punishment! Don't fail your youngster when a temper tantrum darkens his small world!

Army Captain To Stand Trial On Theft Charge

CAMP SHILO, Man. (CP)—Capt. Martin F. Smith, 34, of Westboro, Ont., ordnance officer at Camp Shilo in 1952, Friday was committed for jury trial on charges of theft in connection with disposal of $30,000 worth of scrap metal at the military camp.

A Brandon scrap dealer was named as the alleged receiver of a large quantity of brass shell casings unaccounted for at the camp.

Smith was arrested at Regina last week and taken to Winnipeg for arraignment. His arrest followed a joint army-RCMP investigation into suspected irregularities. Smith, still not represented by counsel, chose jury trial at Winnipeg

Staff Sgt. Douglas R. Morley of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps testified Friday he was ammunition examiner and NCO in charge of the ammunition magazine at Shilo up to May, 1952.

He said Smith had told him he (Smith) was "desperately short of cash and if he didn't get some soon the old man would cashier him."

The staff sergeant said he offered Capt. Smith a loan, but was told any amount he would have was not enough.

An officer who took an audit in August, 1952, said he had found a shortage of 151,514 pounds of brass.

Believe Word Canada Means 'Village'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian board on geographical names said Friday it believes the word "Canada" comes from an Indian word meaning "village."

The board said Jacques Cartier's report on his second voyage in 1535 included a list of Iroquois words among which was "Canada" meaning a village, collection of tents or encampment. The Iroquois were one of the principal Indian tribes.

The board, comprising officials of the mines and technical surveys department, gave two other possible explanations for the origin of the name but said it thinks them less likely than the Cartier explanation.

OTHER EXPLANATIONS

Early Spanish explorers who cruised along North American shores are said to have described them by the phrase "aca nada," meaning "nothing here." Also, it is thought, the word "Canada" which means strait in 15th century Portuguese, may have been applied to these shores by explorers of that country who sighted them.

The board said it is inclined to reject these two explanations because there is no written evidence to support them.

International Wheat Pact Starts Without Britain

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—The new international wheat agreement goes into effect today with Britain — the world's largest importer—on the outside looking in.

Nobody here professes to know exactly what will happen, but obviously the British government hopes that during the three-year life of the agreement private traders will be able to buy wheat at least as cheaply outside the pact as within it.

Britain declined to sign on the ground that the maximum price, set under the new agreement at $2.05 a bushel, was too high. She would have signed for five cents a bushel less, though she felt even that an unrealistic price.

As seen here, the real contest now opening is between Britain's bargaining power as the largest wheat buyer and the price-support program of the United States, which is contended to have kept wheat at a falsely high price at a time of abundant harvests.

U.S. HOLDS BACK

Some British officials say privately that Canada, one of the big exporters, would have been willing to settle for a maximum agreement price as low as $1.90. But American officials, it is said, refused to go lower than $2.05.

A factor in Britain's favor is that the world wheat carry-over at the end of the 1952-53 season totalled 1,304,000,000 bushels, including 430,000,000 bushels in Canada.

The new wheat agreement comes into force at a time when Britain, through a separate but probably related decision, has already handed the grain trade back to private enterprise. The import of wheat has been open to private traders since May 1, nominally ending 14 years of government buying. However, it is not expected that private trading will actually begin to any extent until the end of August.

Archie Munro Pennie Named Secretary

OTTAWA (CP)—Archie Munro Pennie, 37, of Quebec City, Friday was named secretary of the defence research board to succeed Dr. J. C. Clunie of Sarnia, who will carry out research activities at the board's Kingston laboratory.

Mr. Pennie is a specialist in applied chemistry who joined DRB's armament research and development establishment at Valcartier, Que., in 1948. He is also a wartime RAF pilot.

6 Municipalities Get $44,000

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Six municipalities in Western Ontario will receive cheques totalling more than $44,000 when the London tornado relief fund is officially closed Aug. 15.

The money will be distributed on a percentage basis to five counties and the city of Sarnia to help city dwellers and farmers hard-hit by the May 21 twister that ripped across Western Ontario.

Thirteen representatives to a co-ordinating committee Friday night unanimously voted to include Huron county in the benefit program. Originally, only the counties of Oxford, Perth, Lambton, Middlesex and the city of Sarnia were to share contributions.

Search For Gold

Legend Says Coastal Dunes Cover Up Gold Laden Ship

LA ROCHELLE, France (Reuters) — An old legend and the twitching of diviners' pendulums have brought gold fever to this quiet corner of France's Atlantic coast.

The legend is that coastal dunes have covered up the hulk of a gold-laden ship wrecked 132 years ago.

One diviner checked the area last March and said: "I was suddenly seized by a sort of electric current. My pendulum led me. I could not resist it. I knew then that this is where it was, and that any digging here would succeed."

Digging started and this week the shovels uncovered wood at 50 feet. The salvage workers said another week should tell the tale, but the fact that the wood is there has converted many sceptics.

Farmer Albert Mady and his wife, Eglantine, who own the land, are convinced there are about 30 tons of gold there. The Madys checked their title to the land and were told that if there is treasure more than 100 years old it will be their exclusive property. So they called in a salvage firm.

When the salvage workers struck wood, local inhabitants joined in the digging with the promise of a share in whatever is found.

Local records say the schooner La Confiante was sunk on her maiden voyage from the United States in 1821. The records also say she was pillaged of a quantity of gold and jewels.

DIVINERS CALLED IN

But the local folk preferred to believe the hoard was untouched and down the years the amount of gold has risen from about 500 pounds to "several dozen tons."

Mrs. Mady was sceptical when told of the "electric currents."

"I didn't want to believe in divining," she said, "but when I tried the pendulum myself, it almost fell out of my hands."

Professional diviners also felt the "emanations" and said there must be about 38 tons of metal under the sand. The theory was that sand had covered the derelict and the shoreline had moved out several hundred yards.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Reports from Mendoza said a four - man team has succeeded for the first time in making a winter ascent of Mount Aconcagua, highest peak in the western hemisphere. The summit is 23,810 feet high. The climbers planted a banner at the top which bore a picture of Eva Peron, late wife of the Argentine president.

CBC-Union Agreement

MONTREAL (CP)—The first collective bargaining agreement covering staff employees of the CBC was signed Friday by the CBC and the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (CIO-CCL). The contract, covering 500 technicians in radio and television, includes a general wage adjustment, reduction of the work-week from 42 to 40 hours, overtime pay and paid vacations.

10 More Homes Put To Torch

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Doukhobor terrorists put the torch to 10 homes early Friday as a wave of violence appeared to be gaining momentum in the West Kootenay district of British Columbia.

RCMP said eight homes were burned at Krestova, unofficial capital of the radical Sons of Freedom situated on a bleak, rocky hill 18 miles west of here. Two more homes were burned at nearby Goose Creek.

In addition police were investigating a fire at Kinnaird, B.C., which destroyed a sawmill late Thursday

Nine Freedomite homes were burned June 29 when John Verigin, head of B.C.'s orthodox doukhobors, was married.

More than 70 homes, mostly in the Krestova-Goose Creek area where about 1,000 Freedomites live have been burned this year. Most burned-out families move in with neighbors but tents now are springing up across Krestova hill as all building accommodation has been used.

Labor Dept. Big Help In Disputes, Frost Says

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Premier Frost said Friday the "success which has attended the labor department's industrial and labor relations comes from the fact the department offers a medium through which the disputants may come together in an impartial atmosphere and impartially bargain."

His comment was contained in a letter sent in reply to a city council resolution urging Mr. Frost to call a meeting of interested mayors in Western Ontario in an attempt to settle the strike of some 1,500 truck drivers.

Mr. Frost said he forwarded council's resolution to Labor Minister Charles Daley, Mayor Arthur J. Reaume said last week in a letter, sent to Mr. Frost after council received no reply to its resolution, that the government should use "its influence" over the trucking firms to see that the striking employees receive a "fair wage."

SURE DALEY PLEASED

Mr. Frost said he was sure "Mr. Daley will be pleased that he is free to call upon the mayors to assist if this is necessary."

Mr. Reaume, in a reply to Mr. Frost's letter, said:

"It might be well for the department (of labor) to bring them (the disputants) together and keep them together and keep talking until the dispute is settled."

Attempted Murder Charge Is Laid

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Police said Friday they have charged Jack Traynor, 27, of Owen Sound with attempted murder and indecent assault after a 13-year-old boy was forced to take off his clothes and was pushed into the harbor here.

Traynor was remanded to Aug. 7 when he appeared in court today.

Police said the boy, Carl Osborne, was dragged from a playground park Wednesday night and taken to the waterfront. After he was shoved into the water, Carl shouted for help and was pulled out by two youths in a rowboat.

Weekend Church Feature:

Home Is Greatest Problem Of Present-Day Society

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

One of the greatest problems of present-day life and society is that of the home.

It is constantly emphasized that at the root of juvenile delinquency is poor homelife, with lack of parental guidance and control, and often serious delinquencies in the parents themselves. Nor are such parental delinquencies confined to the poor, illiterate, and underprivileged.

Careless, self-indulgent, and undisciplined parents, rich and poor, must bear their share of responsibility; but one must deprecate a common tendency to blame parents for everything. Among professional and amateur psychologists, who parade their views more in public than in classrooms, it is almost a proverbial maxim that parents are always wrong.

But even the wisest, best intentioned, and best disciplined of parents are today faced with conditions that make help and guidance in child training and the direction of youth difficult and uncertain. The finest home has to contend with forces and influences outside of the home that tend to offset all that the home can do. These outside influences have youth for longer periods than the home itself.

A more serious factor, however, is the low standards of conduct that are so widely prevalent. We live in a so-called Christian land, in which the vast number of Christian churches, Protestant and Roman Catholic, and the Jewish synagogues and temples, and institutions of other religions, ought to typify high and wholesome ideals, evidenced in character and conduct.

Unfortunately, without being pessimistic about it, or disregarding the actual wholesome influence of all these institutions of religion, we have to face the fact that a widespread secularism, materialism, and low morality is all too evident. And this debasement of ideals seems to have increased in recent years.

If youth was surrounded by the example and demands of Christian standards and ideals, outside of the home as well as inside, the problem would not be so acute. Influences for good would be everywhere prevalent.

Thus, it seems to me, the problems of homelife, and the discipline, guidance, and shaping of the generation of tomorrow, comes down to the matter of raising the general level of society. I think we need a little more of that Puritan conscience, if we can have it without the intolerance and hypocrisy which sometimes marred its purity and purpose. At its best the Puritan conscience meant Christianity in action, and its best is badly needed in a world in which distinctions between right and wrong are too often sadly blurred.

FOUR MODERN APARTMENTS, complete with furnishings, went up in smoke Monday night as flames swept through a converted brick barn on the east side of Cobourg. Above picture shows the fire at its peak, with smoke rising more than 200 feet above the burning building. Four families totalling 22 people are homeless. Most of the furniture and other household goods were lost. Nobody was injured.

U.S. Invites Russia Use Frozen Funds

Allow Relief Food To Be Purchased If Guarantees Given

BERLIN (AP)—The United States invited Russia today to "submit proposals" to unfreeze East German funds in American banks to buy relief food for the Soviet zone's 18,000,000 population.

U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant wrote to Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov.

"My government is genuinely concerned for the welfare of the people of Eastern Germany and is anxious to do everything feasible to assist in alleviating the suffering in that area."

"You may be assured," Conant's letter to the Russian said, "that any proposals which contain adequate safeguards . . . will be forwarded promptly to my government with recommendations that such authorization as may be appropriate be given."

PROMPTED BY SPEECH

The U.S. high commissioner's letter was prompted by a speech to the eastern Volskammer (Parliament) last Wednesday by Premier Otto Grotewohl, in which he lashed out at American policy for blocking Soviet zone funds in the United States since 1951.

Grotewohl said if the funds were released and other conditions met, his government was prepared "to buy $15,000,000—or even $50,000,000—worth of American food."

The American invitation was addressed to the Soviet high commissioner instead of the East German government because the latter is not recognized by the American Allies.

Communist propaganda attacking the give-away of American food to East Germans in Berlin has emphasized that the Grotewohl regime could buy such food if its funds in three American banks were released.

Today's invitation pulled out the props from this Communist line.

A U.S. treasury order froze the East German balances on March 11, 1952.

Conant's office announced later today that the blocked Notenbank funds in the United States amount to approximately $1,400,000.

Heavy Rainfall

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — More than an inch of rain was dumped on London and district in three hours this morning, and rain also was heavy throughout Western Ontario. In northern areas, where harvest of wheat and oats is not complete, farmers feared the further soaking would do heavy damage.

Drew Anxious Canada Process Raw Materials

OTTAWA (CP)—Six days from the general election, George Drew today moves into Quebec in a final attempt to dent the Liberals' overpowering Commons majority from that province.

Backed by only three Quebec members at dissolution, the Progressive Conservative leader will devote two of his last five campaigning days to trying to gather in more of Quebec's 85 seats. The other three days will be in Ontario.

Mr. Drew speaks tonight at Montreal, and Wednesday he goes to Quebec and smaller centres in the province. He will be speaking in French.

After a week-end rest from southwestern Ontario campaigning last week, Mr. Drew gave over Monday to personal campaigning in his own riding of Carleton, a largely rural area that takes in a part of Ottawa.

BUSY PROGRAM

He attended a community athletic meet, a garden party and a square dance-pie social, speaking by turns from a hay wagon, a lawn and the back of a truck used as a hillbilly orchestra platform.

A main theme of his speeches was the development of Canada's natural resources, and he promised that a Progressive Conservative government would take steps to see that these are developmed further for the benefit of Canada.

He said more Canadian raw materials should be processed in this country rather than exported in raw state. This would multiply their value many times and enable Canada to support a much larger population—perhaps 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 people in the next half century.

"One of the decisions to be made Aug. 10 is whether you want a national policy to develop our resources, or to have them exported to the United States to build up that country."

PROMISES FAIR DEAL

In this district where many residents are employed by the federal government, Mr. Drew promised "security and a fair deal" for the civil service. Government employees would be given "the assurance of stability of employment and the opportunity to rise to the highest ranks in that service."

At Kinburn, 27 miles southwest of Ottawa, Mr. Drew said Canada's unique combination of natural resources and power for their development calls for a national policy declaring these resources "will be used in the first place for the advantage of Canadians themselves and for the employment of young Canadians." They could make Canada one of the world's great powers.

"If we process them here in cases where it is economically sound," he declared, "Canada in 50 years will have a population of from 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 people."

Dealing again with his contention that Canada must enlarge its markets in the Commonwealth in preference to those in the United States, Mr. Drew said the U. S. takes Canadian products only when it finds this convenient and has been violating international trade agreements in putting up recent barriers against imports.

Allied Police Smash Gang Attacks

Clubs, Water Guns Drive Toughs Back Communist Sector

BERLIN (CP)—West Berlin police, wielding clubs and water guns, today smashed three attacks by more than 6,000 East Berlin Communists trying to storm American free food stations.

Dozens of heads were cracked in street battles as reinforced squads drove the Red toughs back across the border after they had thrust into the American Sectors.

About 150 Communists were arrested.

The Communists sent their storm troopers to attack the food stations after police threats and confiscations had failed to keep tens of thousands of East Berlin hungry from swarming across the border to receive the American gifts.

EXPECT MORE ATTACKS

West Berlin police said they expected more attacks. They reinforced their guards around all the stations near the Soviet sector border.

Mobile water guns were moved up to strategic sectors.

The three battles each lasted about half an hour until police reinforcements routed the invaders.

Two thrusts were made into the neighbouring American sector boroughs of Kreuzberg and Neukoelln, and here the battling was fiercest.

"We gave them a good beating," said a West Berlin policeman.

The French sector clash was in the tough industrial borough of Wedding, scene of many previous clashes between the Reds and West Berlin anti-Communists.

GANGS GATHERING

More trouble was expected at Wedding, where police spotted other Communist gangs gathering near the border.

Some women were in the Communist columns which made the first attack at Wedding shortly before noon. Western police arrested seven women demonstrators.

Although one of the American sector clashes occurred in the yard of a school being used as a food station, the relief program proceeded undisturbed under reinforced police guard.

Hungry East Berlin relief seekers came over in such throngs that it was expected yesterday's distribution of 150,000 parcels would be topped today. These two days have been devoted entirely to serving East Berliners.

Tomorrow will be the turn of people from the Russian occupation zone to be served again. But most of these 18,000,000 East Germans are barred from coming by a Communist blockade on railroad travel to Berlin which was imposed

$30,000 Fire Razes Apts. In East Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—Fire caused damage of around $30,000 early yesterday evening when it totally destroyed a four-apartment dwelling owned by Charles Boucher. Formerly a large barn, it was remodelled and converted into modern apartments and Mr. Boucher estimated his loss at $20,000. Furnishings lost in the fire were worth another $10,000 and four families were left homeless. One family, Mr. and Mrs. T. Tackaberry and their six children were away on a weekend trip and came home last night to find most of their possessions lost.

The fire started at the west end in a small barn structure abutting the apartment house in which odds and ends of household goods had been stored. The blaze spread with terrific speed through the brick-siding barn and in about 20 minutes the fire was enveloping the whole building.

Hundreds of spectators came from miles around, attracted by the thick pall of smoke and flames which soared high in the air. In the meantime neighbours and people from passing cars who stopped to lend aid, helped to remove what furnishings they could reach.

LOSES EVERYTHING

In the west end of the building, where the fire originated, Mrs. D. Lingard lost every possession. A few articles were rescued from the apartment where Mr. and Mrs. K. Turk and their five children reside. Furnishings on the down down floor of Mr. and Mrs. Tackaberry's apartment were removed and some of Mr. and Mrs. W. Levit's possesions were taken out ahead of the flame.

Firemen emptied the well on the Boucher property in a short time but a hose was run along Highway 2 for about a quarter of a mile to the easternmost town hydrant. There was ample water but flames spread so quickly that nothing could save the building.

Coldwell Says Social Credit Type Of Fascism

VICTORIA (CP) — CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said here Monday night that beneath Social Credit is a plan for the regimentation of the Canadian people.

"It marks," he said, "The rise of a North American form of fascism here and in Alberta that is an aggregation of anti-social elements assisted by the credulous to put in for office groups of unscrupulous opportunists."

The statement was applauded by an audience of 500 which crowded a dance hall.

"I find it difficult to understand how sensible and intelligent people could vote for exactly the same kind of philosophy—if I can call it a philosophy—as our boys in Germany and Italy defeated in the Second World War."

Social Credit, Mr. Coldwell said, was one of the biggest pieces of hypocrisy Canada had ever seen.

A CCF government would introduce a comprehensive social security system to replace the present "piece meal and inadequate" system.

"If we can raise money for destruction—necessary though defence is — surely we can raise money for the alleviation of human suffering and the serving of human need."

A national health plan, the CCF leader said, would in fact cost less than sickness now costs. Health Minister Martin had said such a plan would cost $600,000,000 a year. At present, Mr. Coldwell said, Canadian people spend $675,000,000 a year on totally inadequate health services, and the country is losing production worth $300,000,000 through preventable illness.

Of the reported dislike of doctors for a national health plan, he said the opposition was coming from "high fee physicians and surgeons in the cities."

A CCF government would increase old age and blind pensions, abolish the means test, and give pensions to the disabled. There would be benefits for a worker who lost his job through sickness.

PoW Exchange Will Start

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Four hundred Allied war prisoners come home to freedom in a few hours, opening the happiest postscript to the Korean war—"Operation Big Switch." The big trade of Allied war prisoners for Red begins Wednesday at 9 a.m. (8 p.m. EDT today). The Reds are handing over 12,763 captives—3,313 Americans, 8,186 South Koreans, 822 Britons, 14 Canadians and 328 from eight other Allied countries. Four hundred will be freed daily, 100 each hour for four hours. Some spent almost all 37 months of the Korean war in bleak prison camps in North Korea. They'll return to freedom at this neutral centre where Allies and Reds met for two years and finally wrote an armistice July 27—the ticket to freedom for the PoWs.

The Allies are giving the Reds 74,000 prisoners—69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese—at the rate of 2,400 able bodies and 360 sick and wounded daily.

BEGIN INSPECTION

On the eve of the great exchange, Red Cross representatives from both sides crossed the line at Panmunjom to begin inspection of prisoner camps and to comfort homebound captives.

Thirty Allied members went north, the first time in more than three years that any Allied representative has gone into North Korea without fighting.

Thirty Reds came south under protection of UN military police, grinning like schoolkids at their first ride in helicopters.

The Reds said the first group of 100 men to be freed would be sick and wounded—35 Americans, 50 South Koreans, eight Turks, two Filipinos, one Briton, one Australian, one Canadian, one Belgian and one South African.

An hour later, at 10 a.m., they'll hand back 50 South Koreans, 25 Britons, 10 Filipinos, seven French, seven Colombians, and one Greek.

The 11 a.m. group will include 35 Americans, 15 Turks and 50 sick and wounded South Koreans.

At noon, 100 South Koreans will be released.

HUR[illegible]PARATIONS

Allied troops hurried through last-minute preparations to care for the freed captives.

Dulles Arrives In Seoul For Conference With Rhee

SEOUL (AP) — United States Secretary Dulles arrived from Washington tonight for important talks with President Syngman Rhee. He said he hopes they will help transform the Korean truce "into an honorable and lasting peace." Dulles said he will visit Rhee at 10 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. Tuesday EDT), less than 12 hours after landing at Seoul city airport.

His plane was 13 hours late on a flight across the stormy North Pacific. Officials said it developed engine trouble and returned to the Aleutian island base at Shemya for repairs. The plane landed here at 10:06 p. m. (9:06 a. m. EDT).

BRINGS GREETINGS

The secretary said in a statement read to newspaper men:

"I have flown from Washington to Seoul to meet again with my long-time friend President Syngman Rhee I bring to him and his people the cordial greetings of President Eisenhower.

"President Eisenhower's trip to Korea last December demonstrated his deep interest in Korea and that is an abiding interest. . . ."

"I hope and believe that these talks, conducted on a basis of mutual respect and mutual co-operation, will help insure that respite from war, now made possible by the armistice, will be transformed into an honorable and lasting peace for all Korea. . . ."

Dulles was accompanied by several of his top aides and Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, who he said will sit in on his discussions with Rhee.

Pilot Saves 38 Of 42 In Crash

PARIS (CP) — A French pilot belly-landed his disabled Air France Constellation on a beach in southwest Turkey Monday, saving the lives of 38 of the 42 persons aboard.

The pilot, Capt. Raymond Terry, sent out an SOS early in the day, saying his two left engines had failed and that he was about to make a crash landing near the tiny island of Kasterllorizon, off southern Turkey.

Instead, he nursed the huge plane toward Fethiye, on the Gulf of Makri, to the northwest, and nosed it toward the beach. He landed in the water close enough to shore for the momentum to carry it onto the beach.

Four persons, a Lebanese man and a Lebanese woman, an Iraqi business man and a Syrian woman —were killed and three injured, the airline disclosed.

U.S. navy helicopters, British navy craft and commercial planes from Greece, Israel, Turkey and Lebanon joined in the search for the plane after it landed and its radio went dead.

The plane was en route from Paris to Tehran.

Queen Mother Spends 53rd Birthday Quietly

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen Mother, 53 today, is spending her birthday in the way she likes best—quietly at home.

She returned to London Monday from Sandringham with Princess Margaret for a private family celebration at Clarence House, her London residence.

The Queen also returned to London last night, from Windsor.

There will be a private luncheon party, and an important part of the birthday is the opening of messages of congratulations from all parts of the Commonwealth.

Plan New Hotel

TORONTO (CP) — A 300-room hotel, seven storeys high, will be built in downtown Toronto on Yonge street below Richmond on the site of the present Yonge Street Arcade. Builders expect it to be finished by February, 1955, at an estimated cost of $5,500,000.

Canada's Tax Rates Lower Than U.S. St. Laurent Says

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—Canada's tax rates are lower than those of the United States and Britain, says Prime Minister St. Laurent, answering Progressive Conservative charges that Canada's taxes are too high.

A single person, earning $2,000 a year, is taxed $269 in the U. S. and $332 in Britain, but only $180 in Canada, the Liberal leader told French-speaking audiences here and at nearby Granby Monday.

The rates for married persons with two children are slightly higher in Canada than in the U. S., he said, but when family allowances are taken into consideration, the Canadian rates actually are lower.

The prime minister ended a two-day sweep of Quebec's eastern townships with a rally here Monday night in a parish hall jammed with some 1,500 spectators. The overflow stood three-deep against the walls Mr. St. Laurent's speech, delivered in French, was mostly a repretition of what had been said at other meetings elsehwere, but the crowd broke into his speech repeatedly with applause.

Similar enthusiasm for the prime minister was displayed at other meetings as he made a 100-mile motorcade drive from Sherbrooke to St. Johns.

The two-day sweep marked the end of the hectic campaigning in the rural areas of Ontario and Quebec. Last week Mr. St. Laurent delivered as many as eight or nine speeches a day as he cut through southwestern and eastern Ontario.

Today he returns to Ottawa to pitch into a pile-up of government work; to gather his colleagues together for a final cabinet meeting before the Aug. 10 voting and to prepare what may turn out to be the most important speeches of his coast-to-coast campaign.

The 71-year-old leader, still full of ginger after the gruelling backwoods campaigning grind, will deliver the first of these Wednesday night at Ottawa. Two more are scheduled for Montreal Thursday.

Three Canadians Beaten, Robbed

NEW YORK (AP)—Three Canadians who came to New York Sunday for a holiday, were beaten and robbed as they slept in their automobile in Brooklyn early today.

The three young men, who were taken to Coney Island Hospital, were Thomas Kellet, 21, of R. R. 1, Whitby, Ont., robbed of $80 and a wrist watch valued at $80; Hugh Johnston, 18, of Ajax, Ont., robbed of $32 and James Brown, 24, of Whitby, Ont., robbed of $30.

They told police they visited Coney Island last night, and then drove to the Sheepshead Bay district, where they went to sleep in their parked car.

Early this morning, they said, four or five men grabbed and beat Kellet, who was in the front seat; and then beat Johnston and Brown. They took all the money the three men had, then drove away in their car.

A policeman found the car about two miles away.

Four Vehicles In Collision

HAMILTON (CP)—Two persons were injured when a huge tractor-trailer, carrying a 10-ton load of tin plate, a panel truck, and two cars, collided on No. 2 highway at Wolfe Island, this morning.

The pile-up occurred at the height of a heavy thunderstorm, and police blamed the rain and slippery roads for the mishap.

Most seriously hurt was Ray Cole, 45, Burlington, driver of one of the cars involved. He suffered several fractured ribs, and was admitted at the general hospital.

Also treated at the hospital was Mrs. Robert Zanetti, of Welland, a passenger in a car driven by her son, Edward. She escaped with a few cuts and a shaking up, and was later released.

Property damage was estimated at close to $2,000.

Plan Friday Inquest Into Bus Tragedy

MORRISBURG (CP)—An Ontario provincial police inspector said Monday an inquest will be held Friday into the deaths of 20 persons who perished last Friday when a Toronto-to-Montreal express bus hit a stalled truck on the highway and plunged into the Williamsburg canal near here.

Inspector Robert H. Wannell of the OPP's criminal investigation board said the inquest will open on schedule regardless of whether the two drivers involved in the accident are well enough to attend.

Both Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston, driver of the Colonial Coach Lines bus, and Max Roodman of Toronto, driver of the light truck, are recovering in hospital at Cornwall.

Inspector Wannell said the drivers still are not sufficiently recovered to be questioned.

Duke Suffers Sailing Mishap

COWES, Isle of Wight (Reuters) A sailing mishap knocked the Duke of Edinburgh and his yacht Bluebottle out of an international dragon class race here today 20 minutes after the start.

Blue bottle's forestay was carried away in a collision and she limped back to her base under reduced sail, leaving 13 other yachts to complete the course.

The sailor-duke, here for the annual Cowes regatta, switched to the yacht Cowslip for the next race.

Car Accident Kills Man 55

LINDSAY (ENS)— A St. Catharines man, Vernon Alexander, 55, was killed just before noon today when his car, driven by his son, Walter, went out of control on Highway 35, two miles north of Rosedale, some 25 miles north of here.

Mrs. Alexander, wife of the dead man, and their daughter Joyce, were rushed to Ross Memorial Hospital here. Their injuries are undetermined. Walter, the driver, suffered a bad head cut but was released after treatment. One other son, Jack, riding in the rear seat, was not seriously injured.

Mr. Alexander was thrown clear out of the car when it careened into the ditch, struck a culvert at a farm entrance and, according to witnesses, flipped three or four times in the air.

The Alexanders were reported to be returning from a weekend holiday near Minden. The pavement at the time was slightly wet after a rain.

2 Teen-Agers Killed

AYLMER, Ont. (CP)—A boy and a girl, both 15, were killed last night when their motorcycle crashed into a horse wandering on a highway.

Dead are James Brown of Port Burwell and Sylvia Jane of Beechville. Police said the horse, owned by farmer Phil Anseeuw, had strayed from a pasture fronting the highway and was being rounded up when the accident happened.

Bewildering Set Of Triple Plays

BERLIN (AP)—The Berlin food relief program today recorded a series of bewildering triple plays when numerous West Berliners returned food parcels to a relief station.

Here's what happened:

The parcels had originally been distributed to hungry East Germans and East Berliners by the American-sponsored aid campaign. But when these people tried to take them home, the parcels were confiscated by Communist police.

With the seized food the Communists opened their own aid stations for "West Berlin's needy."

Today some West Berliners went over to join the East Berlin queues, and when they had received the Red "gifts," they trekked back to the West stations and deposited them with the request they be "given back to their rightful owners, the needy East Germans."

Food, Clothing Prices Up

Living Costs Rise Half Point In June

OTTAWA (CP)—The Consumer price index rose half a point in June to 115.4 from 114.9 under the impact of a seasonal increase in food costs and higher prices for clothing, rents and other commodities.

The bureau of statistics reported today that the rise in the prices yardstick, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, largely reflected seasonal increases in the price of eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables. Price increases for these goods drove the food sub-index up to 112.7 from 111.4.

The old cost-of-living index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, rose 1.2 points to 186 from 184.8 in May.

Also contributing to the increase in the consumer price index were higher prices for cured pork products; fractionally higher prices for flour and bread and increases in a number of centres in the price of coal, gas and household help.

CLOTHING UP TOO

The clothing sub-index rose to 110.3 from 110.1 due to higher prices of knitting yarns overalls and work shirts. The sub-index for household operations jumped to 117 from 116.6.

The index for other commodities and services rose slightly to 115.2 from 115.1 due to higher prices for newspaper subscriptions and drugs. These outweighed a slight drop in the cost of personal care items.

The shelter index increased to 123.9 from 123.6 following advances in the rent and home-ownership sub-groups

During May pork prices reversed their trend of the previous month, dropping slightly. Beef prices were unchanged.

The 114.9 figure for May prices was a reversal of a continuous downward trend that started six months ago.

The June index was 2.8 points below the record high of 118.2 in December, 1951.

Canadian Envoy Welcomed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower welcomed Canada's new ambassador Monday by pledging "all needed assistance" in maintaining and strengthening close Canadian-American ties.

In accepting the credentials of Canada's new envoy, Arnold D. P. Heeney, the President noted relations between the United States and Canada have "historically been close and friendly."

Ambassador Heeney, 51-year-old former external affairs undersecretary, said Canadian-American membership in the North Atlantic pact "is a striking example of our co-operation in the cause of peace."

In his remarks at the White House, Heeney said "but even the closest of friendships can flourish only by continuing effort to keep them in sound repair."

GROWING CONCERN

This remark was believed by some observers to reflect Canada's growing concern at the increasing number of restrictions being applied to Canadian exports to the United States.

In his reply, President Eisenhower made no reference to Heeney's remark. He noted, however:

"Our bilateral problems have been settled on a basis of common understanding and mutual trust with full respect for each other's sovereign status."

Heeney succeeds Hume Wrong who has returned to Ottawa to become undersecretary of state.

Former OAC Head Dr. Christie Dies

GUELPH (CP)—Dr. G. I. Christie, 72, president emeritus of the Ontario Agricultural College, died in hospital Monday.

He served a 19-year term as president of OAC, largest agricultural college in the Commonwealth. He was appointed in 1928 and retired owing to ill health in 1947.

In his period of office, longest of any of the OAC's seven presidents, the college saw a marked increase in extension programs designed to bring the benefits of research to farmers in a practical form.

The farmland area of the college was increased and many new buildings erected, among them a new administration building and students' residence, an additional residence for the students at Macdonald Institute and a new horticulture building.

Born in Winchester in 1881, George Irving Christie was graduated from the OAC in 1902 and from Iowa State College in 1903. He served on the staff of the Iowa college for two years, then accepted positions on the staff of Purdue University in Indiana for four years. In 1909 he was appointed superintendent of agricultural extension at Purdue and in 1920 director of the agricultural experiment station at the University, a post he held until 1928.

At the close of the First World War, he was appointed assistant to the United States secretary of agriculture and served as assistant secretary in 1918 and 1919. He left Purdue in 1928 to accept the presidency of OAC.

Dulles Arrives

FULFILLS PLEDGE

By flying to Korea, Dulles fulfilled a pledge he made prior to the signing of the Korean truce—that a high-ranking American diplomat would visit the fiery South Korean president if Rhee agreed not to obstruct an armistice.

Far East Air Forces said in Tokyo a second big transport carrying U.S. Army Secretary Robert Stevens was accompanying Dulles flight.

MEET BAD WEATHER

There were anxious moments between 3 a.m., Dulles' original scheduled arrival time at Seoul, and an air force announcement neraly 2½ hours later that the secretary's plane had not let Shemya until 9:47 a.m.—12 hours late.

Before his departure, Dulles called the talks "a preliminary exchange of views with the government of the Republic of Korea" prior to the post-armistice political conference.

He will discuss with the 78-year-old president a U.S.-Korean treaty to strengthen the war-torn country against the possibility of future Communist attack, and the American plan to make Korea a "show window of the free world" by using troops for rehabilitation.

WON'T USE TROOPS

The White House stressed Monday that combat troops would not be used for construction work. A presidential secretary said that instead technical training and equipment will be used to speed reconstruction of South Korea.

Banners on Seoul streets gave some hint of what Rhee wants to tell Dulles. The major points stressed included:

1. Unification of North and South Korea under the Republic of Korea.
2. Withdrawal of Chinese Communist troops from North Korea.
3. Early conclusion of a neutral security pact between the United States and the Republic of Korea.

Allied Police

Saturday night. The blockade appears to be holding tight despite reported strikes and protest demonstrations

Angry women Communists shouted "We don't want American food" and flung themselves against police, hair and skirts flying. One policeman stumbled and fell as he tried to break up a group of 60 demonstrators.

The Communists hurled themselves on top of him. Seven other policemen ran to the scene with batons swinging and freed the pinned-down policeman.

East Berlin food recipients pitched in freely with their fists to help the West Berlin police. At the height of the riot, only 100 police were on the scene at Kreuzberg.

They were armed only with pistols and batons. Their pistols never left their hip holsters.

The riot in the American sector was started by young Communists who infiltrated into a food station area in the guise of food-seekers. While standing in line they began jeering police and the "Amis" (Americans). When minor scuffling with police broke out the infiltrators were joined by a body of young Communists who rushed across the sector border.

New strikes and demonstrations against the blockade were reported in East Germany.

The east zone police struck back by hunting down East Germans who had returned with the Western parcels, seizing the food and imposing fines and other penalties. Communist-controlled East German newspapers were filled with "blacklists" naming people who had received American aid.

Crackdown On Speeders

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—More than 150 motorists were charged with speeding on the new Toronto-to-Barrie four-lane highway during the week-end, police said today. Officers said the crackdown on speeders will be intensified.

Holiday Doubles Bush Fire Total

TORONTO—Ontario forest fires doubled in number during the holiday weekend, jumping from 13 Sunday to 26 Monday. All but one were under control, according to officials of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, who blamed campers and smokers for most of the outbreaks.

"The increase in the number of fires is to be expected over a holiday weekend", one official said. "The only one not under control is in the Parry Sound district where the fire has just started. Firefighters are being sent into the area."

Absence of lightning and other causes of fires led to the belief that campers and smokers were reponsible, ths official said. Eight of the fires are in the Parry Sound district.

One fire hazard is the shaving mirror. Don't hand it on a tree outside the summer cottage, the department advises.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains were steady with only price changes recorded at the opening on the board of trade today.

Soybeans were an exception to the general market, losing fractionally to more than a cent. This reflected easiness in oil prices.

Wheat started unchanged to ⅝ cent higher, Sept. $196¼-⅛; corn and oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, Sept 77½. Soybeans were ¼-1½ cents lower, Sept $2.54-2.53¾.

From Panmunjom, the American prisoners will be sped by truck to Freedom Village, near Munsan. There they'll get medical care, showers, mail, food, press interviews for those who are willing and just about everything else the army can think of before sailing for home.

British and Canadian prisoners will go to nearby Britannia Camp and then will be flown to Japan and home. South Koreans will go to Liberty Village.

Some of the sick and wounded Americans may be flown to Japan and on to the United States for treatment.

Communist correspondents said the first Allied captives arrived by train Monday night at Kaesong, the advance Red truce headquarters six miles northwest of here.

A Red Cross spokesman estimated there must be 2,000 PoWs in Kaesong or en route from Red camps far to the north.

SEND SUPPLIES

The UN Red Cross representatives sent 52,000 pounds of food and other personal gear into North Korea for Allied prisoners and the Communists sent 25 truckloads south. Long lines of Red and Allied trucks entered Panmunjom.

The Red Cross spokesman said the Communists asked that 100 cases of Red Cross supplies be dropped off at the Kaesong camp. Each case has supplies for 20 men.

The Allied Red Cross representatives who went north are expected to arrive at the Communist's Yalu river prison camps about Friday. They will go first to Manpo and then to Pyoktong, the camp where most UN prisoners are held.

Two Allied Red Cross representatives were to leave the party and remain at Kaesong to inspect the holding camps there.

The Communists have insisted that all Red Cross supplies will be distributed only by Red military personnel.

The Communist Red Cross representatives were flown to Pusan to visit the southern camps.

Meanwhile, the senior UN member of the military armistice commission told the Communists they could expect to get back some ragged looking captives.

Maj.-Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan said all Allied-held prisoners were provided new clothing before the exchange, but some captives had deliberately torn and ripped their clothes.

These prisoners will be delivered in the ruined clothing, Bryan said.

In the short commission meeting, Bryan also told the Reds the UN command had withdrawn from all the North Korean islands specified in the armistice agreement.

Boy, 3, Reported Third Case Of Polio In City

Second case of polio in three weeks was reported today by the Department of Health of a three-year-old boy, who was hospitalized Saturday. He is the third city case.

The first polio victim was sent home last week completely cured. The other suspected case was sent home last week, without any paralysis or complications.

Oshawa Skater Miss Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS — A figure skater from Oshawa Monday night was crowned Miss Niagara at the police field day in Oakes Park.

Daun Steckley, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Steckley, was crowned by Mayor Ernest M. Hawkins and received $200 cash, a rose bowl and a watch.

The winner said that she decided to enter the contest just 15 minutes before it opened. Last year Miss Steckley was chosen Miss Red Feather in a popularity contest at Oshawa.

She also won the senior figure skating championship and the junior pairs skating with the Oshawa club. She plans to turn professional or teach figure skating.

She is five feet 5 inches tall and weighs 112 pounds.

Prime Minister Snatches Rest

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent took a brief respite from a gruelling coast-to-coast election campaign today, preparing for the grand finale to the six-week drive for a return to power Aug. 10.

His private railway car arrived in Ottawa at noon, following the prime minister's two-day tour of Quebec's Eastern Townships.

Later, he recorded a trans-Canada radio broadcast scheduled for next Friday and prepared for a cabinet meeting Wednesday—probably the Liberal government's last before election day.

Following the Wednesday cabinet meeting, Mr. St. Laurent will address a rally in an Ottawa downtown theatre.

He plans two rallies in Montreal Thursday, then a shift back into Ontario to visit Barrie, Ont., before hitting Toronto for the final major speech of the campaign in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens Friday night.

Mr. St Laurent returns to Quebec City Saturday. He will remain there, awaiting election results on Monday night.

Industrials Retain Last Week's Vigor

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials were the only group to pursue last week's rally with any vigor in early afternoon trading today.

Industrials carried through strongly with papers, utilities, steel and foods in the lead. The widest gains were posted by CIL., up 1½ points and Ford A, which added one point to recent gains. Algoma was forward a higher fraction in steels while Loblaw A came back half a point in foods.

Base metals slipped back to weaker prices after making a strong early showing. Higher-priced stocks, such as Consolidated Smelters and Hudson Bay led the decline with ¾-point drops. Cassiar added 45 cents to Friday's gains but Steep Rock eased 30 cents.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals edged higher, led by Landover, National Explorers and Anacon. Gunnar and Chimo slipped pennies but Sudbury Contact recovered most of early losses.

Golds traded slowly at firm prices. Kerr-Addison was a feature in seniors, adding five-eighths in going to a new high of $20.87. Preston East Dome and Madsen rose pennies in juniors but Campbell Red Lake dropped 15 cents. Prospectors Airways jumped 20 cents in holding companies.

Western oils mixed in irregular dealings that saw Great Plains rise 45 cents but Federated Petroleum and Britalta slip 15 and 10 cents respectively. Anglo-Canadian firmed.

Fresh Rain Suspends Harvesting Operation

Rain this morning suspended harvest operations and gave farmers a chance to relax and rest. Some of them in the city said the last rain "of any account" was around July 12. Actually rains have been scattered in the last month, but generally in the Peterborough area land had run out of moisture.

Pastures have been drying, especially in fields of old grass. It is the period of extended sunshine that proves the value of the comparatively new pasture mixtures that can stand up against the heat.

The metallic rattle of mowers and combines and the older type of threshing machines was halted this morning for a rain that was heartily welcomed. Roy Anderson of Bailieboro remarked: "Now that the rain has started, it might as well do a thorough job."

Hay-Filled Barn Razed Stock, Equipment Burn

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A large, well-equipped barn, filled to the top with hay, on the farm of Fred Ellis, about six miles east of here on the Cordova road, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were away at the time of the fire at the home of their daughter, near Campbellford, where Mr. Ellis was helping to harvest the hay crop.

The fire was first noticed by their grandson, Gary Ellis, 12, who notified the neighbors by phone.

Five calves, three pigs, six small pigs, six weeks old, a milking machine, separator, scales and a manure spreader were burned. It is estimated that there were 100 tons of hay in the barn.

STOCK SAVED

A team of horses and three calves were saved.

Mr. Ellis has not placed any estimate on his loss until he has an idea of what the replacement price will be.

The Havelock fire brigade were called to the scene and were the means of saving the house, garage, ice house and drive shed.

Cause is unknown, but it is thought the fire may have been due to spontaneous combustion.

The loss as partially covered by insurance.

Barbers Hold Weekend Convention

SARNIA (CP)—Ontario members of the Barbers International Union, (AFL-TLC), held their annual convention here during the week-end.

Resolutions passed included a request for pensions for blind persons before the retirement age and without a means test; that it be unlawful for an employee working a maximum work week to work at another trade in which workers are working a maximum work week; and that a motorist learning to drive be required to place a letter "L" on the front and rear of his car.

If approved by the Trades and Labor Congress at its Ottawa convention next week, the resolutions will be submitted to the federal government next spring.

Saves Three Sisters

CLEVELAND (AP) — An 80-year-old "baby brother" saved his three sisters, aged 81, 82 and 86, when fire broke out in their eastside home Monday. Frank Norton roused and led to safety Miss Celia Norton, 81; Miss Elizabeth Norton, 82, and Mrs. Mary Burrell, 86, after he heard an explosion and found the kitchen on fire.

Manning Denies Social Credit "Dictatorial"

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning of Alberta Monday night denied the Social Credit party is "fascistic" or "dictatorial" and said "if there is one movement. . . which stands for true democratic freedom, it is the Social Credit movement."

Addressing a party picnic and rally at the resort centre of Lakeview, 26 miles east of here, the premier denied statements appearing in the current edition of a national magazine that Social Credit is "fascistic" and "dictatorial."

"False, malicious, and deliberately untrue" were the terms Mr. Manning used to describe statements in the magazine article entitled "Social Credit Means Dictatorship."

Effects of the oil boom on Alberta's economy have been exaggerated, he said. Oil has got credit for more things than oil ever got credit for anywhere. Social Credit was elected in Alberta in 1935 and oil was not found until 1947. In the interim, Alberta was the only province operating on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, he said.

Mr. Manning admitted the Social Credit party is in no position to form a feceral government at this time. But he said it may be that neither "old line" party will have a clear majority. In that case, opposition parties would have a controlling voice in Parliament.

Drew, Coldwell Campaign In Big Cities, As P.M. Rests

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister St. Laurent forgoes the election campaign today to pitch into a stack of government business in the capital, giving George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, a chance to make up that lost July 16, That was the day Mr. Drew was fog-bound at Sydney, N.S., and had to pass up his projected Newfoundland visit. He lost a full day's campaigning. Mr. Drew launches a second invasion of Quebec province today with speeches at Montreal. CCF leader M. J. Coldwell winds up his week-long British Columbia tour with a meeting at Vancouver.

Mr. Drew spent Monday campaigning in his home riding of Carleton, mostly rural but which also takes in a slice of Ottawa. He promised that a Progressive Conservative government would undertake greater development of Canada's natural resources. More Canadian raw materials would be processed in this country rather than shipped to foreign countries, especially the United States.

"One of the decisions to be made Aug. 10 (election day) is whether you want a national policy to develop our resources, or to have them exported to the United States to build up that country."

NEED NATIONAL POLICY

Canada's unique combination of natural resources and power to develop them called for a national policy, declaring these resources "will be used in the first place for the advantage of Canadians themselves and for the employment of young Canadians."

"If we process them here in cases where it is economically sound, Canada in 50 years will have a population of from 60,000,000 to 70,000,000," Mr. Drew predicted.

Mr. St. Laurent polished off a two-day tour of Quebec's eastern townships with a rally Monday night at St. Johns. He returns to Ottawa today for a final cabinet meeting before Monday's voting and resumes his electioneering at the capital Wednesday night.

The prime minister, replying to Progressive Conservative arguments that Canada's personal income taxes are too high, said tax rates are lower in this country than in the U.S. or Britain.

A single person earning $2,000 a year was taxed $269 in the U.S. and $332 in Britain. The Canadian tax was $180. A single person earning $4,000 annually paid a tax of $696 in the U.S., $1,032 in Britain and $505 in Canada.

LOWEST OF THREE

The rate for married persons with two children was slightly higher in Canada than in the U.S., Mr. St Laurent said, but when family allowances were considered, the Canadian rate was the lowest of the three nations.

"For example, a married man with two children, earning $4,000 a year, paid $320 in Canada, $271 in the U.S., and $704 in Britain. But in Canada the average family with two children received between $150 and $170 a year in family allowance payments."

At Victoria, Mr. Coldwell said Canada's wealth is sufficient to support a high standard of social security.

Payments would merely involve a redistribution of wealth—the taxing of those who can afford it to give to those who need it. "In other words, the sharing of one another's burdens."

INADEQUATE SYSTEM

The Liberals had given Canada only a "piece-meal and inadequate" system of social security and what had been given had been forced by CCF pressure and public opinion.

Mr. Coldwell said a CCF government would increase old-age and blind pensions to bring them in line with the cost-of-living. The means test would be abolished, making the old-age pension available to all at 65. Pensions would be provided for the disabled.

Speaking from Quebec over the CBC's French network, J. Edgar Bouchard, president of the Quebec Social Credit League, said his party welcomed the Korea truce because it knew how to deal with the resulting economic difficulties.

He said both the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives had avoided the question of what the end of fighting in Korea would mean to the Canadian economy. Both hoped the "little war would have continued a while longer or that another would occur so that the economic consequencies would not cause them too much embarrassment."

RESTORE MARKETS

At Elmira, Ont., Hon. T. L. Kennedy, one-time Conservative premier of Ontario, said the Progressive Conservatives if elected would restore Canada's foreign markets.

At Galt, Ont., E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, said that during the last 10 years Canadians have been over-taxed $200,000,000. Recent tax reductions had been few and unimportant.

At Amherst, N.S., Dr. William G. Blair, Progressive Conservative member of the last Commons for Lanark, said the Maritimes need more electric power to attract new industry and a Progressive Conservative government would help them get it. He said the Liberals might have called the election in August "to get ahead of a recession in farm prices."

Some Canadians voted Monday, though the campaign still has a week to run.

About 105,000 servicemen and women in Canada, Europe and the Far East are eligible to cast ballots and many of them did just that Monday. Their votes, to be taken all week, won't be counted until Aug. 17.

Meanwhile, the political leaders, after a comparatively restful weekend, launched their final—and perhaps most telling—vote-seeking drives.

"FAR TOO LOW"

At Nanaimo Saturday night Mr. Coldwell said benefits under the Unemployment Insurance Act are "far too low" and bear no relationship to contributions.

The maximum of $24 a week was "entirely inadequate" for a family trying to meet today's high costs. There was no reason for such low benefits when the insurance fund had assets of about $850,000,000. He said the Liberal government's "refusal" to remedy the "many inadequacies" of the act revealed its "unprogressive record" in labor matters.

A CCF government would provide a much improved system of unemployment insurance, including higher benefits as well as coverage in case of sickness.

DREW HITCH-HIKES

Mr. Drew completed a week-long swing through Ontario Saturday with nine speeches and visits to 12 communities. He hitch-hiked 40 miles to Kincardine with a farmer in a pre-war model car when his own automobile had a flat.

At Owen Sound, where he wound up his 16-hour working day, Mr. Drew accused the Liberal government of "dictatorship" and said: "Never since Charles I lost his head more than 300 years ago has there been a more callous detiance of Parliament."

Mr. Drew referred to an order-in-council passed under the government's emergency powers legislation which bars Canadian ships from trading with Red China. The order was passed in April while Parliament was in session.

He said the government no longer subscribes to Liberal principles and has abandoned the basic Liberal tenet of Parliament's supremacy.

DISPUTES CLAIM

At Arthur, Mr. Drew disputed Mr. St. Laurent's claim that the Opposition Leader knew it had been denied there were horses on the payroll at Camp Petawawa and yet kept repeating it. "Horses were on the payroll and he (the prime minister) knows it because he said so himself."

Mr. St. Laurent spent a quiet Saturday at his birthplace, Compton, Que., and took up the political cudgels again Sunday night at Sherbrooke, Que.

He said before an audience of 3,000 that while there were some "sinners" in the armed forces, the incidence of crime among the military was far less than that of a city of 200,000—the number of servicemen, 105,000, plus their families.

The prime minister said that even with the crimes uncovered in the armed forces and extra purchases of such things as teapots, forks and neckties, only a few thousand dollars could be involved. But the Progressive Conservatives were promising to cut defence expenditures by $250,000,000 a year. This could not be done without reducing Canada's commitments under the North Atlantic alliance.

The prime minister also spoke over the CBC's French network and said the government through development of the country's natural resources has contributed largely to the present high standard of living and to the enviable position Canada holds among the nations.

MAKES CHARGES

At Kentville, N.S., George Nowlan, president of the National Progressive Conservative Association, said mailing lists of the armed forces were denied opposition parties until after nomination day, July 27. But Liberal campaign pamphlets had turned up in Hawaii last week en route to Canadian servicemen in Korea.

At Souris, Man., Trade Minister Howe said he deplores opposition warnings of economic disaster. If enough people started believing them, there would be a depression.

Liberal Party Always Opposed Centralization

MONTREAL (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott said Monday that the Liberal Government has always opposed centralization and Progressive Conservative charges to the contrary were unfounded.

Speaking over Montreal radio station CFCF, Mr. Abbott said the Liberal record on overall tax reduction is proof of this.

"We have abandoned many fields of taxes to the benefit of many Canadians and to the benefit of provincial governments.

"The provincial governments have been able to raise substantial revenues from some of these tax fields that we have vacated. In addition, they are getting larger payments from the federal government for renting us their rights in certain tax fields.

"Mr. Drew talks a good deal about centralization. Does the long list of taxes that we have scrapped sound like centralizations?

ALWAYS OPPOSED IT

"Real centralization would be centralization of services in Ottawa. That the Liberal Party has always opposed. Mr. Drew's promise of another billion dollars of federal services is just the kind of centralization that here in Quebec we quite rightly oppose."

Mr. Abbott, who is seeking re-election in Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount, also referred to promises by the Conservatives to cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year.

He said the possibility of a post-election arrangement between "Conservatives from Ontario and the Social Crediters from the Far West" is the "only explanation of the flood of promises to which we have been treated."

"Of course, an alliance between two minority parties is only a remote possibility—yet it is the only way in which Mr. Drew and his followers can achieve power."

Mr. Abbott said he felt Canada "does not want and should not have a minority government or a coalition of minority parties."

German Choir Wins

RHYL, England (Reuters) — A German youth choir that learned seven Welsh songs in the last five months to compete in the all-Welsh national Eisteddfod (festival) won the youth choirs competition on the opening day Monday. The Germans, members of the Kant Hochscule of Brunswick cannot speak a word of Welsh but learned the songs phonetically.

Drew Renews His Charges Of Unfair Liberal Letter

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Tuesday in a statement that the Liberal government has used "it's control over military establishments to give general circulation to the misleading and inaccurate letter addressed to the armed forces by Duncan K. MacTavish, president of the National Liberal Federation."

Mr. Drew charged that the government "has also used aircraft, maintained at public expense, to distribute some of these letters."

"At the same time, it has refused the request of the opposition that we be given lists of those in the camps in Canada and overseas," his statement said.

Mr. Drew, at Sarnia, Thursday demanded that Prime Minister St. Laurent repudiate the "dishonest" Liberal Federation campaign letter to Canadian servicemen. The following night at Cornwall, Mr. St. Laurent said he had no intention of repudiating the letter, which he said was neither dishonest nor libelous.

LIBERAL LETTER

The letter said the Liberal government is trying to make certain that the troops get a "fair share" of Canada's "high" living standards, but that the Progressive Conservatives "think the government has been extravagant in providing such lavishness and luxury for the armed services."

The letter quoted Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC., Progressive Conservative military critic, as saying that troops might forgo "some amenities" rather than Canada have a lower standard of living.

Mr. St. Laurent said at Cornwall he had found on inquiry that Gen Pearkes' statement was recorded in Hansard, Parliament's official report.

Mr. Drew's statement added: "The lack of sportsmanship and fair play in the course followed by the government is doubly evident when it is remembered that the members of the armed forces vote tomorrow and that even if the facilities were available to us there would be no time to deal with the misstatements contained in that letter. I can only hope that through our press agencies and the radio this statement I am now making will reach some members of the armed forces in Canada.

ASKED FOR CORRECTION

"When the existence of this letter came to my attention last Thursday, I immediately asked the prime minister to use the means available to him to send a correction to all those to whom this letter had been directed. Not only has he now refused to do so but he stands by this letter and supports its distortion of the facts. If he has checked Hansard, as he say he has, then he knows that words from the speech in the House of Commons by Gen. Pearkes March 16 of this year have been torn from their context in such a way as to twist their meaning, have been placed in a different order than they appeared in Hansard, and that words have been left out of the middle of a sentence to change its meaning.

"I am amazed and shocked that the prime minister of Canada would seek to justify misrepresentation of this kind and permit such flagrant abuse as was employed to give this letter circulation."

Soldiers Begin Voting

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Canadian servicemen in Korea and Japan Monday started casting their votes in the Canadian federal election.

Soldiers mailed their ballots in sealed envelopes to the returning office in Kure, Japan, where they will be counted next week-end. Results of the soldier vote will be released in Ottawa, not in the Far East. Voting in Canada is Aug. 10.

Four RCAF jet pilots attached to the United States Air Force went to the Commonwealth medical unit in Seoul Monday by jeep to vote. They were Sqdn. Ldrs. Doug Warren, Edmonton; Bill Fox, Toronto, and FOs. Bill Bliss of Port Arthur and Brian Mullin of Ottawa.

Meanwhile at Britannia camp a dry-run rehearsal was held for Wednesday's operation "Big Switch," when the first Commonwealth prisoners of war are to be released by the Reds under the truce signed between the United Nations and the Reds. Officers said arrangements appeared perfect.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The secretary of agriculture said today the huge ranch in Mexico of the late William Randolph Hearst will be taken over by the government and divided among small landowners. The ranch of about 160,000 acres is located in the state of Chihuahua, which borders Texas and New Mexico.

Question:
Mr. Swanston, have you anything specially to say to the women voters?

Answer:
The women of this country hardly need to be reminded that our Family Allowance system is the most generous in the world, and that it has put more than two-and-a-quarter billion dollars in their hands since 1945, to be spent for the good of the country's children. That is practical evidence of faith in our country's future, for what is our future except our children?

MOSTLY GOVERNMENT OWNED

Only three per cent of Alaska's 586,000 square miles is privately owned.

"I'd like to say this to all Canadians..."

UNDER a Liberal government, Canadians have added every year to the national strength and national unity of Canada;
We have had the greatest expansion of social welfare in our history;
We have increased our employment, our production and our national income every year;
We have had the greatest expansion of our primary and secondary industries — truly an industrial revolution;
Because of the outstanding contribution of the members of our Navy, Army and Air Force, we have been able to do our full share to prevent and to stop Communist aggression;
We have reduced the national debt every year, and, in the last two years, reaped the reward in lower tax rates.
Do we want all that to be continued?
Do you really think it's time for a change?
For a change to a Parliament of regional groups — a handful of Social Crediters from the Far West, a few Socialists from the Prairies, a few more Conservatives from Ontario or the Maritimes and some so-called Independents from Quebec?
In such a Parliament without the leadership and responsibility of a united national party, how could the government help being weak and insecure?
Do we want a weak and divided government to deal with the formidable problems of the next few years? I ask you, IS it really time for a change?
We believe most Canadians want a government which encourages enterprise, promotes trade and fosters the exploration and development of our resources; and you know it as well as we do, that requires balanced budgets, paying off debts in prosperous times and a tax structure which, while fair to all, is adequate to meet these demands.

Crime On The Roads

The big weekend began Friday when a bus, bound from Toronto to Montreal, crashed into a truck on No. 2 Highway near Morrisburg, plunged into the canal, and twenty persons perished. The weekend came to an end as our local and general Canadian news accounts of fatalities and accidents indicate in this paper today.

* * *

Accidents do not happen; they are caused, and often by persons who might be classified as criminals, for they have perpetrated them through their carelessness, inefficiency and disregard for others. They are crimes of violence, often more violent and bloody than burglary. The records of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that most types of crime are declining but that convictions for traffic offences are increasing. In 1951, the last year for which complete figures are available, they accounted for 81.4 per cent. of all convictions.

* * *

It is therefore not without just cause that the judge at St. Jerome has determined henceforth to impose jail sentences for speeding. Speeding is not, however, the only cause of traffic accidents. Some of the worst are caused by unskilled drivers (who may be driving slowly), careless drivers, and vehicles in improper condtiion. We noticed on No. 7 highway last evening in the stream of heavy traffic, an old model car. Its headlights were so dim that they cast no glow on the highway that could be seen by a driver of a car coming from behind. But the real fault with the car—and the criminal which its driver was at every moment likely to become—was that the car had no tail-light of any kind. Even the most powerful headlights of a vehicle coming up behind would not pick up that old car if another were approaching from the opposite direction with ordinary, strong headlights. Had an accident occurred, who would have been totally responsible—the driver behind travelling at 50 mph who crashed into the old unlighted car; or the driver of the car ahead travelling at 20 mph with no tail-light?

* * *

The Provincial Police were probably too busy with accidents that had already occurred, and with heavier traffic on other Ontario highways, to discover this man and his dangerous unlit vehicle. He should have been ordered off the road immediately and charged as a potential criminal.

A Defeat For U.S. Protectionists

After announcing a policy of "trade not aid" last Spring, the Eisenhower Administration sought continuation of the reciprocal trade program for one year, during which time a commission would be appointed to study the problem and seek a solution. It was not a bold proposal, but it didn't suit the protectionist lobby. A bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act was introduced—with amendments which would nullify the purpose of the act. This was defeated, and a second, similar bill was introduced. Last week, the second bill was defeated, but only because the Democrats voted it back to committee. The Administration's own Republican Party's vote approved the bill.

There is some comfort in this for Canadian exporters, no doubt, but there is no reason to hail it as a great victory for the cause of international trade. The extension won by the Administration is only for a period of a year, at the end of which the protectionist forces will undoubtedly be ready to attack reciprocal trade again. The establishment of permanent reciprocal agreements is thus virtually impossible.

Furthermore, the trade agreements act as it now stands is an instrument of dubious effectiveness. The spirit and purpose of the act may be, and have been, ignored by specific clauses introduced in other acts, such as the Defence Production Act, with its well-known "hidden" clause banning the importation of certain dairy products. And, further obstructing international trade, is the confusing and entangling web of U.S. tariffs and customs regulations.

As the Council of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce has pointed out, there must be sweeping revisions of this structure before the policy of "trade not aid" can become appreciably productive. And there seems little reason for optimism over the possibility of revision during the next few years.

Deadlock In Italy

Italy is now politically deadlocked and the government of Alcide de Gasperi has been defeated. The cause of the defeat—and the deadlock—is that the extreme Left, numbering 218 votes and the extreme Right, numbering 69 votes, together went against the government and therefore outnumbered the 265 Christian Democrats. The 39 votes held among three small parties of the right-centre were withheld from Government support. The reason for the defeat and the deadlock is that in the elections held this summer, the voters did not give De Gasperi a clear majority with which to carry on his latest (eighth) government.

The reasons the voters refused to put full confidence in another De Gasperi government are three. First, there are five million unemployed in Italy, who have no obvious reason to be happy with the past performance of the De Gasperi government, since it has not got them jobs. Nor has De Gasperi's leaning on U.S. aid and his adherence to western causes, laden their tables with plenty.

The second reason for the political difficulties in Italy now is, it seems to us, the strength and tactics of the Italian Communist Party. Italy has 2,600,000 Party members, and of late years the official policy there has been to emphasize the Italian nature of the Party, not its communism. The Communists have appealed to the people as a left-wing popular front party, champions of social justice and future prosperity for Italy. This is a popular appeal. The Communists in Italy have been sweetly reasonable about external matters, even going as far as to hint that Marxian principles and Soviet friendship are not their first intentions.

The third reason for the difficulties of the De Gasperi middle-of-the-road party is that the right-wing is again soaring, and new brands of Fascism and Royalism are appearing. They are not really very new, and they appeal to many who liked the authoritarian regime of Mussolini and others who hanker for a return of the monarchy.

The political situation in Italy has become as precarious as it is in France, but more dangerous, since Italy does not have France's strong tradition of individual liberty and republicanism.

The roll of candidates across the Dominion shows that there are only 43 women, out of a total of 901. Despite the complete equal political status of men and women—a woman's right gained only after decades of struggle—it is apparent that women have been left behind in Federal politics. That is not the fault of men, for there are (according to the 1951 census) only 168,317 more males than females in Canada, in a total population of 14,009,429—by the same census. Apparently women just wanted the political rights, not the responsibility.

Neither Conservatives nor Liberals have a woman candidate in Quebec. All told there are eight women contesting seats in that Province. A remarakble fact emerges from their candidatures: all eight are left-wing. Two are standing as CCF candidates; the other six have been fielded by the Labour-Progressive party—Communists. What is the reason? Are women more easily duped than men by pink and red? Are they better able to face forlorn hopes? Or are women who take their political responsibilities earnestly all Left? If this is so, it explains why the Liberals and Conservatives have only a handful of women candidates across Canada—they are too far Right for women's tastes. One conjectures that if Canada ever has a political revolution, women will lead it. Odd to think of Canada governed by a female Stalin or a female National Socialist. God preserve us from that day.

The Secrecy Remains

Since the death of Stalin there has been much speculation about the course of Russian rule. The dismissal of Lavrenti Beria has made the buzz louder. Whatever the heavy discussions on the meaning or lack of meaning of Russian events—apparently a fierce struggle for power among Stalin's successors—none can do more than guess. Western observers are neither better nor worse informed than people inside Russia. One fact remains clear, one thing remains unchanged: the mystery and mystification which have been a deliberate part of Soviet policy and rule.

W. N. Ewer, a British commentator on Russian affairs, remarks the political fact and importance of this secrecy:

"We have become so used to this strange characteristic of communism that we have come to take it for granted. But it remains to anybody in any free country strange and even sinister. Certainly it is very revealing of mentality.

"Here is a government, c[illegible]y to be 'democratic', which conducts [illegible] affairs and decides all its policies behind an almost impenetrable veil of secrecy. I am not referring to the "Iron Curtain" between the Soviet Union and the outside non-communist world, but to the curtain between the Kremlin and the people of the Union."

There is little use in guessing about the meaning of Beria's dismissal. We remember the saying that there are no experts on Russia, only varying degrees of ignorance.

Crown's Meaning To Ulster

By KENNETH HARRIS

LIKE MYSELF, the American reporter smoking the heavy English briar was flying over to Northern Ireland to cover the Queen's State visit. Belfast came into view, a broad curve of buildings around the wide mouth of the Logan. In a cloudless sky, we cruised around the bay, then swung inland above the high breezy plateau of the Belfast hills. We landed at the air terminal, where I lost the American, but while I was waiting for the Queen to show herself to the huge crowd in Donegal Square North, I saw him coming towards me. "Boy!" he said, as soon as he could make his voice heard above the roar of "We want the Queen," "Are these people Crown-happy!"

✧ ✧ ✧

THE PEOPLE of Northern Ireland were "Crown-happy" that day because the Queen was among them. "But even when the Queen is hundreds of miles away in London" one Belfast newspaperman told us, "they seem Crown-conscious in a way that no other members of the Commonwealth are." And from what we were told there is every reason why they should: as my American friend put it, "Here the Crown is the thing that makes the nation tick. When you get back to the United States my friend, if you come across an American who thinks the Crown doesn't do things, tell him to spend a day in Northern Ireland."

WHAT does the Crown do in Northern Ireland? We found the Northern Irish very ready to tell us. For the people of Northern Ireland, the Crown symbolises their national existence. In 1922, twenty-six of the thirty-four counties of Ireland established themselves as the Irish Free State, cutting themselves off from Britain, which had previously governed Ireland as part of the United Kingdom, and acknowledging only the merest link with the British people. The six counties, who now form Northern Ireland, refused to go along with the Irish Free State. They wanted to remain part of the British Empire. They wanted to do so partly because they were an industrial people, depending for their comparatively high standard of living on their trade with Britain, whereas the rest of Ireland was agricultural, content with a lower standard of living, and wanting to be dependent on nobody.

No wonder the Northern Irish are Crown-conscious. To mention the Crown is to remind them that they stand for a way of life that is different politically, religiously and economically from that of the Republic to the South of them. When they see the Union Jack, they remember the days in 1913 when their great spokesman, Sir Edward Carson (later Lord), said that "Ulster will fight, and Ulster will be right"—in order to adhere to the British Empire against the Irish Republic by force if necessary.

"We Americans associate Crowns with kings, and kings with Boston tea-parties," said my American with a sly look in my direction. "But, I guess in Northern Ireland it's different. Here, gosh darn it, the Crown means much the same as the Declaration of Independence."

✧ ✧ ✧

WE WENT out to see Stormont, where in beautiful rolling country a few miles outside Belfast, the Governor-General resides and acts as a kind of deputy king. Then we saw the simply magnificent Parliament building where the Ulster M.P.s handle all their domestic affairs—foreign policy being dealt with by the United Kingdom Parliament in Westminster where Ulster is represented by Irish members. Then we went back and walked up and down the main streets of Belfast and watched a cross-section of its half million people going off by tram to the docks, or to the shipbuilding yards, or coming in from the mills where Ulster's famous linen is made. "You know something," said the American, "Crown or no Crown, I feel more at home around here than I do anywhere else in the United Kingdom."

✧ ✧ ✧

CANADIANS, Australians and New Zealanders often feel the same thing. Ulstermen are different from the British people as a whole. They look different—they are taller, have stronger features, and a more animated look about them. They have a different mien—they dress less carefully than the English, stride along more confidently than the Scots, seem more energetic than the Welsh. If they do not look as though they own the place, they look as though they don't give a darn who does. Whisk a hundred of them away in a few jet Comets, and plump them down in Sydney, Toronto or Dallas, Texas, and they would be inconspicuous.

This is not surprising. The men of Ulster are mostly of the same mixed Scottish, English, Welsh and Irish stock as those who went out to found the other English-speaking worlds.

Their ancestors came to Ulster four centuries ago to found plantations and commercial outposts as their ancestors' brothers went to Virginia and New South Wales. Their fathers left the depressed industrial areas of Glasgow, Liverpool and Cardiff to seek work in Belfast, as their uncles went to seek it in New York and Cape Town. They have the tough, slightly aggressive look which the American Mid-Westerner inherits from his pioneering ancestors. They exude that warmth and cheerfulness and optimism which the Brooklynite and the Sydneyite inherits from the immigrants who arrived in the New World with nothing but their clothes and their hopes.

AMERICANS and Commonwealth visitors often understand better than Englishmen the stresses and strains of life in Northern Ireland. They have their own stresses and strains, though theirs are usually racial, whereas Ulster's is religious. With my American colleague, and several other reporters, I went by train to Londonderry. We drove through the foothills of the Nine Glens of Antrim which slope down to the Irish Sea and curved around, along the Northern coast, to where the ancient walled city and port stands on the grand estuary of the Foyle, where the American and British navies could ride at anchor. In 'Derry, the bulk of the people are Roman Catholics, and would like to be part of the Irish Republic whose border is a mile or two away. But the local government wards are arranged in such a way that the Protestants control the city council.

"If we re-jigged the wards," a local Derryite told us, "the Roman Catholics would get the majority on the council. If they did, they'd use it to displace the Protestants who have built up our business and industry, and to get this city into the Republic. 'Derry now is one of Britain's key ports in wartime. From the point of view of the free nations of the West, incidentally, it would mean that this key N.A.T.O. (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) port would disappear into the boundaries of a state which will not join N.A.T.O., a state that was neutral during the last war. All the prosperity of this town has been built up by Protestant businessmen. If the Catholics got into power, they would displace them. The majority will of 'Derry is being ignored, perhaps. But the majority will of the country as a whole, Northern Ireland, surely, is being expressed by the present situation."

THE CONFLICT between the majority will of the smaller unit and that of the larger is very familiar to Americans. With them, though not always, the problem is a racial one. In Canada this kind of problem exists in some places between the French and the Anglo-Saxons. In Central Africa, South Africa, and in some of the other Dominions, to a lesser extent, it exists between the whites and the native negro populations.

"Visitors from abroad understand how difficult these problems are to solve better than most Englishmen," said our 'Derryite guide. "In England racial and religious problems hardly exist. The people, therefore, fail to make enough allowance for the countries where they do. They criticise what goes on in America or South Africa, without realising what goes on in their own backyard. Visitors from abroad too, I find, understand better than most Englishmen I have talked to, why it is important that if Northern Ireland is to remain steady and stable, London must carry out policies which will strengthen the Northern Irish economy. People are more inclined to be tolerant in religious and political matters if they are earning good wages and seeing their kids get a fair chance in life."

This is the background against which the thoughtful people of Northern Ireland look at the rise in the unemployment rate, and note that with taxation and financial policies as they are at present, the day is approaching when Northern Ireland will no longer be a going concern. There is, of course, no technical reason why Northern Ireland should be a completely self-supporting part of the Commonwealth. But since the main argument of the Northern Irish against joining the Republic is that they are better off outside it, there is a strong moral reason why Northern Ireland should be earning more than it receives from the United Kingdom coffers. As we buckled our safety belts in the plane going back to London, the American gave a gentle sigh. "Brother," he said "This is like leaving home again." (Copyright)

An American Opinion: GETTING AROUND THIS BIRD IS THE REAL PROBLEM

Irish See Coronation Film

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

FILMS of Queen Elizabeth II's Coronation, banned by theatre managers in the Republic of Ireland after consultations with police authorities, were shown privately in twenty-six counties of that republic to standing-room-only audiences.

Dublin churches and charity organizations of all denominations, according to The Irish Times of Dublin, staged benefit performances that were sell-outs, even though they were operated on an invitation basis.

As a result of the films' widespread popularity, the newspaper reports, "more people will have seen the color version of the Coronation at private showings than would have been the case if the films had been shown at normal cinemas for a limited period."

The decision of theatre managers to boycott the films was taken before the Coronation. At the time they felt, according to one newspaper, that "a tin of Coronation film is a tin of dynamite."

Subsequently events showed movie theatre operators had some grounds for apprehension. A movie theatre across the frontier at Newry, in Northern Ireland, was severely damaged by a bomb explosion early on the morning of June 15, when the theatre was closed. The theatre had advertised in Dublin newspapers that the film version of the Coronation would be on display for three days starting June 25.

Perhaps the theatre owners saved themselves trouble by refusing to show the film, but the outcome of the affair is one of those typical situations in which the Irish delight. If there had been any suggestion of forcing the Irish republicans to view the Coronation films they would have resented it violently, but, when they were apparently forbidden facilities to view the picture, they made extraordinary efforts to do just that.

A strange and wonderful people.

The Smile Wins

(Detroit Free Press)

Before they eliminated — almost — the human element in the telephone business, the Bell Company had a swell slogan for their ads: "The Voice with the Smile."

Ladies who serve at soda fountains might pick it up now; that is, the smile. Lovely Virginia Dell Michael always smiled at her customers at a Marietta (Okla.) drug store as she squirted the soda into the ice cream. And one silent and admiring customer the other day went out and shot himself and willed her $40,000. We don't know why he killed himself, of course, but the little lady with the fortune is still smiling. The moral is that it always pays to be pleasant.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby . . . Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul; having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation . . .

For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God. For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow in his steps. (I Pet. 2: 2, 11, 12, 20, 21.)

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God . . . Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. (Ps. 90:1, 2, 16.)

The Lord reigneth; let the earth rejoice, let the multitude of isles be glad thereof . . . The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory . . . Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart. (Ps. 97:1, 6, 11.)

For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. (Ps. 84:11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people. (Acts 5: 12.)

✧ ✧

Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you. (I Pet. 5:6,7.)

Korea And Business

(Ottawa Journal)

Of all the dumb, selfish people who invite impatience the worst, we think, are those who go about worring out loud how a truce in Korea may affect business.

To begin with, if such people had been keeping their eyes on anything but their own cash registers they would know that of all our war appropriations over the past four years — close to $5 billion — not more than $200 million was spent on Korea.

That apart, are there people so dull, so oblivious to what our world is about, that they think it necessary to keep some war going, or to keep even a "cold war" going, to maintain prosperity? Are there people who don't know that the world's need and demand for things to fashion a decent standard of living could make more work, more production and more prosperity than any kind of war's need for cannon?

If that were not true, if "private enterprise" really required wars to keep it going, then time it would be surely to chuck "private enterprise."

Fine Weather Draws Many Cottagers, City Folk To Canoe, Sail, Swimming Races At Juniper Island

JUNIPER ISLAND— (Staff)— One of the finest weekends of water events at this centre of the Kawarthas was held this Civic Holiday, say the old timers at Stony Lake. Fine weather attracted cottagers from all over the lakes and city folks to both participate and watch. It was a full card of fun at Juniper starting with the height of the season's finest sailing races on Sunday.

A constant north-east breeze attracted 25 boats in two handicap races in the afternoon. The Visitor's Trophy race was won by Keith Russell's sloop "Spree" with Rob Willoughby's "Pixie" tagging close behind.

The David Russell Memorial Shield in the second race was taken by Tony Lockhart of Toronto in his "Calypso" cat dinghy and second place went to Freddie Huycke of Toronto in an International dinghy.

Officials of the race were commodore Harold (Keiler) Knapman, vice-commodore Rob Willoughby, secretary Ken R. Slater, treasurer Carl Duffus and convener of sailing, Art Teamerson.

Monday morning was devoted to junior events and in nearly all classes entrants crowded the course to capacity. In two of the swimming races participants were so numerous that two heats of each had to be run off.

David Smith was winner of the boy's points (10) and two girls were tied for top honors, Connie Hickey and Gail Wilkinson, with six points each. The general results, first places only, were as follows:

Boys' single canoe (14 years and under), John McMurtry; mixed tandem skiff, David Crowe and Sheral Wray; girls' single canoe, Connie Hickey; tandem skiff, Daphne Wray and Mary Brewin; boys' single canoe, (12 years), David Smith and boys' tandem canoe, Schuyler Jones and David Smith.

Girls' tandem canoe, Jill Cumberland and Terry Hickey; boys' single skiff, Chris Bunty; girls 'single canoe, Gail Wilkinson; mixed tandem canoe, Connie Hickey and David Smith; tandem canoe, Stephen Bonnycastle and Angus McDonald; mixed tandem skiff, Chuck Crawford-Browne and Brenda Garling; crab race, Peter Merry.

Girls' skiff, Daphne Wray; gunwale race, John McMurtry; mixed swim, girls, Daphne Wray, and boys, Stanley Hood; girls' swim (12 years), Gail Wilkinson; boys' swim (12 years), Bob McMurtry; girls' swim, (14 years), Joan Mainguay and boys' swim, same age group, Peter Falconer.

The adult regatta in the afternoon attracted the largest crowd of any of the weekend events. The races were run off smartly,

JUNIPER REGATTA was the focal point of the upper Kawartha Lakes Sunday and Monday as hundreds of spectators crowded the island's wharves and watched from boats offshore. in almost two hours, and prize-giving took place in the pavilion immediately afterwards. The winners of the various events were as follows:

Men's tandem canoe, John Cumberland and Richard Wotherspoon; ladies' tandem canoe, Joan Townsend and Connie Hickey; guides' single canoe, Terry McIlmoyle; mixed tandem skiff, Christie and Keith Russell; men's gunwale race, John Cumberland; women's gunwale race Kay Grier.

Mixed tandem canoe, Les Crowe and Betty McIlmoyle; men's single canoe, Les Crowe; seven in a skiff, paddled, John Brewin and crew; ladies' single canoe, Betty McIlmoyle; men's crab race, Richard Wotherspoon; women's crab race, Janet McDonald.

Girls' single canoe, Connie Hickey; bang-and-jump-out John Cumberland; canoe fours, Michael Allen, Kay Grier, Janet Staples and John Cumberland; long distance canoe race around Juniper Island, Les Crowe; men's open swim, McKenzie Dickson, and ladies' open swim, Nancy Doubt of Lakefield.

Some of the heartiest applause of the afternoon went to 73 year-old Reginald Bloomfield of Toronto who entered the men's single event and came in fifth. Mr. Bloomfield won his first canoe race at the age of 15 and went on to take the North American Championship in 1902. He was fondly remembered, too, for his canoe stunting at regattas and his skill at canoe sailing.

Officials who handled the main regatta in the afternoon were Commodore Knapman, Ken Slater, Roy McMurtry, Stewart Allan and Brig. Edward Ganong. The children's regatta in the morning was headed by Brig. Ian Cumberland.

Geiger Counter, Plane Ticket Mark Sourdough

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)— The 1953 uranium sourdough in Saskatchewan's northland is armed with a geiger counter, a plane ticket to the outside world and the hope he'll strike a good thing.

He has more and better equipment than the prospector of a half-century ago when Robert W. Service wrote his legendary poetry of the Yukon goldrush.

But not everything has changed. There still is the lure of the frontier; quick wealth and high pay. And there is the spirit of adventure and friendship which go with isolation.

WIDELY TRAVELLED

Many attracted by Saskatchewan uranium have been in every mining camp in Canada. In shack tents in the bush at night they talk of North Bay, Kirkland Lake or the mines of British Columbia.

The people are like those who came in the 1930s when gold beckoned. Their Saturday night is much the same as in a small town in the south. But the mail comes in 25 bags at a time.

Two young girls who met in Toronto and decided to head for Uranium City after reading a newspaper article serve coffee in a shack-like cafe. Five male members of a bank branch here look forward to their seven weeks' holiday.

GETS LONESOME

A young mining student from Alberta who carries a geiger counter down a mine shaft says it "gets awfully lonesome." Sefrin Ginther, 22-year-old RCMP officer from Swan Lake, Man., says he doesn't want to stay too long. But all agree it's nice country.

"I don't think I could go back to the city now," says Bill McDonald, mining recorder from Regina and Moose Jaw.

"It's free up here. The air is good. The scenery is wonderful.

"Everybody is one here. If you haven't a place to sleep, you can go to a neighbor's house and he will take you in."

Find Seaman's Body

PORT STANLEY (CP) — The body of Ambrose Turpin, 28, a seaman missing from the McNamara Construction Company's dredge Howard M. since July 25, was recovered from the harbor Sunday. Turpin, a native of St. Lawrence, Nfld., had been the object of an intensive search.

Ex-CMA Head Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. A. H. Baker, 70, a former president of the Canadian Medical Association, died here Friday. He was an outstanding authority on tuberculosis. He was superintendent of the tuberculosis sanatorium at Calgary for 35 years.

TAFT LIES IN STATE—The body of Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, lies in state in the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington. After State funeral services, Taft's body was buried today in Cincinnati, O.

Veteran Captain Of Sailing Days

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Captain Seymour H. Biggs, 82, has cast anchor in Kamloops where he lives with his wife, daughter and son-in-law and two grand-children.

Master of sail, he holds a master's square-rigged ticket of highest competency. He once took a sailing ship through the Straits of Magellan, which is a short cut for steamers around the southern tip of South America but is not considered suitable for sail.

On a West African trip years ago he took a baby parrakeet from its nest, and the bird has been his constant companion since.

During the depression years of the 1930s he was instrumental in helping hundreds of Canadian youths to get to England to join the Royal Air Force. His old friend, Dr. E. C. Hart, then coroner in Victoria, "agreed to give a physical check-up to my boys for $2 each," says Captain Biggs.

The news got around and boys came from many parts of Western Canada.

Car Collides With Transport

COBOURG (ENS) — Claude Commerford, Oshawa and a passenger in his car, Miss Carol Fox, Belleville, escaped death in a miraculous manner Monday when a car driven by Commerford was in a head-on collision with a canning factory truck driven by Howard Gyde, Milford.

The car was eastbound and after the collision with the westbound transport, it was flung around and came to rest in the middle of No. 2 Highway, but facing west. The accident occurred near Colborne and traffic was tied up by the crash.

The tractor went into a deep ditch and turned over but the trailer remained upright. The three were rushed to Cobourg General Hospital where their injuries were found to be mostly lacerations and shock. Provincial Constables O. Bannerman, S. Judson and W. Baulk investigated.

Car Overturns 2 Chlidren Die

CORNWALL (CP)—Two Kitchener children were killed near here Sunday when their father's car overturned on the highway just eight miles northeast of the scene of Friday's bus crash in which 20 persons perished.

The victims were Grace Manion, 7, and her five-year-old sister, Helen. They were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Manion of Kitchener.

The 37 year-old father received an injured left arm. Mrs. Manion received minor injuries. Another daughter, Patricia, 2, escaped unhurt.

Oh, well, in just 50 more weeks we'll go on vacation again. Probably pretty close to half the city returned reluctantly to the daily grind today to commence the last month of summer. Apart from a peeled back, a slim bankroll and memories, our vacash is o'er. But one does have happy memories of a sunny two weeks, recalling a warm sandy beach at Lake Papineau, fishing on Mink Lake, the hustle and bustle of USA cities, shunning shaves for days, lolling about in old clothes, plenty of rest. Yeah, 'twas nice while it lasted and we could go for a lot more of it—with pay, of course. But now back to work as playoffs approach.

An indication that autumn is not afar off is the call to arms of prospective Orfuns' gridders tonight. First open practice is at seven chimes at Morrow Park, sometimes known as the Exhibition Grounds. Last year's players—who went to Canadian intermediate "A" finals—and others are welcome, or what have you. Bring running shoes and shorts as calisthenics apply the first week. Report to Coach Tony Kotowski. Stiffer drills will be in order soon as Orfuns have an exhibition tilt in Ottawa later this month and start their ORFU schedule in September. Won't be long till Bev Goulding has his PCI-ers working out, also.

Snap Long Win String

During our two weeks away from the sports desk, Petes' Trailermen had their OLA senior undefeated string snapped after taking 12 straight victories. And they promptly resumed their winning ways following an overtime 12-11 triumph for Tigers over 'em in Hamilton last week. They dropped a 16-8 decision to the Yorks in Orillia back on June 27, and then they hit their true stride. Beat Fergus 10-4 next start, and crushed St. Kitts twice in a row by 17-7 and 9-6 scores. Beat Mimico 17-10 for their fourth win in a row, took Hamilton 17-8 and trounced the luckless Mounties again by 34-4. Golly, that was a painful one to view!

* * * * * *

Hamilton fell next to the Thorpe team by a 15-7 count and Yorks were slaughtered 24-5. Petes just edged Fergus 9-8 in Thistletown but walloped Hamilton 16-6 and dumped Mimico 18-2. Toward the end of July, they beat Mimico again by a 23-16 score for their 12th victory in a row. Alas, they tired in Hamilton on July 29 and were edged 12-11 in overtime. However, they had a few days rest then ere downing Fergus by a 12-4 score here Saturday last to keep tied with St. Kitts for first place as the schedule begins to run out. So, after a slow start they began to make noises like the Mann Cup champs they are, and they should wind up in first spot as OLA winners again, having two games in hand o'er the A's in the schedule.

Petes Gain First Spot

Hard, slashing lacrosse marked the senior scrap last night in Orillia with Petes trimming Yorks 14-7 on a solid team display. Ross Powless, Ike Hildebrand, Curly Mason, Don Ashbee, Russ Slater, Bob Thorpe, Nip O'Hearn and Jerry Fitzgerald all figured in on two or more markers. Both goalies were good in the sizzling struggle, Refs Lou Vipond and Joe Murphy being decidedly lenient in this one. Win put the Petes alone in top spot and they end their schedule with two tilts here this week, St. Kitts on Thursday and Hamilton next eve. Playoffs go next week, first vs. third, and second vs. fourth. No OLA title until the eastern winner is declared. Fergus dumped Hamilton 12-5 last night to about clinch fourth place. Yorks had taken Mimico 19-11 on Saturday.

No upset occurred at the west end golf links o'er the holiday weekend when Kitchener's Gerry Kesselring stroked his way to the title in the annual Kawartha Lakes tourney. Trailing a bit on the first day, the young ace got hot Sunday to shoot a 67 and he wound it up Monday with a 68 carded for a 207 gross. It was a most successful competition and much credit goes to Chairman Lionel Browne and his committee of Gordon White, Arnold Sanderson, John McIntyre, Bud LaBranche, Frank Buckland, Harley Weir, Steve Csumrik, Russ Baer, Don Meredith, Robert MacMorran, Alex MacGregor, Fred Welford, Lex Robson, Dick Ouimet, Tracy Shaw and Bill Moffat.

A REPEAT PERFORMANCE — Gerry Kesselring, of Kitchener Westmount, after a slow start came through with record-breaking rounds of 67 and 68 Sunday and Monday to win the Kawartha amateur open for the second successive year Monday. Kesselring (lower right) gets help from his wife, Helga, while holding the Lord Calvert Trophy. His closest opponents were Nick Weslock, of Windsor Essex, and Moe Norman, of Kitchener Rockway, who drew the large galleries throughout the three-day 54-hole tourney. Half the gallery is shown in the top photo. Weslock (lower left) had trouble with the trees and shrubs Sunday and Monday but still finished second.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Kesselring Repeats In Kawartha Golf

With an 18-hole golf in competition record at Kawartha of 67, on Sunday, Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener Westmount, won the Kawartha Golf and Country Club Golf Tournament with a total gross score of 207.

Kesselring, trailing Jim Neale on Saturday by three strokes, got "hot" Sunday and blasted himself into the lead—and stayed there. His record following 68 gross on Monday proved that 20-year-old Gerry wasn't fluking.

"I was really worried on the first nine holes Sunday morning," said Kesselring, "but a two-iron shot on the 15th hole straightened me out—I really felt good then." The ball stopped six feet from the cup ,and although it took him two strokes to sink it—well, it will be a long-remembered stroke.

Kesselring began playing golf when he was 12 years old. He won the Lansfield Handicap when he was 14 and the Ontario Junior Open when he was 16. Since then Gerry has been going great guns. He has won the Canadian Junior Open twice, the Ontario Junior Open three times, Ontario Amateur three times, Ontario Open twice, and the Ontario Willington Cup four times. On the latter, he and Nick Weslock, his closest challenger in the Kawartha tourney, for the Calvert Trophy, set a record of 138 each.

ALMOST AN ACE

Possibly Bart Grainger, a local boy, will remember a stroke he made—many others will. On the ninth hole Saturday morning, he belted a hole-in-one not quite. The ball plunked into the cup from a tee-off—and out again, stopping two inches from the fatal lip.

But who was driving Gerry Kesselring around that 54-hole contest—and making him show his best? None other than Nick Weslock, Essex, with an eye-catching 215. Nick played steady three-day golf coming up with a 71, 72 and 72 respectively for the three days. But then Nick didn't have the "old Pro Moe" giving him advice. Moe Norman, Kitchener Rockway, who placed third in tourney with a 218, was credited by Kesselring as "giving me the advice I needed."

When Gerry found the going rough Sunday morning, Moe Norman addressed him at the ninth hole and said, "Gerry, you're swinging that club bad."

That was enough of a tension breaker to make Kesselring go on to victory.

TOUGH LUCK

Jim Neale, Glendale, who ended Saturday with 69, bumped into the wrong side of Lady Luck the following two days and 79 on Monday placed him one behind Mike Cassidy, St. George's, who beat him by one shot, with a grand total of 221.

Sixth place was shared by Keith Kirkpatrick, London Highlands, and A. Cazes, Chedoke, with a 223 gross total; seventh place, B. Johnston followed by Al Cassidy, St. George's, with a 225.

The 308 entries registered for the tourney this year created quite a problem for the manageing staff, but a "dawn-patrol" and a "sunset serenade" group provided the solution. The golfers started off before 6.00 a.m. and ran through until 8.00 p.m. and after.

The competing golfers were segregated into three classes, depending on their handicap. First flight consisted of golfers with handicaps from 0 to 10, second flight, 11-20, and third flight, 21-36.

Prizes for the different classes, gross and net scores, as well as day-prizes for individual scores, were offered, and their value amounted to more than $2,500. Next year the total prize value will be $3,000, said president Lionel Brown, and secretary Gord White hopes the entree number will not exceed 250.

LOW IN SECOND

The low gross for the second flight was L. Scanlon, Chedoke, 234, followed by J. K. Rice, St. Andrew's, 235, H. G. Seecmillar, Rockway, 238, W. Rylands, Glendale, 240, K. Seegar, St. George's, 243, J. T. Mann, Toronto, 243, and R. Crichton, Islington, 246. All of these were prize-winners.

Low gross prize-winners in the third flight were D. Chamberlain, Kawartha, 260, F. Gray, Kawartha, 270, and V. Pope, Kawartha, 274.

The low gross winners in the first flight were, Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener Westmount, 207, Nick Weslock, Essex, 215, Moe Norman, Kitchener Rockway, 218, Keith Kirkpatrick, London, 223, B. Johnson, Glendale, 224, and G. Shirk, Westmount, and B. Castator, Islington, tied with 226.

Low net prizes for first flight were, Mike Cassidy, St. George's, 206, J. Haldimand, Kawartha, 206, J. Gibson, Cedarbrae, 207, W. Bowen, Cobourg, 207, M. Keith, St. George's, 208, C. Low, St. George's, 209, and R. Cutmore, Peterborough, 209.

Second flight, low net prize winners: L. W. Wilson, Lakefield, 193, A. Menzies, Kawartha, 199, C. Laidley, Lindsay, 204, H. C. Price, St. George's, 204, C. MacDougall, Kawartha, 206, and R. Bowman, Weston, 207.

Third flight, low net, P. Thomas, Kawartha, 202, A. Smith, Sandy Cove, 211, and P. Pryce, Kawartha, 212.

Day prizes in first flight went to Jim Neale, Glendale, 69, second day went to Al Cassidy, St. George's, 70, and third day, Al Cazes, Chedoke, 73.

First day gross in second flight went to J. T. Mann, Toronto, 77, and B. Grainger, Kawartha, 78. Second day to C. Pollock, Chedoke, 78, and R. E. Langdon, Summerlee, 80.

Third day, W. Legg, Credit Valley, 79, and R. Ouimett, Kawartha, 80.

Day prizes in the third flight went to C. Galt, Lakeview, 90, R. Jackson, Sarnia, 89, and F. Welford, Sarnia, 93.

Winners of the team prize were — first place, Kitchener, Westmount — Gerry Kesselring, 207, Gord Ball, 227, Grant Shirk, 226, and Don Heller, 235, for a total of 895. Second place went to Toronto, St. George's—Mike Cassidy, 221, Al Cassidy, 225, Mat Keith, 232, and Charlie Low, 236, for a total of 914.

Petes Down Orillia Yorks I n14-7 OLA Senior Tilt To Take Top Position

Humbling the Orillia West Yorks—by way of Toronto—to the tune of 14-7 last night in the northern centre, the Petes' Trailermen took over undisputed possession of first place in the senior OLA standing. They have just two more games to hold that spot to finish atop the schedule, both home jousts here next Thursday and Friday against St. Catharines and Hamilton in that order. The OLA has ruled recently that the first and third teams must meet in playoffs, and the second and fourth, starting early next week, and the OLA title will not be decided until the eastern winner is declared. The winner then automatically takes the OLA crown and goes west after the Canadian championship in September.

ROUGH ENOUGH

The Thorpe team had a rugged session of it last night, though they played fine lacrosse to outplay the Yorkers throughout. The home team laid on the gad from the start and Referees Joe Murphy and Lou Vipond let plenty go. Petes led 4-1 in the first quarter, had a 3-0 edge in the second session, the third was 2-all, and Trailermen tossed in five goals in the fourth to four by Orillia. Quite a few Peterborough fans were on deck for the important tussle.

Three goals were notched by Ross Powless, and two each by Russ Slater, Bob Thorpe and Don Ashbee, with singles going to Nip O'Hearn, Jerry Fitzgerald, Curly Mason, Ike Hildebrand and Lou Nickle. In assists, Hildebrand and Mason got a brace apiece, with one each counted by Dootch Vitarelli, Moon Wootton — who played some smart goal, as did George Johnston for Yorks—O'Hearn, Fitzgerald, Ashbee and Powless.

TWO FOR SCOTTY

For the losers, Don McPhail counted two, with Frank Facto, George Masters, Leo Teatro, Kenny Croft and Merv McKenzie each lighting the lamp once. An assist apiece went to McPhail, Masters, Teatro, Tony D'Amico and Les Digby.

Despite plenty of slashing and cross-checking, the only fight was in the fourth frame between Nip O'Hearn and George Masters with no damage done, but the culprits drawing majors. Bob Thorpe and Lea Teatro mixed briefly, also, and Thorpe drew a major and Teatro a minor. Teams:

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and Nickle; centre, Mason; wings Slater and Smith; alternates, O'Hearn, Powless, Thorpe, Ashbee, Hildebrand, Vitarelli, G. Robinson, R. Robinson and Batley.

Yorks: Goal, Johnston; defence, Teatro and Lee; centre, Masters; wings, McPhail and D'Amico; alternates, Facto, Digby, McKenzie, J. Kapasky, Scott, Croft, Chard and Hammond.

Referees: J. Murphy and L. Vipond.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

So successful was the impromptu mixed doubles tournament, held on the local greens, on the holiday, that it was the unanimous opinion of those taking part that it should be an annual event.

The committee in charge was grateful for the support it got on such a short notice and that if the tournament had been announced earlier it is quite possible that there would have been 32 pairs out instead of 22. All rinks played two 12-end games in the afternoon and one 15-end game in the evening; the best part of it all was that the tournament was over by 9.00 o'clock.

It was a great day for bowling, a good tournament and all went home happy.

Those who greatly assisted with the tournament were: Mrs. R. Dyer, Mrs. H. Wilson, Reg. Dyer, W. Jeffries and R. Gamble.

ORILLIA (CP) — Carol Ann Duthie, 16, of Toronto Monday night set a Canadian junior record of 39 feet in the water ski jump of the Eastern Canadian Water Ski championships. Miss Duthie bettered the old record of 34 feet and tied her own record set in Mexico two weeks ago.

Carol Ann also made a sweep of the junior girls' division.

Gus MacIntosh of Bobcaygeon placed first in the men's slalom, Hawley Staight of Owen Sound second and Braydon Elliot, Toronto, third.

LOCAL GIRL THIRD

Jack and Betty Shand of Toronto placed first in the doubles. Second were Elliot and Margaret Heighington, Orillia. MacIntosh and Stephanie Stewart of Peterborough were third.

Barbara Metcalfe, Toronto, won the women's ski jump with a distance of 29 feet. Elizabeth Weale, Toronto, was second and Catharine Smith, Guelph, third.

Over-all women's champion was Joan Fydell of Toronto, capturing a first, second and fourth.

With two firsts and a third, Bruce Poole of Bobcaygeon won the junior boys' over-all championship. He captured the ski jump with a leap of 35 feet, and the slalom and placed third in the junior boys' tricks.

Brooklyn Blanks Milwaukee 1-0 In 7 Innings

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

This might be an appropriate time to wonder what Steve O'Neill thinks now of that roundabout winter trade that sent Russ Meyer from Philadelphia to Brooklyn by way of the Braves. The Phillies' manager at the time pooh-poohed the idea that Brooklyn had traded itself into the pennant. But with the season two-thirds gone, the temperamental righthander's 11 - 4 record would look mighty good on the Phils' pitching roster, which seems to consist almost solely of Robin Roberts.

You can bet your bottom dollar the Braves wince every time they remember they engineered the deal.

Meyer threw his second straight shutout at the Braves Monday night in Milwaukee, winning 1-0 in seven rain-soaked innings. He's beaten them four times this season against one setback. The victory moved the Dodgers 8½ games ahead of second-place Milwaukee in the National League pennant race.

FAST DEAL

Philadelphia, in a fast and involved deal gave the Braves Meyer in exchange for first baseman Earl Torgeson and cash and then shipped the pitcher to Brooklyn for infielders Jim Pendleton and Rocky Bridges. Bridges was swapped immediately to Cincinnati as part-payment for first baseman Joe Adcock.

Meyer not only pitched a shutout Monday night, he also batted in the winning run with a single in the seventh inning.

Brooklyn has beaten Milwaukee 11 out of 15 games so far, including all six played in Milwaukee.

At Washington Billy Pierce of Chicago White Sox gave up two hits in a 1-0 triumph over Johnny Schmitz and the Senators. At Cincinnati Joe Nuxhall of the Redlegs limited Pittsburgh to five hits in winning 5-0.

In other major league action St. Louis Cardinals whipped Philadelphia 8-3 and climbed within half a game of the third-place Phils and New York Yankees smothered St. Louis Browns 11-3.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

Pierce's shutout was the fourth straight scoreless game in the Washington-Chicago series, which the two clubs split.

Nuxhall was given a two-run lead in the first inning and a comfortable margin in the fourth when Andy Seminick homered with one aboard.

The Cardinals routed Jim Konstanty with four runs in the first and added three more in the second inning. Red Schoendienst scored two runs with a triple and two singles. Wilmer Mizell coasted with a scoreless three-hitter until the ninth when the Phils rallied with a two-run pinch hit homer by Connie Ryan.

The Yankees maintained their five-game margin in the American League by battering St. Louis pitching for 18 hits. Whitey Ford won his 12th game against four defeats.

Royals Down Orioles 6-5 To Boost Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The league-leading Montreal Royals drew away from the pack in the International Baseball League Monday as they edged Baltimore Orioles 6-5 at Montreal.

Second-place Buffalo Bisons split a doubleheader with Rochester Red Wings, winning the opener 3-0 at Buffalo, but dropping the nightcap 5-4.

Ottawa Athletics rapped Syracuse Chiefs 14-13 and 3-0 in the Canadian capital, while Toronto Maple Leafs swept the third doubleheader of the night from Springfield Cubs, taking both games 6-1.

In the Toronto contests Lew Morton slammed a home run and three doubles for six runs. He also came up with three outs and an assist in the field. Right-hander Don Johnson and southpaw Lou Sleater showed near-perfect control for Toronto. Each allowed only a single walk.

FANTASTIC GAME

Ottawa won a fantastic first game in the 10th inning of a scheduled seven-frame contest, scoring six runs with nobody out after Syracuse had teed off on two pitchers to push across five in the top half.

The six runs came on this combination: A walk, two singles, another walk to force in a run, a single, leaving men on first and third with three runs already in. At that point, Jack Littrell bunted in front of the plate. Catcher Dick Kinsman, trying to start a double play at second, threw the ball into centrefield, allowing Littrell to score behind two other runers.

Bob Trice, Ottawa righthander, won his 15th game against seven losses in the nine-inning nightcap, scattering six hits.

At Buffalo, Don Richmond clouted his 10th homer for the Red Wings in the nightcap and scored three runs, after Frank Lary's one-hitter stymied the Wings 3-0 in the opener.

At Montreal the Royals seized victory in the ninth inning as Roy Hartsfield smashed a triple to centrefield with two out to score Dick Whitman who had walked, and Ken Wood, who had singled.

Trailermen Again In First With 12-4 Win Over Fergus At Miller Bowl Saturday

For the fourth time within the past two weeks Bob Thorpe's Trailermen jumped into a first-place tie with St. Catharines Athletics Saturday night when they coasted to an easy 12-4 victory over Fergus Thistles. While they climbed into first place, the Trailermen prevented the Thistles from breaking a four-place deadlock with Hamilton's Tabbie Cats.

Minus Jerry Fitzgerald, Harry Wipper and Ross Powless, the Trailermen were still masters of the game throughout all quarters. Only once then in the second quarter did the Thistles threaten at all; then it was only for a few minutes and didn't cause any excitement along the Peterborough bench.

Allowing the Thistles only four goals, the Trailermen preserved goalie Lloyd "Moon" Wootton's goals-against record. They backchecked well in the first, third and fourth periods, letting up in the second. Wootton at the same time handled the Thistle shots with ease.

Jim Robertson, Thistle goalie, kept the Trailermen's goals-for record down. They did pick up the 12 but need more to pass the Athletics. The goals-for column will decide first place in case of a tie at the end of the schedule.

Robertson, filling in for Ralph Speck, former Peterborough goalie, kicked, caught and blocked numerous Trailermen shots throughout the game. He alone prevented a much larger score.

Whistle-happy referees Mickey McDonald and Jack Williams, of Toronto, gave out penalties right and left during the first half when both teams began to slash back and forth. At one time, late in the first, both teams played with only four players.

The slashing resulted in two brawls. Lou Nickle and Bill (Cowboy) Allum in the first started with a slashing duel, then dropped their sticks and gloves, going at each other with bare fists. They earned major penalties.

Early in the fourth Dootch Vitarelli and Marlow Woods roughed each other and then minutes later really started in earnest. After clipping each other several hard blows, they were sent off for five minutes each.

The kingline, Rock Batley, Gary and Red Robinson, Garnet Burns, along with Nip O'Hearn and Wootton, were out alone for the final minutes. Even Moon made a rush then passing to Robinson. Moon was just back in time to fill the net, outguessing J. J. Hill.

Lineups—Peterborough: Goal Wootton; defence, Nickle; centre, Thorpe; wings, Ashbee, Hildebrand; rover Vitarelli; alt., Smith, Burns, R. Robinson, Mason, Slater, Batley.

Fergus: Goal, Robertson; defence, Woods, McWhirter; centre, D. Gear; wings, Hill, Landoni; alt., Black, Doble, Campbell, B. Gear, Matheson, Chambers, Harris, Proctor, Carter.

Six Marksmen Post Scores Of 99

By ARTHUR ROWSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONG BRANCH (CP)—A protest concerning a field telephone was made by Flt.-Sgt. L. J. V. Martin of the RCAF, Camp Borden Monday, and was rejected by Ontario Rifle Association officials.

Martin, competing in the Bankers match on the opening day of the association's 72nd annual shoot, said he couldn't check the shot on the 500-yard range because the telephone wasn't in order. He was credited with four points out of a possible five for the shot, giving him a total of 99 out of a possible 100 on his 10 rounds at 200 yards and 500 yards.

Martin said later he was satisfied with the decision.

Five other marksmen posted scores of 99 in the Bankers and the six competitors shoot off today for the silver medal. The others are Sub-Lieut. T. F. Bains, RCNR, Toronto; Staff-Sgt. G. B. Kay, Hamilton; Sqdn.-Ldr. D. Reynolds, RCAF, Ottawa; Cadet P. D. Ford, Hamilton Westdale Collegiate and Sgt. R. S. Potter, Hamilton.

TIED FOR LAURELS

Capt. J. G. Kirk of Listowel, Ont. and Lieut. W. V. Hall of Camp Borden tied for the President's Match laurels and the silver medals. Each scored 49 points with 10 rounds at 600 yards. The deciding match is to be held today when other results of the competition will be announced.

The four-day shoot has drawn 205 marksmen from all across Canada and New York state. Six women, including Mrs. C. W. Spencer of Ottawa, whose husband, daughter, Patricia, 18, and eldest son, Danny, 16, complete a family entry, are slated for many of the events.

Among Bisley veterans here is Lieut. James Boa of Toronto, who learned to shoot when he was 12 and entered his first rifle competition in 1907. The 65-year-old rifleman has qualified for the Bisley team 20 times and travelled to England with it four times. He announced Monday he will not try for qualification again.

Boa won the Grand Aggregate at Bisley three times and the Grand Aggregate at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association annual shoot three times.

GO TO OTTAWA

The ORA will assist this week's top marksmen to go to Ottawa next week for the DCRA annual shoot and the choosing of the Canadian Bisley team.

Today's schedule includes the tricky Gibson Memorial Match for snap shooting in which the competitors fire 10 rounds in 45 seconds at 300 yards. Other matches are the Duke of Cornwall and York and the City of Toronto.

RESCUE AT SEA — Larchmont, N.Y., Race Week on Long Island Sound has its precarious moments, too. But these three girls from Larchmont's junior yacht club thoroughly enjoyed it as the Blue Jay class sailboat, skippered by Barbara Bertrand, capsizes. Toby Peterson, launch driver, handles the rescue.

$50,000 Suit Pending Against Fain

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $50,000 damage suit against Ferris Fain, brought by a man who said Chicago White Sox first baseman struck him and caused him to lose six teeth, is pending here.

The suit was filed in federal district court Monday, but Fain, who himself has a gashed forehead, bruised left hand and scratched cheek, left Washington before papers were served on him. He did not play in Monday night's game with Washington.

The plaintiff is James Judge, 28, an employee of the Soldiers' Home here.

He said the altercation took place late Sunday at a nearby Maryland inn.

ROW OVER WOMAN

James C. Toomey, counsel representing Judge, said the disagreement began when Judge tried to cut in and dance with a woman acquaintance of his, the dancing with Fain.

Later, Toomey said, Fain dared Judge to ask her for a dance "if you've got the guts."

He did so, returned to his table when she refused, and then was struck in the jaw, the lawyer contended.

SPEEDBOAT MARKS FALL

PICTON (CP) — Three power boating records for the measured mile and a Canadian mark for five-mile competition were established here Monday at the 17th annual Gold Cup regatta on Picton Bay.

George Carnegie of Toronto set a world record for the Canadian one-design class hydroplane, covering the mile both ways at an average speed of 47.217 miles an hour. This betters the 45.8 mark set by Harry Stone of Toronto. Carnegie also established a world's competitive record in this class, travelling over the five-mile course at an average speed of 46.668 miles an hour.

Bernard Daoust of Lachine, Que., with Canada Maid II, set a Canadian record for the .266-cubic-inch class at 103.175 miles an hour over the mile. The previous mark was 100.141, set on Picton Bay in 1951 by Bill Braden of Waterdown, Ont.

George Reynolds of Brockville drove his 135-Canadian class hydroplane, What's Left, at 73.7 miles an hour over the mile, the fastest time for a Canadian boat in eastern waters. Stattic, owned by W.G. Belfie of Gananoque, was second.

The Prince Edward Yacht Club Gold Cup, awarded in the .266-cubic-inch hydroplane class, went to Daoust, winner of both heats. His average speed for the 10 miles was close to 75 miles an hour.

Jack Langmuir of Brockville, driving Costa Phobia, owned by Art Hatch of Hamilton, won the Schenley Gold helmet as high point winner in the 225-cubic-inch hydroplane class.

Mangrum Wins All-American Golf Crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Lloyd Mangrum, a jaunty 39-year-old grandpappy, pocketed the $3,420 top prize at Tam o'Shanter Monday by winning the All American golf crown with a pressure-jammed last round of 67.

His 72-hole total of 275 was 13 strokes under par (36-36—72) for the 6,915-yard layout.

Mangrum, the Tam's tournament circuit representative, thus started what he hopes will be another grand slam at the club.

In 1948, he captured both the All American and following "World Championship" meets, a combined effort worth $25,000. The Tam o'Shanter $90,000 "World" tournament starts Thursday with the winner receiving $25,000.

Monday's victory came with a closing nine-hole score of 32 that was climaxed by sinking a 23-foot chip from the back fringe of the 18th hole for a birdie 3. The triumph put Mangrum ahead of Ben Hogan for the season's money-winning lead, boosting his jackpot to $18,786.

Mangrum's final 35-32—67 gave him a three-stroke margin over Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., and defending champion Sam Snead.

Henry Martell of Edmonton shot a fourth-round 73 to end up with 289. His scores for the four rounds

The All American Women's Open was won for the third time by Patty Berg. She posted a closing 76 for a 308 tally, four over women's regulation, to beat out Louise Suggs by one stroke. Miss Suggs finished with a 78. Miss Berg's award was $1,000 while Miss Sugs received $600.

Babe Zaharias, trying a comeback after a cancer operation April 17, placed 15th and finished out of the money. She shot a final 84 for 329.

Lachine Canoe Club Wins Paddling Championship

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Canoe Association burgee—emblematic of club supremacy at the association's two-day classic—went back to the Lachine, Que., Canoe Club Saturday for the first time since 1948.

When the 53rd annual paddling meet ended Saturday night, the Lachine club led the field of 17 competitors with 37 points, seven points ahead of Toronto Island Canoe Club.

It was Lachine's seventh championship since the CCA was formed in 1900.

Toronto Sailing and Canoe Club placed third with 22 points. Radisson of Three Rivers, Que., was fourth with 16, Sudbury, fifth with 13, and Toronto Balmy Beach sixth with 11.

FAILED TO FIGURE

Carleton Place, Gananoque, Montreal Otterburn and Quebec City failed to figure in the standing.

Bob Smith, stocky member of last year's Canadian Olympic team was the big man for the Lachine crew. He won one championship and was in four other winning boats.

Don Stringer, 19-year-old Sudbury Canoe Club paddler, broke the only record in the meet.

The husky high school student, who has been paddling for 5½ years, retained his championship in the half-mile senior singles with a winning time of 4:24.2, shaving eight-tenths of a second off the previous record set in 1932 by Frank Amyot of Ottawa.

Stringer nosed across the finish line ahead of George Bossy of Montreal Cartierville, a member of paddling team, and Lloyd Rice of Toronto Sailing.

OTHER WIN

Sudbury's other win came in the half-mile double blade fours with Al Duval captaining the crew across the finish line in 3:36.4 ahead of crews from Toronto Island and Montreal Cartierville, finishing in that order.

Lachine trailed by two points after the opening day Friday but jumped into the lead after the first race Saturday when Smith upset defending champion Lloyd Rice to win the half-mile senior double blade single with a time of 3:43.6.

Smith combined with clubmate Les Melia to win the 10,000-metre double blade tandem and the half-mile junior double blade tandem. Smith also helped the club to the championship in the half-mile war canoe.

Contract Extension Given To Stanky

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis Cardinals Monday was given a contract extension running through 1956.

Stanky, 35, also is to have a bigger voice in a long-range Cardinal rebuilding program and a free hand to experiment with young players for the remainder of this season.

The contract, longest ever granted a Cardinal manager, was reported to call for the same salary Stanky has been receiving, about $40,000 a year.

Ball Attendance On Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league club owners, many of whom spent the early part of the season counting their losses at the gate, are breathing a lot easier these days.

An Associated Press survey disclosed today that attendance at major league ball parks in 1953 has pulled almost even with last year's figures, with two clubs already over 1,000,000.

To date, major league teams have played before 9,850,232 customers. Last year, they drew 9,859,971 at a comparable period. That's a drop of only 9,739.

The transplanted Milwaukee Braves, who have attracted 1,096,949 fans in 48 home games, are responsible for the gain of 804,530 shown by the National League. The world champion New York Yankees, with 1,034,505 paid, are the only American League team running ahead of last year's figures.

Selwyn Jones Wins Eight-Mile Race

WIARTON (CP)—Selwyn Jones sped eight miles across the Bruce Peninsula from Lake Huron to Georgian Bay in 46 minutes and two seconds Monday to win the annual Wiarton-Blue Water road race.

The Hamilton Olympic Club's standout distance runner, who formerly lived in Sudbury, finished just ahead of team-mate Barry Luse. Lorne White of Guelph was third.

TORONTO (CP) — Bill Rowe drove his father's Volo Van, a five-year-old brown mare, to victory Saturday in the $1,200 Ontario trot at Thorncliffe Raceway's harness meet. The J. C. Cameron entry, Mimzy Song and Gracious Hanover, finished second and third respectively.

In a special feature, 16-year-old Margaret Campbell paced her father's outstanding Argyel Grattan to a Canadian record for lady drivers. The time of 2.08 was four seconds better than the previous mark established two years ago at Thorncliffe.

Jack Mehlenbacher, the National Hockey League referee who leads all drivers at Thorncliffe, captured the Thorncliffe trot and pace Handicap Monday with his six-year-old Vanduzen. Although handicapped with the outside position, Vanduzen won the mile event in 2.08 flat, 1 2-5 secods off the track record held by M. C. Rose.

City Loop All-Stars Defeat Civic Squad

Reg. Leethers' all-star City League softball squad triumphed over a picked civic league team Monday night at the East City Bowl by a score of 14-3 before a good holiday crowd. The civic leaguers started well with a three-run first inning off Haddy Eakins; but thereafter were unable to clout the offerings of the crack T.P.T. slinger with any degree of effectiveness.

Haddy scattered three hits and fanned seven as the Leether crew racked up a convincing win over game but weaker rivals. Paul Maloney, Bud Guerin, Clare Conroy and Keith Harrison all saw mound action for the visitors, led by Bob Welch and Burt Rowe.

Mart Donoghue in th first, and Buck Legrow in the seventh, each connected with grand - slam homers to account for eight runs. Despite all this; the civic leaguers gave a fair account of themselves against their city rivals.

In the afternoon contests Seabrook Electric defeated Post Office 9-4; while in the evening opener, Sunshine Dairy laced Police 17-2.

Brydson Wins Millar Tourney

TORONTO (CP) — Gordie Brydson, 49-year-old Toronto Mississauga professional, won the Millar professional-assistant's match play golf tournament Saturday with a one up victory over Willie Lamb, Lambton's venerable campaigner who was Millar king in 1930.

Brydson, Millar winner in 1937 when he beat Montreal's Stan Horne, took the lead three times in the final and each time the 50-year-old Lamb tied it up. Brydson finally made his fourth advantage, gained with a 10-foot putt for a birdie three on the 16th hole. They halved the last two holes.

It was a tremendous 300-yard drive that set up the match-winner on the 16th. Lamb was well back of him and with his second, Brydson laid his ball 10 feet from the cup. Lamb was 25 feet away and almost got it down for a birdie but Brydson's putt was dead on and that decided the title.

Congress Writes Finish To Mixed Record

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the stroke of midnight, the Republican-controlled United States 83rd Congress wrote finis to a mixed record of action and lethargy in helping President Eisenhower fulfil his campaign pledges.

But members left behind for their second session beginning Jan. 6—or a possible special meeting this fall—an imposing list of key measures which will make or break their record.

Many of the hottest potatoes, including some of the president's recommendations, were simply left in the bin. Others, on the advice of the president, were handed to study commissions for closer scrutiny.

This first session, of the first Congress in two decades to be Republican-controlled while a Republican was in the White House, made a firm start toward edging away from the Democratic party's New Deal and Fair Deal philosophies.

ONLY A START

But even Republicans conceded it was only a start, and much of it at that achieved only with Democratic aid.

Eisenhower will give his own estimate of this session's achievements in a radio broadcast Thursday.

Monday night he sent letters of "warm thanks and appreciation" to the House of Representatives and Senate.

There was no hint in the letters of any chagrin over his biggest legislative misfire: a plea to boost the statutory debt limit.

With the debt now $272,500,000,000 and more borrowing predicted, Eisenhower's fiscal leaders had been insistent that the statutory debt limit be raised from $275,000,000,000 to $290,000,000,00.

SPECIAL SESSION SEEN

A special session in October or November was obviously in prospect. But Eisenhower said in his letters to the members of Congress: "I look forward to seeing all of you again in January."

In the closing hours Congress pushed through final agreement on a $53,500,000,000 program to finance the spending of the government and the armed services in the year which started July 1.

The bill was trimmed, but not enough to balance the budget.

The outlook is that despite the cuts there will be a whopping $5,800,000,000 deficit at the close of the fiscal year.

The money bills also included $6,500,000,000 for military and economic aid to friendly nations, plus another $200,000,000 for South Korean rehabilitation. The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, a vehicle for the trade-not-aid theory, was extended to next June 12.

1. St. Lawrence seaway—a Senate committee approved a bill calling for the U.S. to contribute $100,000,000 toward joint construction with Canada. It was scheduled for debate next January.

2. Niagara Falls power development—the House passed a bill calling for private utilities to handle the project. But a Senate committee held it up.

3. Tax revision—the treasury has promised to have a comprehensive rewriting of the tax laws ready in January.

4. Revision of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law.

5. Farm price supports—mandatory 90 per cent supports on six basic crops expire after the 1954 crop year. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson has indicated he believes it might be better to let the law revert to the sliding 75- to 90-per-cent scale.

6. Revision of McCarran-Walter Immigration Act—Eisenhower criticized provisions he said were discriminatory.

Here are some of the major actions taken:

1. Dropped price and wage controls; extended rent controls in critical defence areas.

2. Spelled out the right of states to ownership of submerged lands and resources inside their historic boundaries, and the federal program for developing them outside.

3. Extended the excess profits tax for six months until Dec. 31, 1953, but took no action on a bill to reduce individual income taxes last July 1.

Noted Golf Feat

OTTAWA (CP)—Thomas J. McMahon, who in 1927 rolled a golf ball from Rochester, N.Y., to Canada's Parliament Buildings died Sunday at Rochester, it was learned here. He was 84. A native of Cannamore, Ont., Tom McMahon performed his feat to raise money for sick and needly vaudeville players, though not a performer himself. It took him three weeks.

HARD WAY—Paul Hahn drives the ball 250 yards at any level from a one-legged stance in an exhibition at New York's Knollwood Country Club. As would be expected, the trick-shot expert hits the ball equally well when he's down on the ground.

Bank Forecasts Canadians Better Off In 25 Years

By BOB JOYCE

MONTREAL (CP) — Twenty-five years from now Canadians can reasonably expect to be a great deal better off than they are today, if a major depression can be avoided.

By 1980 there should be no less than 25,000,000 Canadians producing $65,000,00,000 worth of goods a year, the Bank of Nova Scotia forecasts in its current monthly review. At present Canada has a population of nearly 14,500,000; the national income is $22,500,000,000.

But the authors of the review hasten to add that this is only a guess about the distant future. It doesn't mean that the country will become steadily more prosperous each year; the economy may well have its ups and downs in the meantime.

Moreover, they caid, it presupposes the world doesn't suffer a severe or long-drawn-out depression during the next 25 years, and that other countries don't stop buying Canada's basic products. If one or other of these things happened, it would make their calculations look foolish, they admit.

SIGNIFICANT IMPLICATIONS

Their forecast is based on the view that "a rise of two-thirds in the number of consumers in Canada, coupled with substantially higher living standards for the whole population, would have significant implications for every sector of the economy."

For, they say, "the experience of the past leaves no doubt that rising productivity and higher living standards will be part and parcel of the parallel growth in the size of the economy."

It would, for example, make Canadian farmers independent of export markets for many products, the review says, with a 10,000,000 increase in population they wouldn't need to hunt as hard for foreign markets; they could sell more at home.

And with bigger production and more intensive working of farmlands, farmers would need additional machinery and equipment and added supplies of fertilizers, all of which in turn spells prosperity for agricultural suppliers.

HIGHER BUILDING RATE

The expansion also would mean a higher building rate than at present. The review calculates the 10,000,000 extra Canadians would need 2,500,000 houses.

Not the least factor in the nation's expansion would be the increased demand for cars. At present 15 in every 100 Canadians owns a car. This compares with nearly 30 per 100 in the United States. A bigger and more prosperous Canada, using cars to the extent Americans do today, would put 7,000,000 autos on the road compared to the 2,100,000 now in use.

In addition, productivity in Canadian industry—the amount produced by each worker in a given time—would rise, enabling Canadian manufacturers to become more competitive and to supply their goods at lower prices.

Workers themselves would not work any harder, but plants could operate more efficiently.

The review points out, of course, that even with 25,000,000 Canadians manufacturers would not have the advantages of a mass market comparable with that existing in the United States.

"But it would certainly enable more industries to operate close to the optimum level needed for efficient production, competitive with imports," the review declared.

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—The United States clinched its 17th straight Wightman Cup women's tennis victory over Great Britain Monday when Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, defeated Mrs. Jean Quartier Rinkel 6-2, 6-4. This was the fourth American triumph in the seven-match series and made the final three matches a mere formality.

The Americans won the first four matches without loss of a set.

It was the United States' 25th cup conquest against only four defeats since the international series was started in 1923.

Egyptians Set Two Channel Swim Records

WISSANT, France (AP) — Egyptian swimmers established two English Channel records Sunday but Florence Chadwick, 33-year-old San Diego, Cali., typist, who twice has conquered the testing 25 miles, failed in her third attempt.

Miss Chadwick, who has swum across the tricky stretch of water in each direction, started out to swim it non-stop both ways.

Abd Lilif Abou Heif, 23, figured in both records for swimming from England to the French coast. He was a member of the six-man Egyptian team which hung up a relay record of 10 hours and 51 minutes and then lowered the individual mark to 13 hours 45 minutes.

Abou Heif swam one of the early legs of about four miles as a member of the team and shortly after struck out alone from the English shore. A British timer said he had easily broken the record of 15 hours, 35 minutes made by Tom Blower of England in 1948.

BEAT OWN MARK

The Egyptian team of Abou Heif, El Araby, 36, Abou Bakr, 31, A. Abdou, 29, M. Hassaan, 19, and Bakr Soliman, 27, beat their own mark of 11 hours 11 minutes made.

Miss Chadwick was pulled out of the water, wan and exhausted, about nine miles off the French coast, after swimming for nine hours and 55 minutes.

While the Egyptians and Miss Chadwick were tackling the England-to-France route, Damian Piza Beltran, former night club crooner from Mexico, swam from France to England in 15 hours, 23 minutes.

Touflic Bleik, a 22-year-old Lebanese civil servant, swam the channel, also from France to England, Monday.

He waded ashore at St. Margaret's Bay beach near Dover and thus became the 77th individual to make the journey since they started keeping score of the strange business back in 1875.

Film Stars Reject Dior Skirts

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Christian Dior suffered a setback in his drive for shorter skirts today when the eight winners of the 1953 Miss Universe contest unanimously thumbed down his proposal.

The French designer shocked the fashion world with his new creations, which showed the skirt line as barely below the knee. Elsa Schiaparelli took up the challenge and lengthened her new dresses to 13 inches from the floor, even lower than last year.

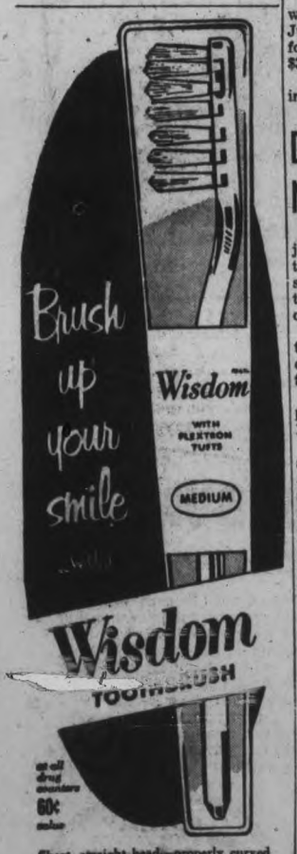
Norman Hartnell, designer for the Queen, issued an edict that skirts would stay where they are—mid-calf. Hattie Carnegie sided with Dior.

The women of the world are the ones who will decide the battle of the hems. You couldn't find a prettier cross-section for sampling opinion than the eight beauties who won screen contracts in the recent Miss Universe contest. Judging from them, Dior is doomed for defeat.

MANY OPINIONS

The beauteous octette is currently training for the harem in "Yankee Pasha" at Universal-International. With the aid of interpreters, I evoked these opinions on the hemline hassle:

Miss Universe, Christiane Martel of France—"I agree with Monsieur Hartnell. The present skirt length is ideal for women. There are few women who have the perfect legs to wear short skirts. If a woman is wide at the hips and you bring up the skirt, it makes her look like a barrel."



Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago—"I much prefer the skirt length at mid-calf. I like it even lower with pencil - slim dresses. Will American women go for the new Dior length? They might go for anything."

Miss South Africa, Ingrid Rita Mills—"I am in favor of the skirt where it is—about 14 inches from the floor. If you have it any shorter, you are bound to see a girl's bony knees. And after all, all knees are bony."

Miss Australia, Maxine Morgan—"If you haven't got a curved calf, the present skirt is much more flattering than a shorter one. I don't think the hemline should be changed. A girl can't be putting up her skirt and lowering it all the time."

But lest Dior split his seams over this international rebuff, I can report that he had at least one convert at the studio. She was Mamie Van Doren, U-I's answer to Marilyn Monroe. Said she:

"I'm in favor of higher skirts. Lower necklines, too. If a girl has good assets, she shouldn't keep them hidden."

1,000,000 British Women Declaring War On Government Over Low Wages

By MARJORIE EARL

LONDON (Reuters) — Nearly 1,000,000 British women have signed their names to a declaration of war—war against the government, their employers and the trade unions for refusing to give Britain's 7,000,000 women workers equal pay for equal work.

The declaration — a petition started by a women's employment research group called the Fawcett Society—has been circulated this summer throughout England, Scotland and Wales.

Canvassers from the professions, the civil service, trade unions and kitchens have been collecting signatures since April.

One woman preached the gospel at the hairdresser's where she collected scores of supporters. Another carried the petition to fashion shows and still another put up a table outside her garden gate and nicked pedestrians as they passed. Not all the signatories are women, either.

On the average, women in Britain earn 20 per cent less than men for doing exactly the same job. In the civil service this differential is statutory.

In the teaching profession, women get four-fifths of a man's salary. In industry the difference, maintained by union contract, is 30 per cent or more.

"It's quite ridiculous," says Mrs. Gertrude Horton, the Fawcett Society's chairman, "that women should do jobs identical to those done by men for less money."

The petition, says Mrs. Horton, is not an effective political weapon. But it will serve to re-direct government notice to a problem that has occupied its attention, on and off, for more than 30 years.

Parliament has declared itself in favor of the principle of equal pay four times; in 1920, in 1936, in 194 and again in 1952. The Trades Union Congress has been passing resolutions supporting it since the 19th century.

All political parties have acknowledged the justice of the women's claim. But, while declaring itself in favor of the principle, each successive government has contrived to pass the buck.

"Equal pay is not a negotiable subject," women civil servants are told at wage talks. "The country can't afford it," say politicians in the House of Commons.

During the First World War the Fawcett Society trained women as welders so they could work in plane factories, when such unladylike occupations were still beyond the wildest visions even of ardent feminists.

The employment of women is its principal interest today, particularly in the broad, political sense. Recently it has been knocking down traditional barriers excluding women from important jobs in the civil service.

Detroit Girl Chosen Miss Sepia Of 1953

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Eight judges viewed 24 beautiful contestants until early today before selecting Louise Griffin, 18, of Detroit as Miss International Sepia of 1953.

The contest was a feature of the three-day Emancipation Day celebrations held here annually for the last 21 years.

Johnnie May Gibson, 16, Detroit, placed second and Cathy Frisby, 18, Detroit, was third.

The celebrations have been staged since the British-American Association of Colored Brothers, sponsors of the show, was organized nere more than 22 years ago. Aug. 1 was named Emancipation Day to celebrate passage of an 1834 law which declared slavery unlawful in the British Empire. United States slaves were freed in 1863.

New Minister Inducted At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, MA, BD, formerly of Almonte United Church, was inducted as minister of the Lakefield United Church charge at an impressive service on Friday evening.

The service was in charge of the Rev. N. Cole, of Hastings, assisted by the Rev. H. K. Wright, of Norwood. The address was given by the Rev. R. G. Newman, of Havelock, who spoke on "Planting and Watering the Seeds of the Kingdom."

"In promoting growth both planter and nourisher have an equally important part," stated Mr. Newman, "and both are on the same level. The promoting of God's cause is not left entirely to the minister. The ideal situation is one in which minister and congregation all work for the same end—the advancement of the Kingdom of God.

"May we, in humility, in faithfulness, in love and loyalty to Christ, so plant and nourish the seeds of the Kingdom of God that His approval will be upon us and His work will prosper in this place," concluded Mr. Newman.

The choir contributed a selection. Solos were sung by Mrs. J. R. Hull and Mrs. Raymond Jackman. Mrs. T. E. Rath was at the organ.

Following the service, a social evening was held in the Sunday school rooms, where the Rev. J. A. Steed was chairman.

MEET CONGREGATION

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfraim and their twin daughters, Ruth and Anne, were introduced to the congregation by Charles H. Hunter, chairman of the pastoral relations committee, W. H. Fife, clerk of session, and W. Fairbairn, secretary of the official board.

Welcomed also was the Rev. T. H. Fleetham, who has recently taken charge of the Bridgenorth church, replacing the Rev. D. P. Morris.

Following the official welcome, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfraim spoke to the congregation, expressing their happiness at being in Lakefield and the hope that, under their leadership and with the co-operation of the congregation, the work of the church would advance.

Refreshments were served under the supervision of the Women's Association.

Mr. Wolfraim is a graduate of Victoria College, University of Toronto, and was ordained by the Bay of Quinte Conference in 1922. His charges have included Consecon, Wilfrid, Courtice, Janetville, Queen Street, Lindsay and Almonte.

Mountain Not Scaled

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The report last Thursday that four men had climbed Mt. Aconagua, highest peak in the Western hemisphere, for the first time in winter proved to be untrue. Rodolfo Bepvenutti, head of the four-man team, Saturday said the report the expedition had climbed the 23,081-foot mountain was due to the "exaggerated optimism" of the Buenos Aires branch of the Andean Club. He said the expedition was defeated by strong winds and fatigue.

Food Prices Up In 2 Countries

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States recently had something in common along cost-of-living lines—climbing food prices.

Rising food prices during May reversed a continuous six-month drop in the Canadian consumer price index, bumping it by one-half point.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, now stands at 114.9, just 3.3 points below the all-time high of 118.2 in December, 1951.

In the U.S., high food prices forced living costs to a record high between May and June. The American yardstick rose four-tenths of one per cent between mid-May and mid-June, placing it at 114.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Before the May rise, Canadian food prices had been generally easing. But in May pork showed surprising strength, and along with higher prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, other meats, bread and eggs, forced the index to its biggest jump in 19 months.

Drew Labor Record Good Robinson Reply To Croll

TORONTO—Averell Robinson, Progressive Conservative candidate in Spadina riding, charged Monday that David Croll, his Liberal opponent, had lowered the standard of the election campaign by "washing dirty linen in public".

Speaking at the annual Spadina PC's picnic, Mr. Robinson said: "So far this election has been a fair one. But when Mr. Croll comes forward and besmirches the name of George Drew by saying in effect that he has he blackest labor record in Canada, I consider that the political mud-slinging has reached an all-time low."

Mr. Robinson said Mr. Croll had made the statement in a radio broadcast on July 29. Part of the speech read: "George Drew has set himself up as a champion of labor, but he is no more a friend of labor than his pal Maurice Duplessis, who owns the blackest labor record in Canada."

STRONG CRUSADER

George Drew's record in Ontario had proved he was one of the strongest crusaders for labor in Canada, said Mr. Robinson. Some of his achievements in this province included standard minimum wages for all female workers, a 48-hour week, and overtime.

"A labor relations board was organized in Ontario under Mr. Drew to replace the labor court," said Mr. Robinson. "It consisted of three representatives of organized labor, three of management, and an independent chairman. After George Drew became, national leader of the party, his successor, Premier Leslie Frost, and his government enacted the Fair Employment Practices Act outlawing discrimination on grounds of race, creed or color."

Mr. Robinson said that during Mr. Drew's administration in Ontario, experts came from all over the world to examine the system which had achieved the highest degree of industrial harmony in the history of Ontario.

No. 1 QUESTION

Progressive Conservative candidate for St. Paul's, Roland Michener, speaking in support of Mr. Robinson, said the "waste and expenditure" issue had become the No. 1 question of the election. Figures proved how money was being spent in Ottawa, said Mr. Michener, even taking into account the inflation of the dollar over the past 15 years.

"In 1939 the government was spending $541 per hour in travelling expenses," said Michener. "The latest figures show it is now spending $6,115 per hour on these expenses 24 hours a day, every day of the year. This is 10 times more than in 1939. On publicity and advertising alone, the government is spending $1,142 per hour. In 1939, this figure was only $72."

P.C. candidate for Trinity, Stan Frolick said the Liberal Government seemed to think it was running a popularity contest instead of an election.

"The electors don't want to vote for the man with the smartest bow tie, or the man who can kiss the most children. They want a man of integrity and purpose, and that man is George Drew," said Mr. Frolick.

MERCURY CUSTOM FOUR-DOOR SEDAN

Ready... willing... and POWERED to steal your heart!

Look at Mercury—so brilliantly styled, so in tune with the times. Drive Mercury. Starting, you'll sense superb command, as ever willing, smooth V-8 power seeks to do your bidding—so steady going—so economical. Mercury Power Steering* takes over the work of steering. Mercury Merc-O-Matic Drive* adds to your pleasure with the smoothest driving ever. Mercury Power Brakes* assure smooth, straight-line stopping with half the effort. Road Test Mercury—livelier performance, easier handling, smoother riding and safer stopping will win your approval, too. After a Road Test, you'll agree the NEW Mercury is the greatest yet—so ready, so willing and powered to steal your heart.

3-WAY CHOICE IN TRANSMISSIONS: Merc-O-Matic Drive, greatest of all automatic transmissions; or thrifty Touch-O-Matic Overdrive (both optional on all models); or Silent-Ease Synchronized Standard Transmission.

MERCURY OFFERS GREAT NEW POWER FEATURES

POWER STEERING*

Mercury POWER STEERING now available on all models keeps the vital feel-of-the-road—you know you're in full command of the car. When more than fingertip pressure is needed, hydraulic "muscles" take over, make steering 3 times easier. Lets you park in the tight spots with ease.

POWER BRAKES*

All-new optional POWER BRAKES require little more than accelerator pressure. The weight of your foot holds car on a hill. Straight-line stopping is up to 50% easier—faster, too, because lower, closer pedal permits quicker changing from gas pedal to brake—cuts reaction time.

MERC-O-MATIC DRIVE*

There's no clutch—no gear shifting—Merc-O-Matic is fully automatic. To go, set lever and step on gas. It gives instant, smooth power response. There's automatic downshift for hill climbing. There's positive, safe control on curves. Merc-O-Matic Drive is available on all models.

Charges Liquor Discrimination Against Legion Branches

SUDBURY (CP)—T. A. M. Hulse president of the Canadian Legion's Ontario command, said Monday that the Ontario Liquor Control board is discriminating against legion branches.

In his address to 600 delegates at the opening of the annual provincial command convention, he said the Legion is the only organization in Canada limited to two banquet permits a year.

He asked the federal government to take action to insure permanence of Remembrance Day observances Nov. 11 and urged Legion members to vote in the Aug. 10 federal election.

The convention heard reports that membership in Ontario has reached the highest point in history. R. K. Brunton of Sudbury, treasurer, said it appeared the command would have a substantial surplus for the year.

That children should be protected from getting elementary education from subversive teachers;

That a standing committee for veterans' affairs be set up in each session of the federal Parliament;

That parcel postage rates on items addressed to soldiers in Korea be reduced by 50 per cent.

Gen. H. D. G. Crerar opened the convention.

"It is the most important task of statesmen today to see that the Germany of tomorrow lines up with the western powers, and not with Communist Russia," Gen. Crerar said.

Fire Chief Continues Death Probe

Crown, Coroner Feel Inquest Unlikely; Cause Undetermined

Fire Chief Ralph Leonard 's continuing his investigation into the death by fire Saturday morning of four-year-old Nancy Rose 1164 Clonsilla Ave. Her fatally burned body was found by firemen in a loft over a garage at the rear of her parents' home.

Though they hadn't conferred on the death, both Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, QC, and coroner Dr. Herbert Young said they didn't think there would be an inquest.

Inspector Percy Hardy of the Fire Marshal's office visited the scene after the fire and he is expected back next week.

Fire Chief Leonard said today the cause of the fire has still not been determined.

STUDY ASPECT

One aspect of the fire that is being thoroughly checked is how the little four-year-old girl could have climbed the steps of the loft and then, by herself, have opened the trap door. An uncle of Nancy expressed the opinion that the trap door was too heavy for her to lift unaided and she was probably playing with other children.

The funeral was Monday afternoon at the Kaye funeral home.

She was the daughter of Carroll Rose and Bertha Willison, 1164 Clonsilla Ave.; the sister of Caroll Jr., 13, Doris, 11, David, 7, and Mrs. John Kelly (Marilyn). Also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willison.

She was a member of the Anglican Church.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Church officiated and burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Richard Willison, Donald Willison, Fred Willison and John Patrick Kelly.

Record Traffic

COBOURG (ENS)— Civic holiday weekend traffic reached a record for the year here. For miles on either side of the town, cars travelled bumper to bumper for several hours Monday evening. As one OPP Constable said, Highway 2 was so thick with cars there wasn't room to have an accident.

Family Income In Oshawa Tops 3 Cities

Peterborough's net family income of $5,075 in 1952 was exceeded by Oshawa's $5,273, but was higher than Kingston's $4,803.

These figures of comparison are quoted from the newspapers of the three cities. They were prepared by Sales Management of New York, net volume of retail business, number of families and their earnings.

Oshawa's retail stores did a total business of $49,164,000 last year, as compared with $45,381,000 in 1951; Oshawa's families numbetr 12,000; net earnings of the families was $63,391,000 as against $62,604,000 in 1951.

The average family earnings in Oshawa last year were $5,273.

Peterborough's total retail business volume was $44,345,000 ,as compared with $40,093,000 in 1951; number of families, 11,000; total earnings, $55,822,000, as compared with $53,502,000; average Peterborough family earnings $5,075; average for Ontario, $4,940; average for Canada, $4,336.

A similar report for Kingston finds its retail volume $50,850,000 in 1952; $46,938,000 in 1951; number of families, 9,600; total earnings last year, $46,113,000; and in 1951 they were $45,850,000; earnings of average family, $4,803.

In these figures Kingston leads the three eastern Ontario cities in the total volume of retail business last year, but Oshawa is out in front in total and average family earnings.

July Building Permits Push Seven-Month Total Past 1952 To $2,716,766

$410,000 Outboard Marine Addition Tops List Worth $659,081; Twenty-Seven Dwellings Worth $213,700

An addition to the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. of Canada Ltd., at the corner of Monaghan Rd. and Romaine St., estimated at $410,000 heads the list of building permits issued during the month. Although July's total permit value of $659,081. is slightly down from June's $694,542, the seven-month total of $2,716,766 is greater than last years seven month total by $300,413. Details for July were: 20 garages, $5,868; 27 houses, $213,700; 1 industry, $410,000; and 80 miscellaneous, $29,513. Details for June were: 15 garages, $4,725; 38 houses, $328,700; and 83 miscellaneous, $361,117.

The detailed report shows that, with the exception of garage construction which increased by five and a value of $1,143, the other factors are down slightly from last month. The $410,000 addition to the Outboard Marine has more than balanced the total construction for the month however.

Some of the larger items in the July list, apart from the Outboard Marine building, are for M. A. Haddon's home on Wolsely St., $12,000; and two $11,000 homes for W. H. Mortlock on Weller St. and J. Potipco, Clonsilla Ave.

Girl's Coughing Saves Lives Of Family Of 4

COBOURG (ENS)—The coughing of their six-year-old daughter Nancy was credited with saving the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Crosgrey and family when fire did extensive damage to their home here early this morning.

Mrs. Crosgrey was awaked about 5:00 a.m. by the sound of Nancy's coughing. The girl was sleeping in an adjoining room. Mrs. Crosgrey awoke to find the house filled with smoke and she and her husband rushed downstairs.

BURSTS INTO FLAMES

Meanwhile their son John, 12, who sleeps downstairs, opened the back door to let in some air and the two-storey house, sided with insul-brick, burst into flames.

The fire was well under way by the time firemen arrived but it was soon brought under control.

The walls of the building were charred and all the furniture in the house were scorched. There was no insurance on the furnishings.

Although the precise cause of the blaze was not known, it was believed to have started near a living room chesterfield.

Bridgenorth Boy Second In Diving

Lorne Hale, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hale of Bridgenorth, placed second in the men's open diving competitions at the international swimming meet in Watertown, New York, on the weekend.

Hale placed eight points behind first place winner, Henry Hoeka, who had 202.15 points. Hale had 194.4. Bill Cameron of Hamilton placed third with 185.06 points.

In a close 50-yard free style race for minnow swimmers, David Ross, Wallis Drive, placed third. His time was one second behind the first-place winner.

Three other boys were also entered in the stiff competitions which saw swimmers from American and Canadian clubs competing. David Pryde, competing in the 100 yards back stroke event, had an excellent chance to win in the finals but was disqualified for a faulty turn. Others competing were Wilton Tranter and Stuart Lamers.

The trip was made possible by the Peterborough Lions' Club who paid the accommodations and travelling expenses.

Outboard Local Asks OLRB To Approve Change In Union

Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers Union (CCL), today applied to the Ontario Labor Relations Board to become a local in the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL). Six hundred and thirty production workers are affected. "At present we are directly chartered to the CCL," said Fred Burrett, president of Local 230. "We are switching over—not because of any disagreement with Congress—but because the Steelworkers are an international union and in a better position to service individual locals."

Mr. Burrett, who is also president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL), claimed that the Steelworkers have now signed up more than 85 per cent of the 630 production workers.

DECIDED IN JUNE

The decision to make the switch was reached in June with the membership voting in favor of it. However they had to wait till August 1 before they could apply to the OLRB. Applications for a change in jurisdiction cannot be made until 10 months of the year-long contract elapsed.

The application was made today—the first convenient date after August 1.

Outboard Marine Workers had signed three contracts with the company. In negotiations they received the help of CCL officials. Now Steelworkers representatives will assist them, providing the application is approved by the OLRB.

ONCE INDEPENDENT

Before the production workers at the plant voted to become directly chartered with the CCL they were an independent union. The United Electrical Workers of America tried to organize the plant but failed.

If the change in jurisdiction is approved by the OLRB it will be the first Steelworkers' local in Peterborough.

Mr. Burrett said today that they hope to begin negotiating with the company as soon as the plant resumes production after the vacation shutdown. He doesn't anticipate that the switch will delay negotiations.

City Swimmers Win First In Niagara Meet

Performing nearly to perfection, Pansy Forbes' Peterborough Ornamental Swimming club girls won first prize in team competition Sunday at the international swimming meet in Niagara Falls, New York. They performed the number, Little Jumping Jacks, which will be their main competitive number next week at the national championships in Florida.

The meet, held at Hyde Park pool and sponsored by the Niagara Falls (NY) recreation commission and the North Niagara Falls Kiwanis Club, attracted top clubs, duets and solo swimmers from the United States and Ontario.

Recreation director Alex Sinclair, who accompanied the club, said today the competition there was "awfully tough" throughout the two-day meet.

The Peterborough 12-girl team, including Iris Reilly, Joan Lynch, Isabel Crary, Jean Russelle, Shirley Moldaver, Donna Bristow, Joan Monks, Norma Douglas, Joan Craig, Nancy Doubt, Betty Welch and Elaine Humphries, totalled 110 points.

The girls' closest competition came from Seasprites of Lansing, Mich., who were second with 105 points and Nabs of Newark, New Jersey, with 91. St. Catharines placed fourth and Bangor, Maine fifth, in the finals.

PLACE IN DUET

Norma Douglas and Shirley Moldaver also picked up a sixth place in the duet competition. No one placed in the solos.

Highlighting the presentation ceremonies where medals were given was the presentation of Hawaiian leis to the singles, doubles and team winners. The leis, seven in all, and all the hearts of Hawaiian orchids, were flown by refrigerated air-freight to Niagara Falls from the Hawaiian club.

Four of the orchid leis were presented to the Peterborough team. When asked who would accept the leis, the 12 girls chorused, "Give them all to Pansy", and all four were placed about the coach's neck.

This Friday the Peterborough club will leave for Ormand Beach, Florida, for the national championships for solos, duets and teams competition. The girls are paying their own expenses.

On the way to Florida the club will work in several requested performances. These will be in Detroit, Cincinnati, Chatanooga, and in Jacksonville, Florida first with the Naval-Air Training Command and then at the Springfield pool. Another request from Fort Worth, Texas, was turned down due to the expense.

Oshawa Receives Bigger Subsidy

Ontario department of highways has made an exception of Oshawa in the subsidizing of road work this year.

The government will pay the usual one-third subsidy on $594,800. The department had earlier this year decided to adjust their grant to $335,000 of the city's expenditure on road work. The amendment means that the province will pay Oshawa approximately $86,954 more than was expected.

Peterborough's board of works had asked for a subsidy on $290,500, the work arranged by City Engineer Chalmers on which subsidy was ordinarily paid. The department decided that Peterborough would get the aid on a cut of $250,000.

Oshawa had sent a deputation to Toronto in March to discuss the subsidy matter with the Minister. Nothing was forthcoming in revision until last week when the department decided to pay its road work grant on the larger expenditure by the city of $594,800.

Bishop Berry Speaks At N.S. Conference

First national Catholic social conference being held at St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., on that institution's centenary year, opened Monday.

The Rev. F. A. Marrocco, a native of Peterborough, and present director of Canadian Catholic Social Action began the conference by stressing the fact that "the Church must deal with the material as well as the spiritual needs of the people."

The Most Rev. Gerald Berry, bishop of Peterborough, who is also attending the conference said no social program can be effective "unless it reaches down into the grass roots. . ."

Another Peterborough clergyman attending the conference this week is Monsignor P. P. Butler, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church.

TREE STUMP BURNS

A tree stump was set on fire early Monday night on a lot at 630 McDonnel St., owned by Reuben Wilson. Children are believed to have kindled the blaze which was put out by firemen with a hand-pump.. Shortly before that the firemen put out a rubbish fire at the rear of the home of Fred W. Hopkins, 636 Lundy's Lane. Another small fire, this one in a sawdust pile, across from the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. plant on Monaghan Rd., was snuffed out by firemen.

Truck Rolls Over, Driver Unhurt

A light pickup truck failed to make the Chemong turn on Highway 7, knocked out three guard posts and rolled over on its top Saturday night about midnight, but its driver, Gerald Robinson, 40, of Cavan escaped with only minor scratches.

Robinson was driving north from the city, but failed to turn enough to swing around the bend toward Fowler's Corners. The truck was badly smashed and the front wheels and axle were ripped off and flung across the highway.

"It just went crazy and I went end over end," said Robinson at the scene of the crash while he waited for a tow truck to pick up the wreckage of his truck.

A large crowd quickly gathered at the busy intersection one driver while pulling off to the side of the highway drove right into a fairly deep ditch, but had little difficulty in getting out.

Constables Harold Armstrong and Bruce Tilson investigated.

Crop-Laden Barn Razed By Fire

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A fire, blamed on spontaneous combustion, destroyed a barn on the farm of Fred Ellis, six miles north of Havelock and about 18 miles northeast of here Saturday night.

The entire season's crop of hay and grain was destroyed, along with several pieces of farm equipment.

Neighbors who noticed the blaze formed a bucket brigade and succeeded in saving a team of horses from the blazing structure before the heat forced them to retire. The Ellis family was absent at the time the blaze was discovered and returned to find their barn in ruins.

Although the barn was located quite close to the house, the volunteers concentrated their efforts on saving the home and it was not damaged.

No estimate of the damage has been made.

Dewart Cites Public Record Of Swanston At Ennismore

The public record of Max J. Swanston, Liberal candidate, as a member of the city council of Peterborough for eleven years, three of them as Mayor, was cited by Ald. J. A. Dewart as a qualification which should appeal to the electors of the entire riding, at Ennismore Monday night.

"I am proud of the fact that the Liberal party is able to offer to the people in this election of a national government a man of the experience of Mr. Swanston in the municipal administration of what we all consider as one of the outstanding industrial cities of this country," Ald. Dewart said.

I have sometimes thought that it would be a good thing if more of our candidates for the provincial and Dominion governments were men who had come through the valuable training that is provided in the conduct of municipal affairs.

The principals in the mmanagement of our cities and towns and counties are exactly the same as in the wider fields of the province and the nation. Mr. Swanston has had the training and experience which should fit him to represent the people of Peterborough at Ottawa. The need of good capable men in public life is one of the serious things in every country today.

GREAT FUTURE

"It is highly important to Canada because a great future lies ahead of our country, greater than we who are here tonight can imagine. I can speak of our candidate from my own experience in the city council. I have seen him facing problems that required sound consideration and judgment and the ability to reach wise decisions. I have admired his ability to arrive at solutions that have proved satisfactory to our citizens.

I can say honestly and with the greatest confidence that if you elect him as Peterborough's next representative in the government of our country you will not be disappointed. The people of Ennismore have seen the remarkable development of the city of Peterborough in a comparatively few years from 25,000 to upwards of 40,000.

That growth entailed many pressing problems in matters of public works, the expansion of housing subdivisions and the financing of all those undertakings. Max Swanston has met most of the problems that any man in municipal government is likely to meet. His record is known not only in the city but elsewhere in the county."

Ald. Dewart said that Mr. Swanston had come through the testing time of years as a representative of the people in the administration of their affairs.

"So, I ask you to do your part next Monday in bringing about the election of Max Swanston. I feel certain that Ennismore people know him as well as we do in the city, and that he will continue at Ottawa the fine service he gave in Peterborough's municipal council."

DANGEROUS FUTURE

Ald. Dewart said that the world outside Canada today presented a dangerous picture.

"There is a revolution going on in the world today, particularly in eastern Europe and the Far East, backed by a mighty military nation, that seeks to impose communism on the world at large. True, it has received some checks. Possibly the worst threat of that phase is over. We don't know whether it is or not. But, we do realize that it is a time that requires good leadership. On a number of occasions in the last few years, we would have easily gone over the edge into another world war, if we hadn't the leadership that met those situations. The danger behind it simply staggers the imagination. There are new weapons the character of which cannot be faintly visualized."

The possibilities of atomic attack were beyond the imagination of people. If that kind of war were to break out, whole cities would be razed. Cities like Montreal, Toronto, Windsor, Winnipeg, would be targets of atomic attack.

If it had not been for the organization of the NATO forces, there was no doubt Russia could have moved easily across Europe to its western shores. "Fighting has stopped in Korea, but all we have is an armistice. What Russia and China are going to do, we don't know."

Col. Dewart said that Canada had taken its place with the United Nations in Korea and west Germany.

NO WAR SCANDAL

"A Liberal government was in charge of this country during World War II, the most gigantic war in the history of the world. Billions were spent to bring our military establishment into effect, on the land, in the air and on the sea. After all that expenditure, there was no sign of corruption, nothing to show that public money had been misspent. That was certainly not the case after first World War. We had no Ross Rifle scandal such as in the first war."

"Our government wants to cut taxes just as any other government does, right down to your township council. But, one-half of our taxes are going today to the defense of our freedom, and it was by the show of strength in NATO and the United Nations that we have helped avert another world war."

Ald. Dewart recalled that since 1945, the government of Canada had reduced the national debt by $2,300,000,000, with a great saving in interest to the Canadian people.

"Because times have been good, we could afford to pay the taxes that enable the government to reduce our debt. That is just what you would do in your own affairs."

As to the opening of the British market, he said that Holland, Denmark and other countries, with which Britain traditionally traded, had been rebuilding their production of foodstuffs such as bacon, cheese, eggs, and meats generally.

COMPARES MARKETS

"Great Britain is able to buy cheese today at 16c. Our support price is 30c, according to figures in effect in June this year. A cheese outlet at 16c a pound is no good to us. She buys bacon at 31c. Our pork today is around 33 cents a pound, and you have to add transportation and other charges to that price. Britain is buying butter at 41c as compared with our 60 cents.

The fact is that the average wage in the British Isles is under $30 a week. Ours is from $50 to $60. At the prices I have quoted, the only people who can afford to buy bacon, cheese, butter, etc. at our prices, are the people of Canada and the United States."

Since 1942, Ald. Dewart said, eastern farmers have had the advanage of feed grain rates at $4.50 a ton subsidy, amounting to a total of $188,000,000, of which Ontario's share was $66,750,000. That aid provided feed grain for livestock in the east at prices in effect in the Canadian west.

John Harrington was chairman of the meeting which was delayed in the opening until 9:15 by harvest work. The candidate and Gus Faux were the other speakers.

Mr. Swanston stressed the advantages and extent of the social services set up by Liberal governments. In Peterborough county last year 7,900 families had shared $1,137,000, and Old Age Pensions, without means test, $1,380,000. One of the big accomplishments of the Liberal government, he said, was in the assistance to veterans of World War II in completing their educations that had been interupted by military service. Returned men were given the opportunity to make up that lost time and study by the government's policy, which Mr. Swanston said was recognized as one of the most generous provided by any country. Young men had learned various trades, many had taken professional courses and as university graduates were now in law, and dentistry, architecture, optometry, according to their wishes.

These were all forms of assistance by which the government had drawn on its funds to assist families, aged people and the young men of the armed services.

Hastings-Frontenac

One Of Ontario's Largest

GEORGE S. WHITE

C. W. "CLUTE" FOSTER

The new riding of Hastings-Frontenac, which was formed from the old Hastings-Peterborough riding, will be the scene of a straight two-way fight in the forthcoming Dominion election.

Carrying the hopes of the Progressive party will be George S. White, former member of the Hastings-Peterborough riding. His Liberal rival is C. W. "Clute" Foster of Madoc.

Under the Redistribution Act of 1951 the new federal electoral district of Hastings-Frontenac became the largest riding in Southern Ontario. It takes in parts of four counties, Hastings, Peterborough, Frontenac and Lennox-Addington. It includes the towns of Bancroft, Havelock, Madoc, Marmora, Norwood, Stirling, Tamworth, Verona, Yarker, Newburgh and Denbigh.

Hastings - Peterborough riding has been Conservative every years since 1925, with the exception of 1935, when the Liberals were in for one term. Frontenac-Addington riding which was combined into the Hastings-Frontenac riding by the redistribution Act of 1951 has also been Conservative in every election, except in 1935 and in two by-elections in 1934 and 1937.

MR. WHITE WAS BORN IN THE VILLAGE of Madoc on November 17, 1897, son of the late James and Emma White. He received his formal education at the Madoc Public and High schools and is a graduate of Osgoode Hall Law School.

A veteran of the First World War, he went overseas in 1915 as a private and served with the 44th Infantry Battalion. He was wounded three times and was awarded the Military Medal in 1917, in connection with the battle of Vimy Ridge. He returned to Canada an invalid and was discharged from the Christie St. Hospital in Toronto in 1919.

Seven years later in 1926 he joined the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and maintained an active interest in the regiment until 1940, serving as an adjutant with the rank of Captain for one year in the Second World War. At present he is on the reserve officers list.

Following his discharge in 1919 Mr. White studied law at the offices of the late E. Gus Porter, KC, in Belleville and also with Mowat, Maclennan and Hunter in Toronto. He graduated as a barrister-at-law and a solicitor from Osgoode Hall in 1921, after which he practised for two years with the firm he served as an apprentice.

He returned to Madoc in 1924 and opened his own law office, where he has practised since.

Mr. White was first elected to the House of Commons as a Conservative member ofr Hastings-Peterborough in 1940. He was re-elected in the general elections of 1945 and 1949, during which time he has taken an active part in veterans' affairs, agriculture, taxation and the development of natural resources in Canada and matters relating to the cheese industry.

He is past-master of the Madoc Lodge No. 48, AF & AM, a member of the Madoc Lodge 179, IOOF, the Kiwanis Club and a member of the Madoc United church.

HOPING TO BRING THE LIBERALS to victory is C. W. 'Clute' Foster of Madoc.

Mr. Foster was born at Moira on the pioneer homestead of United Empire Loyalist ancestors. He attended school at Stirling and Madoc before attending the University of Toronto.

In Toronto he entered the real estate field, and in 1934 became associated with the Dominion Stores. Ltd. Earlier this year he retired as vice-president of the chain-store.

During the war he was asked to serve as a "dollar a-year-man" in the capacity of vice-chairman of the National Selective Service Board.

He is deeply interested in reforestation and in 1935 purchased 200 acres of vacant land in Elzevir township for reforestation. Today, he and his son. Bruce have 660 acres of reforested land in the township.

Mr. Foster is married to the former Jean Heath, a native of Tweed. They have one son Bruce and a daughter Joan, who is in training at the Toronto General Hospital.

He is a member of the United Church and for two years was head of boys work for the Kiwanis club in Toronto. He is also vice-president of the Association of Boy's Clubs of Canada.

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Amateur hunters, prowling the countryside by night with high-powered rifles, are massacring India's wild life.

Herds of deer and nilgai (bluebull) which used to roam freely through the jungles and fields of northern India, are being liquidated by poachers who hunt them down in the headlights of cars and jeeps with no regard to seasons, sex or size of the beasts they kill.

As the deer vanish, so the bigger game, tigers and panthers robbed of their natural food, begin to raid villages, killing cattle. Some of them become man-eaters, so that expeditions have to be organized to hunt them down.

The problem of India's vanishing wild life is worrying naturalists here and governments in several of the states have already taken action to try to protect wild animals.

Some are already extinct. The last report of a wild cheetah in India was several years ago, though in mogul times they used frequently to be caught and used as "hunting leopards" to catch game.

Lions, the symbol of India, now survive only in the forest of Saurashtra, where they are protected. They are the last lions in Asia. A census last year showed that there are only 250 left.

The rhinoceros, once on its way to extinction, has been protected for 40 years and elephants still are numerous, despite the shrinking of forest areas.

Tigers in some states of central India are on the increase. Maharajahs who used to organize big shooting parties can no longer afford the cost, and tigers and panthers have begun to multiply.

But in other parts of India, however, tigers are declining and it is likely that, unless preserved, they will die out in another 25 years.

To preserve the fauna of the country, the Indian government has set up a wild life board which will study the problems of conserving each species and draw up strict regulations against illicit shooting

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smale of Belleville, former druggist here, has been in charge of the drug store during the period that Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hutchinson and family were having their holidays.

The neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ellis met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cornelius one evening to honour the former couple as they have sold their farm and will be moving in the near future to Oshawa. During the evening an address was read by Everett Samis and an electric tea kettle was presented to the family as a token of respect and a remembrance from their neighbours and friends.

Three Sisters Attend Bride

At St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday morning the marriage took place of Cecelia Norah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Connolly of Peterborough, and Michael Joseph Connaughton who is son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Connaughton of Ireland. The Rev. F. M. Dubbery officiated in the ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

Pink and white gladioli were on the altar table. The music was played by Miss Theresa McColl and Mr. Robert Baldwin sang "On this Day" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a strapless gown of white satin with overskirt of nylon net and a lace coat with panels of net which buttoned to the waist and had a Peter Pan collar and long lily-pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil was of lace-edged silk illusion and was caught to a headpiece studded with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Three sisters of the bride were in attendance. Miss Rose Connolly as maid of honor was wearing a gown of powder blue net over taffeta, styled with a strapless bodice and matching net jacket and she wore a headpiece of orange blossoms. Bridesmaids Mrs. Miles Brooks and Mrs. Grant Faulds were in gowns of blue and mauve with full nylon skirts over taffeta and lace tops and they wore headbands of flowers in matching color. Each attendant carried a bouquet of pink and yellow gladioli.

Mr. James Amyotte was the groomsman and ushers were the bride's brothers, Patrick and Jack Connolly, and her brothers-in-law, Miles Brooks and Grant Faulds.

Guests were received afterward in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room by the bride's mother, who wore a navy and white dress, a navy hat and white accessories and had a corsage of pink carnations.

When leaving later on a motor trip to points north, Mrs. Connaughton was wearing a two piece navy linen dress with a rhinestone studded collar, a navy and white hat and white accessories.

On return they will live at 219 Stewart Street.

DOROTHY DIX:

Philanderers To Carry Medical Certificate?

DEAR MISS DIX: A man of our town, who had been suffering from heart trouble for a long time, died of an attack when in his car with his stenographer. The resultant publicity brought humiliation and suffering to the families of the man and the girl, and the girl consequently left town. She had known nothing of the man's physical condition. Had the wife been able to talk to her and explain matters, the tragedy possibly could have been averted. If the "other woman" is a reasonable person, the wife's co-operation in a case like this might have discouraged the girl.

WILMA K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly offer a Utopian suggestion for triangular living; but I doubt if it will ever find favor with the parties involved. I can't quite see a wife sweetly calling up her rival and presenting a full description of the erring husband's ailments.

The unromantic details of John's latest attack of indigestion might have more effect in quelling the ardor of his "other wife" than an appeal to her sense of fair play. Perhaps the campaign for "a doctor's certificate for every philanderer" would win favor with wives, but I'm sure the doddering Lotharios would be highly indignant concerning the idea. They would sooner air their ailments at home, where they might win some sympathy from their wives. The bright young things who share their lobster dinners would scarcely be interested.

In the case history you outlined, it's interesting to note that discovery led to the girl's hasty retreat; while the affair was progressing in its secrecy, she apparently had no regrets.

Few "other women" are reasonable creatures, disposed to listen to a wife's heart-rending tale of incipient illness, or imminent heart attacks. Your cause, I'm afraid, is a lost one.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem is so serious I don't know where to begin. I've been separated from my husband for two years; now I'm going to have another man's child. I told the fellow about it, but he doesn't seem to care. He thinks I'm already divorced. Do you think this man will change and fall in love with me?

L. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can scarcely expect answers to all your prayers when you so flagrantly flaunt the Commandments. You begin by deceiving one man into believing you are divorced, proceed to live with him, knowing full well what the consequences can be, then expect happiness to appear miraculously for you. There's practically no doubt but that you'll have the baby without help from the father. Consult your local welfare agency for assistance, and stop hoping to win the love of a worthless man.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a girl of 17 in love with a boy of the same age. He is away for the summer, and asked me to wait for him until he comes back. I have done just that, but now my girl friends are going away for two weeks and want me to go. The boy wants me to stay at hom. What's your advice?

MARY D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are much too young to be bound to anyone, still less to a tyrant. Go with the girls. If the boy truly loved you, he'd have a little concern for your welfare, and enough faith in you to permit a bit more freedom.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am one of a family of five girls. I'm the oldest, earn my own money and pay for everything I have. Naturally, I want to keep my things nice, but my sisters invade my room, take whatever wearing apparel they want, and return it, but not in the condition in which they found it. My mother refuses to say anything to them, and, though my father sympathizes with me, it doesn't do any good. Even my three-year-old sister goes into my boxes and takes things.

JO

BORROWING WITHIN REASON

ANSWER: Pride of possession should be fostered, especially in young girls. Naturally, one shouldn't reach the point where belongings are the beginning and end of existence, but if you like nice things, and work to earn them, you should be encouraged to keep them in good condition. Instead of permitting your sisters to take anything of yours they want, your mother should encourage them to have pride in their own possessions. By helping them earn money for special things, she can teach them the value of personal belongings far better than by silently abetting them in the depredations of your property.

Members of a family should know the value of sharing, but wholesale borrowing of another's belongings is selfishness, especially when there is a complete disregard for the condition in which they are returned. If your sisters won't heed your plea to stay away from your dresser, your mother should permit you to have at least one drawer with a lock.

In a large family of girls, there's bound to be a certain amount of good-natured borrowing, and this I hope you won't refuse. The younger girls should be taught to return borrowed finery in good condition, and you should all benefit by this interchange of clothing, etc. There should be limits, however, and these are up to your mother to decide.

DEAR MISS DIX: I had my wedding all planned, arrangements all made—then I found out. The man I was about to marry was already married and had four children. Just a few days before our wedding he called and told me he had a wife, but was getting a divorce. He said he hadn't told me because he hoped the matter would be over. Should I give him another chance? Should I continue to see him before his divorce is granted?

R. E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why would you give him another chance? Just so he could hurt you more? I should think you had enough by now. Only a downright fool would even consider continuing with a man like this.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What is a subtle way of telling a boy you don't care for the way he dresses? I have been going with a boy for quite a while. The only thing wrong with him is that he's careless about his appearance.

PEARL L.

✧ ✧ ✧

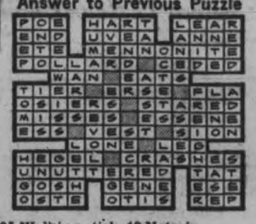
ANSWER: Take him window-shopping, point out the things in a men's clothing store that you think would look well on him, and casually mention the fact that you'd love to see him in some outfit. The hint may work; if not, less subtlety is indicated.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is two months' acquaintance sufficient for love? Though we've known each other for that short a time, we know we're in love and plan to marry in a few weeks.

ALINE M.

✧ ✧ ✧



ANSWER: As you well know, love at first sight is a favorite theme of poets and novelists. It happens in real life frequently enough to justify their enthusiasm, but not as often as young people think. Many a "love at first sight" romance winds up in limbo after a few months.

Perhaps you and your young man are really in love, but before taking on the finality of matrimony, better give your love a longer trial.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Give Youngsters Working Privileges

Have I your permission to relax from cooking for a few minutes to air some of my views on child-raising?

I know a mother who says that another mother of her acquaintance expects too much of her 5-year-old son. I maintain that the first mother does not expect enough of her 5-year-old son, and that a little extra should be expected of children so that they level off at "normal."

A word or two on encouraging your children to rise to occasions might be welcome, especially to overworked mothers.

I maintain that a child of 5 years is perfectly capable of making his own bed (straight too) and drying the dishes (more below about that), carrying out the garbage, running errands for things upstairs, and in other rooms, bringing chairs to the table (not dragging them), clearing off the table, dressing and undressing himself, getting out his clean clothes, hanging up his pyjamas and putting his soiled clothes in the wash. Of course, they should tie their own laces and in winter put on their snowsuits and goloshes and hang these up or place them where they belong.

I think anything less than this is cheating—cheating them of the privilege to learn habits of work early in life. It is just not fair to teach them to expect to play all of their lives.

I have a friend whom I sometimes refer to in this column. Margie was born with some kind of innate tact that instils eagerness to help into her brood. She has twins—a girl and boy of 16 years, and two girls of 11 and 9. When they were wee and we had been invited to their home for dinner I heard Margie say, "Remember, if you don't clean up your plates you can't help with the dishes." That would make the spoons and forks fly, for whoever cleaned up his plate first was allowed to wash.

Wee Kathryn, when she was 4, being the youngest, had the privilege of washing and drying the breakfast dishes, because at that time the other children were at school.

To this day Margie uses similar tactics to keep them in line. They are taking a motor trip across Canada and back through the States, and Ann and David (the 16-year-old twins) are being told that they may help with the driving if they obey all of the driving rules at home. Those youngsters would no more cross a solid white line on a grade or a curve or press the accelerator about 50 mph, than they would fly, for they know it means being consigned to the back seat.

Be fair to your young ones. If you are not fair now think of their dismay when they reach the high grades in school and their teachers expect them to work at their studies. If they haven't been work-disciplined their confusion results in poor grades and sometimes that awful yearning to quit school.

Few children take to work naturally. They are born selfish and wilful but in the world that you and I live in today everyone has to work.

Teach them to love it and honor it and to do their utmost to work well.

I know dishes are going to be broken, but does that mean you can't train them to wash them more carefully and reduce the breakage rate?

I know it takes much longer for them to do them than it would you, and that during the process your nerves are frayed, but does that mean you have the right to deny them dish-washing training?

There are a rare few children who will coax you to be allowed to help. For goodness' sake let them help if they want to.

More flies are attracted by honey than by vinegar. It is my confirmed belief that praise—laid on with a trowel—and love—piled up and overflowing—will persuade any child to be good and orderly and cheerful.

I suppose this story on Pete proves how perverse the little imps can be. When he was very little he was the most rebellious child I have ever met. He said "no" to everything, usually accompanied by screams.

This "no" attitude puzzled me greatly and I used the psychiatrists' isolation technique when he became unbearable. "Go to your room", said I.

When he was seven he tried to slap me. I fixed him with a baleful stare. He turned his brown eyes up to me and asked "Mum why don't you get mad?" I said "I love you Dear". "Well Madeline's mother gets mad." "Do you want me to get mad?" "Yes, I want to tell Madeline you were so mad you spanked me."

He's nineteen now and the sweetest music that could be played on a mother's ears he sang in my presence. Marianne and one of her nursing friends were discussing a mental health clinic that they had attended that day, where problem children were examined. They all wondered how they'd ever train their own children in the future. Pete said "I think you just have to be firm and consistent like Mum. We always knew she loved us."

Six Of Dead From Winnipeg

LITTLE FALLS, Minn. (CP)—Six people from the Winnipeg area were among the 10 who died as the result of a two-car collision near here Saturday morning. The traffic accident was described as Minnesota's worst in 13 years.

The dead were identified as:

Israel Katz and his wife Bella and Mr. and Mrs. Roth Adelberg, all of Winnipeg; John Frank Bemben and Mrs. Fanny Rosen Corin of West Kildonan, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. Gust A. Olson, their daughter, Mrs. Stanley Starmach and her husband, all of Minneapolis.

The Manitoba residents were on their way to Minneapolis for the weekend.

Sheriff Titus Plettl said the cars skidded together on slippery pavement during a blinding rainstorm. There were no witnesses.

33 Air Cadets Touring Ontario

MONTREAL (CP)—A group of 33 teen-aged air cadets from Britain, Norway, Sweden, Holland and Denmark arrived at Montreal airport today as part of an international exchange program sponsored by the Air Cadet League of Canada and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

To promote international goodwill, 33 Canadian air cadets now are touring the United Kingdom and European countries and 25 other Canadian boys are touring the eastern United States.

Today's arrivals will leave tomorrow for an Ontario visit, which includes Niagara Falls and Algonquin Park.

Urge Government Give More Aid To Vets

GUELPH (CP)—The Originals Clubs of Ontario urged that the government give more financial help to aging war veterans at the annual meeting during the weekend. More than 300 delegates attended.

The veterans organization decided to petition the government to grant war veterans' allowance to all veterans 60 and over without a means test and to give free hospitalization to this group. The government was also asked to increase pensions and allowances by 30 per cent and to give veterans retained in England after the First World War benefits under the meritorious service clause.

Car Sideswipes Truck, Driver Injured

COBOURG (ENS)—Austen Gall, 29, of Cobourg, was taken to Cobourg General Hospital Saturday night after his car sideswiped a truck a few miles west of here on Highway 2.

The car was almost a total wreck and Gall suffered a lacerated arm, and assroted cuts and bruises but was not seriously injured.

Driver of the truck was W. Lamoureux of Toronto. OPP Constable W. Tremill, who investigated, said Gall would be charged with careless driving.

TB Patient Flees Hamilton Sanatorium

HAMILTON (CP)—A 42-year-old tubercular patient, Peter Shangrow, under a two and a half year sentence for housebreaking, "walked out" of the Mountain Sanatorium early this morning. Police have been alerted.

Shrangrow was sentenced by Magistrate Beamer W. Hopkins last June 23 on the housebreaking charge.

He was sent to Kingston Penitentiary but was brought back to Hamilton almost immediately when it was learned he was tubercular.

Civil Servants Plan Quebec Conference

QUEBEC (CP)—Annual convention of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada will be held here Sept. 14-19. More than 600 delegates are expected to attend.

The union represents approximately 15,000 civil servants from most Canadian provinces.

The convention will discuss salaries and working conditions and is expected to vote on more than 300 resolutions.

Fire Out Of Control

TIMMINS (CP)—A forest fire in the pulp-wood area of the Howard Smith, Limited, Wicks operations 28 miles north of Cochrane was reported out of control today. Struck By Car, Farmer Injured

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Kusti Rantala, 54, a district farmer, suffered a fractured pelvis during the week-end when hit by a car while riding a bicycle. His condition in hospital today was reported as fair.

Police said Rantala was hit from behind by a car driven by Mrs. Annie Pysklywes of Kirkland Lake. The bicycle and its rider rolled under the car and were dragged some 40 feet. The accident happened at Round Lake, 12 miles south of here.

MINISTER HAS MISHAP — The Rev. Jack Richard McMichael, Methodist minister of Upper Lake, Calif., slips off his chair as he testifies before the House Un-American Activities Committee at Washington. His attorney, Frank J. Donner (centre), and Anthony Demma (right) come to his assistance. McMichael accused the committee of trying to "trick and trap" him into giving answers that would connect him with Communism.

Confesses Fatal Beating Which Occurred In 1949

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz says he has a confession which discloses a fatal beating four years ago and explains the disappearance of the suspected slayer.

Held today in the prison ward of General Hospital is Gordon Emerson Weber, 40, an accountant formerly of Pittsburgh and Kitchener, Ont. He is booked on suspicion of murder.

Biscailuz said Weber has admitted fatally beating his father-in-law, Rudolph Maier, 69 of Los Angeles, in a Milwaukee railway station in 1949. Weber was arrested here last Thursday when he came back to the Maier home, where his wife, Muriel Weber, has been staying.

SEEKING HOME

Sgt. Norman Hamilton of the sheriff's office said Weber gave him this account:

In 1949 Maier was released from a sanatorium where he had been a mental patient for six years. Weber took him east, hoping to find a permanent home for him and thus to relieve the family of responsibility for Maier's care.

Maier wanted to visit his boyhood city, Milwaukee. As they neared the city he became abusive. Weber gave him a sedative but Maier was belligerent and they came to blows in a washroom of the Milwaukee station. Weber struck him. Maier fell, striking his head.

Weber got him to a doctor, but Maier died afterward, and Weber cremated the body on a dump at Hartland, a Milwaukee suburb. He covered the remains with stones and ashes, then disappeared. For a time he worked in Pittsburgh.

REMORSE-STRICKEN

A month ago Weber, remorse-stricken, went back to the dump, exhumed Maier's remains and buried them in nearby woods. Then he came back to Los Angeles and was arrested.

Milwaukee authorities, guided by a map Weber drew, found what appeared to be bits of human bone in the area described.

Anderson quoted Weber: "I'm glad it's over. It's been preying on my mind."

Simple Funeral For Senator

CINCINNATI (AP) — Senator Robert A. Taft, the son of a president and a top United States leader in his own right, was buried today in the little community which has claimed him as its own for three decades.

His family and close personal friends were the only ones in attendance as a simple funeral service was read in the little slate-roofed Indian Hill church.

There were about 200 persons in the church.

Fifteen miles away in downtown Cincinnati public officials and the public gathered in Christ Church for a memorial service.

Senator Taft's body was brought here yesterday after a state funeral in Washington.

Two Tourists Hurt In Crash

BARRIE Ont. (CP)—Two Buffalo tourists were injured in a four-car collision one mile north of here early today. Eleanor Pempsell, 49, is in hospital here with a concussion and Jenny Wind, 58, suffered a broken nose and face lacerations.

Both were passengers in a car driven by Henry Pempsell. Their auto rammed into a car in front of them which slowed down to stop for a highway crossing. The collision started a chain reaction and two other cars at the front of the line were hit.

Birds Do Not Recognize Own Species By Instinct, But By Definite Contact

WASHINGTON—If young goslings follow you around like a mother, that may be just what they think you are—a mother goose.

Should you quack within hearing of day-old ducklings, their mating urge may one day be directed to human beings rather than fellow ducks.

What happens is a phenomenon called "imprinting." Among the strangest occurrences known to ornithologists is the fact that most birds at one definite and early stage in their lives accept as their own kind the first living thing to make certain impressions upon them.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Imprinting was first described by the Austrian naturalist Konrad Lorenz. Studying bird behaviour, Lorenz realized that most birds do not recognize their own species by instinct, but rather by some definite early contact.

A newly hatched wild goose, for example, looks upward when it first sees the light of day. Anything that moves and then draws away in a certain manner will imprint the gosling, be it bird, beast or humankind. Greylag goslings, the common wild geese of Europe, were imprinted by Lorenz and thereafter regarded all humans as proper objects for matrimony.

With mallard ducklings, Lorenz quacked vigorously in his best mallardese and found that the sound rather than sight caused imprinting to occur. In the book "King Solomon's Ring," Lorenz describes himself waddling in his garden quacking at the top of his voice, followed by a line of trusting ducklings which unfortunately were invisible to a crowd of astonished tourists peering over the fence.

Birds raised by a human keeper in strict isolation from their own kind refuse thereafter to react to fellow-members of the species. Imprinting is apparently irreversible; from the brief moment of imprinting on, the bird behaves exactly as if its reactions were instinctive.

MOTHERS WITH MOTORS

In the wild, of course, the first creatures that a bird sees from its nest are its own parents, unless they are frightened away. In that case, peculiar things happen sometimes. There are records of geese thinking themselves to be boats, because a boat happened to pass just at the proper time for imprinting.

Lorenz gave to ornithology not only the concept of imprinting but also that of "releasers," intricate outside stimuli which produce characteristic behaviour from birds. For instance, a bird might fail to breed if its surroundings did not look, sound, feel, and possibly even smell right — the proper releasers being absent.

Releasing mechanisms and other keys to bird behaviour are described and colorfully illustrated in a recent publication of the National Geographic Society, "Stalking Birds With Color Camera," by Dr. Arthur A. Allen, of Cornell University.

23 Miners Given Week's Remand

TIMMINS (CP) — Twenty-three men facing charges in connection with a strike of some 350 gold miners at the nearby Broulan Reef mines today were remanded to Aug. 12.

The 23 face a total of 27 charges. Most are of common assault, but two face kidnapping charges, two obstructing police and three others, wilful damage.

Kidnapping charges were laid against Kenneth Leggel 39, and Manzel Inchoff, 34, Sunday after police said a miner who wanted to return to work was forced into a car at the Broulan property and driven to Timmins 12 miles away.

The rest of the charges were laid a week ago Friday when 10 workers were beaten and ejected from the mine property after they had crossed picket lines.

The strike at Broulan began July 11 after union complaints that mine manager Walter Brown was trying to destroy the organization of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) at the mine. Two days later members of the union at the nearby Hallnor and Preston East Dome mines walked out, bringing the total number of striking miners at the three mines to about 750. The union is also asking wage increases.

Boy Beaten, Aids Robbery

TORONTO (CP)—Police said today a 15-year-old boy beat another the same age until he agreed to take part in the robbery of a 75-year-old woman.

Police said one boy, "a regular sadist," got the other "completely in his power" by beating him and once slashing his wrist with a razor. The boys now are in custody today.

Doctor Reveals Details Of Taft Illness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tissue taken after death is being examined to determine the primary site of the spreading cancer that killed Senator Robert A. Taft.

This was disclosed today with the revelation of the first complete medical history of the case as known to date.

The information was given to a reporter by one of the doctors completely familiar with the case. He asked that his name not be used, but he said the details were released with the permission of the Taft family.

The account related that:

1. "First proof" that the senator was suffering from a malignancy was established at the Holmes hospital in Cincinnati during the week of May 27.

2. Taft knew about the malignancy from the time of the Cincinnati diagnosis and during "complex and exhaustive tests" both before and after that diagnosis was "a swell patient who went right down the line following recommendations, without any complaint at all."

3. Almost from the start of his medical observation in late April, he received frequent blood transfusions—twice a week—even while he was up and about his Senate duties.

4. Early in June, confirmatory tests were made at New York hospital during a two-day stay that has never been made public up to now.

Taft, upon the advice of his Washington and Cincinnati doctors, entered the hospital under the assumed name of "Howard A. Roberts, Jr." The reason for this, according to the Washington doctor who revealed the story, was "protection to him in the event that we might be wrong" about the cancer diagnosis.

5. Later, he underwent trial treatments with some "new experimental agents" and was told that "they were purely experimental and that if there was any indication that they might be effective he should regard himself as a 'guinea pig.'"

They showed no apparent effect, however, against the particular type of cancer that was then evident.

THUNDERATION! Sample Switchel doesn't mind if he does spend part of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." Robert Gill plays the part of the Yankee tippler and is served by Jamie Cunningham, as Frank, the landlord's son. Ronald Bailey's umbrella, hat and admonitions finally win the redeemable to the strait, dry and respectable. The old melodrama, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," is given many a funny and satiric turn at the Queen Mary auditorium, where it is being played all week.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Douglas Charges Ottawa Welshes On Tax Rentals

YORKTON, Sask.—(CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas said the federal government has "welshed" on its half of the tax rental agreement by not providing the imporo go with it.

The Premier addressed a public meeting here in support of G. H. Castleton, CCF candidate for Yorkton in the Aug. 10 federal election. Attendance was about 900.

Mr. Douglas said the blueprint worked out at the Dominion-Provincial conference for a new social order had vision and was deserving of credit. But the plan had never been implemented because the Liberals gained the impression in the last federal election that they need not do anything.

NEVER STARTED

At the conference, the late Prime Minister King had promised to set up a national health insurance plan, lower old-age pensions to 65, bring in crop insurance, a social security program, a national labor code, a national housing program, a marketing board and public work projects in periods of unemployment.

"The plans were good, but never put into effect because we missed the trail in 1949 by giving the Liberals the biggest majority since Canada became a nation," Premier Douglas said.

He said he challenged the statement that a national health insurance plan would cost too much money.

If the government had not cancelled the excess profits tax, it would have paid two-thirds of the cost of such a plan and complete health insurance could have been provided for $10-$12 a year.

Congress Pays Homage To Taft At State Funeral

CINCINNATI (AP)—The body of Senator Robert A. Taft was flown to his home town of Cincinnati Monday.

Accompanying the body here were Lloyd and Robert Taft, Jr., sons of the Republican leader, and their wives, and Jack Martin, the senator's executive secretary.

Earlier Monday in Washington, Taft received a last full measure of homage from U.S. leaders at a state funeral beneath the Capitol dome.

A Congress in which the Ohioan became almost a one-man institution paused in its adjournment rush and gathered with President Eisenhower, nigh dignitaries of government, the Taft family and friends for solemn memorial rites in the vast rotunda.

Prayers, a single warm tribute, the national anthem—that was all. Yet in this simple service, Taft was honored as only 12 of his countrymen have been before him.

After it was over, the unopened bronze casket was carried slowly down the massive front steps of the capitol to the plaza where hundreds of ordinary folk were assembled. It was then taken to the National Airport.

The Senate Republican leader died of cancer Friday in New York. His body lay in state Sunday in the centre of the capitol rotunda while tens of thousands passed by to honor him.

Prohibition Melodrama Makes Charming Satire

We are a pretty serious and pious people, we Canadians, and a spoof of the Lares and Penates of our fathers is a serious matter; we may not want to recognize it as a spoof. But however you take the old Prohibition play "Ten Nights In A Bar Room", revived at the Summer Theatre this week, it is entertaining—as a straight drama, or as a melodrama ripened by satire.

Much happens quickly on stage though the action covers ten years. The drunkard hits stony bottom. His innocent daughter is blooded in a bar-room brawl, has saintly visions, redeems her father, and promptly dies. The landlord, former honest miller, prospers on the sale of booze, then his fortunes fall, his son is debased, his wife goes mad and dies, and he himself becomes a good-for-nothing. The gambler gets his quietus, too. So the action is enough to keep anybody agog.

PARODY ON MELODRAMA

Played big, with tongue in cheek (and sometimes sticking out) as it is done on the Queen Mary stage, and with not opportunity missed to tootle the moral tone, the play becomes a parody on Victorian melodrama and a spoof on 1865-1900 prohibitionist propaganda and sentiment.

By the end of the performance the audience was fully alert to the spirit of the modern version. They hissed the villain, groaned for goodness squandered and shouted hurrah for virtue reclaimed and Demon Rum ousted. The genial and clever turns of Ronald Bailey — particularly his skit "Hurrah For the Pump", in which he led the audience into song—took the lid off any seriousness that might still have lurked in corners of the hall. One might wish that it had been possible to warm the audience similarly at the beginning. It and the performers seemed a little slow at first.

MUCH CHARM

There is much charm in the production, the drop curtain, the tableaux set up at critical moments, the mannered delivery of choice lines, the roll of eyes, the costumes, the shift of pace from canter to trot, gave a delicious Victorian-American flavour while crenellating the melodrama. Quaintness, sentimentality and full-tilt bamboozle were beautifully blended into delightful fun and at times hilarity.

An unusual feature Monday night was the dumb show put on by David Powell, who played the drunkard. Mr. Powell lost his voice Sunday. He acted his part and mouthed his words, while a voice off-stage gave his lines. Miming and the voice were wonderful. The dramatic result was one of the most interesting aspects of the production and the device was thoroughly in keeping with the role and with the temper of the show.

COMIC TURNS

The fore-stage comedy turns, as inter-act oleos, were great fun, and the singing was pleasant to the ear.

Christopher Gledhill was professor at the piano, and his sentimental variations and sound effects chimed soulfully and funnily with the action — particularly when Gerry Saracini tolled the bell and Robert Gill was squire's panto. Mr. Gill's performance as the hardy tippler was delicious.

The play was directed by Robertson Davies.

Here is the full cast: Mr. Romaine, a Philanthropist, Ronald Bailey; Simon Slade, Landlord of the "Sickle & Sheaf", Harry Geldard; Sample Switchel, a Yankee Tippler, Robert Gill; Harvey Green, a Gambler, Gerry Saracini; Frank Slade, the landlord's son, Jamie Cunningham; Willie Hammond, the squire's son, Robert Barclay; Mrs. Slade, the Landlord's wife, Charlotte Schrager; Joe Morgan, a drunkard, David Powell; Mary Morgan, his daughter, Barbara Cummings; Mehitable Cartright, a Sentimental damsel, Margaret Braidwood; Mrs. Morgan, the drunkard's wife, Brenda Davies. —T.J.A.

Put Out Grass Fire Threatening Cottages

CAMPBELLFORD— (ENS) — Campbellford firemen were called to extinguish a grass fire near number 8 power house on the Trent system Sunday, a few miles south of town.

The flames threatened several nearby cottages but, through the efforts of a bucket brigade, the flames were held in check until the arrival of the Campbellford pumper, which extinguished the blaze in short order.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined, but residents of the area believe a cigarette carelessly thrown from a passing automobile was to blame.

The fire had eaten its way dangerously close to a new cottage built by a Niagara Falls, N.Y., man, before it was quelled.

Asked for comment, Mr. Howe said: "Mr. Marsden, a defeated Liberal candidate, appeared to think, as such, special privileges should have been accorded to him in the matter of defence contracts." OTTAWA (CP)—Candidates have their last chance this week to reach an estimated 8,500,000 eligible voters with pleas for support on the Aug. 10 federal election voting day.

Election activities by candidates won't be curtailed much by election laws. However, some minor prohibitions went into effect Sunday, eight days before polling day.

On the day immediately preceding polling day, no one is allowed to supply, carry, wear or use any loud speaker, bunting, ensign, banner, standard or set of colors intending it for use as political propaganda on an automobile, truck or other vehicle.

A third ban goes into effect at midnight next Friday, banning any broadcast of a political speech or advertising on behalf of a political party over the radio. However, candidates still may advertise in the newspapers even on polling day.

Pope Defines Parish Functions

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope, defining the functions of the parish in a letter published Monday in the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano, said that by its stability the parish was the support of the social edifice.

"The parish is the church with its roots in the soil of every land, with its permanent institutions and its wealth of experience," he wrote.

The letter, which was in English, was addressed to James Cardinal McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto, and Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, archbishop of Montreal, on the occasion of Canada's Catholic "Social Week."

"Around the church spire, generations succeed each other uninterruptedly," the Pope said.

"The families which have sealed their union before the altar never cease to find there the principle of their cohesion and strength, while in the Catholic school their children receive an education which perpetuates, with supernatural faith, the ancestral values of the Canadian family."

Turkey Rich And Varied Land Agricultural, Mineral Resources

By DON COOK
(Special To The Examiner)

ANKARA, Turkey — You can tear up the old high school geography class conception of Turkey as a faceless, sand-colored blob on a map, inhabited only by nomads and dwellers in ancient cities.

In its place put Turkey down as a rich and varied land of great agricultural and mineral resources and 21 million hard-working people. There is in Turkey today a feeling of destiny-to-be-achieved—of possibilities that for the moment seem limitless.

Economically, the country is in the midst of a boom the like of which this part of the world has never seen before—a genuine grassroots expansion which began with teaching peasant farmers to run tractors and has spread through the whole fabric of the economy.

Militarily, Turkey's army of 18 divisions has undergone a vast improvement in training, equipment and preparation in the six years since American aid began to arrive.

Politically, under the liberal leadership of a stable and confident regime—which came to power in 1950 after a resounding and unexpected victory over the Republican party that had been governing Turkey for nearly 30 years—Turkey is shaking off the last vestiges of restrictions on civil liberties, maturing her democratic character and improving her prestige abroad.

FOREIGN AID

What has happened in Turkey in six years to convert this area from the shakiest on the Russian perimeter to one of the most secure? The catalyst was foreign aid, and nowhere in the world is there a better example of aid doing just what it was intended to do: put wheels in motion on the road to economic good health and expansion.

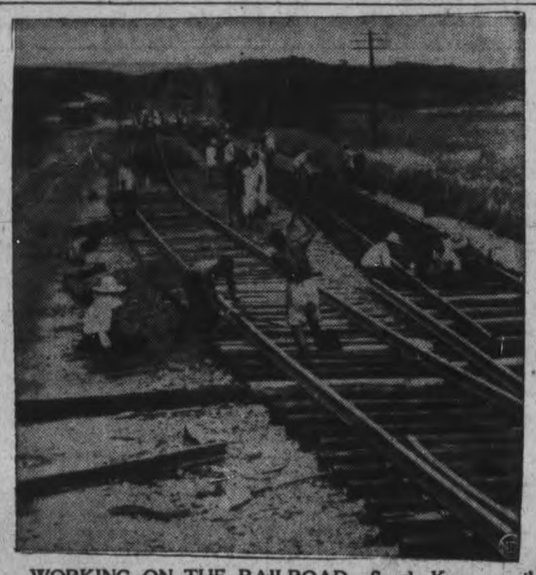
But aid has only fused all sorts of native components: willingness and drive on the part of the Turks; readiness to adopt new ideas; government resumption of projects which had long been shelved for lack of money; mineral and agricultural resources waiting to be exploited.

The transformation of these six years is, for the Turks, realization at last of the dreams formed in 1922, when Kemal Ataturk led a revolution that drove the Sultan from the country. There followed, under Ataturk's iron hand, 15 years of national education and preparation, and with the coming of World War II, 10 years of marking time.

Without those intense years of preparation under Ataturk, there would be no modern Turkey and no Turkish boom today. He ruthlessly arrayed the powers of a police state behind him, but at the same time literally rammed Westernization down the Turkish throat.

When Ataturk died in 1938, there were firm but sensible men to take over. They maintained the Ataturk restrictions and policies through World War II, but began easing up on political and civil liberties restrictions in 1948 and 1949.

In the free elections of 1950, they were suddenly and overwhelmingly swept out of office. The incoming Democratic party—led by men who had gradually broken away from the Republican party after Ataturk's death—took office. It also took charge of the economic boom, which, by 1950, was gaining momentum.



The boom can be traced back to tractors, which began to arrive in large numbers four years ago. Agriculture has paced the boom and tractors set agriculture rolling. From agriculture all sorts of things began to flow—more roads to haul the mounting crops of wheat and grain; gasoline and parts for the tractors; more income for the farmers, which meant greater consumer-goods production; expansion of port facilities to handle growing commerce; a rise in university enrollments as young people sought to equip themselves for the expanding society.

A few years ago, Turkey did not export a single pound of wheat or grain. This year she will ship a million tons abroad and stand fourth among the world's wheat exporting nations, behind the United States, Australia and Canada. Next year, given good weather, she hopes to export 1.5 million tons.

In 1949, Turkey had barely 4,000 tractors. Today the total has passed 35,000 and is still going up. With the arrival of the tractors, the government encouraged the farmers—80 per cent of the country's population—to expand their farms and take up plowing on the vast national lands. It granted them subsidy prices for their grain and taught them how to drive the machines.

The number of acres under cultivation in Turkey jumped from 15.4 million in 1949 to 19.8 million in 1953. The mileage of "all-weather" roads has doubled from a little more than 6,000 miles to 12,000. Port capacity has shot up from 75,000 tons a month to nearly 200,000 tons.

The boom has spread to industry, too. Turkey has the only deposits of top-quality coking coal now available for European steelmaking outside England and the Ruhr. Eventually she hopes to make this coal, near the Black Sea, a prime export, but although production has doubled in four years Turkey is also consuming twice as much in its own expanding industries. Iron ore has shot up from 184,000 tons in 1948 to 341,000 tons in 1952. Copper and chromium have more than doubled. The manganeses industry—strategically important and a prime source of supply for the United States—has soared from 8,327 tons in 1948 to 108,395 tons in 1952.

WORKING ON THE RAILROAD—South Korean rail workers build a double-track railroad, at Panmunjom, in anticipation of heavy traffic when the exchange of war prisoners begins. Official Chinese radio confirmed that all 12,763 Allied prisoners in North Korea will be repatriated. The first 600 Chinese to be freed are being held in stockades at Munsan.

Canadian PoW Not Too Badly Treated By Red Captors

By BILL BOSS

MUNSAN (CP)—Cpl. Joseph Pelletier of Chatham, first Canadian prisoner released in the post-armistice exchange, said today he killed four Chinese before he was captured May 2. Grinning broadly, the Canadian was in the second truck reaching Panmunjom. He had been listed as missing and believed a prisoner. The Canadian has recovered from burp gun and grenade wounds in the right arm and right thigh. Pelletier told interviewers he was in C company of the Royal Canadian Regiment's 3rd battalion the night of May 2 when a Chinese barrage hit his position. He was alone in the trench as his two Canadian comrades were on patrol and three South Korea army men attached to the group couldn't be found.

"Hundreds of Chinese came over our position—at least they seemed to be hundreds," said Pelletier. "I know I killed four who came into my trench.

GRABBED BY CHINESE

"Then three Chinese grabbed me and took me down the forward slope into the valley. There were nine other Canadians there. They bandaged my wounds. Then we had to walk through their positions into the area behind. We spent the night there.

"Next day they took me on a stretcher to a camp about 35 miles behind the line. I stayed there until May 26 but it was May 12 before they changed the dressings on my legs."

Previously, Pelletier told officers his treatment by the Chinese was "not too good."

Pelletier said that he was taken to a camp at Pyoktong near the Yalu river in northernmost Korea on May 26 "but on June 12 they took me to a hospital outside the camp where a Chinese doctor operated on my legs, removing shell fragments."

GOT EXTRA RATIONS

"The treatment there was OK. I was there until Aug. 1 when I was started south—I was there when the armistice was signed. They announced it over the hospital squawkbox but the fellows took it quietly. That night we got extra rations, including chicken, to celebrate.

"Before we left, the Chinese wanted us to have a party. They put out tables for us and gave us extra food and six beers, and two bottles of wine for every eight men as well as 10 packages of 20 cigarets to last us for the journey. We just ate and drank up and returned to what we were doing."

Drew Reviews Proposed Tax Reduction

MONTREAL (CP)— Progressive Conservative leader Drew, on a two day visit to Quebec province in the closing week of his political campaign, speaks today at Ste. Germaine and Quebec City following two addresses here Tuesday night.

In Montreal, Mr. Drew dealt with taxes, communism and the promotion of J. W. Pickersgill from clerk of the Privy Council to secretary of state, a move he said showed that taxpayers had been "paying the political manager of the Liberal government."

Repeated suggestions by Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland that Mr. Pickersgill might be the next prime minister should be taken seriously as Mr. Smallwood was "very close to the Dominion government."

He repeated his party's election promise of a $500,000,000 tax reduction and said this could be done without reducing family allowances or other social security payments.

Part of the tax reductions would be reflected in lower sales and excise taxes, with the larger share in lower income taxes. Income tax deductions would be increased to $3,000 from $2,000 for married persons and to $1,500 from $1,000 for single persons.

"The present government could have done this at any time since the war. It could have given this exemption simply by stopping overtaxation."

He criticized a CBC decision giving free time broadcasts to the Labor - Progressive (Communist) party, saying:

"I don't think the taxes you and I pay should go to the service of the Communist party of Canada."

He spoke of his party's election pledge to outlaw Communist activities under the Criminal Code and said the time was "long overdue to define this particular form of treachery" which threatened Canadian democracy and "undermines the faith of our youth."

"It's more than time that we met Communist infiltration in Canada by laws that will be effective."

U.K. Welcomes Russian Reply

LONDON (AP)—Britain said officially today Russia's reply to the Western proposal for Big Four talks leaves the way open for a conference of foreign ministers.

A foreign office spokesman cautiously welcomed the Soviet reply.

The spokesman added that Russia's suggestion for a much wider conference than the one proposed by Britain, the United States and France, will require new discussion among the three Western powers.

7 Ministers Turn Up At Cabinet Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—Seven Liberal government ministers turned up at the east block today to attend what may be the final cabinet meeting before the Aug. 10 voting.

With Prime Minister St. Laurent were Trade Minister Howe, Defence Minister Claxton, Revenue Minister McCann, Transport Minister Chevrier, Postmaster-General Cote, and State Secretary Pickersgill.

Officials said the meeting was "purely routine." It started at 10:30 a. m. EDT, and was to deal with several minor external affairs appointments and a few other items including some relating to the Colombo plan operations.

The ministers also were expected to review the Liberal party campaigning across the country. No last minute changes in strategy were expected.

More Canadian Arms Shipped To Italy

OTTAWA (CP) — Additional supplies of Canadian arms will be shipped to Italy and Portugal this month under the mutual aid agreement of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the defence department announced today.

The Italian Army will receive 58 three-ton trucks. They will be shipped to Naples this week.

The Portuguese Army will receive 240 military wireless sets which will be shipped from Montreal about the middle of the month.

Producers Not Meeting Demand For Pork

REGINA (CP)—Canadian producers are not meeting the Canadian demand for pork and beef and do not now need a British market for these products, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Tuesday night.

Addressing an audience of more than 2,000, Mr. Gardiner said Canadians are eating 90,000,000 pounds of pork a week while 76,000,000 pounds are being delivered. Storage supplies had to be drained to make up the difference. Beef was in about the same position.

Yet there were those who said the British market had been lost. There was a British market if producers were prepared to take the lower price.

Canada's Economic Aid Inadequate Coldwell Says

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's record under a Liberal administration on the problem of economic aid to foreign countries was termed "grossly inadequate" Tuesday night by CCF leader M. J. Coldwell.

"The Liberal government has taken a niggardly and miserly position on the whole question of foreign aid," the former Saskatchewan schoolteacher told an applauding audience of more than 900 persons who almost filled the main ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver.

"Canada's contribution has been grossly inadequate in view of her ability to pay and what the rest of the Commonwealth is doing."

In his final campaign speech in B.C. before the Aug. 10 federal election, Mr. Coldwell also said that the Liberal government had jeopardized Canada's economic security by turning to the "unstable" American market instead of "our traditional United Kingdom and Commonwealth markets." Then he rapped the Social Credit party as "fascist" and said the Progressive Conservative party "isn't going anywhere in this election."

He speaks in Edmonton tonight before moving into his home constituency of Rosetown-Biggar in Saskatchewan.

POOR COMPARISON

On foreign aid, the grey-haired veteran of 33 years of political warfare said the "Liberals spent more than $900,000 landscaping the bureau of statistics building in Ottawa, but offered only $850,000 to the United Nations for economic aid."

He told his listeners that the threat of war could never be averted until a way had been found to banish "inequality, misery and want in the world." Only socialist-minded parties offered a concrete plan to right the world's economic ills and "only through democratic socialism can world peace be assured."

Trade was indispensable to Canada, which last year had the second highest export-import trade on a per capita basis in the world, said Mr. Coldwell. His party was "gravely disturbed by the short-sighted policies" of the Liberal government that channelled Canadian trade away from the United Kingdom to the United States.

The Liberals' refusal to help the U. K. and other overseas countries to earn dollars to buy Canadian products had already caused serious losses to the producers of apples, cheese, cattle, bacon and other primary commodities.

A CCF government, he said, would stimulate trade with the sterling area by lowering tariffs and dumping duties, acceptance of sterling as part payment for Canadian produce, and by long-term commodity agreements for specified imports and exports.

6 Survivors Sighted By Searchers

Masses of Wreckage 285 Miles Apart, Ships Race To Areas

LONDON (AP) — A big 10-engine U.S. Air Force bomber blazing like a meteor plunged into the North Atlantic early today and its 23 men jumped into the icy waves.

Fourteen hours after the RB-36 reconnaissance plane went down a British ship, the Manchester Shipper, radioed she had picked up one survivor and recovered one body.

Search planes sighted two masses of wreckage 285 miles apart. Ships headed for both places.

The merchant ship Uruguay radioed it had reached the scene.

SCATTERED OVER WIDE AREA

It was assumed that because of the speed with which the bomber travelled, the men who jumped were scattered over a wide area. With dusk approaching in the search area, it is easier sometimes to spot a single man by night by the flare with which his survivor suit is equipped than it is to see him in daylight, airmen said.

As soon as the raft was spotted, the searching plane dropped a boat and radioed other aircraft in the area. Another search plane, like the first an RB-29, also dropped a boat.

Twenty-three men jumped into the Atlantic from the downed plane.

A search plane reported sighting five survivors bobbing on a raft. Four of the men stood up and waved. The fifth man was lying on the raft. The survivors were first spotted on the high seas 420 miles west of Prestwick, Scotland.

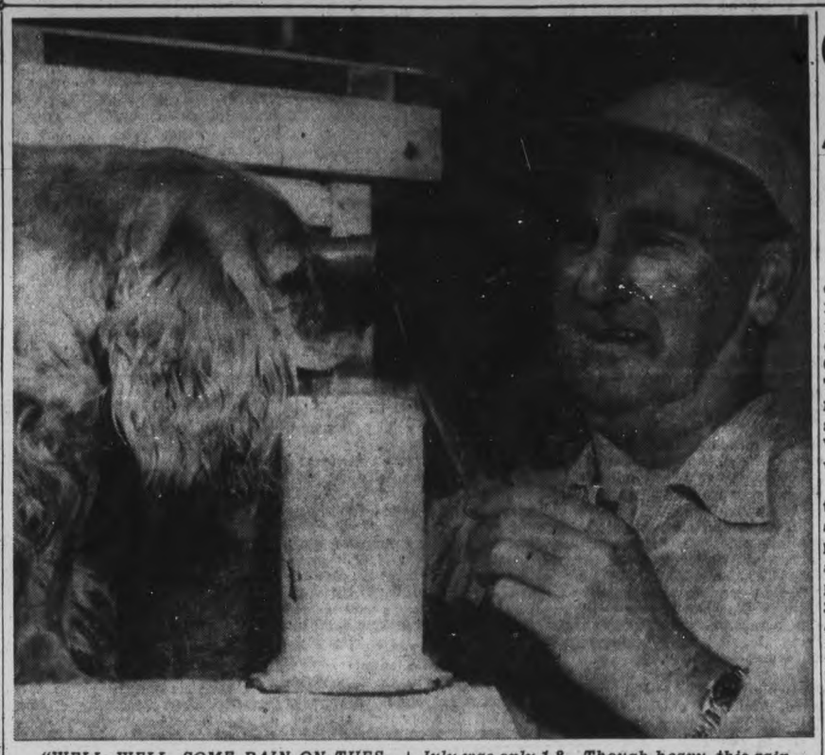
Dulles, Rhee Begin Talks



SEOUL (AP) — United States State Secretary Dulles today delivered an oral message from President Eisenhower to President Syngman Rhee and reached quick agreement with the South Korean leader on the ground they will cover in vital post-armistice talks.

Emerging from a one-hour and 50-minute visit with Rhee, Dulles told newspapermen the session "went very well. . . . We had a good preliminary talk and agreed on topics to be discussed."

Dulles did not disclose the nature of the message he brought from Eisenhower.

Dulles said he would call on Rhee daily until Saturday. The next meeting was set for Thursday.

Meantime, members of his party will meet with South Korean government officials to work out details of the policy issues.

"WELL, WELL, SOME RAIN ON TUESDAY", seems to be Bonny's mental comment as her master and Peterborough's official weatherman, Jim Harrison, measures the total rainfall for 19 hours. It was 1.7 inches, while the total for the month of July was only 1.8. Though heavy, this rainfall is no record. On July 4, 1951, 2.66 inches fell within ten hours and the total for that month was 4.28 inches. Incidentally, the average rainfall for July for the past 25 years, Mr. Harrison computed, is 2.12 inches. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Chatham Prisoner Among 400 Released By Reds

PANMUNJOM (CP) — Four hundred happy Allied war captives, including Cpl. Joseph Pelletier of Chatham, Ont., rode Russian trucks down the dirt road from North Korea to freedom today. The massive, five-week Korean war prisoner exchange was on—12,763 United Nations troops, including 14 Canadians, for 74,000 Reds. The Communists said 392 more prisoners will be liberated Thursday (8 p.m. EDT Wednesday). No Canadians were listed.

Pelletier was the first Canadian to be released under the armistice agreement The 26-year-old corporal was listed as missing in action last May 7 and believed a prisoner of war. A member of the 3rd battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment, he was captured after a patrol May 2, just two weeks after he reached the front line.

THRILLED BY NEWS

In Chatham, his wife said she was thrilled by the news of his release. It was the first definite word she had received that he was a PoW.

"I hope he gets back as soon as possible to me and our two little girls," she said.

Pelletier and 70 Americans came out of the bleak Communist prison camps with laughs and heartfelt thanksgiving to be homeward bound.

For them and 329 other former Allied captives the Korean war had finally ended, nine days after firing stopped at the front July 27.

However, the joy was blurred by a grim report from the first American officer released.

Maj. John Daujat of Richmond, Calif., said the Reds had sentenced some U.S. officer captives to long prison terms only two days ago for "instigating against peace."

That was seven days after the armistice.

NO COMMENT

Daujat was swept into the homeward processing before he could elaborate In Washington, defence and state department spokesmen declined comment.

The Allied troops released also included 250 South Koreans, 26 Britons, 23 Turks, 12 Filipinos, seven Colombians, seven French and one each from Greece, Australia, Belgium and South Africa.

The allies sent back 2,760 Chinese and North Koreans.

Seventy more Americans—42 of them sick and wounded—will be included with 250 Koreans and 72 other Allied personnel in the second day's exchange.

Pearson Wants Canada Face World United

ESPANOLA (CP) — Canada's dealings with the United States should not be with a chip on her shoulder but with her shoulders back, External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson said Tuesday night in a campaign speech before a crowd of 200 in this paper town 55 miles west of Sudbury.

"We talk frankly and friendly to the United States," he said, "and they understand that kind of talk."

"In the House of Commons, we find a certain unity on foreign policy", Mr. Pearson continued. "However we disagree at home, we face the world united. We all agree that we should work through NATO, the United Nations and the Commonwealth. We consider that the United States and Canada are two neighboring states—Canada is not considered inferior. If you like, we will say one is as good as the other."

He said important decisions face the Canadian government immediately after the Aug. 10 election with the United Nations general assembly meeting Aug. 17 to discuss the Korean question, the question of peace in the Far East.

"It may mean peace in the world," declared Mr. Pearson.

Trials Halting Rush For Food

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist hunger blockade and a rash of terror trials today severely reduced the rush of East Germans and East Berliners to receive free American food parcels in West Berlin.

Despite police threats and rain, hundreds of persons from Soviet-occupied East Berlin still came over for aid as the give away swung into its 10th day and toward the 1,500,000-parcel mark.

But the 18,000,000 Germans of the Russian occupation zone were barred from the free food by a virtually air-tight blockade on rail travel to Berlin, imposed last weekend. Protest demonstrations against the travel ban were put down by German Communist police.

The Communist government added terror with a series of drumhead trials to punish people who had come to Berlin to fetch the "American Judas parcels" last week. Communist papers printed long "blacklists" of East German reliefers, sometimes with pictures, denouncing them as "traitors and provocatuers."

The Communist press was stonily silent about the U. S. offer to release $1,400,000 of frozen East German funds in American banks if it is used only to buy food for the Soviet zone.

But the central committee of the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party indirectly answered the offer with more threats to East Germans to stay away from the American food stations.

$100,000 Fire At Kingston

KINGSTON (CP)—Fire in a downtown business block Tuesday night destroyed a clothing store and damaged a furniture store next door. Loss to contents alone was placed at $100,000. The blaze, which broke out shortly after 6 p.m. in the three-year-old brick and cement block building, raged through Bond's clothing store and through neighboring premises occupied by the Adams furniture store. The block is on Princess street, this eastern Ontario city's main thoroughfare, near Division street in the downtown business section. The furniture company occupied both its own store and the second floor of the Bond section. Its premises over the Bond store were destroyed, along with all the furniture stored there. Damage to the furniture company's main quarters was mainly from smoke and water, officials said.

Smoke and water damage to contents of the furniture store was placed at $75,000; that to the clothing store, $25,000. Damage to the buildings, owned by a Toronto firm, was not available.

Firefighters battled the outbreak for an hour and a quarter. Firemen George Bridget and Ted Nicholson were overcome by smoke and fumes but were revived on the spot. Fireman Reg Saunders, struck on the head by a falling fragment of a built-up canopy, was taken to hospital.

Firemen today were seeking the reason for the blaze, which they said began near the street entrance of the Bond store.

Bus Driver Describes How Accident Happened

CORNWALL (CP)—Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston, driver of the Colonial Coach Lines bus that plunged into the St. Lawrence river last Friday with a loss of 20 lives, today told how the accident happened. From his bed in Cornwall General Hospital, he told reporters in a whisper: "It was somewhere around 4 a.m.

"Traffic was still comparatively light. It was still dark and there were lots of stars. It was a nice night.

"I met a westbound car just before the accident. I snapped my lights down as I came around a curve. Then I threw my lights up.

"There was something in the road right in front of me.

"I didn't know just what it was, although I knew it was a vehicle of some kind. It appeared to be angling across in front of me

"I hit the brakes and at the same time, pulled to the centre of the road to try to miss it. I hoped the bus would stay on the road, but I didn't think I had room to go by.

"Then we hit. The bus went out of control. We started going down a bank into the water. I had been talking to a fellow in the front seat just before.

"I don't know what else happened. I don't remember. I don't know how I got out. I don't remember getting to shore. I can't remember."

Mr. Chesebrough, father of two children who has been a driver for Colonial Coach Lines for four years, told his story with much prompting from reporters. He chain-smoked cigarets which his wife kept lighting for him. He was shaking too much to light a match.

He said he didn't remember telling the passengers to be calm, although some of the passengers heard him say so as the bus entered the water.

He said he had no recollection of having forced open the front door, but once again passengers credited him with providing the escape route.

U.S. Demands Compensation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States demanded "appropriate compensation" from Russia today for the shooting down of an American B-50 bomber over the Sea of Japan July 29.

A formal American note rejected Moscow's version of the incident and protested "in the strongest terms" against the attack.

The American note, delivered in Moscow today, requested "an exhaustive investigation" regarding the whereabouts of the crew of 16.

In a note shortly after the incident, Russia had claimed the American four-engine bomber flew over Russian territory near Cape Gamov.

England To Florida In 9 Hrs., 53 Minutes

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A U.S. Air Force B-47 jet bomber flew here non-stop from England Tuesday in nine hours 53 minutes.

Its average speed for the 4,450-mile flight—the longest known jet hop on record in distance between points of takeoff and landing—was 454 (statute) miles an hour.

The six-jet Boeing, world's fastest known bomber, filled its fuel tanks off the southern tip of Ireland, by refuelling from a Boeing KO-97 tanker airplane.

Faces 215 Charges Of False Pretences

TORONTO (CP)—A mother, who said that she was helping her two children through college, today faces 215 charges of false pretences. Mrs. Veronica Wey of Brighton, 21 miles east of Belleville, was arrested in a downtown store here Tuesday.

Police said Mrs. Wey obtained goods from stores by giving false names for charge account purchases. As far as police can learn none of the goods was sold later. Most of it was clothing which went to her children.

Receives Proposals

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Everest conqueror Sir Edmund Hillary said here today he has received a number of proposals of marriage since he climbed to the "roof of the world." Said the New Zealand bachelor beekeeper: "Many aspirants sent along their photographs, including one who asked me to return her picture if I was not interested. I did."

Fine Driver $100 For 100 MPH Jaunt

BRADFORD, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate Gordon Foster, who freed a 90 mile an hour driver on a dangerous driving charge a few weeks ago, today convicted a man who drove 100 miles an hour on the same stretch of road.

Owen Carl Helwig of Detroit was fined $100 or 20 days for dangerous driving. Police testified Helwig had hit 100 miles an hour while roaring through thick traffic Tuesday on the four-lane Barrie highway just west of here.

Child Trapped By Cave-In

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP)—Danger of a cave-in today threatened the life of a small child trapped down a 22-foot deep hole near the Spanish river bridge seven miles east of Espanola.

Provincial police and volunteer workers were working frantically to get the youngster out before the rain-soaked walls of the hole give in.

It was said the youngster, unidentified as yet, is the child of American tourists. The child was still alive, but wedged at the bottom of the hole.

Espanola is 40 miles southwest of Sudbury.

Attend Opening of Parliament

Six Top Leaders Appear With Malenkov

By SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Prime Minister Malenkov, flanked by six of Russia's top leaders, today attended the opening of the fifth session of the Supreme Soviet — Russia's Parliament.

He watched 600 deputies packing the squat wooden benches of the Kremlin Grand Palace agree to a two-point agenda for discussion at the extraordinary session, the second this year.

Deputies will confirm the state budget for 1953, crowded off the agenda at the Supreme Soviet meeting last March after Stalin's death, and the report on the 1951-52 budget.

Secondly, the Supreme Soviet will ratify decisions made by the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet since the normal session last March.

Dominating this item of the agenda will be the downfall of Lavrenti Beria, a vice-premier and former interior minister ousted nearly a month ago.

Malenkov was loudly cheered by the deputies as he entered the assembly hall of the Council of the Union, the first of the Supreme Soviet's two Houses, at 2 p.m.

The Council of Nationalities, the second Chamber, met two hours later and reached the same decisions.

Archlights played on the rostrums and the business opened immediately with the reading of names of deputies elected since the last session.

The Council adopted the agenda, agreed to a joint session on finance tonight with the Council of Nationalities and adjourned after 20 minutes.

With Malenkov, Kruschev and Voroshilov were Lazar Kaganovich, a first deputy prime minister; Vyacheslav Molotov, another first deputy premier and foreign minister; M. Z. Sabruov, minister of machine-building and M. G. Pervukhin, minister of electric stations and electric industry.

The present session of the Supreme Soviet is expected to last three to four days.

Malenkov himself is virtually certain to make the main policy report, asking the total 1,300 deputies at the session to endorse his home and foreign policies.

In his major foreign policy speech since Stalin's death, he declared there is no outstanding issue that could not be settled peacefully on a basis of mutual agreement.

Soviet Ready For Meeting Of Big Four

Differs With West On Points To Be Discussed

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it is ready for a Big Four meeting on Germany but differed with the West on what should be discussed.

In identical notes to Britain, the United States and France the Russians also renewed their long-standing proposal for a Big-Five parley — including Communist China—on other problems threatening world peace.

The three western ministers, after their Washington meeting, had proposed July 15 that Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov of Russia meet with them to discuss an Austrian independence treaty and, for Germany, "the organization of free elections and the establishment of a free all-German government."

COUNTER-PROPOSALS

The Soviet reply, delivered Tuesday to the three western embassies, counter-proposed that the foreign ministers discuss:

1. "Measures to decrease tension in international relations."

2. "The German problem including the problem of re-establishment of German unity and the conclusion of a peace treaty."

The Russians said they had voiced their attitude on Austria in a note July 30 to the Western powers, in which they asked the West to drop the "short form" treaty it has proposed and return to negotiations on the detailed draft long under discussion by deputy foreign ministers.

"It goes without saying that a possible successful solution of the German problem could also help a solution of the Austrian question," the latest note said.

NOTE BEING STUDIED

(In Washington, state department officials said the Soviet note was under study. These officials said they welcomed the Russian acceptance but that some of the conditions laid down by the Russians might be unacceptable to the West.)

Proposing a separate and wider conference of foreign ministers to seek a lessening of international tension, the Russian note said Asia also should be discussed and "the participation of the Chinese People's Republic is essential."

The note assailed "measures being taken for the militarization of Western Germany," but said despite these "considerations," the Soviet government "attaches great importance to a joint examination of the German problem and hopes such a discussion will make it possible to examine thoroughly the problems concerned with the re-establishment of German unity which together with settlement of the problem of a peace treaty with Germany will help to consolidate peace in Europe"

Prices Mix Quietly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices mixed in quiet early afternoon stock market trading today. Golds, the one bright spot, gained nearly half a point.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals continued Tuesday's downturn, as Brilund, Radiore and Chimo lost small amounts. Brunswick, a higher-priced Bathurst area issue, jumped 1½ points.

Miscellaneous industrials and construct ons eased but banks and steels improved. Anglo-Canadian, in a mixed papers section, rose 2¾ points.

Senior golds showed a solid list of plus signs. Bralorne, Kerr Addison and Wright-Hargreaves were up. Prospectors Airways led holding companies lower.

Action in base metals was the slowest in days as gains for Falconbridge and Pend Oreille were balanced by losses for Hudson Bay and International Nickel. Western oils slipped lower.

Oshawa Driver Faces Charges

DETROIT (CP)—Charles A. Hunter, 71, of Oshawa was charged Tuesday with reckless driving in connection with an accident in downtown Detroit Monday when three pedestrians were struck by Hunter's car. He is to appear in court today.

Most seriously injured was James McPhee, 66, who suffered a broken leg and head and chest injuries. Others injured were Steve Dawshiua, 61, and John Krecher, 68.

Hunter told police he attempted to stop his car after it collided with another car but his foot hit the accelerator instead of the brakes.

He had picked up his son, Charles, 29, shortly before the accident and they were on their way to Oshawa.

4 Canadian Names Missing On PoW List

OTTAWA (CP)—Are the Chinese Reds holding more Canadians as prisoners than they say they have?

If not, what has become of four Canadians whom the Canadian Army lists as prisoners-of-war?

The army could not shed any light on these questions Tuesday night as word was received here that Cpl. Joseph Pelletier of Chatham, Ont., was the first Canadian to be released by the Reds in the prisoner exchange in Korea.

Pelletier was not listed as a prisoner-of-war by the Canadian Army but as among 27 men missing in action.

The Reds say they held 14 Canadians but army headquarters list 18 Canadians as prisoners of the Communists.

MORE ABOUT—

Chatham Prisoner

The Reds who went north in the first day's exchange at the last-minute ripped their new American-provided uniforms, snarled and cursed U.S. officers and flashed anger. The display obviously was aimed at propaganda for the Red newspaper men and photographers who stood nearby.

In contrast, Allied troops shouted "glad to be here!"

SOME WEEP

Some South Koreans broke down and wept. Some didn't even know there was a truce. They had left their northern prison camps not knowing what awaited them.

One tearful South Korean repatriate bit a fingertip and traced in blood:

"The Communists never defeated us."

Most of the Americans were simply, quietly happy. One returning prisoner threw his Chinese blue clothing sharply to the ground, another laughed, some waved.

And mingled with the brightness was a touch of tenderness as waiting hands picked up stretchers of sick and wounded who came from their prison camps on their backs.

MEDICAL TREATMENT

The American prisoners were sped to Freedom Village, 12 miles south of Panmunjom, for showers, food, medical treatment and the first processing for their trip home.

The Britons and Pelletier were taken to Camp Britannia and the South Koreans to Camp Liberty, both near Freedom Village.

Newspapermen at Freedom Village noted these men did not relate the tales of torture, death and maiming told by returning Allied prisoners released in the sick and wounded exchange last April.

Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief Robert Eunson said it was clear the men had been told somewhere in their army processing to soft-pedal the stories.

The Americans will be taken from Freedom Village to Inchon, a port on Korea's west coast, where they will board transports for home after a few days of final processing. The Canadians and Britons will be sent to Japan for processing before beginning their journey home.

Three Injured In 7 Accidents In Wet City

Three were injured Tuesday in a rash of accidents on Peterborough Sts. All together, there were seven crashes during the afternoon and night.

At Civic Hospital today in satisfactory condition are Percy White, 62, of Toronto, his wife, and Martin Madsen, 64, of Ottawa. Mr. White received a fractured kneecap and lacerations, Mrs. White, 58, a broken nose, two fractured ribs and lacerations, and Madsen, lacerations to his forehead and chin.

Madsen was driving east on Lansdowne approaching Monaghan Rd. Tuesday afternoon. He applied his brakes when the lights at the intersection turned and his car skidded across the road into the path of a westbound car driven by White.

PETS LOOKED AFTER

The trio were taken to the hospital after the crash. A humorous aftermath of the crash was the fate of White's two passengers, a budgie and a young skunk. They were lodged in the city police station until friends of White claimed them, late Tuesday night.

Damage estimated at $1,800 was caused to the two cars. PC Harold Andrew investigated.

An accident at the intersection of George and Sherbrooke resulted in damage estimated at $250. Involved were Samuel Barrett, 40, of Windsor, and Gordon Innes, 64, of Crawford's Grove, Peterborough.

Barrett was stopped at the intersection facing south waiting for a green light. Innes, eastbound on Sherbrooke, collided with the stopped car as he turned left to go north on George.

PC J. P. Gillis investigated.

Another intersection crash occurred at Weller and Albertus Sts. Albert Pottens, 32, of Manorhill Rd., was driving north on Albertus St. when his car collided with a second driven by Michael Craig, 17, RR 3, Peterborough, eastbound on Weller.

Damage of $225 was caused to the two cars. PC Ed Niziol investigated. Visibility at the intersections was very poor as a result of the driving rain.

Roland Bradfield, 59, of RR 10, Peterborough, collided with a second vehicle driven by Harold Steenburg, 26 of RR 6 Peterborough as both trucks crossed the canal bridge on Parkhill Rd.

When Bradfield braked his truck it skidded into the Steenburgh truck. Damage was estimated at $135. PC W. A. Scott investigated.

In an accident on Aylmer St. Tuesday afternoon damage was estimated at $45 to the two cars involved.

CRASH AT CURB

Mrs. Evelyn Ball, 52, of 506 Stewart St., was driving north on Aylmer when her car collided with a second vehicle driven by Mrs. Ruby Humphries of RR 1, Peterborough as Mrs. Humphries pulled out from the curb. Constable Scott investigated.

Damage was confined to $15 as a car driven by John Jargelo, 29, of Hamilton, backed out of a driveway on Hunter St. near George into a car driven east on Hunter by Phil Rochetta, 36, of 383 Holloway Drive. PC Bert Howden investigated.

Two cars, both southbound on George St. collided with about $150 damage resulting Tuesday night.

Arthur Mahaffy of St. Mary's, Ontario, was turning left on Murray when, according to police, he changed his mind and started a right turn. Stanley Blackbourn, also southbound, was passing on the inside at the time the two vehicles collided.

The accident was investigated by PC John Conlin.

Thinks Britain Should Refuse Grant From U.S.

MANCHESTER (Reuters) — The Manchester Guardian in an editorial today says Britain should have refused to accept a United States grant to remedy "the deficiencies of British capitalists and of the British government."

"Unless we have become a nation of mendicants, we should blush at the thought" of accepting a grant of £3,000,000 ($8,400,000) to be spent during the next three years on increasing British productivity, the editorial adds.

Commenting on a government policy statement on the disposal of the aid, The Guardian emphasizes that "towards the United States there will be nothing but appreciation of a rare act of generosity."

"In allotting money for the improvement of the economic conditions of another country, the United States is showing a splendid altruism. But must British industry be educated—and bribed—at American expense into efficiency?

"Nearly £500,000 is for advisory service—the bringing to the notice of individual firms of improvements in modern technique. The cynic will wonder whether, unless the profit motive has ceased to operate or the British character has gravely deteriorated, it really needs all this propaganda to make the business system work."

The rescue plane tried to establish radio contact with the raft, which is equipped with a small transmitter.

The crew members bailed out of the blazing RB-36 at 2,400 feet. It was not determined whether all jumped or whether a few stayed with the buge plane and tried to ditch it in the waves.

DROP TWO BOATS

As soon as the wreckage was spotted the searching plane dropped a boat and radioed other aircraft in the area. A second SB-29 appeared and also dropped a boat.

The twenty-one American and British aircraft engaged in the search halted their rectangular flying patterns and began flying in wide circles around the wreckage. This was done to determine if any men had drifted away from the area of the wreckage.

At least three ships were reported to be within a 150-mile radius of the area.

Wreckage of the reconnaissance bomber was sighted at 12:36 p. m. (7:36 a. m. EDT), a little more than eight hours after the giant plane plunged into the sea.

The air force said the plane's last reported position was 21:58 degrees W. longitude, 56:18 N. latitude—a point about 300 miles west of Ireland's northern tip and about 500 miles due south of Iceland.

The huge 10-engine aircraft, reconnaissance version of the A-bomb carrying B-36, was on a training mission from Travis air force base in California to England, an air force spokesman said.

Shortly after 4 a.m. (11 p.m. EDT Tuesday) the plane reported to the U S aircraft control centre in suburban Ruislip that it had developed an engine fire. Nineteen minutes later the pilot radioed the blaze was out of control and all aboard were abandoning ship.

Reds In Asia Threat To U.S.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday that the advance of communism in Southeast Asia—particularly Iran—has created a "very ominous" threat to American security.

Speaking informally at the annual governors' conference here, he pointed toward a possible change in national policy which might give Asia immediate—if not lasting—priority over Europe in the American defence system.

Applauding the decision of Congress to put $400,000,000 of foreign aid into the defence of Indo-China, the President told the governors forcefully that this is no "give-away" program.

"We are voting for the cheapest way that can prevent the occurrence of something that would be of a most terrible significance to the United States of America."

He spelled this out as the possible loss to the Communists of all Southeast Asia, including India and Pakistan, and the denial to the free world of the tin, tungsten and other products it needs there.

Unemployment To Result Unless CCF Elected

Canada will return to normalcy, a situation which will mean 25 per cent unemployment, if either the two old line parties govern Canada, Tommy Thomas, Oshawa, MLA said Tuesday night.

Speaking to a handful of CCF supporters at Legion Hall, Mr. Thomas said the "self-satisfied" people will only awaken when they find themselves sliding into a depression. At present, all signs point to a down trend in industry, he contended.

When a depression does come then Canada will wake up and wholeheartedly endorse the CCF party. "Our day is tomorrow," he forecast.

THREE OF 22

Aiming blasts at both the Conservatives and Liberals, Mr. Thomas recalled George Drew's famous "or infamous" 22 points of 1943. "See how badly he failed?" he asked referring to the proposed 50 per cent education grants, hospital plan and housing authority, three of the 22.

"Today he is promising housing, national insurance and tax cuts. How is he going to cut taxes; by cutting family allowances?" Mr. Thomas said a vote for Drew is "once more condoning a long string of broken promises."

Commenting on the Liberal party, Mr. Thomas said all it did was "talk," especially regarding a hospitalization plan. He said the prime minister was right when he claimed there are not enough hospital beds to support such a plan, "but what is the government doing to adjust that?"

He said the government allows only $1,000 per hospital bed which costs anywhere from $12,000 to $14,000 each. He quoted Mr. St. Laurent as saying it's "unfair to take premiums for service which cannot be given because of hospital accommodation lack."

"It's fair for private enterprise," the speaker contended, "but not fair for the federal or provincial governments."

On old age pensions, Mr. Thomas said the Conservatives in Ottawa favor increases but in Ontario are against subsidies; additionally, the Liberals in Ottawa are against increases but in Ontario are in favor of subsidies.

LABOR INDIFFERENT

Also speaking on the program was Bill Beggs, area representative of the UPWA. Surveying the audience of 25 he commented that indifference on the part of labor was one of the problems the CCF party has to face.

"Until labor begins to take part in the legislation of our country through the CCF party then we're not going to progress very far."

He blamed the Conservatives and Liberals for exploiting the lands and natural resources of the country, a fact attributing to unemployment. After finally "seeing the light," the government set apart various areas where they set up sanctuaries and reforestation programs.

"Now they're starting to sell the lands and sanctuaries to capitalists who are going to exploit them again."

Directing his remarks at trade union members, he said that it had been found in 1929 that labor unions didn't mean much when the depression came along. "They're purely defensive organizations; to be effective, members must take an active part in politics."

Also speaking, the CCF candidate for Peterborough riding, Maurice Ketcheson, claimed that if "we could get people to study what the CCF stands for then we would never have to worry about another election again."

He said it was the children of Canada who are suffering under the present government and blamed their sufferings on a lack of housing facilities; a hospital program and a failure to keep down the cost of living.

See No Sign Of Settlement

TORONTO (CP)—The strike of more than 1,500 truck drivers in southwestern Ontario entered its 17th day with no sign of settlement.

Although the walkout by the Hamilton and Windsor locals of the AFL Teamsters' Union has tied up one-half of highway transport in the area, no one appears to be suffering seriously other than the strikers and the 36 transport companies actively involved.

Railways have taken over much of the freight normally shipped by truck.

The truck drivers who make up 45 per cent of the inter-urban and local drivers employed by trucking companies in southwestern Ontario, went on strike July 20 for higher wages.

Candidate Charges Right To Speak Denied

SUDBURY (CP)—Willard Evoy, CCF candidate for Sudbury riding in the Aug. 10 federal election, said today he has been denied permission to speak personally to voters living at the Sudbury and district home for the aged.

He said the home's board of management had ruled no political campaigning could be conducted there.

Cyclone Strikes Hamlet Leaves Trail Of Damage

SEBRINGVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A cyclone which ripped through this little hamlet on Highway No. 8 late Tuesday left a trail of damage which may run into several thousands of dollars. Roofs were lifted from buildings; small outbuildings were carried 50 yards; windows were smashed; hydro and telephone lines were knocked to the ground and pieces of trees and roofing sheet metal littered the area.

Residents of the settlement, five miles west of Stratford, who saw the miniature twister approaching across bushes and fields from the southwest, said the funnel-shaped formation was "bluish gray."

No one was injured.

NARROW ESCAPE

William Ische and his sons Clarence and Carl were lucky to escape without a scratch. They were working in their honey house when the roof was torn off, and part of one wall collapsed.

A beam from the Ische honey house was blown 50 yards and crashed through Glen Wildgust's house, tearing a hole in the roof.

Small garages were lifted and carried away like straws.

The tornado tore down trees in the apple orchard of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thornton and smashed into a garage and barn. A large soft maple tree was snapped in two and fell across the Thornton's sun porch, breaking windows and caving in part of the roof.

The dark-haired, good-looking Pelletier sported his regimental tie when he emerged from the Communist truck wearing Communist prison garb. When he appeared for the interview in a Canadian uniform he still had the tie.

"The Chinese took it from me once," he said. "But I found it was in the camp commandant's office. So I went in for some books and stole it back."

The 26-year-old soldier, released almost exactly three months after he was taken prisoner, said the meals his captors provided were adequate. They consisted mainly of potatoes and rice but were well cooked by three U. S. army prisoners who had been cooks.

Later in the mess hall correspondents lifted their eyebrows when Pelletier turned down sirloin steaks with eggs or roast chicken and decided on fried liver.

"I want to be easy on my stomach for a while," Pelletier said. "I don't think it could take steak yet."

SENDS MESSAGE

Mildred Herman, Red Cross worker from Swan River, Man., welcomed Pelletier and other Commonwealth prisoners to the camp's flower-decked reception room. There Pelletier was able to send a message to his wife in Chatham over army facilities to Ottawa.

After documentation by Lieut. Peter McClode of Ottawa, he was fitted in a new uniform by Ptes. Benny Hollingsworth of Murray Bay, Que. and Howard Coakley of McGivency Junction, N. B., who'll do the same for other Canadians returning later.

Coldwell Predicts CCF To Gain Seats

VANCOUVER (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said Tuesday night his party will gain seats in the Aug. 10 general election.

"We are certainly going to have a much larger and stronger CCF contingent than in the last House," said Mr. Coldwell. He made no forecast of what party will win the greatest number of seats across the country, but predicted the CCF will win a "minimum of 12 seats and maybe 15 or even a clean sweep" in Saskatchewan and "several seats" in Eastern Canada.

The CCF won 13 seats in the 1949 general election, including five in Saskatchewan.

Sickness Benefits Step Toward Insurance—Croll

NIAGARA-ON-TH-LAKE. — Sickness insurance, which provides financial protection for an employee who becomes ill while receiving benefits, Tuesday was described by David Croll, Liberal candidate in Toronto-Spadina, as "a substantial step toward the day when we will have national health insurance."

The amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Act came into effect several weeks ago, Mr. Croll said at a Liberal meeting in the interests of Harry Cavers, party candidate for re-election in Lincoln.

"I wonder if the general public realizes the significance of this amendment" Mr. Croll said. "It is in line with Liberal thinking and I believe the next session of parliament will see its provisions extended to workers who become ill on the job.

"We are moving steadily toward the day when the nightmare of the financial burden resulting from illness will be banished from the minds of the Canadian people.

NO ELECTION PRESSURE

Mr. Croll reminded his audience that the legislation to provide for sickness benefits to those receiving unemployment insurance was adopted months before an election was called.

The Conservatives could not truthfully say it was an election bribe, a term they had used on other occasions to describe the Liberal Government's social welfare program.

Dealing with foreign affairs, Mr. Croll said there was too much talk about dropping our guard in view of the armistice in Korea.

St. Laurent's Son Urges National Unity

MAILLARDVILLE, B. C. (CP)—Jean Paul St. Laurent, campaigning for the party his father leads, said Tuesday night the West will be helping the cause of national unity if it sends a strong contingent of Liberal members to Ottawa in the Aug. 10 federal election.

The prime minister's eldest son spoke first in English and then in French in addressing an audience in this mill town on British Columbia's lower mainland. Maillardville has a large French-speaking population.

Mr. St. Laurent, 38-year-old lawyer, said that national unity has been the objective of his father ever since he entered politics, and was also the underlying reason why he himself had undertaken to tour Canada to foster this belief.

The place of security

There is a realm where hope is no longer precarious. It is the realm of unwavering spiritual understanding. It is the realm of Truth.

How may we find it? Through knowing (understanding) the same truth which Jesus knew, and which he promised would "make us free."

The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, plainly shows the way. To any sincere student this great book steadily unlocks the treasures of truth in the Bible and proves, by healing the sick, their practicability today.

Question:

Mr. Swanston, do you, as a city man, think you can adequately represent rural Peterborough in Parliament?

Answer:

Yes, I do, and I have no hesitation about asking for rural support. In spite of some recent reverses our Canadian farmers are still the most prosperous in the world, and they have had the best deal from the Liberal Government that they have had in our history. Liberal policies have assured them of a full share in the national prosperity, and I ask them to continue their prosperity by voting Liberal.

Low Criticizes Featuring Of Trivialities

EDMONTON (CP) — Solon E. Low, national Social Credit leader, said Tuesday night Canadian electors are not interested in the Aug. 10 federal election because discussions of old parties have been featured by trivilities.

"In all the days since the campaign began they have failed utterly to get into grips with the fundamental and pressing problems," he said in a recorded address broadcast from radio station CBX here.

"There is frustration and apathy everywhere, and that is not good in serious times like these. I find amongst the people an uneasiness, a sort of foreboding about the future because it is perfectly clear to them that after 86 years of old party rule in Canada the same old problems of heavy debt and interest burdens, increasing taxation rates, insecurity, war, and preparation for war still plague us."

Mr. Low, who has been touring his own constituency of Peace River for the last four weeks, said the main reason for lack of interest in the election campaign is the way the Liberal party has run away from the issues.

Electors wanted to know when policies of finance, economics and trade were going to be adopted and were instinctively worried about an economy that proved it could not avoid serious dislocation in peace

Prime Minister St. Laurent had said he didn't understand Social Credit but labelled it as "peculiar and dangerous," said Mr. Low. Hundreds of thousands of Canadians understood the party's principles and resented the prime minister's ridicule, especially when he didn't attempt to explain his accusations, Mr. Low added.

Ever since Social Credit was first expounded, its enemies never once "faced up" to the central fact of the party's monetary policy.

If the quantity of money in use was geared to the flow of wanted goods and services, there would be a permanently stable dollar and neither the inflation or deflation which Canadians had suffered since 1914.

Mr. Low said an article criticizing Social Credit in the August edition of New Liberty magazine is "Pravda-like distorted, sensationalism."

Career Of Taxes Charts Policy

TORONTO—The Liberal Party has been using tax juggling as an election dodge since 1945, Margaret Aitken, Progressive Conservative candidate in York-Humber, declared at an election meeting in Mimico Tuesday night.

"The dizzy career of some taxes in the last few years is almost a route map of Liberal election strategy," she declared. "Taxes are off or down at election time, piled on again when the Liberals are returned."

"There's a 25 per cent tax on electrical appliances. It was off in May 1945 for the general election of June that year. It was on again in November, 1947 but reduced to 10 per cent for the 1949 election. "It was increased to 15 per cent in September, 1950 and boosted again to 25 per cent in April 1951. By April, 1952, they'd cut it back to 15 per cent again.

"This time," she declared, "they think a niggardly tax cut on cigarettes is big enough bait to do the job for them again."

Taxes, Trade Continue To Be 2 Main Opposition Themes

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Taxes and trade continue to be two of the main opposition themes in the election campaign. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had more words on taxes at Montreal Tuesday night while CCF leader M. J. Coldwell was talking about trade at Vancouver. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, returned to the national campaign with a recorded radio broadcast from Edmonton. He has been touring his own riding of Peace River for the last month. Prime Minister St. Laurent took Tuesday off to attend to government business, but re-ascends the platform again tonight at Ottawa.

Mr. Drew contended the Liberal government "at any time since the war" could have given the income tax relief promised by the Progressive Conservatives.

Instead of admitting the reductions could have been made, he said, the Liberals had tried to create the impression that the $500,000,000-a-year tax cut pledge by the Progressive Conservatives was only an election promise which couldn't be carried out except by shaving family allowances and other social security payments.

NO POLITICAL BAITS

Mr. Drew also said promotion of J. W. Pickersgill from clerk of the Privy Council to state secretary showed that taxpayers had been "paying the political manager of the Liberal government."

A Progressive Conservative government would ensure "there are no political baits held out to senior civil servants if they do a political job for the government."

He said Mr. Pickersgill had been carrying on political activities while clerk of the Privy Council—a civil service job. The "most serious aspect" of his promotion to cabinet rank was that "it demonstrates that for several years you and other Canadian taxpayers have been paying the political manager of the Liberal government."

Mr. Coldwell argued that the government has jeopardized Canada's economic security by "hanging onto temporary, short-term and unstable American markets."

This has been done instead of restoring pre-war markets in such countries as Britain.

The CCF leader said that last year Canada's foreign trade was the second highest in the world on a per capita basis. Therefore any substantial reduction in exports would bring on an immediate depression.

The government had been concentrating Canada's trade in the United States, which produced so many of the things Canada produced, and which had often demonstrated that it would accept surpluses only on a short-term basis to fill gaps in its own production.

WOULD STIMULATE TRADE

A CCF government would stimulate trade with the sterling area by accepting sterling as part payment for Canadian produce, placing more foreign orders for governmental supplies in sterling countries, lowering tariffs and dumping duties, postponing further repayment on the Canadian loan to Britain for three years so Britain might use the dollars to buy Canadian primary products, and arranging long-term commodity agreements for specified imports and exports, with credit arrangements if necessary.

Mr. Coldwell speaks tonight at Edmonton while Mr. Drew will be at Quebec and nearby Ste. Germaine.

Mr. Low said Canadians aren't interested in the election because the campaign talk by the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives has been featured by trivialities.

"There is frustration and apathy everywhere, and that is not good in serious times like these. I find amongst the people an uneasiness, a sort of foreboding about the future because it is perfectly clear to them that after 86 years of old-party rule in Canada, the same old problems of heavy debt and interest burdens, increasing taxation rates, insecurity, war and preparation for war still plague us."

RESENT RIDICULE

Mr. Low said the prime minister had declared he didn't understand Social Credit, but had labelled it as "peculiar and dangerous." But hundreds of thousands of Canadians understood the party's principles, and resented Mr. St. Laurent's ridicule, especially when he had not attempted to explain his accusation."

If the quantity of money in use was geared to the flow of wanted goods and services, the Social Credit leader said, there would be a permanently stable dollar and neither the inflation nor deflation which Canadians had suffered since 1914. Ever since Social Credit had been first expounded, its enemies had never once faced up to the central fact of the party's monetary policy.

Third Candidate Withdraws, 2 Acclamations

OTTAWA (CP)—A third Quebec candidate has withdrawn from the general election, assuring acclamations for two Liberals.

The acclamations are the first in a federal general election since 1930 when there also were two. They leave 896 candidates in the race.

Newest withdrawal was that of Jacques Trempe, nominated as Progressive Conservative candidate for St. Hyacinthe-Bagot in the Aug. 10 election. His retirement gave an acclamation to Joseph Fontaine, Liberal member of the last Commons, who was declared elected.

ANNOUNCES WITHDRAWAL

Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, announced Mr. Trempe's withdrawal here.

The other acclamation went to also a Liberal member of the last House. His single opponent, Progressive Conservative Philippe Beauchamp, left the running last Wednesday.

The remaining withdrawal was that of G. Ovila Gagnon, independent Progressive Conservative in Argenteuil-Deux-Montagnes. He removed himself on Sunday.

Two contestants remain in this riding—Philippe Valois, former Liberal member, and L. W. Armstrong, Progressive Conservative.

Stresses Papers Fair On News

VANCOUVER (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell says that 34 years of political life has shown him that Canadian newspapers are "accurate and fair" in their presentation of the news.

He made the statement during a question period following a campaign address before more than 900 people in the Hotel Vancouver Tuesday night. One member of the audience asked if he would favor "eliminating monopolies that muzzle the press."

"I believe any attempt to control the newspapers of this country would be a move in a totalitarian direction and would oppose it," replied Mr Coldwell. Then he added:

"I have found in 34 years of all levels of political life that the press has been accurate and particularly in news columns in recent years very fair."

Industrial Workers Needed In Commons

GUELPH (CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, said Tuesday night Parliament would be improved by having more industrial workers than in the past as members.

At an election campaign meeting in support of Tom Withers, CCF candidate in Wellington South, he said the last Parliament included 79 lawyers, 100 business men and only seven industrial workers.

"Don't you think more would be done for the benefits of the average citizen if there were more workers in the house of commons and if it weren't overloaded with representatives of big business and high finance?"

Duffy On TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Gardner will bring his "Duffy's Tavern" to television this fall under a $5,000,000, three-year deal announced Tuesday. Matthew Fox, board chairman of Motion Pictures for Television, Inc., said Hal Roach, Jr., would produce the half-hour programs on film at his Hollywood studios at a cost of $45,000 each. There will be 39 films each year, the three-year series involving a total of $5,265,000.

Noseworthy Says PC's Appeal To Selfish Side

WINDSOR—Progressive Conservatives are appealing to the "shallow and selfish side of human nature" in the election campaign, J. W. Noseworthy, CCF candidate in York South, said at a meeting in Cabot Hall here.

"Thoughtful people know that the amount of taxes they pay is not of paramount importance," he said at a rally sponsored by the Windsor Joint PAC committee. "People tell me they do not object to taxes providing they get good value in return.

"They resent waste, but they want social services Mr. Drew has nothing to offer but the ephemeral promise to save $500,000,000."

Mr. Noseworthy said there was no doubt there had been some laxity in the Defence Department and some who took advantage of that laxity. He said that the Conservatives had military experts on the national defence committee for the past four years, but none of them had ferreted out a case of fraud or crooked dealing.

NOT P.C. EXPERTS

"It was not the Conservative experts in the defence committee that uncovered the Petawawa scandal, nor any oher scandal," he said, "Most of the credit for uncovering these scandals must go to the Defence Department itself."

He said the CCF had urged the government to accept sterling from Britain for that part of British purchases from Canada that exceed British sales to Canada. It could be used, he said, to pay for purchases in sterling countries or for investments in those countries.

The decline in farm income is already being felt in industrial circles, he added The CCF has been the only group to keep labor's program before parliament, he said, and his party would continue to press for measures sought by organized labor.

Coldwell Predicts Danger Of Depression

VANCOUVER (CP)—There is a danger of depression in North America with the cut-back in war production, M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said at a press conference here Tuesday.

"But," he added with a smile, "I prophesied the same thing, in common with UN economists, in 1945, and the depression didn't mature."

He said he believes capitalism in North America has been stabilized by the export of surplus production through UNRRA, Marshall Aid and NATO. The only way to avert depression now would be to use surpluses for investment in the countries of the east.

He said there is a trend away from unrestricted capitalism all over the world except in North America.

Pelican Colony

VICTORIA (CP)—Discovery of a pelican colony, something rare in British Columbia, was reported by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum. An expedition discovered about 50 pelicans on an island in Stum lake, about 200 miles northeast of Vancouver.

Ballots Cast On Train, At Sea

Service Vote Produces Unique Situations

OTTAWA (CP)—Voting by Canadian servicemen and women in the federal election is producing some unique situations. Some voted aboard a German train. Others cast their ballots in Florida.

It's all legal no matter where the 105,000 eligible members of the armed forces are serving. Polls remain open three hours daily until Saturday. The ballots then are collected at Edmonton, Ottawa, Halifax, Kure in Japan and London England, for counting. The result will be announced here Aug. 17.

The men who voted on the German train were a group of 50, commanded by Maj. A. S. Ennis-Smith of Ottawa, homeward bound. Their train was between Hannover where the 27th infantry brigade is stationed and the port of Bremerhaven.

SET UP IN COACH

Because their boat was due to sail the night of Aug. 3—first day of the service vote—and would not reach a Canadian port until after the election, the poll was set up on one of the train coaches.

Tents, trucks and British Army barracks provided polling booths for other members of the 27th brigade. Troops in hospitals or attached to embassies and British Army formations will be visited by a deputy returning officer.

The men who voted in Florida were aboard the destroyer escort Algonquin, at Key West for trials. Their ballots will be flown to Canada.

More than 800 navy men serving on the destroyers Iroquois, Athabaskan and Huron in the Korean theatre will vote either in Japan or at sea. If they vote at sea, the ballots will be flown by helicopter to Kure.

In Korea, some 7,000 members of the 25th brigade started voting Monday. They were joined by four RCAF jet pilots attached to the United States Air Force.

The pilots—Sqdn. Ldrs. Doug Warren, Edmonton, and Bill Fox, Toronto, and FOs. Bill Bliss, Port Arthur and Brian Mullin, Ottawa—went by jeep to the Commonwealth medical unit at Seoul to vote.

St. Laurent Questioned On Cabinet Appointments

TORONTO. — George Hees, Progressive Conservative candidate in Broadview, Tuesday night challenged Prime Minister St. Laurent to explain on his visit here Friday night why the triangle bounded by Windsor, Cornwall and Owen Sound has no representation in his cabinet.

One quarter of the people of Canada live in this area, in which about half the manufacturing of the country is undertaken, he told a meeting attended by PC, Liberal, and CCF candidates of Broadview at Woodgreen Community Centre.

It was an "appalling injustice" to Toronto, which is approximately in the centre of the largest industrial area in Canada, that the area was without a voice in the formation of policy in the cabinet, Mr. Hees said.

Under our present system of government, it is taken for granted that each geographical area and each economic group should be represented in the cabinet, so that the policies for Canada as a whole would be acceptable to them, he said.

Why then, was is that "one of the most important" areas was not represented?

Mr. St. Laurent promised in 1949 in Toronto that if Toronto sent more Liberal members to parliament, Toronto would be represented in the cabinet. But when the number of Liberal members jumped from one to six in that election, no cabinet post was forthcoming.

"This would not have been so shocking had Mr. St. Laurent appointed a cabinet minister from one of the other urban centres of Southern Ontario whose problems are similar," Mr. Hees contended.

"But no cabinet minister was appointed from London, St. Thomas, Brantford, Stratford, Chatham, Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, St. Catharines, Welland, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Oakville, Oshawa, Peterborough or Kingston—cities which, like Toronto, are largely industrial."

Mr. St. Laurent could not make the excuse that no Liberal member from the area was sufficiently experienced for such a position. He had appointed Mines Minister Prudham, and Reconstruction Minister Winters during their first parliamentary term, and Labor Minister Gregg had no experience in parliament or industry when he was appointed to the cabinet.

"Does this not bring us to the conclusion that Mr. St. Laurent is either not interested in the problem of his area, area, or that he does not consider that any of the Liberal members elected by this area is worthy of a position in the cabinet?" Mr. Hees asked.

This Liberal Government bought 1,437 acres of land in the far north western part of Alberta in the Gold Lake Section for a price of $54.00 per acre. $10.00 per acre would have been an extra good price to pay for this property, which is miles away from the nearest settlement.

Food As A Weapon

There is a Russian proverb that it is not the horse that draws the cart, but the oats. Shaw says that there is no love sincerer than the love of food. We are told that an army marches on its stomach. Another chestnut is that no man can be a patriot on an empty stomach. Put a half-dozen of such sayings together and you find a pretty sound justification for the present American gift of food to hungry East Germans. It is one of the brighter strokes of policy of the present American administration, an administration conspicuous so far for its fumbling in international matters. Food is a more pervasive weapon—and far more attractive—than the biggest bomb. If people the world over are to be wooed from Communist propaganda and shown that western political democracy offers a pretty good way of life, then bread and meat, not bombs and words, will do it.

* * *

Several communist countries in Europe are already feeling the pains which lack of food at home and envy of well-stocked tables farther west can cause. Their governments have had to admit that collective farm policies have failed, and to restore land to private tillage and the crops to private control. Peasants and farmers are a conservative lot and stubbornly, individually attached to their own acres and what yield can be had therefrom. The admission that collectivisation of farms has not been good is at the same time a recognition that food production is not plentiful. The American food will emphasize the lack and the fact that a system of government and land control other than Communistic does produce the goods.

* * *

The United States this year has much food to spare. The surplus is an acute domestic and governmental problem. Every grain elevator in the country is already bulging and the U.S. reserve fleet of liberty ships anchored in the Hudson in New York has had to be used for storing wheat. Enough wheat is stored in them now to make more than a thousand million loaves of bread. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is searching for empty military warehouses and disused aeroplane hangars to store more surplus wheat. The American despatch of food to Germany is therefore a conjunction of two branches of policy. It is helping, a little, to get the Government out of a hole—or a mountain of wheat, and at the same time is a good stroke of anti-Communist policy.

* * *

What the hungry world would do without American food we shall not guess (Pakistan, for instance, to which some American wheat has been sent). What the U.S. (and U.S. Farmer) would do without the hungry world is another prospect too unpleasant for conjecture. The situation is a fantasy, not uncommon in world history. It is not a matter of feast or famine, but feast and famine at the same time.

No 100 Hours Is Necessary

The Brantford Expositor has been attracted by some statements which issued from a conference of Master Penmen and Teachers of Handwriting, which met recently at Gilmar Lodge. (The Expositor, by the way, says "at Lindsay, of all place", as though there were something humorous in the very idea of anyone going to Lindsay; we may tell them that Lindsay does not appreciate this sort of treatment.) But the M.P. & T. of H. did say some startling things; they said that at least 100 hours should be given in universities and teacher-training colleges to instruction in writing a legible and beautiful hand, and that schools should have regular periods for such teaching.

As the Expositor points out, this strikes at the whole foundation of modern education. These are its words:

> The curriculum is already crowded, and by the time there has been a break for milk and cookies, followed by a few delicate hints about the birds and the bees, some handsprings in the gymnasium, and a lesson on how to use a vacuum cleaner, there is no time left to show how to compose, let alone write legibly, a decent letter.

And there is a point which our contemporary leaves out: good handwriting is a form of good manners, and modern schools have been so bullied by psychologists and people who think that democracy means putting everybody on the same low level, that they are afraid to teach anything which hints of good manners.

Frankly, we should like to see the credentials of the M.P. & T. of H. We strongly suspect that its members write that foolish handwriting which we were taught in school by one of their number, and which is unquestionably the feeblest, dullest, most characterless and least practical kind of handwriting ever devised. It is taught by practice on "freehand ovals" and other whirligigs, and it is done with the whole of the forearm. It is nonsense, and not worth mastering.

Writing teachers in Ontario have for fifty years insisted that children should not learn to write by moving the pen with their fingers. Now anybody who reads the works of the great masters of writing in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries will observe that they insisted that the only way to form letters properly was to move the pen with the fingers. If this made your arm stiff, well and good; practise until your arm stopped being stiff.

Good writing is an art, and we suspect that the M.P. & T. of H. does not consider it so. We suspect that they are looking for jobs and increased importance for themselves. If this is not so, we shall apologise humbly upon receipt of a letter to that effect, written in the Papal Chancery Script, which is the most beautiful and legible handwriting ever devised, and the one which Canadian children should be taught to write.

Difficult? Nonsense. Anybody can do it, after a few hours (about one-fifth of the 100 hours the teachers demand). Get a little book called Good Handwriting and How To Acquire It by John C. Tarr; it is published by Phoenix House and it costs $1.25. It is a first rate book and it shows you how to write the Chancery hand in all its perfection. This beautiful handwriting can be written just as fast as an illegible scribble, and it is a continual joy.

Handwriting is a form of art. An old French book on the subject says: "La belle ecriture demande un esprit gai pour son execution", which means, "Good handwriting needs a merry heart." Can children have merry hearts when a writing teacher stalks up and down the room, shouting, "Feet flat on the floor; backs straight; free that forearm; don't use your fingers; now—free-hand ovals, one two three four!"

A revival of the Chancery hand has been in progress in England for some years, and schoolchildren there are taught it, and write beautifully, in examples we have seen. We could do the same here. But first of all, the M.P. & T. of H. would have to change their tune and their writing.

Standing Room For 90

Toronto's subway-in-the-making and Torontonians have now had a rolling booster, in fact, two. The first two of 104 cars for the subway have arrived from Great Britain.

Toronto has not let their arrival pass unnoticed. In fact, the cars in transit to Toronto had signs on the boarded-up windows, reading: "To Toronto, for Canada's first subway," and, worst cut of all: "To Toronto via Montreal." Even the Ottawa Citizen, whose town is not even considering any possibility of needing a subway, had its ire aroused by the signs.

The Citizen says the signs are a demonstration that Toronto has lost none of the characteristics which long ago won it the name of Hogtown. And just to add vinegar to its remarks, the Citizen points out that the new subway cars will seat 62 passengers, but have standing room for close to 90 others. "The cars . . . will uphold the tradition of the jam-packed subway," says the Citizen spitefully . . . Sour grapes are always in season outside Toronto.

The Queen's City, Sask.

Regina, Queen of the Plains, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary as a city. As a community it dates farther back than 1903, since Queen Victoria had departed this life two years before, and the place is named Regina after Victoria Regina. Here in this mellow part of Canada where we actually have houses and churches a century old, and, to boot, brick and stone buildings, a city only fifty years old is a mere youngster. We complacently remark that Peterborough itself was incorporated more than a hundred years ago, although it is not yet so sear with civic years that bears and big fish cannot be found in the area.

The city of Regina may take pride in the fact that it is older as a city than Saskatchewan is as a Province. But we suspect that Regina was no great shakes of a city in 1903; sometimes in those western regions places were called cities which were in fact no more than mere villages. Perhaps Regina was made a city in 1903 so that it could have capital status in 1905 when Saskatchewan was created.

Whatever the reason for its incorporation as a city, we wish Regina well as it enters its next half-century. We offer the good wishes secure in the knowledge that no matter how hard it tries it can never catch up in civic years with this wonderful place, this beautiful city, this progressive metropolis, this fine cosmopolitan centre which even Reginans may have heard of as Peterborough.

The Revival Of Diplomacy

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

WHEN Mr. Anthony Eden became British Foreign Secretary again in October, 1951, his first remark, in his first speech in Parliament, was made on the, to him, strange and ominous fact that there was almost no diplomatic business being conducted between Britain and the Soviet Union: the Ambassadors were all but unemployed, the Russian files in the British Foreign Office were all but empty. In fact, since the last Foreign Ministers' meeting in Paris in May and June, 1949, diplomatic contacts between the West and the Communist world had almost come to a standstill; and in the last few years it was often remarked in favour of the United Nations that it had come to be the last remaining meeting-place between East and West—not that the meeting-place was used for much else but a continuous verbal mud-slinging match.

SUDDENLY the picture has changed completely—how suddenly and how completely has hardly yet been noticed. While nobody yet knows whether and to what extent Russian policies have changed in substance, there is no doubt that there has been an almost complete reversal of Russian diplomatic methods and behaviour: from keeping the West at arm's length and reducing contacts to an absolute minimum, the Russians have swung over to a deliberate-looking attempt to get talks going on all kinds of minor and major subjects—and the West has, though with varying degrees of alacrity and enthusiasm, responded. There have recently been minor new trade agreements between Russia on the one hand and Britain and France on the other, there has been a restoration and normalisation of Russian diplomatic relations with Israel and Yugoslavia, there have been important Russian diplomatic approaches to Turkey and (last week) to Austria.

In the stratosphere of Great Power relations, it looks as if two major diplomatic East-West conferences may mature simultaneously—one to be held in Europe on Germany and Austria, and one to be held in Asia on Korea, and, possibly, other Far Eastern problems—with the possibility of an informal meeting "at the highest level" looming in the background, and with a special United Nations General Assembly, which promises to do some real business, immediately impending. Diplomacy is coming into its own again with a vengeance, and there is a sensation in the international air like the tingling in a long-frozen limb.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS very sudden restoration of diplomatic business activity after a long dead period brings problems of its own. Even before the virtual diplomatic pause of the last four years, diplomacy had degenerated into something like a special branch of propaganda or political warfare, and a number of habits had established themselves which stultified diplomatic negotiations and conferences from the start. If the new burst of diplomacy is to be more successful than that of the early post-war years, these habits must be recognised and avoided. Four points seem particularly relevant.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FIRST is that a reasonable degree of privacy must be restored to diplomatic conferences if they are to lead anywhere. This is so self-evident as to need almost no arguing, and yet it may be difficult to break the habit of unhealthy publicity which had established itself so firmly immediately after the end of the war in 1945. During all the sessions of the Council of Foreign Ministers from 1945 to 1949, it had become an established custom for the four delegations to give a near-verbatim report of the day's proceedings on the same evening to the Press. This did not even serve the interests of the Press, which became bored with details and long speeches, while the occasional hint and general indication of the way things were going, dropped from an otherwise secret conference, would have been exciting scoop. But, more important, it completely killed every prospect of real, business-like negotiation in the conferences themselves. What ordinary business deal in private commercial life could ever be made if the negotiators knew that every word spoken by them was being taken down and made public on the same day? If this kind of publicity is deadly even to humdrum private business deals, how much more so to the highly-charged, responsible and delicate transactions of high diplomacy! Unless the fundamental and indispensable diplomatic rule of discretion during negotiations-in-progress is restored, it is impossible for any conference to fulfil its proper purpose; diplomacy will inevitably give way to propaganda.

✧ ✧ ✧

SECONDLY, great care will have to be taken not to fix the agenda of conferences too rigidly in advance. Diplomacy rests, in the last resort, on bargaining, and no bargaining is possible unless the Ministers or Ambassadors concerned can range with a certain freedom over various controversial subjects, relating a concession on one to a counter-concession on another. It may be admitted that this process lends itself to abuses, and that a completely agendaless meeting of heads of Government, like that proposed by Sir Winston Churchill, the British Prime Minister, has dangers of its own. But no good can come of a conference where the agenda is so limited that no real scope for negotiations of inter-related problems remains, and where one side has only the choice between either signing on the dotted line or making the conference break up. It should, for instance, be clear that agreement on free German elections and the establishment of a free all-German Government is not possible without some agreement on the kind of peace-treaty that Russia and the West envisage with such a reunited Germany, and the relations which they respectively intend to establish with it. Similarly, agreement about Korean unity is hardly possible without agreement on the relations between the Powers which now uphold and maintain the political and military integrity of the separate North and South Korean Governments—China and the United States.

THE THIRD point is a more delicate one. It has always proved a great advantage to agreement at conferences between more than two parties if the various participants have preserved, throughout the proceedings, a certain individual freedom of manoeuvre. What is called the "round table" method, where the positions of the various Powers do not rigidly confront each other but shade into each other by various subtle gradations, holds out better prospects of success than the type of conference where two groups of Powers concert their policies in advance and "gang up" against each other.

It must be admitted that in the present state of international affairs it will not be easy to return to the complete freedom of "round table negotiations". A certain amount of "ganging up" is probably inevitable as long as an actual relaxation of international tension has not been achieved by substantial agreements, and the two sides of the cold war continue to regard each other as potential enemies. But it must never be forgotten that too rigid advance agreements between Allies may exclude every prospect of the more important agreements to be reached between the two blocks; and one of the most difficult tasks of the individual Ministers and delegations will be to retain a certain flexibility and to judge aright when Allied unity may have to give way to the larger chance of peace.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOURTHLY and finally, there is the question whether too great a part of the task of diplomacy is not at present being allotted to set conferences of Ministers or high-powered officials. Conferences are, normally, the culmination of long, patient, and discreet preparations carried on in interviews between Ambassadors and Foreign Ministers; and without such preparation, they are always in danger of either failing or resulting in imprecise agreements, leading to consequent mutual accusations of bad faith and broken words. Obviously, conferences have their important place in diplomacy; they are often the only means of breaking deadlocks, clinching deals, or driving clear-cut large-scale bargains. But they are not the best means for exploring mutual aims and positions and reconnoitring the range of possible concessions and modifications of previous stands and it would appear that at the present stage of world affairs, this is the most immediate task facing the Chancelleries of the Great Powers. It is a task which calls for a much more active use to be made of the possibilities of ordinary, unspectacular contact through Ambassadors and their staffs with the Foreign Offices to which they are accredited. There is still a great role to be played by the "classical" methods of diplomacy; and one would feel happier about the prospects of the present diplomatic revival if there were more signs that this role is being properly recognised on all sides. Letters To The Editor

CLEARING OMEMEE CEMETERY

Sir: Your paper is normally delightful but suffers from the usual 'please everyone if possible' outlook of a one-paper town. Judging from the tenor of your article re the old Anglican cemetery at Omemee it sometimes reaches out for the sensationalism of the tabloid when it can do so without getting its fingers burned.

Let me just say that because of the passage of time and removal of some bodies that it was impossible to keep down the undergrowth in the cemetery without levelling the ground that the grass might be cut. The old foundation of the church which incidentally was plainly in evidence before, was a distinct hazard and as most of the stones have become chipped and broken and many of them piled in one corner we decided to move the few remaining and level the ground preparatory to tilling and seeding. A local man was hired and I personally helped move one of the heavier stones and left him to remove any more from the path of the bulldozer. Unfortunately some were unearthed and broken, giving some people an outlet for vindictive spirit.

For precedent regarding cleaning up an old cemetery with a bulldozer I refer you to Seabright Ont. where the people responded to the efforts of those who wished to honour the memory of their ancestors. Ontario is full of many more or less abandoned cemeteries and your blatant article will prevent many from being cleaned up as the fear of public opinion as influenced by the underside of newspapers is perhaps responsible for them being in their present state.

I would appreciate you giving this letter some space with deletions where necessary without distorting the meaning. I am rather used to public criticism and find it usually healthy but when our church is abused in the press I can only ask that you try and correct the misleading tone of your article.

GEORGE STEPHENSON
Rector's Warden
Christ Church, Omemee

TO ATTEND TO THE CEMETERY EFFECTIVELY

Sir: This letter is written for the perusal of three groups of people; first, those who for personal ends stir up unnecessary animosity under the mask of protecting public interests, secondly the press, and thirdly the general public. All three are vitally concerned in the question of the old cemetery at Omemee, reported in last Friday's Examiner.

To the first group I can only say that I hope the press has performed an important service for you. By airing your views and reflecting your personal feelings publicly I hope they have effected a "catharsis" which will rob you for a time at least of the desire to make private attacks. Perhaps the success of your grand scheme will prevent for a while the forming of devious and malicious smaller plots.

To the second group, the press, I can only speak humbly as a layman, but must suggest another look at Pope's warning, "A little learning is a dangerous thing; Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian Spring:" This "learning", I believe, can be applied not only to the factual knowledge of a case but also to the larger knowledge of men's spirits; not only to their actions but to the motives behind them. In your treatment of the church wardens, was there any investigation into the duties of these wardens in the last year or so and how these have been carried out, into the cost of time and energy of this voluntary work often carried on along with the pressure of modern business? Is it inconceivable that the action of clearing up the cemetery, perhaps rash in method, could have stemmed not from a desire to abuse authority but from a desire to get things done effectively? Could you not have stretched your imagination to perceive a natural impatience with the interminable dickerings of local church groups and the negligence of higher authorities, both of which have led to this cemetery being a disreputable eyesore for many years? My plea is that in your zeal to be the champion of those under authority you may realize that sometimes those in authority need a champion too. Whose job is more difficult and whose mistakes much sooner magnified, those with authority or those without?

To the third group, the general public, I speak not with any desire to argue a defense, but in the faith that there are many individuals here who wish to be honest and fair. Those who take any public office in sincerity do not always worry about convincing others to lend their approval; they rest on the integrity of their own motives and develop the hide of a rhinoceros to turn the barbs of perpetual fault-finders. It is only with this plea that I approach the general public; to stop and consider, to examine all sides of a question before forming rash opinions as we are all too prone to do.

I close by thanking the "Examiner" for its tacit recognition that the affairs of a small village, like Omemee, are the stuff from which nations grow, and deserve a place along with the news of the world.

Yours truly,
Mrs. G. C. Stephenson

GARBAGE LIFTED ONCE IN WEEK

Sir: In your daily paper of Aug. 3rd 1953, Mr. J. E. Pierce Supt. of garbage collection had a notice in your paper that there would be no garbage collection on Aug. 3, 1953 on on account of it being Civic holiday. Which I think is right because the employees want their holiday as well as the rest of us.

But Mr. Pierce also stated that there wouldn't be any garbage collected in this area, west end of city, until Aug. 6, 1953.

What I would like to know: is this order issued by Mr. Pierce himself or by the chairman of the City Council who is in charge of disposal of the garbage?

I would like to know why the people of the west end of this city have to keep their garbage around their homes for a whole week just to please who issued this order? If Mr. Pierce or whoever issued this order is accustomed to having the remains of fowl and fish around their homes for a week, why, I am not in favor of this foul and offensive material kept any longer than we have to.

It is only a few weeks ago that our medical officer of health stated he was strongly opposed to it and I think no one else knows better about this than the Health Officer.

It is true we had lots of holidays fall on our garbage collecting days but it was always picked up the next day and everybody was satisfied but if Mr. Pierce is trying to force one collection a week on to the people he will find a lot of complaints.

Our Jr. Chamber of Commerce try to do their best to keep our city clean and leave a good impression on visitors who come to our city. Now one man wants to leave it in a foul manner by collecting garbage only once a week.

I remain, A CONSTANT READER AND TAXPAYER

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men: therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid . . .

Surely your turning of things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay: for shall the work say of him that made it, He made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding? (Isa 29:13,14,16.)

PEACE AND RUMOURS OF PEACE

UPSIDE DOWN but clear of an oncoming train was this car with seven Quebec occupants who escaped death Tuesday afternoon. The driver, Raymond Benoit of Valleyfield, didn't have time to stop at the level crossing when he saw a train coming, but he swung his car so sharply that it overturned. None of the occupants was seriously hurt. (Murray Smith Photo.)

Car Rolls Avoiding Train Seven Occupants Escape

COBOURG (ENS)—Seven Quebec motorists had a close brush with death Tuesday afternoon when the driver of the car, Raymond Benoit of Valleyfield, age 34, whipped his vehicle into a right-angle turn to avoid running into a CNR passenger train at the William St. level crossing.

The car rolled across the pedestrian thoroughfare and landed upside down. A passing motorist, John Cooper of Campbellford pulled the women occupants of the car out.

Taken to hospital were the driver and two women, Lina Roy, age 22 of Montreal and Mrs. Leopold Thibeault of the same city. They were treated for lacerations and shock and later released. The other occupants of the car were Viateux Ledere, Leraneau Philippe, Claude Blondeau and Guy Grenier, all of Quebec City.

The engineer blew his whistle long when he spotted the car coming up the grade toward the track. John Cooper, southbound and waiting for the train to pass, observed the Quebec car approach the level crossing and then veer suddenly to the right and upset.

Police said that it appeared that the driver of the car did not have time to stop and they said that if he had not swung sharply to the right the car would likely have been struck by the train.

Mishaps Occur In Heavy Rain

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Two accidents occurred in the district during the rain on Tuesday afternoon.

Minor damage resulted when two autos collided near Warkworth, but no-one was injured.

Arnold Beatty, 39, of Warkworth, was coming out of a side road near the village when his auto was in collision with a car driven by Ernest Woodcock, 63, also of Warkworth. Woodcock was turning into the side road and struck the left side of the Beatty car.

About 3:15 p.m. Tuesday three persons escaped uninjured from a car which left Highway 7 a short distance west of Havelock.

Kenneth W. McTaggart, 39, of 67 Spruce St., Oakville, was travelling west on Highway 7 during a heavy rain. His car skidded on the slippery pavement and came to rest on its top in the ditch. McTaggart, his wife and daughter crawled from the car uninjured, but the car suffered about $50 damage, mostly to the top.

OPP Constable Archie Eady investigated.

Engineer Dies

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—The engineer of a fast Miami-to-New York passenger train died of a heart attack Tuesday night, two hours after nine cars of his 14-car train derailed near Ludowici, Ga. The derailed cars, carrying 135 passengers, remained upright. One woman was slightly injured.

Reds Attempted To Create Rifts

MUNSAN (AP)—The first British officer liberated today from Communist captivity said the Reds tried to create rifts between British and Americans in a prison camp near the Yalu river—but it didn't work.

"The Chinese would insinuate to the British they were better than the Americans and they would insinuate to the Americans they were better than the British," said Lieut. Anthony Perrins of the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers.

"These were crude attempts to get us to agree with them. Needless to say, one didn't," he added.

The lieutenant related:

Prisoners in his camp passively resisted the Chinese guards throughout their captivity.

Allied captives refused to use postcards inscribed with Communist slogans and peace doves. The night of the armistice, the Chinese provided beer and extra rations for a party which was not held because "the Chinese wanted to celebrate Consequently, we would not."

Say Angry Farmers Battle Guerrillas

HONG KONG (AP)—The pro-Nationalist newspaper Sing Tao Jih Pao said today angry farmers killed or wounded more than 100 Communist soldiers last week in an uprising over an order to plant rubber trees in rice fields on Hainan, Red China's largest island off Indo-China.

The newspaper, quoting underground sources, said the Reds arrested more than 50 farmers and executed some in quelling the uprising at Mencheong, 40 miles southeast of Hoihow.

Picton Minister Takes Pulpit For Summer

SPRINGVILLE (ENS) — For the third year in succession, the Rev. Frank Whiteley of Picton, Ontario, has occupied the pulpit of the Springville-Fairmount congregation for the month of August, while the Rev. A. E. Larke is on vacation.

The Sunday morning service was held in Springville church. Mr. Whiteley gave the first of a series of sermons on "The Limitations of a Christian Life."

Flowers in the church were provided by the Cathcart family in loving memory of their father, Harold Cathcart, who was a loyal member of Srpingville church.

Well-Known Financier Percival Farquhar Dies

Seek Cemetery Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—A special provincial committee will be asked by board of control to study activities of promoters reported to be pushing sales of cemetery plots in a door-to-door canvass of city homes. Board of control Tuesday agreed to ask the Ontario committee, headed by W. J. Stewart, to look into the promotion scheme.

Big Three Consult On Russia's Acceptance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain, the United States and France are expected to consult promptly on Russia's acceptance of their bid for a Big Four meeting on German unification this fall.

Soviet objections to joint action among the Western powers, as set forth in a note released by Moscow Tuesday night, were regarded here as mainly propaganda.

They did not appear to make the slightest difference in the thinking of Western diplomats, who were due to go ahead with proposals fairly soon for a date and place for the Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

The three Western governments seemed certain, however, to take a long and careful look at Soviet suggestions for including Red China in a possible conference later on decreasing world tension generally.

First, the Western powers usually have insisted that tensions can best be removed by solving specific problems such as the unification of Germany.

Secondly, all three Western governments are keenly sensitive to Kremlin efforts to exploit the differences in their approach to Communist China, which Britain recognizes and the United States and France do not.

The Moscow note was due for careful study here, U.S. officials said. Initial reaction was that the Russians appeared to have accepted the meeting proposal in a manner which made further negotiations desirable.

Decisions on a formal reply may await the return of State Secretary Dulles, now conferring in Korea with President Syngman Rhee.

Western officials are determined that political freedom throughout Germany be an essential step in the process of setting up an all-German government and that such a government must be created before a peace treaty can be signed. Their argument has been that a treaty drafted by the big powers in the absence of a representative German regime would be a dictated treaty, rather than a negotiated one.

Some authorities considered that the Soviet note left the way open for proceeding along this line, since, in referring to discussion of the German problem, it mentioned first the establishment of German unity and second the conclusion of a peace treaty.

Essentially, there are only three possible solutions to the problem of Germany:

1. That the Russians agree to let the whole country be unified under a pro-Western government;
2. That the Western powers agree to let the Reds take over the whole country;
3. That all of Germany be "neutralized" under a government independent of ties with either East or West.

PoWs Suffering Tuberculosis

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—The head of the hospital at Freedom Village reported today doctors found a high percentage of tuberculosis and other lung disease among returned UN prisoners of war and said, "I am not sure they will all recover."

But Col. Fred W. Seymour stressed that in the past "we have pulled some of them right out of the grave."

Seymour said over 30 men had "active pulmonary lesions" of the first 60 U.S. and other UN repatriates who entered the evacuation hospital today.

Seymour gave no breakdown on nationalities, but said the bulk was American.

They did not include any Commonwealth or South Korean repatriates, who were treated at other centres.

Seymour said: "The first group we received was at least as sick as any in Operation Little Switch," the exchange of disabled captives three months ago.

The doctor said "tuberculosis leads the list." Other ailments included pleurisy.

Executioner Quits

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—Joseph P. Francell, who pulled the electric chair switch on Julius and Ethel Rosenberg June 19, has resigned as Sing Sing prison executioner. Prison attendants say reported threats against his life and dissatisfaction with the standard fee of $150 an execution led him to quit.

Defies Death

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—A gallant mother defied injury and death when she leaped into a 53-foot well to save her 19-month-old son who had fallen in it Tuesday. Mrs. Thelma Eshleman jumped down the well into four feet of water to rescue her son, Teddy. They were pulled out by firemen and policemen.

Cadets Practise Hard, Win Most Of Prizes

LONG BRANCH (CP)—"Practice—that's what turns a boy into a good marksman," Maj. Herb Inman, officer commanding the Westdale Collegiate Cadet Corps at Hamilton, said here.

Maj. Inman, who has been shooting for 43 years, has entered 18 of his 100 marksmen in the four-day annual shoot of the Ontario Rifle Association.

He told an interviewer that although they are all "green shots," the cadets have won every .22-calibre rifle match they entered this year. These include the ORA championship, the province of Ontario championship sponsored by the department of education, the Royal Military College competition and the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association competition.

TOOK EVERY PRIZE

At Ottawa last year, the Westdale group took every cadet team prize in the DCRA annual shoot. At the same shoot, Bob Crossan brought more honors to the Westdale corps by becoming Canada's top cadet marksman.

Maj. Inman said: "I make them practise every other day—in the morning, at lunch time and in the evening. They also practise Saturday mornings. If they don't turn up, I send them a note telling them to be at the range at a certain time."

He said he believes in thoroughness. He keeps a log book on every marksman and notes his weakness. Just before a match, he coaches the boy on the way to overcome it. If a boy's eyesight results in his shooting slightly to the right of the bull, Maj. Inman will have it in his book and at competition time the sights of the rifle will be adjusted to allow for the deviation.

Maj. Inman and 14 cadets go to Ottawa next week for the DCRA annual shoot where, the major said, they hope to make as clean a sweep as they did last year.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The "invitation" night that was scheduled for this evening has been postponed until a later date, so instead there will be a mixed rink tournament tonight—draw from the board at 7:30 o'clock, 25c per person. This information was passed on to us last evening by chairman K. McVeety.

Ross Hopkins and Harold Freeman are in Kingston today, playing in the second stage of the Provincial doubles playoffs.

There was no bowling last night—that heavy rain was responsible.

What's wrong with the ladies' Thursday afternoon tournaments? They were going fairly good in the earlier part of the season.

During this coming weekend we expect to have the schedule standing, up-to-date, in both the ladies' and the men's sections.

SIX TEAMS IN AHL

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Hockey League Tuesday agreed to suspend franchises in St. Louis and Indianapolis and operate with six teams for the 1953-54 season.

Emory Jones, president of St. Louis Flyers, resigned as president of the league. John Sollenberger of Hershey Estates, Pa., was elected to succeed him.

The league directorate ended a three-day annual meeting here Tuesday night.

They decided to play a 70-game schedule between Oct. 10 and March 21. The schedule, originally drawn up to include St. Louis, will be redrafted, a league spokesman said.

Indianapolis did not operate last season, but the decision of St. Louis to suspend its team for one year apparently came as a surprise.

Cities represented will be Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y., Providence, R.I., and Hershey, Pa. The first four clubs in the league will qualify for a playoff series.

Dick Miller, president of the Indianapolis Coliseum Corp., said at Indianapolis he had tried to reach a working agreement with a National Hockey League club but failed because he could not give assurance that any arrangement would last more than a year. He said such assurance was impossible because of the lease situation at the Indianapolis Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Jones said the inability of Detroit Red Wings to supply the St. Louis club with players, the heavy expenses involved in travel and the failure of Indianapolis to resume action in the league brought about the suspension of the franchise in St. Louis.

Rifle Shoot Interrupted By Weather

By ARTHUR ROWSON

LONG BRANCH (CP) — Ontario Rifle Association competitions were interrupted late Tuesday when targets disappeared in a thick mist drifting across the rifle ranges from Lake Ontario.

Ten competitors were unable to shoot in the City of Toronto match, part of which had already been cancelled because of the weather, and a tie shoot was postponed until today.

Throughout the second day of the association's annual shoot, marksmen had to contend with a steady downpour of rain and varying visibility.

Shooting on the 500-yard range for the City of Toronto contest was cancelled by ORA officials and riflemen will be competing in the second part with 15 rounds on the 600-yard range. The 10 who couldn't shoot Tuesday will fire today.

MEDAL SHOOT

The postponed tie shoot is for the Bankers Silver Medal. Six are entered, all of them top scorers with 99 points out of a possible 100.

Another tie shoot slated for today will be between Lt.-Col. D. T. Burke, radiologist at Sunnybrook Military Hospital, and Sgt. G. O. Boast for the rapid-fire Gibson Memorial Match honors. Boast, runner-up in the same event last year, and Burke, both of the 68th Highlanders, Toronto, marked up scores of 46 each after firing 10 rounds in 45 seconds at 300 yards.

The ORA Silver Medal in the President's Match tie shoot went to Lieut. W. V. Hall of Camp Borden who hit the bullseye four times in five shots, two more than Capt. J. G. Kirk of the 21st Anti-Tank Regiment, Listowel. In the match, they scored 49 out of a possible 50.

Scores of 48 were posted by Flt. Sgt. J. V. Martin, RCAF Camp Borden; F. H. Schrader, Buffalo, N.Y.; Wing Cmdr. J. A. Gordon, RCAF Trenton; Cadet R. M. Crossan, Hamilton Westdale Collegiate; Capt. S. W. Graham, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; CSM N. J. McLeod, Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto; S. Sgt. G. B. Kay, Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, and CSM N. L. Beckett, RHLI.

Only 6 Women In Rifle Shoot

LONG BRANCH (CP) — Rifles and rugged weather don't add up to glamor and that's why only six women are entered with 199 men in the Ontario Rifle Association's 72nd annual shoot here.

At least that's what competitor Muriel Burr of Ottawa says. Another woman entrant, Mrs. C. W. Spencer of Ottawa, adds that women don't take the sport as seriously as men and so aren't as apt to enter competition or do as well as men if they do.

Mrs. Spencer, whose husband, son and daughter are also entered for events in the four-day shoot, said in an interview: "I enjoy the sport and I like to be with my husband, but it doesn't mean as much to me as it does to him. It's the same with my son and daughter."

Miss Burr, who learned to shoot while hunting gophers near her former home in Saskatoon, said: "Bad weather can make it a bit tough for women. Another reason why women don't go in for shooting is probably because it isn't very glamorous."

Ryder Cup Team Named By U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—A Ryder Cup golf team, including only four players from the previous squad, today was named to represent the United States against Britain in the 1953 competition at Wentworth, England, Oct. 2-3.

The 10-man U.S. squad announced by the executive committee of the Professional Golfers' Association of America comprised: Walter Burkemo and Jimmy Turnesa, automatically selected as winners of the 1953 and 1952 PGA championships; Sam Snead, Jack Burke Jr., Lloyd Mangrum, Ted Kroll, Cary Middlecoff, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Dave Douglas and Fred Haas Jr.

HOT FOOTBALL—Stars of last season's San Francisco East-West Shrine game, Quarterback Tommy O'Connell, centre, and Ends Paul Dekker, left, and Harry Babcock, get into a huddle again, this time in shorts and at Lafayette, Ind., where they are training with the College All-Stars to meet the pro champion Detroit Lions at Chicago's Soldier Field, August 14.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Several things at stake in the current men's softball playoff set at the Bowl d'Ashburnham. Seabrooke's and UEW are tangling in best-of-seven, a twin bill going tomorrow. Winner of it gets a crack at the Wm. Taylor Trophy, the right to enter senior "B" OASA playdowns in zone four, and also plays off for city honors against TPT Petes, who hold the Geo. Dormer Trophy for finishing first in the schedule. Zone four embraces Kingston, Oshawa, Ottawa and Peterborough. The PTP-ers go into intermediate "A" playdowns 'gainst such squads as Belleville, Kingston, Ottawa and Whitby—latter having mostly Oshawa players. Foresters of the Civic Loop are in intermediate "AA", which includes Belleville and Kingston, locals getting a bye. Hastings, Marmora and Lakefield are intermediate "C", and Keene goes "D".

A former lacrosser here complained to us recently against dangerous attacks from behind by some OLA players. He called it a "sneaky and cowardly way of trying to slow up a rival", adding that it was very dangerous, often resulting in a fractured vertebra. We saw the same thing in Orillia two nights ago when Don (Scotty) McPhail of Yorks hit Don Ashbee from behind in a corner and drove him hard into the boards. It can happen equally in hockey or even basketball, this business of catching a player with his back toward you and hitting him hard. He is off-balance and not expecting it—and this might well lead to serious injury. Refs should be really tough about it.

Harry Wipper Returns

Tall Harry Wipper is expected back in the Trailermen's lineup for future frays after an extensive trip to the States to take a course. He was missed but will be a big help to the Thorpe team from here in, being a strong defenceman and quite heady on the attack. Local juniors helped the club a lot during holiday absenteeism of regulars, but playoff senior lacrosse calls for top talent on the field all the way. Mimico refused to release Denny Peterson, who moves here this month, so he isn't available yet for the Petes but will be a free agent next year after staying out of play in 1953. He might get CLA okay for Mann Cup finals if the Petes make 'em.

* * * * * * *

As mentioned yesterday, the OLA for some reason or other—perhaps because it looks like the Petes again this year—ruled (a) that the team finishing atop the schedule would not win the OLA title, but the Eastern Canada victor would be known as provincial champs, too; and (b) that the first and third teams playoff, instead of the first and fourth. Meaning likely that Petes will tackle Yorks in the eastern semi-finals. Leaving St. Kitts and likely Fergus for a bit softer touch in their semi-final bracket. However, the locals still figure on winding up on top of the pile and sweeping eastern honors, also. The victor here treks west in September to play the B.C. champ for the Mann Cup and Canadian crown. Petes won it the last two years. St. Catharines are here Thursday and Hamilton here Friday to wind up the schedule.

Making Ghostly Plans

A grid item from Cobourg, where the colorful Ghosts will be grouped with our ORFU champion Orfuns again this autumn. It is unofficially reported that the schedule opens Aug. 29 with Orfuns in Cobourg, a real early date for football up this way. Oshawa and Toronto Marauders round out our grouping, and Orfuns have an exhibition game Aug. 22 in Ottawa. Prexy Fred Dufton of the Ghosts says the team has lost four good players from the '52 squad but he has some fine newcomers. "We're really in earnest this year," Fred says, and they'll be practising regularly from now on, as will the local Orfuns. Schedule calls for seven home and seven away games for each club, Orfuns playing night tilts in Morrow Park.

Lightning flashed and thunder rolled, and all the world was shaken; a little pig curled up its tail and ran to save its bacon. Hm, not very edifying, eh? "Oh, dear, oh, dear, sir, will it clear?" loud wailed a dame on deck; as he heaved the lead, the skipper said: "It always has, by heck!" Just a couple of vagrant thoughts on the heavy downpour last eve which dampened considerably the first grid drill for Orfuns in Morrow Park. However, they'll hold workouts there nightly at seven now, open to all, under Coach Tony Kotowski. St. Peter's High junior and senior teams start at five tonight and drill daily then. PCVS will commence shortly, too.

Young Golfer Plans To Try For Double

NEW YORK (AP) — Marlene Stewart, 19-year-old Canadian who won the British women's amateur golf title earlier this year, will try for a double in the U.S. women's tournament at West Barrington, R.I., Aug. 24-29. Her entry for the U.S. meet was received Tuesday.

The feminine double has been accomplished only twice, by Scottish-born Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd in 1909 and Pamela Barton of England in 1936. No American has turned the trick although Mrs. George D. Trikson Zaharias won the U.S. title in 1946 and the British title the following year. Louise Suggs of Atlanta won in this country in 1947 and in England in 1948.

HIGH-FLYING MISS — New Brunswick has claimed the Canadian junior women's broad-jump record for Marjorie Squires, 16, of Fredericton. In a Saint John track meet she twice bettered the mark of 16 feet, 11¾ inches set by Toronto's Carol Smith at St. Lambert, Que., June 27. Miss Squires' distances in three tries were 17 feet, 2½ inches; 15 feet, 10¼ inches; and 17 feet, 3¾ inches.

Fighting Stand Gives Wales Honorable Draw

LONDON (Reuters)—A fighting stand of 125 by Glamorgan captain Wilf Wooller and Len Muncer saved the Welsh county from almost certain defeat by the touring Australian cricketers Tuesday and Glamorgan emerged with an honorable draw.

Rain prevented play before lunch. On the difficult pitch afterward, Glamorgan had only four wickets standing and required 123 runs to make Australia (386) bat again.

Wooller and Muncer came on and piled up the runs. As their first and second innings total passed the Australia mark just before close of play, Australian captain Arthur Morris shook hands with Wooler and allowed the draw.

In country cricket championship play, Middlesex retained the lead in the table by taking four points for first innings lead in a draw match with Sussex.

Tuesday's final scores:

Gloucestershire 221 and 242 for four declared, Somerset 168 and 77. Gloucestershire won by 218 runs.

Northamptonshire 235 and 167, Leicestershire 92 and 311 for two. Leicestershire won by eight wickets.

Worcestershire 133 and 111, Essex 169 and 76 for three. Essex won by seven wickets.

Glamorgan 201 and 188 for seven, Australian Tourists 386. Match drawn.

Derbyshire 233 and 220 for six, Warwickshire 367 for seven declared. Match drawn.

Lancashire 373 and 159 for seven declared, Yorkshire 177 and 200 for six. Match abandoned, drawn, rain.

Surrey 328 for three declared and 167 for three declared, Nottinghamshire 287 and 202. Surrey won by six runs.

Sussex 118 and 343 for six, Middlesex 346. Match drawn.

Hampshire 210 ad 228, Kent 219 and 197 for eight. Match drawn.

CHANNELS SWIMMERS QUIT

CALAIS (AP)—Glen Burlingame, 27, of Chicago gave up his attempt to swim the English Channel Tuesday after 10 hours 10 minutes in the water. Burlingame, who set out from Cap Gris Nez, swam until 6:05 a.m. (EDT) and was four miles off the English coast when he had to quit.

Rough seas also forced Bakr Soliman, 38-year-old Egyptian motor mechanic, to give up after he had spent 5½ hours in the water.

Marlene Seeks Third Straight Canadian Title

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—It's Marlene Stewart against the field when the Canadian ladies close golf championship opens at the Sunningdale Golf Club here Thursday. The brilliant 19-year-old shotmaker from Fonthill, recently crowned British women's amateur champion, will be seeking her third straight Canadian close title. She was also open champion in 1951.

A field of 120 is expected to tee off Thursday for the 54-holes of medal play which will decide the close championship. Next week, at the London Hunt Club, the Canadian ladies' open amateur championship will be staged.

The interprovincial championships will be played as part of the Close tournament at Sunningdale. This title is decided on the scores of the four team members from each province over the first 36 holes. Ontario's team is defending champion.

NEVER BEATEN

Women's par of 76 has never been beaten over the 5,998-yard Sunningdale course.

Other top competitors in the Close are Mary Gay, Kitchener Westmount; Barbara Davies, Vancouver; Mrs. J. H. Todd, Victoria, Anne Sharpe, her Fonthill teammate, and Ada Mackenzie, Toronto.

Miss Stewart is not making any predictions about the Close.

She is "just going to golf" and hope for the victory.

"I don't know who the person is to beat. After all, there are 128 in the field and that's a lot of golfers," she said.

Phillies Smash Cardinals 8-1 Behind Roberts

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

The Robin Roberts express is runinng on a schedule that could make the young pitcher for Philadelphia Phillies the major leagues' first 30-game winner in 19 seasons. The strong-armed righthander has stepped up by almost two weeks his tremendous pace of last year when he won 28 and lost 7. Roberts won his 19th game Tuesday night, a five-hit 8-1 victory over St. Louis Cardinals. He's lost seven. At this same point a year ago he had a 16-6 record.

Compared to his record at this time last year, Roberts has pitched 35 more innings and eight more complete games. He's struck out 36 more batters although he has walked 17 more. Thirty-nine more hits have been recorded against him, but his earned run average is lower—2.38 to 2.48.

The last 30-game winner was Dizzy Dean of St. Louis Cardinals back in 1934.

NEAR PERFECTION

A good fast-ball pitcher, Roberts had his control working to near perfection against the Cards Tuesday night. Back-to-back doubles by Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter produced a St. Louis run in the first inning, but from then on it was all Roberts. He struck out seven and walked two.

League-leading Brooklyn was made idle by rain in Milwaukee. Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 2-1 and Chicago Cubs defeated the stumbling New York Giants 5-3.

In the American League New York Yankees crushed Detroit 15-0. Chicago whipped Philadelphia 8-3. Cleveland defeated Washington 3-0 and Boston broke an eight-game losing streak, beating St. Louis 6-2.

The Yankees lead Chicago by five games and Cleveland by 7½.

BREAKS RECORD

Vic Raschi broke a major league batting record as he drove in seven of the New York runs against Detroit, an all-time high for pitchers. The previous best was six.

Greeted with the bases loaded in each of his first three trips to the plate, Raschi delivered two runners in the second inning with a single, three in the third with a double and two more in the fourth with another single. On his fourth trip, with nobody on base, he grounded out.

Chuck Stobbs of the Senators held Cleveland to five hits, but the Indians managed to bunch three of these in the eighth inning to score all of heir runs. Mike Garcia posted victory No. 13.

The White Sox, who had succumbed to the Athletics 10 times in 15 meetings, exploded for six runs in the fourth inning to salt away the contest. Virgil Trucks won his ninth game since joining Chicago with a four-hit performance.

COMES FROM BEHIND

Boston came from behind in the eighth to trim the Browns. Floyd Baker doubled with the bases loaded during the rally that gave Maury McDermott his 11th victory.

The Pirates' victory at Cincinnati ended a four-game winning streak for the Redlegs. Danny O'Connell tripled home the two Pittsburgh runs in the eighth against loser Jackie Collum.

Wings, Bisons Divide Doubleheader

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rain played havoc with the International League schedule Tuesday night, washing out four of the six scheduled fixtures. But the evening's sole contest—a doubleheader—nearly gave a new team the number two spot in league standing

The third-place Rochester Red Wings stampeded Buffalo Bisons 23-8 in the seven-inning opener at Buffalo, but the Herd overcame a four-run deficit to down the Red Wings 8-4 in the second game. A double loss would have given Rochester the edge over Buffalo in the standing

The visitors crashed 27 hits in the opener, 15 batsmen parading to the plate in the sixth to score 11 runs. Outfielder Jack Crawford completed the inning on the mound and Charlie Kress blasted him for a grand-slam homer. Rochester added another five in the seventh frame to make sure of their victory.

It was Kress' second homer of the game; his 18th of the season.

In the nightcap John Weiss, making one of his infrequent mound starts, held the Wings scoreless in eight of nine innings to gain his fourth victory.

A doubleheader between Springfield and Toronto at Toronto, and single contests between Baltimore and Montreal at Montreal and Syracuse at Ottawa were all postponed because of rain.

Manitoba Has Most Polio Cases

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba continues to bear the brunt of Western Canada's 1953 poliomyelitis epidemic, reporting more cases than the other three western provinces combined.

Of the 864 cases and 27 deaths 518 cases and eight deaths, Saskatchewan, 80 cases and 10 deaths; Alberta, 88 cases and three deaths; and British Columbia, 178 cases and six deaths.

Recently, an average of 30 to 33 cases has been reported daily in Manitoba. During the three-day holiday weekend 95 cases were reported. Last year's case total was 841 with 30 fatalities. The peak year in Manitoba was in 1941 when 1,011 cases and 20 deaths occurred.

Railways Handling Strike Traffic Easily

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian Railways are absorbing with ease the extra traffic diverted to rail because of the trucking strike throughout southern Ontario, Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, said in an interview Tuesday night.

He said the CNR has put on extra crews to handle traffic, but is taking the increased volume of business in its stride. There has been a noticeable increase in tonnage volume since the start of the strike, he said.

Walked In Sleep

HULL, Que. (CP)—Nine-year-old Bobby Rothman, barefooted and wearing only pyjamas, was found late Tuesday night under a rain-soaked blanket in a garage less than five blocks from his home. Believed to have walked in his sleep, Bobby disappeared from his home earlier in the evening. He was taken to hospital suffering exposure but attendants said his condition was not serious.

Youth Missing 10 Days

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—An air and ground search continued Tuesday for 18-year-old Robert Buck, missing 10 days in mosquito-infested wilderness 50 miles east of The Pas. The youth strayed from a party of six east of Moose Lake settlement July 25. Hope of finding him alive is dimming.

Tobin Cleared Of Union Theft

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank J. Tobin, who was appointed trustee of the Montreal local, International Teamsters Union (AFL), on dismissal of the local's executive a month ago, was cleared Tuesday of a charge of stealing $6,000 from the local.

The charge was laid by ousted business agent Neil MacDonald, who has since claimed the parent United States union tried to dominate the Canadian branch.

Judge Gerald Almond ruled Tobin acted in good faith when he seized the union funds from a bank as a result of being appointed trustee.

Two Bodies Still Unclaimed

MORRISBURG CP)—Bodies of two of the 20 victims of the bus accident near here last Friday are still at the Keck Funeral Home, identified but unclaimed by relatives.

G. Leonard Keck said Tuesday he expects shortly to receive instructions on disposition of the body of Margaret McKee of Valley Murphy, County Down, Northern Ireland.

No one has claimed the body of Eleanor Kormer of Austria, he said. The Canadian Red Cross Society was trying to get in touch with relatives either in Canada or Austria.

ABLE TO TESTIFY

Hospital authorities in Cornwall, 25 miles east, said they believe the two drivers involved in the bus-truck collision which sent both vehicles into a St. Lawrence river canal will be able to testify at a coroner's inquest scheduled for Friday. They are Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston, driver of the Colonial Coach Lines bus, and Max Roodman of Toronto, driver of the light truck.

Student Exchange

BELGRADE (CP)—More than 200 Yugoslav students will carry on special studies abroad this year while 140 foreign students visit here, under an agreement concluded with the International association for the Exchange of Students.

Police Seeking Two Drivers

TORONTO (CP)—Provincial police headquarters Tuesday announced they are trying to find two transport drivers who stopped last Friday morning near Morrisburg to help a stalled truck which was later hit by a Colonial Coach Lines bus. The bus plunged off the road into the Williamsburg canal and 20 persons were drowned.

Insp. Thomas Wright said the transports are believed to have stopped and set out flares about an hour before the bus came along.

He asks anyone having any information about these trucks to call the nearest provincial police office.

Blames Weather For Upheaval

TORONTO (CP)—A possible reason for recent upheavals in the Kremlin was suggested Tuesday by one of North America's top weather officials.

Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, head of the World Meteorological Association and chief United States weatherman, blamed the same thing—weather—which often upsets people in the western world.

Dr. Reichelderfer, here for a regional association meeting of the association being held this week, said in an interview that forecasters believe climatic conditions have much to do with Russia's moves and her people's dispositions.

"Many people now believe the weather could have a lot to do with the world situation today and throughout history," he said. "Weathermen are becomg interested in this theory not only in relation to Russia, but to every nation."

Church Committee Opposes Fluoridation

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Officials of the Christian Science church committee on publication for Ontario Tuesday released a letter protesting against proposed fluoridation of the city water supply.

The letter, signed by F. W. Boorer, Toronto, a member of the committee will be presented to city council. Council earlier announced it was considering fluoridation in an attempt to reduce tooth decay among children.

Mr. Bourer said that in view of the Christian Science belief that many Windsor residents, "independent of Christian Science membership," would like to see "the matter abandoned," council should hold a plebiscite to decide the issue.

Motor Blows Up 2 Badly Burned

HUNTSVILLE (CP) — Two persons were severely burned during the week end when the inboard motor of their boat blew up. Flaming gasoline caused first and second degree burns to William Goodson, 31, of Toronto and Hugh McFarland, 30, of St. Catharines.

Hurled into the water by the explosion, the men were rescued by nearby boaters and taken to the hospital in this summer resort town 145 miles north of Toronto. Their condition was satisfactory Tuesday.

RAIN MAY REVIVE FLOWERS

Several citizens remarked today that possibly Tuesday's rain may revive the flower beds in Confederation Square, opposite the City Hall. It was said that no one was really interested enough in their beauty to water them during the long week end from Friday night to Tuesday morning. In that heat they had drooped wearily in the most conspicuous public place in the centre of the city.

FLAME FROM SHORT CIRCUIT

The electric wiring servicing the home of W. S. Jolley, 283 Wilson Ave., short circuited on Tuesday. It caused a jet of flame to shoot out from the PUC wires beside the front of the Jolley house. The heat caused the wires to snap. There was no fire but the paint on the outside of the house was scorched. Firemen were called but they didn't have to use an extinguisher.

THREE PEOPLE WERE INJURED Tuesday afternoon when two cars met head-on on Lansdowne St. near Monaghan Rd. In hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Percy White of Toronto and Martin Madsen of Ottawa; their condition today is satisfactory. Madsen was travelling east on Lansdowne when he applied his brakes, nearing Monaghan, and skidded into the Whites' car. The two cars, White's at left and Madsen's at right (top photo), suffered damage totalling $1,800. In the Whites' car was a budgie-bird (lower photo) and a pet skunk, which were not hurt.

Crashes In Rain Injure Three People

Three people were hurt in motor vehicle accidents on district highways Tuesday afternoon during the heavy downpour of rain.

A 55-year-old London, Ont., housewife, Mrs. William Lane, is in Civic Hospital with injuries received shortly before 5 p.m. when she was in a car-truck accident, two miles north of Buckhorn.

Simon E. Kercell, 23, of Toronto, was knocked semi-conscious when his panel truck rolled over in the north ditch near Marmora. He is in St. Joseph's Hospital where his condition is "fair."

Mrs. Lanes was a passenger in the 1950-model car being driven north on Highway 36 by her husband, William. As a result of the collision with the truck she received a fractured left leg, lacerated head and chin, and body bruises.

RECEIVED FIRST AID

She was given first aid in Buckhorn by Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield and then taken to Civic Hospital by ambulance. Her condition today is satisfactory.

Mr. Lane received a cut on the head and a bruised right leg but he was not admitted to hospital.

The Lanes were travelling north on the highway when an out-of-control panel truck, coming from Club Whitesands, driven by Donald Gordon, 19, collided with them. The one-ton panel truck went out of control on a curve and veered across the road into the east ditch, the left front of the truck first striking the right front end of the car.

Mrs. Lane was thrown violently forward against the windshield and both truck and car were extensively damaged. Gordon was unhurt.

OPP Constables Douglas Ross and George Louth investigated.

Kercell was injured during the rainstorm when his eastbound panel truck crossed to the north side of Highway 7, three miles west of Marmora, struck a rock cut in the north ditch and turned over. He was in a semi-conscious condition when removed from the badly-damaged vehicle.

OPP Constable Thomas Lumniss of Madoc investigated.

Vandals Upset 20 Tombstones

STIRLING (ENS)—Vandals upset more than 20 tombstones in Stirling cemetery overnight. Most of the stones were along the east side of the cemetery, the most difficult side to see from the road.

None of the tombstones were damaged by being upset.

Provincial Constable Sam Eggleton is investigating.

First McGinness News

Happy Accident Turned Production From Milk Wagons To Trailers

"A happy accident six years ago diverted the course of H. B. McGinness Ltd. from the making of aluminum milk wagons into their present position as the premier manufacturers of trailer homes in Canada."

That change of direction is recalled in a reminiscent article published in McGinness News, a shop publication whose first issue recently came off the press.

"Peterborough is the home of Canada's largest mobile home industry", as the result of a rather casual venture in the parent plant on McDonnel St. at Bethune St.

Entitled "A Salute To Peterborough", the story continues: "It happened in the summer of 1947 when a sportsman came to H. B. McGinness Ltd., and asked the company to build a camping trailer. He had owned one of the first McGinness trailers built in 1936, and like other trailer owners of yesterday and today, wanted a bigger and better model.

RELUCTANT ORDER

"The company was busy with a plan for a new line of aluminum milk wagons, and tried to put him off. But, he persisted and his order was accepted, though quite reluctantly.

"Harry McGinness was so pleased with the finished trailer that he ordered another to be shown at the Lindsay Exhibition in September. It rolled out of the shop the day the fair opened, and reached the grounds just as the officials were closing the gates on late entries."

Mr. McGinness returned home without an order, but the interest of people at Lindsay was evidently convincing, for he immediately determined to add trailers to his production.

"Ed Wright, manager of the plant since the early years of the company, recalls how the employees were horrified at the sudden turn of events.

"'We were all sure Harry had lost his mind. He hadn't sold the first trailer, yet he put in an order for six more. Before we were half-way through—and still no customers—he asked for another six. I told him we'd be turning the key in the door before we were done.'

NEVER CLOSED

"Since that winter of 1947, the door of the McDonnel St. factory, except during annual holidays, has never been closed. Milk and bread wagons which carried the McGinness signature across Ontario, have been completely replaced by trailer homes, which today are spreading the fame of Peterborough and McGinness Ltd. from the salty coves of Newfoundland to the frozen crags of the Yukon."

McGinness Ltd. took root nearly 22 years ago when young Harry McGinness, a clerk with the bankrupt Fitzgerald & Co., paid out $200 of his savings and $1,800 he borrowed from his father to buy the assets of the old firm. From those humble beginnings it has grown to the premier position in its field in Canada.

"With this first issue of McGinness News we salute the few stalwarts whose optimism and loyalty, hard work and sacrifice helped pioneer an industry. We pay tribute to our employees, whose skill and pains are responsible for maintaining our position of quality.

"And we take pride in the city that has helped us grow to leadership in the mobile home industry."

Editor of the News is Miss Marjorie E. Reeves, secretary of the company. Annual picnic of the staff is Saturday, Aug. 15 at the H. B. McGinness summer cottage at Chemong Park.

SHARES PLAN

Another item: "At our last foremen's meeting a plan was presented, offering employees shares in the company. We'll have detailed information on how you can have an even greater share in a fast-growing mobile home business after the holiday."

The contractor of the new McGinness factory on Lansdowne St. east is proceeding ahead of schedule, Arnold Steele, contractor, reports.

Downpour Floods Lane Invades Stores, Offices

Rain that dropped gently most of the day splashed into a downpour late Tuesday afternoon and flooded a lane and parking lot behind stores on the north side of Hunter St., and the east side of George St. Water seeped under doors in several stores and offices, but damage was confined for the most part to Lowe Bros. paint store, where soaked wallpaper worth less than $100 was spoiled.

Damage was held down by the efforts of firemen who brought a pump to the parking lot to draw off the water that was two feet deep in places.

They worked for about two hours up to their knees in water until rubbish sucked up by the pump clogged the pump's cooling system and forced them to stop. By the time they stopped, about 11:30 p.m., only a few inches of water remained in the lot.

REFUSED HELP

Storekeepers telephoned the board of works to request assistance, but were turned down on the grounds the lot was private property. A telephone call to the fire department brought results.

Rainfall over 19 hours amounted to 1.7 inches, heaviest single rain this year.

Catch-basins in various parts of the city were plugged by rubbish, and that was believed to be the reason for the parking lot flood. A single catch-basin serves the lot and two lanes that drain into the lot.

Board of works employees had their hands full until about 2:30 a.m. working on a catch-basin and sewer on Monaghan Rd. S., where gravel plugged the basin and went into the sewer. Around the city, a few catch basins had to be unplugged. These were scattered and confined to no particular section.

At the sewage treatment plant, gallonage of water going through gives a good indication of the amount of rainfall Tuesday.

NO TROUBLE

Monday's recorded volume was 2,870,000 gallons; this morning superintendent Walter Pollard reports that volume was 4,549,000. The increased flow, he said, created no problem and was handled easily.

Downtown streets were almost empty of pedestrians early in the evening, barring a few theatre-goers and store and office employees who worked late. Cars were few and the heavy rain contributed to a few minor accidents that occurred.

Dad On Holiday Told Son Killed By Police Shot

Stanley Hurst, a Toronto man vacationing at Club Whitesands, on Katchacoma Lake, was informed early today that his son had been shot and killed by Toronto police. Provincial Police from Peterborough headquarters informed him about 6 a.m.

The youth, 19-year-old Gordon Hurst, died on his way to hospital Tuesday night shortly after he was dropped by a police bullet in eastend Toronto.

He was hit as he attempted to scale a fence behind a residence to which police had been called to investigate prowlers. An older companion got away.

Neither of them paid any attention to police warnings to halt. They both scaled a wall at the rear of the residence and the police opened fire. Hurst toppled to the ground while his companion fled.

Tuesday's Rain Nearly Equal All In July

Within one-tenth of a point, as much rain fell in 19 hours on Tuesday—1.7 inches—as during the whole month of July.

Weather recorder Jim Harrison has some interesting comparative figures for July's weather compared with July 1952. This year the maximum temperature was 88 degrees on the 17th and the minimum 44 on the 25th; the average was 67.1 degrees. Total rainfall was 1.8 inches.

July of 1952 was warmer with less rainfall. Maximum temperature was 91 degrees on 13th and 14th and minimum, 49 on the 30th. Average temperature was 69.85 degrees and total rainfall was 1.41 inches.

Monsignor Butler Speaks At Antigonish

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP)—Young people must be taught the satisfaction of farm life, Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, Peterborough said Tuesday.

To do this there is a necessity for education adapted to rural needs, he told the closing sessions of the first national Catholic social conference here.

"Many people have lost the pioneering spirit and are moving away from the challenge of good living. But no land should be abandoned. It's always useful.

"Rural youth must learn to know the soil and love its power."

Oshawa Building Hits All-Time High

OSHAWA. — A new all-time record for building construction is assured here by the end of the year.

During July, 159 permits, 74 of them for new single dwellings, were issued, together with permits for the erection of a new public library, costing an estimated $368,456, and a Pilgrim Holiness church, at an estimated cost of $30,000.

The total estimated value of permits issued during July was $1,129,486, which raises this year's total to $14,639,624 so far.

Included among the permits issued last month was one for a new store with two apartments above it.

Advance Poll Marks Start Of Election

Open Three Days For Voters Unable To Be In City

Although the federal election will not take place until next Monday, voting will actually get under way here Thursday.

An advance poll will be held from 3:00 p.m. until 11:00 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in District Returning Officer Arthur McClellan's headquarters on the second floor of the Peterborough Curling Club at 216½ Charlotte St.

In order to cast his ballot at an advance poll, a voter must have the type of employment which requires him to be away from home from time to time and he has reason to believe he will be away on election day.

This includes commercial travellers, fishermen, and employees of "railways, vessels, airships or other mean or modes of transportation", according to the act.

IN SERVICES

The provisions also apply to members of the reserve force of the Army, Navy and RCAF or the RCMP if, on account of the performance of duties or training, they have reason to believe they will be away on election day.

For such as these, advance poll certificates can be obtained at the District Returning Officer's headquarters from Mr. McClellan or from the election clerk, Mrs. M. G. McCartney.

Hundred Lodges Of Black Knights Expected In City

The anniversary of the relief of the seige of Londonderry in Northern Ireland in 1688 will be celebrated here in Peterborough Saturday, when more than a hundred lodges of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland and Ladies of the Crystal Chapter will invade the city for the gala celebration.

Derry Day is celebrated in honor of the citizens of Londonderry, who withstood the invading forces of King James II and his French allies in 1688. King James directed the campaign in the hope of regaining the throne of England.

The campaign finally came to an end in 1690 with the defeat of King James at the Battle of the Boyne. At this time each year the Royal Black Knights of Ireland assemble to comemmorate the fight for religious and civil liberty.

HOST LODGE

Host to the visiting lodges and chapters will be the Weir, Royal Black Preceptory 261 of Peterborough.

It is expected that members will come from as far east as Ottawa and as far west as London, Ont. A special train of 12 coaches and many buses have been chartered for Toronto members.

Principal speaker for the day will be Leslie H. Saunders, member of the Toronto Board of Control. Many other prominent members of the order will speak at the rally to be held at Exhibition Park, which will follow a street parade down George St. from the armouries headed by the CGE Pipe Band.

At the gathering in London last year, more than 25,000 people attended and restaurants and hotels were reported taxed beyond capacity.

Fall Course To Teach How To Direct Plays

A three-day course on play direction will be held at the Normal School September 18-20. The course is sponsored by the Peterborough and District Drama Festival, in co-operation with the Department of Education and the Eastern Ontario Drama League. Julia Murphy of the Ottawa Little Theatre will be the instructor. Mrs. Murphy is an outstanding play producer, and has directed winning entries in the Dominion Drama Festival.

Peter McCombe, who is acting as course secretary, says that the course will deal with all aspects of a producer's work, with emphasis on practical details. Because of the practical nature of the course only a limited number of entries can be entertained. These will primarily be members appointed by theatre groups who have taken part in recent festivals. Others may be accommodated as observers.

The course begins Friday evening, September 18, and continues through Sunday.

A Windsor man and his young son escaped injury Tuesday noon when their skidding car struck a wig-wag at Kendry Crossing instead of sliding onto the tracks in front of an oncoming train. James MacMichael, 32, of Windsor, and his eight-year-old son were driving north on Highway 28 when Mr. MacMichael saw the wig-wag in motion, and a train approaching, at Kendry Crossing. He slammed on his brakes about 75 feet away from the tracks but the car skidded on the wet pavement and veered into the east ditch, striking the wig-wag. The car would have slid onto the tracks if it hadn't struck the signal post. OPP Constable George Louth investigated the accident which caused $300 damage to the car as well as putting the wig-wag out of action.

Tenders Called To Resurface Lindsay Highway

Number 7 highway from Fowler's Corners west to Reaboro will be resurfaced next month. In telephone conversation with The Examiner this morning Premier Leslie Frost said that the contract for the work is being advertised now, and the job "will be started very, very shortly". The old surface has already been surveyed and marked, preparatory to letting the contract.

Premier Frost personally investigated the condition of that stretch of the highway earlier in the summer. In runs through his own constituency of Victoria, from the border of Peterborough county. Many motorists have complained about it, saying it is one of the worst stretches of highway surface in southern Ontario. Mr. Frost decided that special action should be taken immediately to reclaim the road, built some 20 years ago. It now forms part of the Trans-Canada highway link.

Premier Frost said that the resurfacing will be to a depth of four inches. It will be a continuation of the repairing two years ago on the Peterborough end of the highway, to Fowler's Corners.

Man Killed As Car Slams Into Ditch

Wife, 2 Children Injured Son Driving

LINDSAY (ENS)—A St. Catharines man was killed instantly Tuesday afternoon when his car struck a culvert and hurtled end over end into a ditch.

Dead is Vernon Alexander, 55. His wife, a son and daughter were also injured, though not seriously. Mrs. Alexander has a broken wrist and is suffering from shock. Walter Alexander, his son, who was driving the car, suffered a cut scalp.

Judy Alexander, in her early twenties, suffered minor injuries. Another son, Jack, is unhurt.

The accident occurred two miles north of Rosedale on Highway 35 as the Alexanders returned from a weekend holiday at Minden. On a straight stretch of road, the car went out of control on wet pavement, struck a culvert, flipped end over end twice, and landed on its wheels in the ditch.

Mr. Alexander was thrown from the car and killed instantly.

SECOND CRASH

Provincial constable John Williams of Fenelon Falls in vestigated. As he completed his investigation, another accident occurred two miles south of the first mishap.

Cars driven by William Livingstone of Toronto and a U.S. tourist staying at a nearby resort collided head on.

Livingstone's wife, 30, was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, but is reported not to be seriously hurt.

The five persons in the U.S. car were returned to the lodge where a doctor treated them for minor injuries. Constable Williams investigated.

Sarnia Plans To Pave 13 Miles Of Road

SARNIA—This year's paving program calls for 13 additional miles of paved streets—almost half as much as has been paved in the city's history.

Sarnia has only 18 per cent of its streets paved, far below the provincial average for a city of this size.

The streets department has already increased the total length of paved roads in the city by 44 per cent in one year. A number of new roads have been opened and about seven miles of streets have received double-surface treatment, with a similar amount still to be done.

A number of other streets are being prepared for double-surface treatment next year by the installation of curbs and gutters and building a proper road base. By the time cold weather arrives the streets department expects to have constructed five miles of concrete sidewalks, six miles of new curbs and gutters and about five miles of additional concrete gutters.

Victoria Riding

A Traditional Tory Seat

CLAYTON W. HODGSON

DR. F. M. GRAHAM

Victoria riding, created by the Redistribution Act of 1914, is traditionally a Tory constituency.

The tradition doesn't quite reach Confederation, though it comes close to it. Twice, before reaching its present state, it has suffered redistribution, but that has not altered the way the vote has gone.

In 1867, year of Confederation, Liberals were returned in both Victoria North and Victoria South. Victoria South switched to Conservative the next election, 1872, and didn't return another Grit until 1896.

George McHugh was Liberal MP for Victoria South in 1896, but the Conservatives regained the seat in 1900, winning it as well in the three by-elections of 1887, 1890, and 1892.

Victoria North returned a Conservative in 1872, went Liberal in 1874, Conservative in '78 and '82, Liberal in '87 and '91, and Conservative with Col. Sam Hughes in 1896 and 1900. Two by-elections —1874 and 1892— went Conservative as well.

When the Representative Act of 1903 came into effect, the ridings were amalgamated into Victoria and Haliburton riding. Col. Hughes won all three elections—1904, '08, '11—and the 1911 by-election, by which time he was the Hon. Sam Hughes.

Since the constituency became known as plain Victoria—it still includes a portion of Haliburton county—it has returned a Liberal twice, a Progressive once (1921), and the rest of the time it has been Conservative. The history of the present-day riding reaches back through nine general elections.

At the first of those, in 1917, the Hon. Sir Sam Hughes was returned for the last time to the Commons.

Of recent years—since 1917 — the majorities of parties other than Conservative have not been large. In the last two elections, 1945 and 1949, even the Conservatives (by then the Progressive-Conservatives) did not gain large majorities.

CLAYTON W. HODGSON, the present member, who is seeking election to represent Victoria for the third time, won in 1945 by 818 votes, in 1949 by 956.

Mr. Hodgson, a native of Victoria county, was born in Burn River in 1897, and educated at public and continuation schools there. He continued his education at Orillia Collegiate and business college.

For 23 years he has served on school boards, municipal and county councils in both Victoria and Haliburton counties, and at present lives in Haliburton.

He served in the First World War with the Canadian army, and is president of the C. W. Hodgson and Son Lumber Co., and general manager of Hodgson-Jones Lumber Co. Ltd. An Anglican, he is a member of the Orange Lodge, Masonic and Shrine orders, and the Canadian Legion.

His favorite sport of curling finds him with memberships in Oakwood, Lindsay, and Haliburton curling clubs, and he belongs as well to the Haliburton Red Cross, Ski Club, Athletic and Recreation Association, and the Haliburton Highlands Tourist Association. He raises standard bred horses.

In 1921, he married the former Phyllis Marjorie Dart, and they have four sons and two daughters.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE for Victoria riding and making his first showing in a federal campaign is Dr. Foster M. Graham, Fenelon Falls dentist.

Dr. Graham's connections with this city spread beyond his association with fellow dentists; he is a brother of Dr. Jethro Graham and of H. H. Graham, teacher at PCVS.

Born in Fenelon Falls, Dr. Graham was educated there, in Lindsay, Woodstock and finally at the University of Toronto, where he took dentistry. For some time after graduation he practiced dentistry in Lindsay, then moved to his home town, where he has remained since.

For 15 years, Dr. Graham took a time consuming interest in municipal politics. First a school trustee, he became councillor, reeve of Fenelon Falls, and eventually warden of Victoria county. For the past four years he has been a member of the county high school board.

In the First World War, he served with the RCHA and the dental corps, but was not sent overseas.

General farming, with stress on grain and beef cattle (shorthorns), provides him with his hobby which he enjoys at his Sturgeon Point farm not far from Fenelon Falls.

He takes an active part in his village's curling club, and as a fan an active interest in baseball. Dr. Graham is a member of the Fenelon Falls Rotary Club, and until recent years was a member of the Canadian Legion executive in the village. He is a Mason.

Married in 1922 to the former Nyhl Hetherington, he has one son.

PC's Planning Action To Regain Trade

TORONTO.—Progressive Conservative government would bring a more practical approach to the problem of regaining British and Commonwealth markets, Robert Hardy Small, PC candidate in Danforth, said at a house meeting Tuesday night.

Wheat was piling up in the United States, he said, and next year the U.S. Government was faced with either limiting acreage or dropping price control protection.

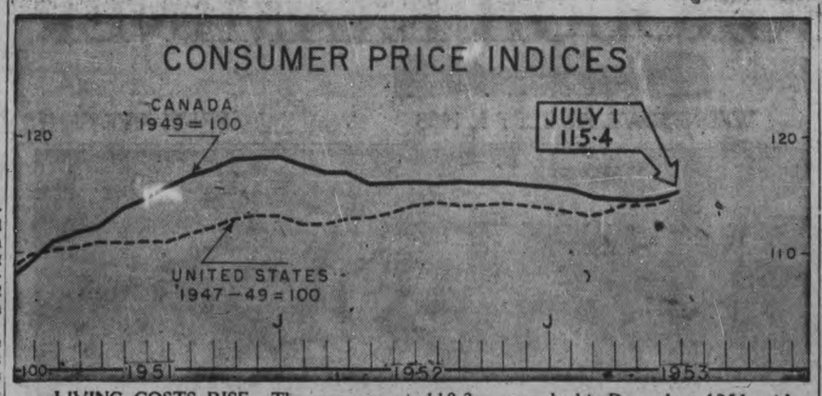
He said this was being felt in Ottawa, and was one reason for calling the August election. Ottawa had not acted yet, but Canada would be faced with the crisis and "they fear that after that action is taken the western farmers will not even like them the little bit that they now seem to like them."

SEEK AGREEMENT

One of the first acts of a Progressive Conservative government would be to get together with Britain to work out an approach to an agreement on foodstuffs.

The Liberals, he said, talked much about foreign trade, but left the British West Indies facing a crisis in unemployment while importing tropical products from the U.S., Hawaii, Cuba and Mexico.

The last Conservative administration in Ottawa had worked out a fair set of Commonwealth trade agreements, but these had been allowed to "go down the drain" by the Liberals. He said Britain was considered a good risk, even if deals involved taking her goods in return for ours or extending credit.



50,000,000 Lbs. Butter To Aid Needy Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. agriculture department Tuesday made available 50,000,000 pounds of surplus butter to private welfare agencies assisting needy persons abroad.

The butter, acquired under a price support program, will be available only to private welfare organizations listed with the mutual security administration. It must be donated without cost to needy persons abroad with the identification that it is a donation from the United States.

Attacked By Two Men

BEAVERTON (CP)—A semi-hysterical mother of two staggered into the police station here early Tuesday and told officers she had been dragged into a ditch and raped by two men who were giving her a ride home in their pickup truck. The 36-year-old Hamilton woman, visiting with her parents at Brechin, 10 miles to the north, said she met the men in a beverage room at Atherly, three miles outside Orillia.

LIVING COSTS RISE—The consumer price index rose half a point in June to 115.4 from 114.9 under the impact of a seasonal increase in food costs and higher prices of clothing, rent and other commodities, the bureau of statistics reports. It was the second consecutive monthly raise following a steady half-year of decline. The peak of 118.2 was reached in December, 1951, with 1949 prices equalling 100. The dotted line shows the United States consumer price index which advanced between mid-May and mid-June to a record of 114.5 of the 1947-49 average. These indices measure percentage changes in prices in each country but should not be used to compare actual levels of prices between the two countries.

WE CAN... WE WILL!

Here's what you're voting for when you vote Progressive Conservative on August 10th. This 16-point program can and will be undertaken this fall by a Progressive Conservative Government.

What is the alternative to this 16-point program? The alternative is five more years of autocratic rule by a Government already too long in office — whose only answer to this positive program is "It can't be done!"

The Progressive Conservative Party is the only party with a positive policy pledging immediate action on tax reductions ... elimination of waste and extravagance ... lower municipal taxes ... a housing program ... national health insurance ... farm prices related to production costs ... recovery of lost markets ... these and other matters of public concern are the real issues in this election. The voters of Canada know where this party stands!

1 We will reduce federal taxes by at least five hundred million dollars ($500,000,000) a year ... without reducing any social security payments, or impairing the efficiency of our armed forces.

2 We will exempt municipal councils and school boards from Sales Tax and Excise Tax on all purchases of machinery, equipment, instruments and other goods and will provide for taxation of all federal government properties in municipalities.

3 We will immediately call a Dominion-Provincial Tax Conference to revise our whole system of taxation.

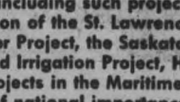
4 We will greatly reduce the cost of government by ending waste and extravagance, increasing efficiency, eliminating duplication and improving accounting methods. In particular, we will reorganize the Department of National Defence.

5 We will re-establish the true principles of the Confederation Pact set forth in the British North America Act; we will restore the Supremacy of Parliament and the Rule of Law.

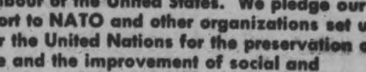
6 We will set up a joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons for the purpose of reforming the Senate with particular reference to the method of appointment, tenure of office and its legislative functions.

7 We will introduce legislation to amend the Criminal Code which will make it an offence punishable by due process of law to engage in Communist or other subversive activities designed to destroy our democratic system.

8 We will take immediate steps to restore and expand world markets for agricultural and other primary products. Our program will include bold and constructive steps to break the Dollar-Pound Barrier and regain our vital British and Commonwealth Trade.



9 We will appoint a National Agricultural Board for the purpose of establishing fair floor prices related to farm production costs.



10 We will undertake an immediate review of all national labour legislation for the purpose of improving collective bargaining procedure, expediting conciliation of disputes, assuring fair employment practices, providing equal pay for equal work, and generally increasing the basis of cooperation between labour, management and government.

11 We will introduce a housing program which will make it possible for people with small incomes to buy new homes by improving the terms and conditions under which houses can be built and purchased.

12 We will introduce a contributory health insurance program, in cooperation with the provinces, which will assure to every Canadian proper diagnostic, medical and surgical treatment.

13 We will take immediate steps to deal with the freight rate structure in Canada. We will respect all existing regional statutory rates and take every practical step to encourage the use of our own ports for Canadian export and import trade.

14 We will immediately review all legislation affecting the Civil Service, so that all except casual employees may become permanent members of the Civil Service, with assurance of security of employment, and promotion by merit to the highest offices within the service. Working hours, pay and advancement will be comparable with employment in industry and commerce.

15 We will, in co-operation with the provinces, establish a national policy under a system of free enterprise which will:
—proceed with a national development program including such projects as the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project, the Saskatchewan River Power and Irrigation Project, Hydro Electric Power Projects in the Maritimes and similar projects of national importance in other parts of Canada;
—promote the decentralization of industry so that opportunities for employment and advancement may be extended on the widest possible basis throughout the whole of Canada.

16 We believe that Canada has a vital role to play as a member of the Commonwealth and a friendly neighbour of the United States. We pledge our support to NATO and other organizations set up under the United Nations for the preservation of peace and the improvement of social and economic conditions throughout the world.

Inserted by the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada.

New Criticism Infuriates Janet Leigh

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The lady seemed just about ready to blow her blonde wig. She was that mad.

This was Janet Leigh. She was beautifully irate in a honey hairdo that made her look surprisingly like Betty Grable. The fake hair was for her role in Prince Valiant and she had to dye her own tresses the same color so they wouldn't show underneath.

But that wasn't what made her mad. It was some things that had been printed about her and her handsome hubby, Tony Curtis. Mean, unkind things. Like calling the Curtises publicity-mad exhibitionists who are never happy unless a camera lens is prying into their lives. When such comments appeared in a couple of magazines, Janet composed a scorching letter. "Then I had somebody correct the spelling and I sent it off," she declared. "Oh, I'm so mad!"

BITTER PILL

And well she might be. Last year she and Tony were the first husband and wife team to win the annual pat on the back from the Hollywood women's press club. They won the golden apples for being the most co-operative stars.

Now come the blasts that the Curtises are too co-operative. It's a bitter pill to Janet, who thought she was pleasing everybody.

She had some interesting comments on the fishbowl life of a movie star.

"Publicity is an important part of the business of being a movie performer," she observed. "Mind you, we don't think it's the most important part, as some critics claim we believe.

"Nothing but nothing, is more important to us than our work. After all, that's the payoff, the reason for the movie business, what appears up there on the screen.

"Okay so you can help sell personalities via publicity. But you have to give something, once you get the people inside the theatre. If they think you're a lousy performer, you're through, brother.

"Neither Tony nor I will allow anything to interfere with our work and that goes for publicity, too. If some publicity assignment comes up while I'm on a picture and I can do it without any trouble, okay, fine. But if it interferes with what I have to do in front of the cameras, I ask if it can't be postponed until after the end of the picture."

Janet said she even volunteers to come in after the end of the film at no charge to the company. Most other glamor girls would charge $1,000 a day to do publicity requests.

Black Monkey Skin Offered In Exchange For Circulars

EDMONTON (CP)—A youngster in Africa's Gold Coast astonished Alberta Travel Bureau officials by offering a black monkey skin in exchange for materials and circulars. To make the proposition more enticing, he volunteered to provide some old stamps in addition.

The bureau promptly answers letters, sending books, pamphlets and pictures describing Alberta's industries, geography and tourist attractions. They get queries from many parts of the world.

In recent months hundreds of letters have come from Spain and the bureau also noted a "surprising number" from Commonwealth countries, especially Australia and New Zealand.

Dan E. C. Campbell, director of the bureau, says some of the correspondence brings gratifying results.

He wrote to one interested correspondent, a 14-year-old boy in Nigeria, advising him on scholarships which would enable him to study in the United States and Canada. Ten years later, he received word from the boy that he was in the United States and would be coming to Canada for a visit.

Among the many letters constantly arriving the staff has some particular favorites. One from the Gold Coast started out this way:

"I have the honor most respectfully to inform you that I want to be friend you, and I hope that you will also get cheerful too."

Campbell said a greater volume of publicity now is being sent to foreign countries than ever before.

Foreign Aid

BERNE (CP)—The Swiss government has allocated another $1,600,000 in foreign aid to such projects as medical help for European refugee children, refugee housing in Germany and Austria and education aid in Southern Italy.

Leaves Estate Of 3 Million

TORONTO (CP) — Frederick Keenan Morrow, one of Canada's leading financiers, left an estate of $3,290,980, it was disclosed when applications for letters of probate were made in Surrogate Court Tuesday. He died May 30 in Toronto at the age of 67.

The one-time farm boy who was often considered the financial brains behind many large Canadian and United States corporations, willed the bulk of his estate to the F. K. Morrow Foundation, a charitable organization he set up during his lifetime to contribute to hospitals and other worthy organizations.

The remainder, $1,061,569, is to be set aside to pay a minimum of three per cent interest to his widow until her death. Then the capital goes to the foundation.

First Woman Wins Welsh Poetry Crown

RHYL, Wales (Reuters) — A Welsh schoolteacher Tuesday became the first woman ever to win the poetry crown in the centuries-old national Eisteddfod, the Welsh festival of arts.

Mrs. Leo Scheltinga, wife of a Dutchman, was declared winner of the bardic prize by white-robed judges in a great open-air arena here. She said she wrote the poem in two nights in between marking essays of her pupils.

The set subject for all entries had been "The Veil." Mrs. Scheltinga described a quest through the veil of matter and flesh of the visible world to the ultimate mystery of the invisible world beyond.

The festival is held annually to encourage the preservation of Welsh poetry and music.

4 Men Named For Legion Presidency

SUDBURY (CP)—Examples of what is needed in better interpreting and administrating veterans legislation already on the statute books, keynoted an address given Tuesday to Ontario Legion members holding their 18th biennial convention here.

Dr. C. B. Lumsden, Canadian Legion Dominion command president, said there were two main items to be dealt with—pension legislation and war veterans allowance legislation.

He said the main need was for better "administration and interpretation of the legislation for the veterans of Canada."

Four men were nominated for the presidency. Elections will be held Thursday, final day of the gathering.

Major Harold Telley of Sault Ste. Marie, Ben Jacklin and McIntyre Hood of Oshawa and T.A.M. Hulse of Toronto were named to contest the position. Hulse is the present provincial president.

Leo Cunningham of St. Catharines was acclaimed as chairman of the command.

Classical Play To Get Trophy

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival has announced a new purpose for the Bessborough Trophy—until this year the top award in annual Dominion competition.

The festival executive has decided the trophy, which was given by former governor-general Lord Bessborough, will be awarded for "outstanding achievement" in the presentation of a classical play in the 13 regional drama festivals preceding the Dominion final.

The decision was made on the recommendation of a special committee under the chairmanship of Robertson Davies of Peterborough, Ont., well-known Canadian playwright and editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

The Bessborough Trophy's place as prize for the best play in the Dominion final has been taken by the Calvert Trophy, which accompanied by a $1,000 cash award.

The announcement said a classical play shall be considered as a play of "recognized value" at least 50 years old. The decision on its award will be made by the adjudicator who judges the 13 regional festivals.

Young RCMP Constable Cracks Narcotics Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—A boyish-faced RCMP constable Tuesday told of his life as an undercover agent working to crack the narcotics traffic here.

For the first time, the RCMP gave permission for reporters to interview 23-year-old Gerald Howe, who posed as a drug addict to trap "pushers" in the cafes and taverns of Vancouver's skid road.

For two months constable Howe lived a precarious life in the underworld. Then, on April 15, a total of 31 persons were rounded up. In subsequent trials 21 were convicted, and there are eight cases pending. Two were acquitted and one case was appealed. Sentences ranged up to five years.

Constable Howe was posted from a detachment in the B.C. interior to work on the narcotics job, and started playing his part after only four days' briefing by veteran narcotics officers.

'MADE "CONTACT"

Shadowed by two plainclothes men, he made his first "contact" with a dope addict in a tavern, and through this addict met a girl who introduced him to a dope seller.

"His name was Mah Fon Shee," said Howe. "He directed the girl to a [illegible] where he had his drug cache.

[illegible] must have meant a lot to Mah Fon Shee. I went up to him in a cafe the next day and said:

" 'Have you got?'

"He said 'yeah' and I got my cap for $5."

Thus, 24 hours after he'd met his first "pusher," and eight days after he'd been dropped into the underworld, the constable had the evidence for his first case.

Difficult To Convince Firms Of NB's Wealth In Minerals

BATHURST, N.B. (CP) — Many people are probably wondering why it has taken so long to discover New Brunswick's mineral potential.

After all, the iron ore in Labrador and uranium deposits in Saskatchewan were far less accessible than the base metals find in the northeastern part of this province.

The truth is New Brunswickers have been claiming a great mineral potential for nearly two decades. Their difficulty was in convincing the mining companies.

The companies were wary because the province's mining history has been virtually one of small operations which soon petered out. And all the talk in those days was about iron ore.

MAGIC WORDS

It turned out that "base metals" were the magic words.

An Irish prospector named Paddy Meahan of West Bathurst was one fellow who associated base metals with iron ore. Using base metals as his argument, he tried to attract investment capital to this district 17 years ago.

But the experts turned him down. Meahan says mining in New Brunswick was retarded because Quebec and Ontario interests believed that only the old pre-Cambrian shield carried ore in large enough quantities to assure successful operations. New Brunswick is in the Appalachian region.

A lot of prospectors have scoured the rugged district since then, and the Bathurst iron mine opened and closed almost in the middle of today's mining activity without discovering base metals in the ore.

Last summer, however, Andrew Baldwin, a University of New Brunswick geology student how working in Alberta, detected mineral indication while comparing Bathurst ore with Labrador iron ore.

INFORMED COMPANY

Labratory examinations by Dr. Graham MacKenzie, U. of N.B. geology professor, turned up base metals—silver, lead, zinc and some copper. Dr. MacKenzie informed a Montreal company for which he had been doing research.

The company passed on the information to mining interests headed by J. J. Boylen of Toronto. This time drilling equipment was rushed to the area. Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation was formed, a shaft started, and soon names like New Larder U and Bathurst began appearing on financial pages.

These names sparked the heaviest trading in the 100-year history of the Toronto stock market.

And this town, which once looked to shipbuilding for prosperity, has turned its eyes toward mining—and the future.

Power Project To Start Sometime During August

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The gigantic St. Lawrence power development project will be launched by Canada this month, a New York state power official said Tuesday, providing New York receives its federal licence before mid-August.

John E Burton, chairman of the New York state power authority, also said the state will be ready to join Canada early in 1954, or by next spring at the latest.

Burton noted in an interview that Canada has said it is ready to proceed on some phases of the project at once.

MUST GET LICENCE

"But they can't until we're sure we have got a licence," he added.

The state authority was granted licence rights last month by the federal power commission to join with the Ontario hydro-electric power commission on developing the power potential of the St. Lawrence river. The project, as planned, would eventually tie in with the St. Lawrence seaway.

Mr. Burton said actual granting of the licence should become final Aug. 14.

Scout Leader In City, Peter Dominik Moves To New Store During 25th Year In City

This is a happy day for Peter Dominik.

Twenty-five years ago today a 14-year-old boy arrived from his native Hungary to face a new world in Peterborough. He couldn't speak a word of English and was unfamiliar with the western customs and practices.

Only seven years after his arrival, he was representing the youth of Canada at an international Boy Scout Jamboree in Sweden.

Eleven years after his arrival, he was in business for himself. Nineteen years later he had opened his own store.

And 25 years, to the day, later Peter Dominik Appliances is moving into a newer, larger store, a sign of expanding business and increased sales.

NOT ALL SUCCESSES

Yet his life has not been successes alone. His first job ended when his employer went broke. He trudged the streets among the ranks of the unemployed during the depression. He was fired from his second job and laid off from his third. His fourth job paid only $5 a week.

But strength and determination, the same qualities he showed during his 19 years in the Boy Scout movement, paid off in the end.

When he arrived in Canada at the age of 14, Peter couldn't speak English, so he started school, first grade, all over again. He stuck it for two years but retired from school to work as a toolmaker for the Peterborough Tool and Die Works.

WALKED STREETS

Two years later the business failed and he walked the streets looking for work. Failing to find work, Peter, now 18, returned to school and took a course in electricity at PCVS, graduating in 1935.

The same year, one year after joining the Boy Scouts as a rover scout, he was one of seven Canadian youths chosen to represent the country at the international jamboree in Sweden. He celebrated his 21st birthday there.

Jobs at CGE and Johnson Motors were short-lived and thus he started as an electrical apprentice with W. Gordon Hall in 1936. Finishing his apprenticeship, he started out by himself and in three years had two men working for him.

The war interfered then and Mr. Dominik joined the RCAF as an electrician serving for 3½ years in northern British Columbia. Returning home he fulfilled his ambition in 1947 by opening his electrcial appliance store on Hunter St.

His business address, once 170 Hunter St., has now been changed to 186 Hunter as Mr. Dominik resumes business at the new store.

Sterling Area Reports Gain

LONDON (AP)—The British-led sterling area gained $89,000,000 during July, pushing the group's reserves up to $2,456,000,000 the Treasury announced.

The rise was unexpectedly big. The reserves of Britain's world-wide money system, which is pegged to the pound sterling, have been climbing all this year but at a declining rate.

American defense aid formed part of the gain to the extent of $36,000,000 — additionally Britain got $2,000,000 as part of her monthly settlement with the European Payments Union.

Altogether then the sterling area earned $51,000,000 more than it spent in the United States and other hard currency countries.

Prince Takes Mother To See Train Engine

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Charles insisted on taking his mother, the Queen, the whole length of the platform to see a gleaming green railway engine before they left London Tuesday night for a two-month holiday at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

The four-year-old prince, accompanied by the silk-hatted station manager, conducted his mother and sister, Princess Anne, 2, to the front of the train.

The driver and fireman of the royal train were presented to the young prince, who chatted with them enthusiastically.

26 New Polio Cases

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-six cases of polio were recorded in Toronto during the week-end, bringing the city's total this year to 131 cases, Dr. L. A. Pequegnat, medical officer of health, reported Tuesday. Two of the 26 were fatal, increasing the death toll from the disease to six.

To All Our Friends:

The sixth of August is a very memorable day to us. Not only because it is the opening day of our new store, but by strange co-incidence it also marks the 25th anniversary of our arrival to Canada from our Native Hungary.

To a lot of people this is meaningless. Looking back to conditions at "home" during the past 25 years we are thankful to God for bringing us to Canada, and for His Blessings and Goodness showered upon us.

We came here as strangers, without knowing the language or anyone. It was not an easy 25 years, but we accepted the challenge put before us and with confidence we faced the future.

Canada and her people accepted us and now, we are surrounded by our many friends. We were made as one of the "Family" and grew up as one of Her many children.

Canada is for every one, the opportunity and challenge that she provides is priceless. Pray to God that He will protect Her from Her enemies. I [illegible] in the past, and will in the future, try to do my utmost to preserve the freedom and privileges provided to us.

We are thankful to Canada for all the benefits received during the past 25 years.

We are thankful to her peoplefor accepting us and helping us to meet the challenge.

In our new store, we are endeavouring to bring you service that will give you satisfaction. We realize that this was not always the case in the past, due to circumstances beyond our control,

We are facing the future with new hope and confidence and pledge ourselves to serve Our Country and the people in it, our community, our friends new and old.

Sincerely,

L. PETER DOMINIK AND FAMILY

Cat Fur Fashions Cause A Burst Of Indignation

By ALISON SETTLE

The opening of a new fashion house is a great event in Paris and must be signalised by pouring, as it were, a quart crowd of audience into the pint pot of the salon where the collection takes place. Three hundred people, it was said, could be accommodated in the Marc Bohan Salon in the Avenue George V for this very young designer's opening night. Well over five hundred attended to applaud.

Encouragement rather than criticism is the rule for such first showings in the dress world of Paris, but there was here no need for kindness. It was a masterly show, well composed and elegant. What had been expected was the collection of a newcomer, such as that of De Givenchy, who a year or so back produced a collection flowering with ideas. But this was an entirely different collection, composed for women of the world.

Bohan uses cleverly the fabrics of the season. Tweeds with a peasant-like roughness make straight hanging coats, which, until the Dior collection had been shown, would have been considered bulky but which, in comparison, seem merely wide. Red fox and lynx collar them above drop shoulders. Sleeves are, however, inset a few inches below the true shoulder top instead of being cut in raglan fashion. Jerseys and soft woollens make princess dresses with a twisted drapery around a lower-cut neckline, referred to by the new designer as "screwed decolletages." Form-fitting cocktail dresses in gleaming alpaca have deeply-scooped necklines. Printed gauze is shaped into puff skirts, black velvet alternately into sheath shape or widened bell shape for evening wear. All are given the "screwed decolletage."

Madame Schiaparelli might have had far greater applause for her very colourful show of dresses if she had not announced a lavish use of cat fur to line coats — the fur of tortoiseshell cats in particular. As the first number so decorated (a tweed in a blend of tan and black) appeared with its huge collar and lining of cats' fur, a burst of indignant conversation rose from the audience, among whom must have been many cat lovers. After that it was had to get a fashion critic back into the right mood to appreciate her interesting less-than-fitting cut — coats cut purposely much too large, sleeves set in as low down as at elbow-depth, and her vast collars of velvet combined with fur (cat or otherwise).

Balenciaga is the house which, with Dior, has entirely changed women's ideas of what is chic, and the bodyline on which such dresses should appear. This season the Spanish designer (now long established in Paris) has refined and consolidated his non-fit fashion into one of the loveliest collections yet seen. His tweed coats are big without being bulky and only slightly hollow-chested and curve-backed. His cloth short coats in velvety woollens, coloured in tones of cream, cognac, or in citrus yellow, are wide, straight and simple. Needlerun tweeds make suits that are collarless because they are companioned by enormous matching stoles. Dresses are often belted or sashed way down below the hip level in the imitation 1926 style that Balenciaga first sponsored; but his skirts are fairly long.

Lanvin can always be trusted to produce gay ideas. The number of shades of green used in his collection is pointed up by ivy leaves pinned far out on the shoulder by brooches. The folded shoulder cut which the house refers to as being "of ladybird influence" is accentuated by little pockets put in at the join of the sleeves.

Most dresses (and this is common to many houses in Paris) must serve more than one occasion, so bone-stiffened corseleted jackets with shoulder drapery are used over day and evening dresses and can be removed. Removable enormous cape collars are put on coats and suits.

In length of skirt, Lanvin compromises between the elegantly long skirt-length of Balmain and the cut off skirts of Dior by using a length of fifteen inches from the ground.—(OFNS-Copyright).

Local Couple Wed In Blackville, N.B.

Baskets of white gladioli, 'mums and sweetpeas made a lovely setting in St. Andrew's United Church, Blackville, N.B., for the marriage on July 25th of Esther Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward MacLaggan, and Graydon Lavern Hadwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hadwin, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. James Cross, minister of the church, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Wilbert Conners, church organist played the wedding music. Guest soloist, Mrs. Coburn MacLaggan of Peterborough, sister-in-law of the bride, sang the "Lords Prayer" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless gown of white satin with over skirts of white tulle illusion with embroidered front panels and over this a full length coat of Alencen lace, fashioned with fitted bodice, and with tiny white buttons, to the high neckline, the sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara head dress. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her attendant, Mrs. William MacLaggan of Blackville, her sister-in-law, was wearing a gown of powder blue nylon net with Chantilly lace bodice, scalloped edged portrait neckline, tiny puffed sleeves, the skirt with wide side inserts of lace, and her headdress was of blue nylon net with clusters of blue flowers. She carried a nosegay of sweetpeas, with blue streamers.

Mr. Wellie Reynolds of Peterborough was groomsman. Ushers were Coburn and William MacLaggan, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held at the church hall, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of blue crepe, white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom's mother who also received wore a gown of dusky rose crepe, navy accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Afterward the couple left on a trip through the Maritimes, the bride travelling in a two-piece, pale blue, linen dress, accessories of blue and white and a corsage of red roses.

They will take up residence at 875 Water Street, Peterborough.

DOROTHY DIX:

Lonely Woman Ponders One-Sided Romance

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past two years I have been dating a man who is in love with me and wants to marry me. I a m31, and nat particularly attractive. I know the man will make a good husband, but I would have to keep on working since he doesn't make enough to support a wife plus his mother. However, my real problem is that I don't love him. Could I be happy married to someone I respected, but didn't love? I do get so lonely. I long for companionship. Do you think I should marry the man or wait until I find someone I really love? NELL

A DIFFICULT TASK

ANSWER: If you marry a man you don't love, marriage will demand a great deal more sacrifice from you than it would if you loved your husband. The reason for this is that what we do for those we love seldom is in the nature of a sacrifice, but it is much more difficult to exert effort for people we don't love—no matter how much we respect them. For instance, if you married this man you would evidently share a home with your mother-in-law. For a husband you loved, it would be a pleasure to go out of your way to create a happy atmosphere under such circumstances; but could you do it for a man who had no claim on your deeper emotions?

Marriage for companionship is by no means doomed to failure; in fact, the record of success is quite good. You must be fully aware, however, that while you are receiving a full measure of love from your man, you have none to offer in return, and the balance can only be kept by great devotion from you. You also must face the possibility that eventually your husband may tire of his one-sided love. If you can face up to difficulties and conquer them, I'd say go ahead. If you find it difficult to face challenges, better wait.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband insists that his secretary must be attractive, with intelligence and personality. He says these assets are important, since she must meet people and conduct business for him. I am not a jealous woman, but I do admit I'm uneasy when he works with a pretty young girl. W.R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband is absolutely right in his contention that a girl who is called upon to meet people should have an attractive appearance. She is his representative in business, just as you are at home. Of course, there is no denying that personable office workers cause sleepless nights for many a wife, but in most cases the anxiety is unfounded. Secretaries have their own lives to lead too, and to most of them a boss is just the man who pays the salary.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently, my husband's people wrote asking him for $250 a year toward their support. I didn't want him to send it, and when he did I left him. I never have been able to get along with his grandparents, who raised him. Do you think I should go back to him? L.G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Not unless you can do so with a change of heart.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Roast Leg Of Lamb On Special Menu

Roast Leg of Yearling Lamb
Mint Sauce
Pan Roasted Small New Potatoes
In Jackets
Shredded Young Green Beans
Cucumbers In Sour Cream
Fresh Blueberries
Lemon Cup Cakes
Coffee

Directions

The sole purpose of writing about this meal is to encourage you to ask your butcher for yearling lamb.

I am assured by our department of agriculture that there is plenty of yearling lamb available. All that is required is a demand-from you and me.

I demanded—and as a result have a 10-lb. leg of yearling lamb in the oven roasting at this very minute. I can smell the lovely fragrance here at my desk as I type this.

The reason for the 10-lb. weight is because it is cut about 7 or 8 inches above the hip, so some of the part that would be known as Porterhouse if it were beef is included. I paid 39 cents per pound for it; $4.06 for the whole piece. That is inexpensive choice meat at today's meat prices. It is no fatter than spring lamb. Indeed it is not as fat as most cuts of beef.

ROAST LEG OF YEARLING LAMB

Cut off the leg below the knee joint where the butcher has broken it. Roast it beside the meat or reserve it for making Scotch Broth later. Wipe the meat with a cold damp cloth, and sprinkle it generously all over with salt, pepper and flour. Put on rack in roasting pan, and roast in oven of 325 deg. Fahr. for 3½ or 3¾ hours.

Serve lamb with

MINT SAUCE

Chop washed and dried fresh mint leaves stripped from stem and chop as finely as possible on board. Heat ½ cup vinegar with 1 tablespoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt and shake of pepper until simmering, then pour this over the chopped mint. Cover and let stand 1 hour.

CUCUMBERS IN SOUR CREAM

Once you have tried this exotic dish you will want to put it into your permanent file, for it is an ideal way to serve cucumbers, and this is cucumber season. Pare strips of skin from a long cucumber—so that half of the skin is left on. Score this deeply with a fork, then slice cucumber thinly. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 1/16 tsp. pepper, 1 tablespoon finely minced chives or green onions to ½ cup sour cream. Mix well, then add 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Pour this over the sliced cucumber, and lift the slices so that cream touches all of them. Cover and chill 30 minutes before serving.

LEMON CUPCAKES

One and one-half cups sifted cake flour, ¼ teaspoon each soda and salt, 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind, ½ cup butter or mararine, 1 cup sugar, 4 egg yolks beaten until thick and lemon colored, ¾ tablespoon lemon juice, 4 egg whites stiffy beaten. Sift flour and measure it then sift it with the sat and soda 3 times. Add the lemon rind to the butter or margarine and cream them until light, then gradually cream the sugar into them, and beat all until very light and fluffy. Add yolks which have been beaten until light, then lemon juice. Add flour, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Fold in egg whites which have been beaten until stiff. Bake in buttered muffin tins or in unbuttered fluted paper cups. The fluted paper cups hold their shape better if placed in muffin tins to bake. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. When cold frost with Lemon Frosting made by creaming 3 tbsp. butter with 1 tablespoon grated orange rind. Begin adding 3 cups sifted icing sugar alternately with 2 tablespoons lemon juice mixed with 1 tablespoon water until all of the sugar has been added. Cut this amount in half to frost the cupcakes for the recipe makes 18. This amount of frosting will cover tops and sides of a layer cake.

Pioneer, 94 Dies In Fire

RESTOULE, Ont. (CP)—Thomas McKee, 94, a pioneer who lived alone in his cottage near here, 20 miles southwest of North Bay, died in his flaming home today. It is believed he was trapped when flames gutted his cabin on the shore of Restoule lake.

Tourists near the elderly man's home were awakened early today by the crackling flames. Without equipment they stood by helplessly while the log cabin that Mr. Mckee built was gutted.

Mr. McKee, a retired trapper, lived in the Restoule area for 87 years.

Origin of the fire was not known but it is believed to have started after Mr McKee lit a fire during the chilly night.

Teacher Chloroforms Class Of Students

CRANBROOK, Eng. (Reuters) School teacher Donald Pankhurst, 25, today was accused of committing what others in his profession may have felt urged to do in impulsive moments — chloroforming his pupils.

He pleaded guilty to giving a chloroform-like fluid to both boy and girl students under the pretext it was smelling salts. Police testified the students became "drowsy, partly unconscious and, in all cases, ill."

Pankhurst was freed on bail until Sept. 7. The court asked for a medical report on him to be produced at that time.

Copper Back On London Free Market

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—Copper came back on the London free market today for the first time in 14 years.

Closing quotations on the London Metal Exchange were £215 to £217½ a ton spot—a big drop from the £252 which ruled until Tuesday under government control.

The quotations of £215 to £217½ were the equivalent of 26.87 to 27.20 cents a pound. At £252 a ton, the price was about 31.50 cent a pound.

In the U. S., domestic copper is available at between 28.50 and 3 cents a pound.

The three months price was £20 to £202½. Turnover was 2,250 tons.

The government took over all dealings in non-ferrous metals in 1939 at the start of the Second World War. Tin was handed back to the free market in 1949, lead in 1952 and zinc in January this year.

In May, the government announced it was shedding its copper trading and since then the trade had been idling to await the expected lower price in the free market.

Authoritative sources say the government now holds a record 240,000 tons of copper stocks. The government announced last week it will release copper from these stocks as necessary to keep the free market full.

Bataan March Worse Than Yalu

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP)—An American who survived the terrible Bataan death march in the Philippines and an agonizing mid-winter death march as a prisoner of the Communists in Korea came back to liberty today.

He is Cpl. John L. Dixon, 32, of San Jose, Calif.

As a Red captive, Dixon was forced to march with 50 others from Seoul to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria—about 200 miles. He was captured Dec. 31, 1950.

MARCHED MONTH

"We marched for more than a month to reach a prison camp at the Yalu," Dixon said. "Some men died. North Koreans who guarded us on the march threatened to kill any one who dropped out of the line of march, so we helped or carried our buddies who had frost bitten feet or who otherwise were unable to walk.

"They fed us cracked corn and millet. We were half starved and half frozen the whole trip. Many a the night we spent in open cow sheds with temperatures far below freezing. I would spend a lot of every night jumping up and down to keep my feet and hands from freezing. Lice were eating us up.

"But I got through that one just like I got through the Bataan death march. Looking back on both experiences, I think the Bataan march was worse."

ShakespearianFestival Aids Amateur Theatre

STRATFORD (CP) — Amateur theatre in Canada will benefit from the Stratford Shakespearian festival, Mrs. Louis White, president of the Dominion Drama Festival, said here today.

"We have been worried about both our finances and our standards in the Dominion Drama Festival," she said.

"But if Canadians can come and see these plays with their inspiring direction, they will naturally try to improve in their own amateur plays."

The successful popular production of Shakespeare in Stratford will also stimulate interest of the Canadian audience in good plays, she added.

Two Shot To Death In Farm Home

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two persons were shot to death at their farm home on the 13th concession, London township, today. Police found the bodies of Lorne Hayden and his wife in the front room of the two-storey house when they answered an anonymous call that shots were heard coming from the home about 9:30 a. m.

Both had been shot with a .32 calibre rifle. Police said apparently Hayden had shot his wife and then committed suicide. The woman had been shot in the stomach and head.

Shelley Winters Has Bad Eye Infection

CALGARY, Alta. (CP)—Shelley Winters, Hollywood movie star making a picture with Alan Ladd at Banff, has contracted a severe infection in her right eye.

The infection, believed to be caused by an allergy, has completely closed her eye and caused a swelling in the right side of her face. She contracted the ailment yesterday during the first day's shooting.

Director Raoul Walsh said filming will go on as scheduled. He plans to film only the left side of Miss Winters' face until the infection subsides.

The movie star arrived in Banff from Hollywood Sunday.

Charge Of Voting Against Social Security A Lie—Fraser

Gordon K. Fraser, Progressive Conservative candidate for Peterborough, let fly a double-barreled blast at his Liberal opponents in an address Tuesday night at Lakefield.

He labelled it as a "downright lie" that he had ever voted against social security measures during his 13-years in the House of Commons; and he ridiculed the Lakehurst speech of Senator J. J. Duffus in which the senator said "Mr. Fraser's influence did not have much to do with the establishment of Peterborough's new federal building".

Forty-five people braved the heavy rain to go to the Lakefield Memorial Hall to hear Mr. Fraser; his guest speaker, the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare; and other speakers.

Mr. Fraser was particularly vehement in his denunciation of a July 24 radio address by a Liberal speaker identified only as a Mrs. Parker.

"It was the worst four and a half minutes of garbled untruth I've heard in a long time," he said. Mrs. Parker's scriptwriters had interpreted a speech of George Drew so as to indicate that the PC leader would "cut down on the number of people receiving family allowances".

"That's playing politics in a way I'd never stoop to," he said. "George Drew is pledged to improve the old age pensions and family allowances."

Mr. Fraser also quoted Mrs. Parker as saying that he (i. e. Mr. Fraser) had opposed social security measures and voted against them in the House of Commons.

DOWNRIGHT LIE

"That's a downright lie of the worst kind," he said. "I've never voted against the passing of any social security measures ... And you can rest assured that when George Drew is prime minister he will support old age pensions with no means test. Old age pensions and family allowances are here to stay."

Mr. Fraser said that in 1941 he had asked the government to increase the old age pension.

Mr. Fraser said that he had kept constant pressure on at Ottawa to get the federal building. Perhaps "one of the main officials of the Department" hadn't discussed the matter with him but as a member of the House of Commons he discussed it with the Minister, not with "office boys".

After receiving the personal assurance of Minister of Public Works Fournier that the federal building would go ahead he repeatedly discussed the matter of site and details of the plans with the Minister.

"Mr. Fournier asked me if we had a good firm of architects in Peterborough and I told him W.R.L. Blackwell and Craig," said Mr. Fraser.

"I also had to work mighty hard to sell the idea to the former postmaster general, Mr. Rinfret," he said.

At one time, impatient of delay, Mr. Fraser said he jogged Mr. Fournier about the project, and he got back this note:

"My promises always stand in normal times. Earthquakes, war etc., cramp my style."

GOING TO HAVE IT

"Well," said Mr. Fraser, "we needed the federal building and we're going to have it."

Mr. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Welfare, said he didn't come from the neighboring riding of Northumberland to discuss federal issues. His reason for attending the Lakefield meeting, he said, was to speak insupport of three men whom he knew personally—Mr. Fraser, the Hon. Harold R. Scott, a colleague in the Ontario cabinet, and Mr. Drew.

The Minister of Welfare described Mr. Fraser as a man "always willing to give of his time and talents to help us down in Northumberland." In Ontario there are as many as 250,000 aged or disabled people or neglected children that have to be looked after. Mr. Scott and Mr. Fraser bring as many "problems" to his attention as the representatives of any county in Ontario.

"To establish social democracy we must look after the people who are in need through circumstances beyond their control, and are unable to look after themselves," said Mr. Goodfellow ... "Don't let anybody tell you the PC party is taking a back seat in social legislation."

The Minister of Welfare said that in 1945, at the Dominion-Provincial Conference, Mr. Drew proposed that old age pensions be paid without the means test; but this didn't come into force until 1952—and then only those over 70 years got it.

At present the federal government pays the $40 monthly pension to all over 70. They go 50-50 with the province in paying the $40 monthly pension—available only through a means test—to those in the 65 to 69 age bracket.

"That places us in an embarrassing position," said Mr. Goodfellow. "There is a means test from 65 to 69 and then along comes Santa Claus."

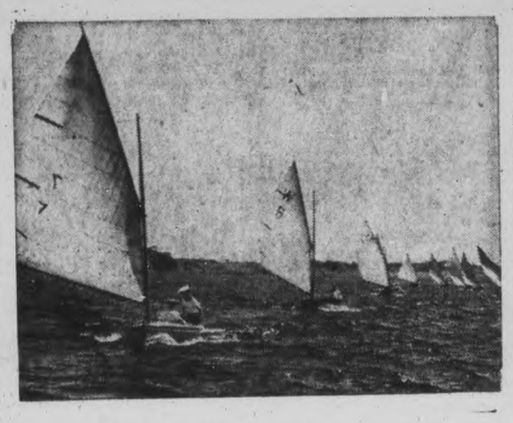
5,000 AIDED

"The disabled person's allowance has given me more satisfaction than any other piece of legislation," said Mr. Goodfellow. "It has been operating for a year and the allowance goes to more than 5,000 persons in Ontario."

It is restricted to people between the ages of 18 and 70 who need somebody else to help them get along. If these restrictions didnt' exist he estimated there would be 50,000 applications—people with everything from chronic stomach ache to ingrowing toe nails.

Mr. Goodfellow paid a personal tribute to Mr. Drew. It was the PC leader who "inspired me" to enter political life, he said.

"Mr. Drew is a great Canadian and a great statesman. He is a man who, if given the opportunity, will do things to make Canada a better place to live in.



"He is the most misunderstood man in public life in Canada ... He won three elections in five years for the PC party in Ontario. For the past number of years Ontario has had the greatest degree of prosperity it has ever known and a great deal of that prosperity is due to the progressive policies of George Drew."

Mr. Goodfellow said that Mr. Drew "re-introduced democracy into the government at Queen's Park" when he was elected in 1943. All legislation is hammered out in party caucus—examined carefully for flaws.

Other speakers were Mr. Scott and Mrs. Lilian Cridland, president of the Peterborough Women's PC Association. Elwood H. Northey was chairman of the meeting.

T. J. Carley Blasts PCs As Prophets Of Doom

Speaking to a rally of about 35 people in the township hall at Keene Tuesday night, T. J. Carley, QC, said that the Progressive Conservatives were some of the most gloomy prophets of doom who, after the Second World War, said the Liberal government was leading Canada into a depression.

"Following the war, when a building period took place such as was never seen before in this country, our member of parliament was asking about nails, nails, nails," Mr. Carley said. "But with the building that was going on, it's no wonder there was a shortage of nails.

"If you look in Hansard, you will see that when our member got up in the House they would shout 'nails' at him.

"I would suggest the reason the Conservatives have been in the doldrums for the past 20 years is that they have spent their time seeking out grievences and have not come forward with a strong positive policy.

"We know Mr. Drew is no magician. We know he didn't fulfill his 22 points as premier of Ontario. He says he is going to take marketing out of politics. Well, he said then he was going to take Hydro out of politics. So whom did he appoint? Bob Saunders, a Tory if there ever was one, the Hon. George Challies, a die-hard, and Ross Strike, whose affiliation with the Conservative party can't be doubted.

"Mr. Fraser is taking Ted Bradshew, a magician, around to his meetings, pulling rabbits out of hats and ribbons out of your ears. Maybe he thinks George can do the same. Maybe Ted Bradshaw can fool us but George can't."

Comparing the leaders of the two main parties, Mr. Carley said that Mr. St. Laurent was pressed into politics to replace the Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe when the latter died. Mr. St. Laurent had shown courage when he stayed in the cabinet during the conscription crisis. At Regina, urged to say that he would go ahead with the South Saskatchewan irrigation project, he said he would not approve it if it was not in the national interest to spend so much money.

"But Mr. Drew doesn't hesitate to promise to spend the $225 millions, in spite of the fact he has fewer facts to go on," the speaker said. "Wherever he has gone he has offered to spend money on local issues wholesale.

"He has offered to build new bridges in Quebec and Nova Scotia. Yet he says he is going to reduce the budget, and reduce it out of revenue.

"In view of the Korea armistice, the government could have outbid Mr. Drew but you would have lost respect for them. The first thing you would expect of the government is the defence of the state."

Mr. Carley said that the so-called scandal at Petawawa had been a small thing. There were bound to be a few dishonest people in the armed forces just as in civilian life. Concerning surpluses of army stores, he said "the very men who are criticizing the government for over-abundance would have been the first to criticize if the Korean war had spread and there had not been sufficient supplies."

Opposition charges that the cost per capita of supplying the armed service were larger than in the United States or Great Britain were unfair, Mr. Carley claimed. The government had stressed the air arm in its defences and had had to make huge capital expenditures for RCAF stations.

"Mr. Drew said government expenditures on the armed forces had been $2½ billions and he would save half a billion," the speaker said. "As a matter of fact, our expenditures were two billions. That sort of promise doesn't carry conviction; it carries contempt."

Pointing out that farm production had increased greatly since the war, Mr. Carley said that the problem of British markets would have to be solved by leaders of Great Britain, the United States and Canada getting together.

"Mr. Drew says he has a formula but he hasn't said what it is. What suggestions he has made haven't had the approval of the best economic and financial brains.

"We know that we have great men in the present government who have done great service to Canada and yet the opposition says men like that are dictators bringing parliament into contempt. If anyone is bringing parliament into contempt, it is the Conservative opposition.

"One man gets up in the House and says his bit and the rest get up and parrot him. Are our cabinet ministers supposed to sit and listen to that? Who do they think the government is responsible to — the opposition? They're not under our constitution. We believe in majority rule.

"The people of Peterborough have done their duty by the opposition," Mr. Carley concluded. "Let's return a man to the government side of the House."

The Liberal candidate, Max Swanston, urged the audience "not to trade prosperity for promises."

Coming out of the depression, through the Second World War and into the Korean war, he said, the present government had instituted and improved social services and Canada was recognized as one of the most prosperous countries in the world.

More than a million dollars had been paid out for family allowances in Peterborough riding last year, he said, and the same was true for old age pensions without a means test.

Jack Roper of Peterborough, lauded the government's Veterans' Charter and told of the assistance he was given in the way of university training.

The Department of Veterans Affairs was set up in 1945 with 1,104,225 people in the armed services he said. During the peak period of 1946-47, 95 per cent of these had found places in civilian occupations or training for civilian careers.

Dit Clapper, Liberal candidate in the previous federal election, also spoke briefly. Chairman of the meeting was Alan Easson.

Liberals Anxious Raise Productivity

LIVERPOOL, N. S. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott told a political meeting here Tuesday that one of the chief objectives of the Liberal government is to increase productivity.

"I hope it will be possible to make further reduction in corporation tax because this is a tax on productivity," he said.

Mr. Abbott was speaking in support of Resources Minister Winters, seeking re-election in Queens-Lunenburg. Mr. Winters said he would "see to it that Queens county continues to get its proper share of defence orders" and would continue to fight for retention of subsidies on movement of farm grains from Western Canada to Nova Scotia.

70 Americans Savoring First Taste Of Freedom

By ROBERT EUNSON

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea — (AP)—Seventy Americans, the horror and boredom of Communist prison camps behind them, savored their first taste of freedom today at this vilage created to speed them on their way home.

Eight of the men, strapped to stretchers, were flown here aboard four helicopters from Panmunjom where they were freed.

There were few tales of torture, death and maiming.

Some interviews were conducted with frequent interruptions from censors and the men obviously had been told there were only certain subjects they could discuss.

"The war department caught hell after some of the stories the sick and wounded told when they got out last April," one officer said in referring to the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners last spring.

CAN'T WRITE IT

One prisoner said he was captured because a South Korean division collapsed on the flank of his U.S. division. The censor and an interview officer interrupted:

"You cannot write that!"

The censor was told by one reporter that he wrote the story when it happencd more than two years ago.

The same censor refused to allow the former prisoner to discuss deaths of Allied captives on a mid-winter march from Seoul north to the Yalu river "except those deaths you actually saw yourself."

NO SMILES

None of the litter patients was smiling.

A hospital corpsman remarked sadly:

"Here it is the happiest day of their lives and they are too sick to appreciate it."

One man tried to rise from his stretcher as it lay just outside an ambulance, but he was too weak to stand alone.

Another sat stolidly in an ambulance reading a small Bible.

A convoy of 10 ambulances brought other liberated prisoners here from Panmunjom.

WARM WELCOME

All were greeted by welcoming soldiers, a marine band and Allied leaders including Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th army commander and U.S. State Secretary Dulles.

"We are off to a good start," said Taylor in a radio brodcast from Freedom Village. "The happiness and eagerness in their faces speaks for them."

Dulles called the occasion "one of the great moments of my life."

Hope For 14 Men Dims As 7 Bodies Found By Ships

LONDON (AP)—Ships today picked up the bodies of two more American airmen from the giant U.S. air force RB-36 bomber which crashed in flames in the Atlantic Wednesday. Five bodies have been recovered thus far. Four men were rescued alive. Fourteen others of the 23-man crew are still missing and hope dimmed tonight that they could have survived. Two bodies were picked up today, one by the Swedish freighter Monica Smith and the other by the British weather ship India.

Wind increased in violence today over a 200-mile expanse of heaving sea, 300 to 500 miles west of Ireland as planes and ships searched the area. Rain reduced visibility to about three miles.

GET FAINT MESSAGE

One faint radio message from the freighter Manchester Shipper raised the possibility that more men might have been found alive. The skipper reported he was bringing in survivors. Previous messages said the ship had only one survivor and two bodies.

A sister ship, the Manchester Pioneer, bound for Canada, reported that the three survivors it picked up have been transferred to the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia, due in Liverpool Saturday.

Earlier the Manchester Shipper said the survivor it had aboard was Sgt. Roy de Vere of Bennington, Okla. Two bodies picked up by the ship were those of Capt. Norman Hunter and Sgt. Eugene Yeoman.

A crew list issued Wednesday by Travis air force base, Calif., gave Capt. Hunters address as San Jacinto, Calif., and Sgt. Yeoman's as Buchanan, Mich.

HAS THREE SURVIVORS

Another British ship, the 1,805-ton Manchester Pioneer, reported it had three survivors aboard. The French trawler Magdalena picked up one body.

Travis air force base said the three other survivors were Maj. George E. Parkes, 37, from Nephi, Utah; airman Harold E. Parker, 22, Spokane, Wash., and Sgt. Charles M. Dehaven, 24, Stroudsburg, Pa.

The third body was not identified.

The radio messages received here were sketchy and often garbled but they indicated two survivors had been picked up from a lifeboat dropped by an air force rescue plane Wednesday while the others had been taken off one-man dinghies.

The huge plane was on a training flight from Travis air force base to England when it went down.

Drew Charges Slander Of PC Party

QUEBEC (CP) — Hon. George Drew ended his election campaigning in Quebec Wednesday night with a charge of Liberal government "slander and misrepresentation" of the Progressive Conservatives.

The Opposition leader said the government has offered voters no policy or program, in contrast to the Conservatives' 16-point national program which he promised would be carried out "to the best of our ability."

"Never in Canadian history has a government in power sought to cling to office with such a deluge of misrepresentation, contradiction and utter confusion."

Mr. Drew spoke to an outdoor gathering of about 4,000 in front of the armories here on a cool evening. Earlier, he addressed about 3,000 persons on a college campus in the small farming town of Ste. Germaine, 55 miles south of Quebec.

MOVES INTO ONTARIO

Today he moved into Ontario for a three-day windup of his seven-week campaign for votes next Monday. He speaks this afternoon at Orillia, Ont., and tonight at a rally in Toronto.

His two speeches Wednesday concentrated on the major topics he has presented previously to audiences in this province—taxes, provincial rights and strongly-worded denials of Liberal suggestions that family allowances and pensions would be in danger under a Conservative government.

The Progressive Conservative party had presented its program "in terms that could not be misunderstood," he said. It was one policy for every part of Canada.

"Instead of answering this with any solid argument or any convincing defence of their record, the government relies on slander and misrepresentation."

CAN'T AGREE

The government had sown "the seeds of prejudice and fear."

"In other parts of Canada they say that I am too friendly with Quebec. Here it is said I am anti-French. They publish advertisements saying that we will reduce taxes only by reducing family allowances and old age pensions.

"They stop at nothing. Not even my wife and children have been left untouched by their poison."

Stolen Car Ring Arrest

NEW YORK (AP)—A 29-year-old New Yorker was arrested Wednesday night as a member of a ring that brought stolen cars to the New York area from Toronto.

Police said the suspect, Emanuel Lieberman, of the Bronx, had been sought since last June 20, when he allegedly sold two Cadillacs, stolen in Toronto, to a dealer in nearby Nassau county.

Lieut. Maurice van Dyke, who led a group of Nassau detectives at the arrest, said the ring possibly was part of Toronto's notorious Boyd gang. Leonard Jackson, one of the gang, recently was hanged for the murder of a Toronto detective.

Capt. Thomas Curley said the international ring embezzled new, American-made cars in Toronto and disposed of them at cut prices. He said forged bills of sale were used to get New York registrations.

Authorities said they knew of 50 such illegal transactions, involving autos worth around $150,000.

Authorities said the auto ring used the names of reputable Canadians of good credit rating to obtain autos with small down payments.

The autos would then vanish, to turn up on dealer lots in the New York metropolitan area under phony registrations.

Will Deration Sugar In U.K. In September

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Britain's minister of food, Gwilym Lloyd George, said here today that sugar would be derationed in Britain next month. He added he hoped to abolish rationing of meat and bacon next year.

Speaking during a reception at the British embassy, Lloyd George said Britain is the only country in the world still rationing sugar. Britain also still rations meat, cooking fats, butter, margarine, some cheeses and coal.

Keep Chatham PoW In Army Hospital

MUNSAN (CP)—Doctors decided today to keep Cpl. Joseph Pelletier of Chatham, Ont., released from imprisonment by the Communists Wednesday, in hospital for a while.

Maj. Louis Lavalle of Quebec City, chief surgeon at the 25th Canadian field dressing station, opened a wound on Pelletier's leg, removed mortar fragments and cleaned it up.

When Pelletier came to, the first person he saw was an old buddy, Cpl. Beverly Lefevere, who used to drive a taxi with him in Chatham. Lefevere had been sent by the Royal Canadian Regiment to greet his old comrade.

Pelletier only Canadian released so far in the prisoner exchange, dragged out his souvenirs, a khaki denim haversack the Chinese issued him and which held an enamel rice bowl and aluminum spoon he used in captivity.

Recounting his experiences for Lefevere, Pelletier said the Communists interrogated prisoners both militarily and politically. He said he told his political questioner: "I like my own way of life, thank you."

BEWDLEY ANNUAL REGATTA on Wednesday was not all brawn, stamina or horsepower; there was beauty there, too, at the outboard racing pits. Doreen (left) and Dianne Leary of Leaside posed prettily at the controls of a souped-up motor and joined the crowd of spectators a few minutes later to see its driver send it screaming over the finish line on the Rice Lake waterfront. Incidentally, these ladies are mother and daughter. Which is which?

Broken Men Illustrate Grim Stories

Report Many Worse Than Those Exchanged Earlier

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP) —Americans and South Koreans freed by the Communists today told of beatings, burnings, death marches and starvation at the hands of their Red captors—horrors which they said killed countless fellow prisoners.

Lt.-Col. Thomas D. Harrison arrived on crutches with one leg missing. He said the Communists had starved him seven days, then repeatedly smothered him with a wet towel and revived him with jabs from a lighted cigaret in a fruitless attempt to get military information.

Harrison, from Clovis, N.Mex., is the second cousin of Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied truce negotiator.

MORE INTENSE

Thursday's accounts, if not so sweepingly lurid as ordeals described by sick and wounded PoWs freed last April in Operation Little Switch, were all the more intense and personal. A new army censorship rule allows a liberated prisoner to tell only of atrocities he saw.

The accounts were grimly accented by the sight of pitiful, broke men who made up part of today's 392 returnees. Some could hardly walk. Others were terribly emaciated. One, a South Korean, was delivered dead.

Another South Korean died of tuberculosis aboard a southbound helicopter from Panmunjom.

In contrast were cheerful British and Commonwealth prisoners.

Some of the returning Americans were in excellent condition. But in general, they were worse than the British, though not in as desperate shape as the South Koreans.

SPECIAL TARGETS

U.S. and other airmen appeared to be special targets of Red brutality—probably a reprisal for deadly Allied bombings and strafings, Allied officers said.

A Negro B-29 co-pilot, Lt. Samuel E. Massinberg of Detroit, said he got four days of continuous torture and starvation from the North Koreans, followed by a special effort to woo him to communism "because of my race."

"I understand communism better now. I hate it more," he said.

The returning prisoners presented grim evidence that some of the thousands of missing Americans never will return.

Sick, Dying PoWs Handed Back By Communists

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists gave back 392 Allied war prisoners today. Two already are dead and others were gaunt and haggard, but many returned to freedom laughing and shouting. Seventy Americans came out of Red prisons. Forty-two of them were sick or wounded. The Communists said they would send back 400 more Allied captives Friday in the third day of the Korean armistice prisoner exchange. Eighty-one will be Americans, bringing the total for three days to 221.

One South Korean died in a Communist ambulance en route to Panmunjom today. Another died shortly after.

Still other RoK soldiers were reported at the edge of death. They looked pitiful.

APPEAR HEALTHY

Some Americans appeared in good shape and the 25 Britons and 25 Turks all appeared healthy.

U.S. soldiers told of torture in North Korean stockades, of hunger and beatings and buddies who died.

Many of the diehard Red prisoners sent north broke in a frenzied demonstration as they left UN hands.

They howled, screamed, ripped their clothing and went back to communism nearly naked.

Two failed in an escape attempt. One Red smashed an American ambulance driver in the nose.

They threw boots, clothing and other gear at UN personnel. One U.S. officer was hit in the mouth with a boot and suffered a split lip.

The UN command protested sharply. A UN officer said later the Communists told him "they would take measures to see that incidents do not happen again."

SET UP FOR REPORTERS

The outbursts obviously were set up for waiting Red photographers and correspondents.

One American ambulance driver said they had orders not to make any moves against the rebellious Reds. He said they were told to grin and bear it.

Some of the South Koreans angrily tore off their clothing and shouted at Red personnel, but did not attack them. One South Korean spit at a nearby Communist officer.

A pain-wracked South Korean summed up the RoK feelings as he muttered a curse at the Communists.

Finds Canadians Want To Do Their Share

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says the feeling he gained during his cross-country election tour is that Canadians are "deeply concerned" about peace and don't want defence spending cut if their security is threatened.

He told some 2,500 persons who packed a downtown theatre Wednesday night that his impression is that Canadians feel Canada should do her "full part" along with her defence partners to supplement the absence of goodwill behind the Iron Curtain with a determination to maintain military strength to prevent a third world war.

The 10-per-cent, $250,000,000-a-year cut in defence expenditures proposed by the Progressive Conservatives would mean that Canada would not be in a position to do her full share, Mr. St. Laurent said.

At the beginning of the Korean conflict, there may have been too many teapots and too many flannelette drawers for the women's army purchased for stockpiling. But all the purchases had been "grossly exaggerated" by the Progressive Conservatives.

BIG JOB

At the most such purchases would not amount to more than $1,000,000. That would mean the Progressive Conservatives would have to cut other defence expenditures by $249,000,000 to make up their promised $250,000,00-a-year reduction. Mr. St. Laurent was sure the people of Canada did not want that done.

The Liberal leader touched on defence issues as he resumed his campaigning after a day of rest. Today he moves into the Montreal area for meetings at Lachute and the eastern and western sections of Montreal.

The Liberal government, he said, had been criticized for being dictatorial. But if there was any danger of dictatorship in Canada, it came not from the Liberal government, but from the leader of a party that opposed it.

He described that leader as the man who a few months ago had proposed suppression of broadcasting because he did not like the opinions expressed on one of the broadcasts.

A few months ago George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had been critical in Parliament of the publicly-owned CBC for allowing a broadcast by a parliament-

National Health Insurance Coldwell Dream

EDMONTON (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell says he will be ready to take a back seat in Canadian politics when a national health insurance plan is brought in.

Speaking here at a public meeting Wednesday night, Mr. Coldwell said he will be ready to "hand over the torch" to a younger man when this "last great piece of social legislation" is introduced.

The 64-year-old former school teacher, a member of Parliament since 1935 and CCF leader for 13 years, said the Canadian people have the right to adequate medical services.

The medical scheme could be financed out of general revenue and if necessary a social security contribution, based on ability to pay.

Mr. Coldwell was to leave today for Lloydminster and Prince Albert in Saskatchewan. Then he will go to his home riding of Rosetown-Biggar to continue his federal election campaign and there await the outcome of Monday's voting.

FORGET PROMISES

Speaking here in support of the three CCF candidates for Edmonton constituencies, he accused the Liberal government of reneging on election promises and delivered a blistering attack against the Social Credit party.

The CCF had been advocating unemployment insurance since 1922.

Blockade On Rail Travel Breaking Down In Germany

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist blockade on rail travel to West Berlin's free food stations was cracking today under the pressure of East Germany's hungry millions. The give-away centres reported thousands from the Soviet zone were joining the throngs of East Berliners lining up today.

Many of the new arrivals reported they had been able to buy railroad tickets to Berlin for the first time since Saturday, when the East government clamped on its travel ban.

East Germany's government made no announcement it was lifting its ban, and in many places tickets still were not on sale. Relief officials, however, reported that people were showing up from farther reaches of the Soviet zone. They said railway employees had sold them tickets at various stations.

RAIL WORKERS HELP

Railroad workers in Brandenburg province—which rings Berlin—slipped through 40,000 of their hungry countrymen.

Others got around the travel ban by bicycling, hitch-hiking, or coming by bus to stations near Berlin and then on foot into the city. Railroad men also smuggled through many food parcels for their families and friends.

The influx from East Germany and a big flood of reliefers from Soviet East Berlin sent the food stations off with a rush into their 11th day of distribution and heading for the 2,000,000-parcel mark.

Western Allied sources said they had received a trustworthy report that Russian tanks had been called out to cow a new strike threat in the huge Leuna synthetic fuel refinery at Merseburg, in Saxony-Anhalt.

20 TANKS USED

This report said that 20 tanks rolled out to surround the plant Wednesday. It said the tanks did not go into action but apparently were a warning to workers who

Red Arithmetic Puzzles Officers

BRITANNIA CAMP, Korea (CP) Canadian staff officers today were trying to reconcile Chinese arithmetic on just how many Canadians still are in Red hands.

The Chinese say they have 13 Canadians. Yet Pte. Joseph Pelletier, of Chatham, the first Canadian returned in the post-armistice exchange, said that nine others were captured with him.

Last April 20, L.Cpl. Paul Dugal of Quebec City listed 15 Canadians he had talked to and later identified others he had seen from photographs.

That totals at least 24 seen in North Korea by Canadian eyes.

Today's question is where are the other 11 or more?

The Canadian Army lists 18 men as prisoners of war and 27 missing in action. Pelletier had been listed as missing in action.

GET EXTRA SENTENCE

OTTAWA (CP) — John Wainwright, 36, and Allen Clarke, 27, today were sentenced to six months and two years respectively for escaping from a jail farm at Burritt's Rapids, Ont., about 30 miles southeast of here.

BULLETIN

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Grace Reeves of London, Ont., today scored a hole-in-one in the first round of the Canadian women's close golf championship. Mrs. Reeves got her ace on the 142-yard par-3 fifth hole. This was believed to be the first ace in the championship in its 27-year history. Mrs. Reeves used a No. 4 iron.

Security Pact Believed Near

SEOUL (AP)—United States State Secretary Dulles and President Syngman Rhee, apparently in accord on a U.S.-Korean mutual security pact, today mapped plans for the reconstruction of war-torn South Korea.

Dulles and top aides met for almost two hours with the South Korean president while subordinate officers worked on final details of a mutual defence pact.

Authoritative sources said the treaty—subject to ratification by the U.S. Senate—could be ready for initialing before Dulles leaves Saturday for Washington.

Returning Officers Asked To Aid Newspapers, Radio

OTTAWA (CP) — Returning officers and their deputies are urged to do all they can to aid The Canadian Press and other news media in promptly collecting accurate returns in the Aug. 10 election, Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, said today.

Special instructions aimed at bringing the Canadian people the fastest possible news of the election results were outlined by Mr Castonguay.

In each polling station established in the locality of the returning officer's office, the deputy returning officer has been instructed to deliver his ballot box and an accompanying envelope containing a preliminary statement of the poll to the returning officer as soon as possible after closing of the poll.

Every deputy returning officer for outlying polling stations has been instructed to telephone or telegraph the appropriate officer of the result from his poll as soon as the count is completed.

Mr. Castonguay said:

"The returning officer for each electoral district has been specially directed to prepare on election night a compilation of the votes cast in each polling station of his electoral district as the ballot boxes are received from local polling stations and as the results are telephoned or telegraphed to him from outlying polling divisions.

"This procedure will be uniform in all constituencies.

"The returning officers also have been directed to furnish the public and the represeintatives of The Canadian Press and other news media with progressive bulletins giving the state of the poll at various intervals during the evening of polling day.

"In order that the public throughout Canada may be informed of these progressive bulletins it is of the utmost importance that the returning officers and deputy returning officers take care to see that their instructions on the subject are carefully carried out.

"Returning officers have been requested to advise candidates or their representatives with progressive bulletins, upon request, as soon as these are available."

Clark Believes Reds Hold More Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark said today the Reds in North Korea may hold between 2,000 and 3,000 more American prisoners than the 3,313 they have said they will exchange.

The Far East commander also told a Pentagon news conference he applied today for retirement from the army, effective Oct. 31.

Clark had this to say about the Korean prisoners:

1. The United Nations command has evidence indicating the Communists hold many more prisoners who should be returned.

2. "Thousands upon thousands" of South Koreans still are unaccounted for and there "may be between 2,000 and 3,000" additional Americans in enemy prison camps.

FREE AGAIN—Excited smiles and waves are plentiful as a group of United Nations prisoners of war ride a rickety Communist vehicle from Panmunjom to Freedom Village after their release late last night. Dressed in strange blue utility shirts issued by the Reds, this group was among the first 70 released in the initial round of "Operation Big Switch."

Climber Found Alive In Pass

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—Alex McCoubrey, 32, of Winnipeg, was found alive in the mountains of the Athabaska pass area early today. He had been missing since July 28.

McCoubrey, an experienced mountaineer attending the annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada, disappeared during an assault on Browne peak, 35 miles south of here.

First reports gave no indication as to his condition, or where he was found.

$30,000 Fire Razes Camp Workshop

JACKSON'S POINT, Ont. (CP)—A $30,000 fire destroyed a workshop and threatened other buildings at a Roman Catholic boys' camp in this Lake Simcoe summer resort area today.

Some 200 boys at the camp of De La Salle College, Toronto, fought the blaze after being roused shortly after midnight. They saved five tents 20 feet away from the burning building.

Firemen from nearby Sutton stopped flames from spreading to other buildings. They gave no explanation for the blaze.

Officials Think Moscow Pulled Boner

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials seem to think Moscow pulled a boner in its note about a Big Four meeting by indicating that conclusion of an Austrian treaty should await substantial agreement on Germany.

These officials are handling the note gingerly, because of considerable uncertainty about what the Soviets are up to. But on the whole, they appear to regard it as fairly weak and possibly mirroring Kremlin adjustment of political pressures such as the East Germany uprisings

The Russian note—responding to the West's July 15 bid for a Big Four foreign ministers session on Germany unification and Austrian independence—was received late Tuesday in Washington, London and Paris.

Jury Blames Punishment In Soldier's Death At Camp

PEMBROKE (CP)—A Coroner's jury decided Wednesday night that the punishment handed out to Pte. Frederick Joseph Burke of Regina for overstaying his leave contributed to his death because it aggravated a previous illness. Burke died July 16 within two hours after navigating an obstacle course at the Petawawa military camp. The five-man coroner's jury, ordered to hold an inquest by the Ontario government after Burke's death aroused public attention, said the soldier's previous illness should have been considered before the punishment was ordered. Pneumonia and pleurisy suffered by Burke in February and March, 1953, caused a condition which over-exertion aggravated, the jury ruled after hearing more than 30 witnesses and testimony that differed sharply on Burke's condition .

The jury also ruled that Burke contributed to his own death by not reporting that he felt ill and asking for medical attention.

The jury, under chief coroner Smirle Lawson of Toronto and with Bruce MacDonald of Windsor Ont., as special counsel, urged that more thorough medical examinations be given soldiers undergoing detention, medical records be carefully scrutinized and uncertain conditions reported to officers ordering punishment.

SHOULD BE AT COURSE

Medical authorities should be available at the obstacle course when trainees were sent over it, the jury said.

Petawawa army authorities had reported that Burke, a Korean veteran, had undergone every medical examination required and had not indicated that after his return to camp that he had been ill at the home of an aunt in Billings Bridge, Ont., near Ottawa, during his leave.

Medical witnesses and Dr. Lawson disagreed sharply whether Burke died of pleuro-pneumonia or an acute condition which might not have been indicated by an examination a few hours before his death.

Dr. Lawson insisted that the autopsy findings, in his opinion, revealed a pneumonic condition, but Dr. Max Klotz, who performed the autopsy, said the condition found might have become suddenly acute, with little advance warning.

Falls In Lake, Man Drowns

BURK'S FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Morley Fagan, 31, of Toronto was drowned in nearby Campbell lake Wednesday night when he and a companion toppled in while launching a small boat to go fishing.

His companion, Harry Down, also of Toronto, clung to the boat for two hours. Down, a non-swimmer, told police he would have drowned too had it not been for his 15-year-old son, Alan, and two district boys, Bill Hopcraft, 12, of Emsdale and Winston Todd, 12, of North Bay, who helped him get to shore.

Police said they later found Fagan's body wrapped around the boat's anchor chain on the lake near this village 45 miles south of North Bay.

Prices Edge Forward In Early Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Prices edged forward in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials drew selective support in utilities, banks and liquors. Papers firmed reflecting the $12,000,000 increase in the value of newsprint exports during the first half of this year. Golds tended higher in quiet trading while leading base metals were up. Western oils traded losses and gains about evenly.

Uraniums gained with Bonville, Gunnar, Chimo and Nesbitt Labine leading. New Brunswick base metals faded.

In industrials Burns B was up 2⅝ points and Canada Wire B two points. Ford A, Aluminium New and Argus were also forward but Moore New and Canada Cement weakened.

Golds were mostly neglected after two days of moderate advance. Kerr-Addison gave up a fraction of recent gains. Malartic and Dome firmed. Preston East Dome, Macassa and Madsen gained in juniors.

Western oils failed to follow up early firmness and settled back to softer prices, led by Bailey Selburn, Calvan and New British.

In base metals Noranda, International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters led.

Lay Manslaughter Charges Against Bus-Truck Drivers

TORONTO (CP)—Manslaughter charges were laid Wednesday against the drivers of a bus and truck which plunged into a St. Lawrence river canal near Morrisburg last Friday with a loss of 20 lives. C. P. Hope of the Ontario attorney general's department said the charges were laid against Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston and Max Roodman of Toronto.

Chesebrough was the driver of a Colonial Coach Lines bus which hurtled into the canal 20 miles west of Cornwall with 37 aboard, and Roodman the owner of a parked half-ton truck which the bus struck and knocked into the water. Police said the truck was stalled on or near the highway before the accident.

Mr. Hope said no inquest into the accident will be held because it might prejudice the outcome of the manslaughter trials. Previously inspector Robert Wannell of the provincial police had announced an inquest would be held Friday.

Dick Haymes Deported To Native Argentina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actor-singer Dick Haymes was picked up today for deportation to his native Argentina.

Attorney-General Herbert Brownell announced the arrest, made by immigration service inspectors at Los Angeles.

Brownell said the reason for the 34-year-old Haymes' deportation warrant was that during the second war he filed a certificate for exemption from military service as a citizen of a neutral country.

The attorney general said Haymes thus is ineligible for naturalization under the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act "and therefore automatically deportable."

Defends Price For Newsprint

LONDON (CP)—E. J. Robertson, Scots-born chairman of The Daily Express, wrote a letter to The Times today defending the price charged for Canadian newsprint.

He said although it is true Canadian newsprint costs more than that from British or Scandinavian sources, primarily because of the depreciation of sterling, "no one engaged in the production and distribution of newspapers will forget that it was the supplies from Canada which kept the British press alive throughout the war years."

Robertson, right-hand man to Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, added that from 1946 to 1952 the average price for British newsprint was £44 15s 9d a ton compared with £37 8s 6d for Canadian newsprint. In addition, the Canadian product was of heavier weight and better quality.

Robertson was commenting on a letter last Saturday from Chairman G. Beckett of the Association of Makers of Newsprint, setting out prices for newsprint.

Robertson, born in Lanark, was educated at the University of Toronto. A chance meeting in 1914 with Lord Beaverbrook in Toronto is said to have led to his present job as Lord Beaverbrook's chief executive.

MORE ABOUT—

Sick, Dying

In general, the Americans appeared to be somewhere between the good health of the British and the ragged condition of the RoKs.

WHY HELD BACK?

This aftermath of war already has raised galling questions:

Why had the Reds held back these sick and wounded men from the disabled exchange last April? (In Washington, Senator Charles Potter (Rep.-Mich) demanded a Senate investigation.)

Why were some South Koreans brought south to nearby Kaesong for the disabled exchange, then sent back north? Some repatriated prisoners told of this.

What about the stories from two U.S. officers who said the Reds only days ago sentenced a U.S. lieutenant-colonel and other officers to prison terms for "instigating against peace"?

The Reds had no answers, and, for the moment, neither did anyone else.

The Red Peiping radio said only that all sick and wounded non-Korean prisoners of war were given a medical checkup before their departure for Panmunjom and that "most of them had only minor ailments."

WORSE THAN IN APRIL

Maj.-Gen. Choi Suk, in charge of receiving returned RoK prisoners, said the latest group of South Koreans "are worse, more ill, than those returned to us in Little Switch (the April disabled exchange)—and they were ill long before Little Switch."

The Communists handed these men back without comment.

One of the first Americans freed was Lt.-Col. Thomas D. Harrison, highest ranking U.S. officer yet to returned and a second cousin of Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, who helped negotiate the armistice with the Communists.

Col. Harrison said the Communists tortured him cruelly trying to get military information. He said he didn't talk even though he was starved, smothered with a wet towel and jabbed with lighted cigarets.

CONTINUOUS TORTURE

A B-29 co-pilot, Lieut. Samuel E. Masenburg of Detroit, told of four days of continuous torture when the Reds "butted me around . . . slugged me . . . gave me no food."

Their stories of Red savagery were emphasized by a new army censorship rule that permits a returning prisoner to tell only what he has seen first hand.

Maj. John C. Harlan, 48, of Institute, W.Va., told reporters he knew of U S. officers the Reds have tried and are trying on charges of "obstructing the peace." Harlan returned Wednesday.

His story backed up that of Maj. John Daujat of Richmond, Calif., who told reporters Tuesday the Reds had sentenced some "high ranking" American officers to prison only two days before the exchange for "instigating against peace."

NO EXPLANATION

The second day of Operation Big Switch went much as the first one.

The Allies handed over 2,760 Reds in exchange for the 70 Americans, 250 South Koreans, 25 Britons, 25 Turks, and 12 others of various Allied nations.

The Red gave no explanation why they returned only 392 captives, eight short of their promised 400 daily.

Twenty-one sick and wounded Americans and 50 other disabled Allied troops arrived in Tokyo Wednesday for hospital treatment.

The able-bodied Americans were taken to Inchon on South Korea's west coast for processing, rest and relaxation while awaiting transport back to the United States.

Drew Charges

Mr. Drew did not amplify the latter reference, but he termed the advertisements "cruel and cowardly."

While he was premier of Ontario, he said, all social services were increased "in a substantial measure." The first old-age pensions in Canada were paid by a Conservative government.

Government members had contradicted themselves in replying to the Progressive Conservative election promise to cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year.

CITES CONTRADICTION

On the same day, Prime Minister St. Laurent had said taxes could not be reduced while Agriculture Minister Gardiner said they could be cut by $300,000,000.

While Defence Minister Caxton was claiming his department was "perfect in every respect," Health Minister Martin had said that "the government has made mistakes, and that they are more than the public knows."

"Instead of boasts from one minister and crocodile tears from another, why not tell us how they plan to cut taxes? You know it can be done. It will be done if you elect a Conservative government."

Speaking of provincial rights—a strong issue in this province—Mr. Drew said that if the present trend of centralization of power in the federal government is continued "it will mean the end of the autonomy of our provinces."

Provincial rights would be "diminished and ultimately brought to an end to suit the needs of centralized power. It would mean the triumph of the one-party state and the end of all opposition."

Mr. Drew said he supported the constitutional doctrine of Sir John A. Macdonald and Georges-Etienne Cartier, fathers of Confederation, and of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Eernest Lapointe, both Liberals.

"It is a far better policy for Canada, for our federal system, for our unity and for democracy than the doctrines of the Garsons, the Pearsons and the Pickersgills.

"We must not permit these men to reverse the decision of 1867."

At Ste. Germaine, Mr. Drew said the Conservative party had always fought for a policy that would keep people on the farms. Farmers now were leaving for the city because of high costs of production and machinery.

EXPAND MARKETS

A Conservative government would take immediate steps to regain and expand overseas markets, whose loss had endangered the future of the farming industry

Hon. Joseph Begin, Quebec colonization minister, who spoke after Mr. Drew, charged Liberal speakers in Quebec province with raising racial and religious arguments against Mr. Drew, a Protestant.

At Confederation, French- and English-speaking Canadians had joined to bury racial and religious controversy, and Roman Catholics should "respect the fact that Mr. Drew believes in the same God that we do."

engaged in the big Jne 17 rebellion and again have been threatening revolt against the travel embargo.

As further evidence that Communist police control was breaking down, a record number of 51 men deserted from the eastern "People's Police" army and gendarmerie Wednesday.

The flight brought the total number of recorded desertions to Berlin alone this year to more than 2,500.

Many said they were revolting against orders to enforce the hunger blockade and persecute East German hungry who had come to Berlin to fetch the American parcels.

Perhaps due to this police sabotage, East zone reports said that confiscation of food gifts appeared to be easing. But the violent press and radio propaganda campaign against the "Ami (American) Beggar parcels" continued unabated.

ary reporter, Michael Barkway, dealing with the Currie report and the charge of horses on the payroll at Petawawa military camp.

Mr. St. Laurent said his government had been accused of dictatorship, but it was a "queer kind of dictatorship" that encouraged criticism and allowed persons to repeat as facts statements that were not facts.

Mr. St. Laurent turned to criticism of a local candidate, Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, 78-year-old retired clerk of the House of Commons running on the Progressive Conservative ticket in Ottawa East.

AMUSING CRITICISM

Mr. St. Laurent said Dr. Beauchesne's criticism, which he heard on a local broadcast, a few hours previously, had been "amusing."

Among other things Dr. Beauchesne had described State Secretary Pickersgill as a former civil servant "foisted" on an unsuspecting electorate in Newfoundland by "bombastic" Premier Joseph Smallwood.

Mr. St. Laurent said bitingly that he could see no objection to a civil servant taking an interest in political affairs even if he had not been fired or retired "because of old age."

Dr. Beauchesne also had described Mr. St. Laurent as a political novice and a "tired old corporation lawyer," the 71-year-old Liberal leader said.

He had just completed a coast-to-coast campaign, and he would leave it to the people to decide just how tired he was. The audience applauded.

but the government didn't put it in force until 1940 when it realized it needed labor behind the war movement.

The first family allowance cheques went out "simultaneously" with plans for a general election. The Liberals promised a health plan since 1919, but there was no indication Canada would ever have such a plan as long as the Liberals were in power.

The CCF leader said he feared the Social Credit party more than anything else in North America except Senator Joe McCarthy, "and they are very much alike."

"I once said the people of this province were the most progressive in Canada. But in 1935—the year Social Credit became the government of Alberta—I altered my opinion."

Find Skeleton Of Missing Man

QUEBEC (CP)—Provincial police said Wednesday remains of a human skeleton, found Monday in the Laurentian Park, have been tentatively identified as those of Ernest Frank Henley of Eastview, Ont., who disappeared in the Quebec bush July 30, 1925.

The remains, a rusted gun, a ring, a watch and a pair of shoes were found near Lac a l'Epaule, in the Laurentian Park, about 40 miles northeast of Quebec, by Antonio Rheaume, a timber limits appraiser.

Police announced their identification after a day-long search Tuesday in dusty files at provincial headquarters.

The records showed that Henley, then 30, obtained a permit to fish in the park. He was not heard from after entering the park and the Estaview police chief got in touch with provincial police. A search at the time led to discovery of Henley's canoe and kit bag but no other trace of the man was found.

The remains are being shipped to Montreal for laboratory tests by a medico-legal expert to determine the age of the bones.

seven Americans so severely with rifle butts that five died within a few hours.

Cpl. Russel P. James from Auburn, Wash., told of grisly burial details in the bitter winter of 1950-51 in the notorious mining camp that prisoners called "death valley."

"We buried 25 to 30 men practically every day. We had no medical treatment at all and all we got to eat then was a little bit of millet every day."

Other prisoners repeated the stories of death marches north during the first winter and how many never made it.

THROWN IN BLACK HOLE

With tears in his eyes, Sgt. Robert M. Wilkins of Detroit told of being thrown into a "black hole" and tortured after he and several others escaped momentarily and were recaptured.

He said a British and an American officer died in the ordeal.

"We were tossed into a dungeon," he said. "I'm not kidding you, we had to lie two deep it was so crowded there. And there was an inch or two of water on the floor."

Later, he said, guards "took us into a room and tied us so that we couldn't move." He said they were forced to kneel with a stick tied behind their knees, their arms drawn up behind them and tied to the ceiling and a choke rope tied around their throats.

The worst horrors described were in the earlier days of the war—through the spring of 1951.

It appeared from the PoWs' stories that conditions improved in some cases as the Chinese Communists took over from the North Korean Reds, and improved still more as the truce talks progressed.

"In the last two or three weeks it seemed like they emptied their warehouses and did everything possible to make us happy," said Maj. John C. Harlan, Institute, W.Va.

A South Korean doctor who examined Pte. Kim Chiang Duk, the 35-year-old RoK soldier who died enroute of tuberculosis, said: "This man was terribly ill before 'Little Switch'."

St. Laurent Re-invades Que. As Campaign Nears End

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

The election campaign pounded down to the wire today. Political leaders drove harder and harder on the points they hope will convince electors to vote for their respective parties Monday. Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, crossed paths today. While Mr. Drew flew from Montreal for meetings at Orillia and Toronto, Mr. St. Laurent headed for Lachute, Que., and Montreal from Ottawa. CCF leader M. J. Coldwell moved back into Saskatchewan, where he started his campaign six weeks ago, for an address at Lloydminster. Wednesday, Mr. St. Laurent hit at the Progressive Conservative pledge of cuts in defence expenditures; Mr. Drew attacked the Liberal government for "centralization;" and Mr. Coldwell re-asserted the CCF promise of a national health insurance scheme.

Mr. St. Laurent told some 2,500 persons who packed a downtown Ottawa theatre that Canadians feel their country should carry its full share of the free world's military load against possible Communist aggression.

A $250,000,000 cut in defence spending, proposed by Mr. Drew, would mean that Canada wouldn't be able to do her full share. The government might have stockpiled too many lesser defence items, but such purchases would not amount to more than $1,000,000 at the most. That would mean the Progressive Conservatives would have to cut other defence expenditures by $249,000,000 to make good on their promised reduction. Mr. St. Laurent said he was sure Canadians did not want that done.

DIFFERENT DANGER

At another point, the prime minister suggested that if there were any danger of dictatorship in Canada, it didn't come from the Liberal government but from the leader of an opposing party.

He described that leader as the man who, he said, a few months ago had proposed suppression of broadcasting because he had not liked opinions expressed on one broadcast.

A few months ago in Parliament, Mr. Drew criticized the CBC for permitting a broadcast by Michael Barkway, a parliamentary reporter dealing with the Currie report and a charge of horses on the payroll at Petawawa military camp.

At Ste. Germaine, Que. Mr. Drew got one of the largest audience of his campaign so far—some 3,000 persons—and received political endorsement from Joseph Begin, colonization minister in Premier Duplessis' Quebec Union Nationale government.

The Progressive Conservative leader reiterated his party's pledge to cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year and again denied Liberal suggestions that this would result in smaller family allowances and other social security payments.

PROTECT RIGHTS

Mr. Drew, who spoke in both French and English, said he had always sought to protect provincial rights to assure adequate taxing powers for the provinces and to safeguard their legislative powers. A Progressive Conservative government would revise the present federal-provincial tax agreements "in the letter and spirit" of Confederation so that no province would lose.

Later, at Quebec, in a free-time political broadcast over the CBC's French network, Mr. Drew said the Liberals have offered voters "a deluge of misrepresentation, contradiction and utter confusion" instead of a policy.

A continuation of what he termed the trend to centralization of power in the federal government "will mean the end of the autonomy of our provinces."

Mr. Coldwell made his final national broadcast before the election and spoke at Edmonton. He summed up the CCF platform: a national health insurance plan, low-cost subsidized housing on a large scale, increased social security benefits, monetary and tariff concessions to Britain to increase trade, long-range price-support programs and more aid for under developed countries.

IMPORTANT ISSUE

He described national health insurance as "perhaps the most important single domestic issue" of the campaign and said only the CCF position on it is clear.

"The Liberals have been promising health insurance for 34 years, but they are still trying to make excuses. The Tories are basically opposed to national health insurance, but they are afraid to say so in the face of insistent public demand."

In Saskatchewan, "with all the constitutional and financial limitations which restrict a provincial administration, the CCF has shown what can be done in the field of health if there is a willingness to tackle the job resolutely and forthrightly."

"How much more can be done on a national scale if we have a government at Ottawa which will live up to its promises as the CCF government did in Saskatchewan."

At Peace River, Alta., Premier Manning of Alberta, speaking in support of Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the possibility that Canada is about to change from a wartime to peacetime economy is apt to lead to economic difficulties.

Under existing methods of finance and trade, "there is every likelihood we will return to the boom and bust cycle." The only hope was to put Social Credit theory into practice. This would involve issuance of supplementary purchasing power by the government as production of consumer goods rose. This in turn would enable persons to purchase what they produced.

Defence Minister Claxton spoke from the same platform as Mr. St. Laurent. He contended that the Progressive Conservatives are basing their election appeal on "mistaken facts, misrepresentation and misquotation."

At Kitchener, Ont., E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, said the other parties hadn't stolen social security planks from the CCF: "We had to take them one at a time and ram them down their throats."

Would Improve Economy Of Maritimes

CHESTER, N.S.—A Progressive Conservative government would improve the economic status of the Maritime provinces, J. M. Macdonnell (PC, Toronto-Greenwood) told an election rally here Wednesday night.

"For 18 years, indeed, for 30 years less five", he said, "you have had a government which has adopted toward you a do-nothing policy, even when the heaven-sent opportunity occurred to use some of the vast government expenditures during and since the war.

"The Progressive Conservative Party can and will end this intolerable situation."

The government would answer, he said, that in social security payments the Liberals were doing well by the Maritimes, putting in more than it takes out in taxes.

"But this is not directly increasing your productive capacity one dollar. What you really need is more people, more industry, more producing capacity of all kinds.

DEPART FROM ORIGINAL

"As we survey the situation two or three points stand out. The national policy as the years have gone by under Liberal rule has been allowed to become an Ontario and Quebec policy, which was never the intention of the Fathers of Confederation.

"In the second place, you in the Maritimes have been forced to become a raw material exporting economy. This means that you get only a fraction of what you would get if your raw material were processed at home.

"While there are real difficulties to overcome they will never be overcome by a government which is so complacent it does not even recognize them. Indeed, they are so pleased with themselves they remind one of the gentleman in the fable who became so fascinated looking as his own reflection in the water he fell in and got drowned . . .

"We in the Progressive Conservative Party say the condition cannot be allowed to continue, that it can be changed, and that we will change it".

Kennedy (right), Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Peel, visit farmer Richard Furtney, harvesting his wheat crop near Woodstock. Hees Says PM Living In Past Guelph. — Prime Minister St. Laurent is living in the past, George Hees, (PC, Toronto-Broadview) declared here Wednesday night at a Progressive Conservative campaign meeting.

"Like most Canadians, I think Mr. St. Laurent is a great gentleman," he said, "and I have nothing but the most sincere respect for him. However, I believe the many fine qualities he possesses are not in themselves enough to justify our giving him control of our destinies, should his party be returned to power for another five years."

The man who aspires to be Canada's next Prime Minister, Mr. Hees said, should demonstrate that he has a plan which will meet the needs of the country and the people during that period.

Mr. St. Laurent had demonstrated that he, "like so many other older men in their seventies, is living in the present and the past instead of planning for the future. When a man reaches that state of mind I think he should step aside and let a younger man take over."

In George Drew the electorate had a man still in his 50's, one with vast experience in administration, and with specific remedies for the ills of the nation.

Coldwell Urges Canadians Weigh Issues Carefully

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, Wednesday night urged Canadians to weigh the issues carefully before casting ballots on election day next Monday. "I hope that no one will vote for the promises of politicians without first considering whether those promises are sincerely made and are possible of fulfilment by the party making them," Mr. Coldwell said in a radio broadcast recorded in Vancouver for the CBC's Trans-Canada network.

"We are still waiting to learn just how the Conservative party proposes to cut taxes by $500,000,000 without cutting vital services.

"We must ask ourselves whether this is a policy carefully thought out and seriously advocated or whether it is merely an election slogan designed to appeal to people who are fed up with inept Liberal policies and wasteful and extravagant Liberal government."

Mr. Coldwell, making his final trans-Canada political broadcast before polling, summed up the CCF's platform: A national health insurance plan, construction of low-cost subsidized housing on a large scale, increased social security benefits, monetary and tariff concessions to Britain to boost trade, long-range price-support programs, and increased aid to underdeveloped countries.

He described national health insurance as "perhaps the most important single domestic issue" of the election campaign. But he said only the CCF position is clear.

"The Liberals have been promising health insurance for 34 years but they are still trying to make excuses. The Tories are basically opposed to national health insurance, but they are afraid to say so in the face of insistent public demand."

In contrast, the CCF government's health record in Saskatchewan was known "round the world."

Report Amended List Late Reaching Korea

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP) — Officers at brigade headquarters said Wednesday that the final amended list of candidates in the Aug. 10 general election did not reach Korea until Tuesday—more than 24 hours after 7,000 members of Canada's 25th brigade started voting.

Polls for Canadian servicemen in Korea are to remain open for three hours every day this week. They were open for the scheduled time Monday.

Nelson Castonguay, chief returning officer, said in Ottawa he had not heard of any delay in making lists of candidates available to servicemen in Korea. He said if this had occurred he would have expected complaints from scrutineers of all parties but had heard no such complaints.

PC's Would End Spending Spree

TORONTO.—The Liberals have never recovered from their wartime spending spree, and the only way to put an end to overtaxation, waste and extravagance is to elect a Progressive Conservative Government, Margaret Aitken, PC candidate in York-Humber, said Wednesday night.

"A vote for any other party in this election is a vote wasted," she said.

She spoke on behalf of Donald Fleming, candidate in Toronto-Eglinton, at a meeting in North Toronto Collegiate. Main issue in the election, she said, was money.

"Out of every dollar we Canadians earn the government takes 36 cents," she said, "Out of the 52 weeks that we work in a year, 18 are worked for the government. Direct and indirect taxes add up to the dizzy billions that our financial geniuses juggle in Ottawa."

Housing was being curtailed by exorbitant property taxation and over-cautious mortgage financing, she said. A Progressive Conservative Government would lower down payments to 10 per cent, and extend mortgages from 20 to 30 years.

Graveyards Landing Fields In Aid Of Getting Votes

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Graveyards served as landing fields along the craggy Labrador coast this week, all in the interests of getting the votes of Canadians in tiny communities of the sprawling constituency of Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador.

In some places the only suitable landing sites were graveyards, ready-made for airways inspector Jack Charleson, 46, to land in a helicopter with election documents, ballot boxes and a magistrate to swear in deputy returning officers for the Aug. 10 federal election.

Inspector Charleson, a transport department pilot from Ottawa, was a key figure in a tough job of completing arrangements for the election involving 45 Labrador communities.

TRICKY JOB

Operating from the government icebreaker d'Iberville, the pilot flew in and out of the rocky bays with magistrate Harry Noseworthy, special representative of the returning officer for the constituency.

Magistrate Noseworthy's job involved picking a deputy returning officer at each community, leaving with him the election documents and ballot boxes and completing arrangements for voting. The whole job was done under the watchful eyes of national film board cameras carried in the d'Iberville's second helicopter.

Inspector Charleson said residents were "astounded and flabbergasted" when he and magistrate Noseworthy arrived by helicopter from the d'Iberville which hove to at sea about 40 miles offshore while they carried out their mission.

The magistrate, a 44-year-old former school teacher who joined the Canadian Navy as an ordinary seaman in 1943 and rose to the rank of lieutenant before discharge still is flying around Labrador on his election job. The RCAF, using Otter aircraft, is helping him get the election material to communities near Goose Bay and about 200 miles north near Nain.

PC Election Campaign Based On Mistaken Facts

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton charged Wednesday night that the Progressive Conservatives are basing their election appeal on "mistaken facts, misrepresentation and misquotation."

As an example, he said, a Progressive Conservative advertisement had stated as a fac ttha tthe auditor general's report had described accounting methods in the whole defence department as "chaotic."

Mr. Claxton, speaking at a Liberal rally headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent, challenged the Progressive Conservatives to find any such statement in the auditor general's report.

The Liberals, in their election campaigning, use "genuine quotations," Mr. Claxton said. "They don't make up quotations as the Progressive Conservatives do."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had asked Mr. St. Laurent to repudiate a letter sent to Canadian troops in Korea by Duncan K. MacTavish, president of Nat. Liberal Federation.

The letter quoted statements made by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Progressive Conservative military critic, in the Commons. Mr. Drew could not refute a single statement in that letter, said Mr. Claxton, because the quotations were taken from Hansard, Parliament's official report.

Mr. Drew had complained that a list of Canadian troops, to whom the letter was sent, had not been made available to his party That was not so, said Mr. Claxton.

The same facilities that were available to the Liberals also were available to the other parties. Lists of the troops had been given the balloting scrutineers appointed for each service area.

Constable Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Police constable Earl Snider Wednesday was charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Gordon Hurst, 19, killed Tuesday night by the second of two "warning shots" fired by Snider.

The youth was hit as he attempted to scale a fence behind a residence to which police had been called to investigate prowlers. An older companion escaped.

Chief constable John Chisholm ordered Snider removed from patrol duties, although he has not suspended the officer. Snider was remanded for a week on $5,000 bail.

Question:

Mr. Swanston, what will you do if you are elected to sit in Opposition? . .

Answer:

That will not happen, because the Liberal party is the only party with support in every province, and it will win. This riding has had thirteen long years in Opposition, and I invite the voters to change that record and send a man to Ottawa to sit on the side of the House that gets things done—the Government side. If I am elected, it will be as a Government member.

For Waste, Extravagance and Mismanagement by this Liberal Government at Ottawa

The Department of Public Works rented office space in a building in St. Catharines, Ontario, for $28,500.00 on a five year lease. This office space was never used.

The Canada Gap

It is often said that Canada has too few people too thinly spread over too many miles. This situation, it is said, invites the envy of other nations and, eventually, invasion or Canada's subservience to or submergence by them. However apt this estimate may be, that condition is not the critical flaw created by our small population. The disparity between the millions of square miles and the few millions of people is not as dangerous to the Canadian structure and future as the gap between its fifteen million people and its productive capacity. This, and not the empty acres, is the real Canadian gap.

* * *

Canada's production has gone far ahead of its people, so far ahead that it is out of hand, their hand. It has made them more dependent than ever before on external markets, more open to the avarice of other nations, more sensitive to their dictates. The increased productive capacity, far from making Canada more secure, has poised it more precariously in the international world. We have the power without the people to use or wield it.

* * *

One of the richer nations in the world, and potentially perhaps the richest, our production has catapulted us into the economics and politics of the world, its commerce and its wars, its alarums and excursions. Yet we do not have enough people either to defend our power or to keep it. In the economic field we must export or wither; in the allied political field we must bow to others or be trimmed by them. The situation does not appear alarming now, but when the chips are down—in a time of world depression or hemispheric political pressure—we shall have to do as we are bid, or crumble. For our very productive capacity has made us, so few people, dependent. The more important this country becomes productively the more impotent are its few people, as Canadians. This paradox is the critical factor in Canadian life today.

* * *

There are two remedies. Canada can return, by a monstrous reversal, to its pre-war industrial and agricultural size. Or the Canada gap can be closed by populating the country with more people. This is the obvious and easier remedy. In other decades the process was almost natural. As the production rose, so did the population. Immigrants came because of it, and, in their turn, augmented it. There was a fair balance. But during and since the war international policies, restrictions, and financial barriers interfered with immigration. So did new social welfare measures, which prevented destitution in the old lands, destitution which formerly drove hundreds of thousands to emigrate to the new world. So advanced has social legislation become in some countries, Britain, for instance, that Canada did not offer, in some people's eyes, sufficient inducement to forsake jobs and pension security at home. In no post-war year has immigration to Canada approached the peaks of forty years ago. A figure in point is the migration from Britain during the first quarter of this year: it was down 27 per cent., from 7,800 to 5,700.

* * *

Canada needs more people, to eat our own food, to use our own products and to give this country the strength and independence its productive capacity and potential need.

Yum Yum And A Pot Of Lettuce

This is salad week, we inform our eating readers, in case they have not noticed it on their plates already. The Canadian Horticultural Council told us about it—an odd thing for a Horticultural Council to promote; its special slogan should be eat more flowers, not vegetables. Perhaps this Council is really a cauliflower agent.

The organization informs us that according to the latest figures available, the average Canadian is eating 376 pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables a year. This strikes us as rather awful. Imagine stuffing three cwt. and 76 lbs. more into one's maw year in year out. Shocking image! But worse follows in the communication: "The amount recommended for a properly balanced diet by nutrition experts is 537 pounds per capita. Per capita be damned. It's not our heads (our capita) that get the stuff, but our bellies. Imagine trotting around all year with 537 pounds of raw fruit and vegetables inside one's belt.

The revolting picture does not, apparently, arise before the promoters of Salad Week. In fact, they talk about slim waistlines and not paunches, if one stuffs oneself with lettuce, cabbage, etc., etc., au naturel. "Obesity, which is today's polite term for being 'too fat', is becoming the number one health problem for over-fed, undernourished North Americans. Eating more fresh fruits and vegetables can provide the answer to this dietary difficulty."

That's what they say, and they have the nerve to say a lot more besides. A big sheet of sentences came to us, with the bold heading "Suggested Editorial for Salad Week July 30th to August 8th." We shall do our own editorial writing, thank you, and none of the tinned fruit and vegetable juice words for us. So we have done our editorial bit.

Let us not be too harsh on the Canadian Horticultural Council. It did say that it "does not expect everyone to begin eating salads regularly as a result of Salad Week". But we wish the Council would stick to minding flowers, and eating them, if it wants, instead of bothering us with Salad Weeks.

Unholy Hitler

Chunks and bits of Adolf Hitler's table-talk from 1941 to 1944 have been collected and collated by Mr. Trevor-Roper, an English expert on Hitler during the war. He is revealed to have been no churchman, a revelation not surprising to anybody who has a shred of knowledge of that fabulous creature's career.

On October 25th, 1941, Hitler had at dinner as his special guests, Himmler and General Heydrick. In his chat was this sort of observation:

"There is a form of hypocrisy, typically Protestant, that is impudence itself. Catholicism has this much good about it, that it ignores the moral strictness of the Evangelicals. In Catholic regions life is more endurable, for the priest himself succumbs more easily to human weaknesses. So he permits his flock not to dramatize sin. How would the Church earn her living, if not by the sins of the faithful? She declares herself satisfied if one goes to confession. Indulgence, as a tariff, supplies the Church with her daily bread. As for the fruits of sin, the soul that fears limbo is a candidate for baptism, that is to say, another customer, and so business goes on! It is a fact that in Catholic parts of the world there are many more illegitimate births than in Protestant parts."

And at the same dinner table Hitler delivered himself of this reading of history:

"In 1905 to 1906, when the modernist movement broke out, there were such excesses that some priests, in reaction, overran the reformers' objectives and became real revolutionaries. They were at once expelled, of course. The power of the Church was so great that they were ruined. Men like the Abbot Schachleiter suffered a lot. Nowadays, a priest who's unfrocked can build a new career for himself. What gave the power of the Church such a handle was the fact that the civil power didn't want to interfere in these matters at any price. Things have changed a great deal since then. Nowadays great numbers of priests are forsaking the Church. Obviously, there's a hard core, and I shall never get them all. You don't imagine I can convert the Holy Father. One does not persuade a man who's at the head of such a gigantic concern to give it up. It's his livelihood! I grant, moreover, having grown up in it, he can't conceive of the possibility of anything else."

Well for the Christian church, both Roman Catholic and Protestant, that Hitler did not conquer or live to rule the Christian world.

We conclude our record of dinner with Hitler on that October evening twelve years ago, with one of his frightful remarks about Jews. "It's not a bad idea, by the way, that public rumour attributes to us a plan to exterminate the Jews. Terror is a salutary thing."

Now that the Germans have come back to public acceptance as not a bad people, there is a tendency in some quarters to concede respectability to Hitler, too. He is said to have been a greater thinker than our war-time passions recognized, and to have been an artist, not a house-painter. Hitler's thinking was perverted and he could not have been an artist, for his conversation and written words, as well as his deeds, show that he did not have the spark of humanity which is essential to a philosopher and to an artist. No matter how remarkable his accomplishments were, they failed of human greatness because Hitler despised humanity, even the Germans.

Good Road News

Premier Frost's announcement that Number Seven highway from Fowler's Corners through Omemee to Reaboro will be resurfaced immediately is good news for residents of the area, tourists, and Peterborough people generally who often drive through that beautiful part of the country. The new work adjoins the re-paving done on the highway several years ago as far as Fowler's Corners and the Peterborough county line.

Number Seven is officially the Trans-Canada highway. There have been rumours that, for the Trans-Canada purposes, a deviation might be made south of Omemee, to form a new and more direct route to and around Peterborough. Premier Frost's announcement scotches any rumour that that part of Number Seven would be abandoned, or allowed to continue in its present state of disrepair.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Guelph Mercury writes of the advantages to men of "synthetic shirts." We would be interested in seeing the wonderful fake shirt; we have already been introduced to synthetic shirting.

Madame's Modes

By BON VIVANT

I WISH C. Dior would make up his mind. This in and out running he is doing with skirt lengths is most upsetting. What it does to the ladies, who are most vitally affected, I haven't any means of knowing. What it is doing to men is making them contemplate the future with no little uncertainty.

✧ ✧ ✧

M. DIOR, if his fashion dictates are any indication, leads a cloistered life. I wonder when it was he gave the female gam a good, hard look in the last few years? There are, I freely grant, some very artistic and decorative underpinnings on public view; there are others which might be described as purely utilitarian. The present skirt length gives them all a fairly even break; but skirts to the knees—may the heavens forfend.

✧ ✧ ✧

HAVING LIVED through a number of fashion changes including the street sweeper skirt, the hobble skirt, the flapper skirt, skirts to the ankles, and skirts ranging in between, I feel it is time to take a firm stand in this matter. We definitely cannot go on in a world where women's skirts go up and down like window blinds. The present length, in my unmasked opinion, are attractive, being neither too long nor too short. They give an even break to all types, varieties and styles in legs, and don't make women look as though they were running around in something they had borrowed from a daughter with glandular trouble which stunted her growth.

✧ ✧ ✧

OF COURSE, if I had my way, we'd move back several centuries, to the days when then length of a woman's skirt was set by modesty, and the glimpse of a dainty ankle threw men into ecstasies and sent not a few of them galloping off to write a sonnet about what they had seen. This would not only add to the charm and allure of women, but would permit men to go back into knee breeches.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHETHER this would be a good move is a moot point. Some of the misshapen male pipestems displayed in shorts during the warm spell don't augur well for a reversion in masculine styles. However, they could resort to padding in more obvious cases, as the beaux of yore were wont to do. It would furthermore come as a rather unpleasant revelation to the feminine world, and most decidedly add to the puzzlement of M. C. Dior.

✧ ✧ ✧

SUCH a turnabout might well throw the stocking trade into a tail spin it would take years to unwind. This branch of industry has spent many years, and uncounted sums of money, seeking to convince women their product will add to her allure no matter how badly handicapped she may be in basic essentials. What would be their reaction, do you suppose, if suddenly called upon to cover the nakedness and lumps of the stumps men call legs? Whether the males, who would be offered the opportunity of revealing their fascination, would support such a movement or gang up with the hosiery producers, gives room for some interesting speculation.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS men like Fashion Dictator Dior who make life so difficult. His machinations have been rather forcefully called to my attention during packing sprees for holiday travel. My well-intentioned advice to the chatelaine of Chateau Vivant on the simplicity of packing was ill received. After listening to much muttering and complaining about the multiplicity of things to be packed for the annual two weeks without dishwashing, I explained my system. It seems I don't understand feminine requirements for a brief visit.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOT ONLY is it necessary to cart along a small chemist's shop of creams, unguents and balms, it is also essential to have a great many more accessories ready to hand. It appears a hand-bag for each costume is a must. One pair of general utility shoes is not enough, they must be packed by the gross so that a pair to add the finishing touch to each ensemble will be easily come by. The jewels, mostly of the five and dime variety, to add the final bit of dash which makes or breaks a costume, were packed by the pound.

✧ ✧ ✧

BY THE time all the odds and ends were sorted and stowed away, to say nothing of dresses for morning wear, gowns for afternoon wear, something cool for warm days and something warm for cool days, something restrained in case an evening party should loom up, hats, in the event a tea or garden party reared its ugly head, the travelling case capacity of the Chateau was tried to the utmost. My off-hand comments on the fuss women made packing were ill received and brought down upon my head a rather long lecture on what an easy time men had.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME of this, I grant, may be true. I know I can travel with very little fuss. If I'm going to the city I wear my blue serge; if I'm going to the country I wear my tweed. That takes care of the window-dressing. With my serge I wear my black shoes, with my tweed my brown, so there is no necessity of packing such cumbersome articles. If I take a hat, I wear it. A couple of shirts, a sock or two, and a change of the more intimate apparel, and I'm just about ready. My razor and shaving cream can be tucked in anywhere, and what area of my suitcase is not taken up with these items is filled with crumpled newspaper to keep the contents from rattling around.

✧ ✧ ✧

SUCH displays of executive ability seem to drive women into a frenzy. They don't seem to grasp the fact they can all gang up on C. Dior and make him pretty unhappy. When a tailor bursts out with a new fashion in male jackets featuring such things as ecru lace at the cuffs and a ruching or so, the male ignores the brain storm and when the time comes to buy a new suit orders one the same style as the last. In a very short time the lace-minded tailor catches on and lets his new style die a natural death. Women can do the same, only I rather fear, being women, they won't.

JUST CHANGING

"What's Pam playing at? Last month she was engaged to Peter and now everybody says she's going to marry Reggie. Ringing the changes, I suppose?"

"No—just changing the rings!"

The War On The Locusts

By O. M. GREEN

EVEN before the end of June the chief Indian locust officer of Rajasthan (formerly Rajputana) reported that one-and-a-half million pounds worth of damage had already been done to crops in the province.

Later reports received by the Anti-Locust Research Centre (Dr. Uvarov's organisation in London) state that swarms of locusts moving eastwards had invaded twelve districts stretching across some of India's most thickly populated area from Rajathan to Orissa, and breeding was reported in Bihar.

Locusts in India threaten to be worse this year than in 1952, when there were sixty-four invasions "of appalling intensity."

Pakistan is in no better plight with swarms of locusts flying in throughout June from the west (there were thirty by the first week in July) to Baluchistan, Sind, Khairpur and West Punjab. One swarm was twenty-one miles long. And, in the wake of the monsoon, large-scale breeding has begun in Sind and no doubt in other provinces.

This bad news repeats the old story of lack of foresight and cooperation. Both in India and Pakistan locust-fighting organisations have developed in the past two years. And they do not lack help from outside. At a recent meeting of Pakistan's Locust Control Committee the gift from Canada of three Beaver aeroplanes, and of general equipment from the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organisation (F.A.O.), was gratefully acknowledged.

But both Dominions are sadly hampered by apathy and inefficiency and, since partition, by political obstacles to cooperation.

The Anti-Locust Research Centre's July survey of all districts shows a striking contrast between what can be done to destroy locusts, and what is not done.

An eye-witness recently back from Somaliland gives me an account of the brilliant success of the British-run Desert Locust Control Service. Its main feature, perhaps, is that it never stops work. It has built up an efficient service of information through which it quickly learns of any infestations of hoppers (locusts still too young to fly) and these are at once attacked by scattering poisoned bran, which, strangely enough, the hoppers devour eagerly, though it kills them almost at once.

Some of the worst districts of British Somaliland were clear of hoppers by the end of June. Some baiting was still in progress in Somalia, but there were "only negligible escapes."

Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika are free from locusts. Some scattered swarms were reported in the Sudan in May, but the Northern Province is clear. So is Egypt.

Reports from the Middle East present a bad contrast. Iran is a very black spot, with egg-laying in nine provinces in May and swarms (probably hoppers) in four more. There can be no doubt, indeed, that Iran is the chief source of the locusts now descending on Pakistan and India. This is the more deplorable because, two years ago, Iran was particularly eager to help in the war on locusts and subscribed liberally to it.

But internal discord and anti-foreign feeling have blunted this good feeling. Among the Arabs of the Middle East the grievance that the West favours Israel against them, or sympathy with Egypt in the Suez Canal issue, are both adverse influences. Difficulties of this kind are also met with in Iraq. Even in Ethiopia there is occasional opposition, due perhaps mostly to resentment against foreign intervention and the suspicion of Western designs which, as in so many parts of Asia, are seen as trick to reimpose the old "colonialism."

Whether the active part which F.A.O., a non-national body, is now taking in the locust campaigns of all countries may help to overcome this suicidal antagonism has yet to be seen.

With the monsoon in full force the forecast for August and September is not cheerful—further invasions of Pakistan, India and African countries bordering the Red Sea from the Middle East; heavy breeding in Eritrea, Pakistan and India and probably in Ethiopia, the Sudan, Lake Chad and the French Niger colony; swarms invading British Somaliland. These are possibilities all too likely to become certainties. And yet, as the Desert Locust Control has shown, locusts can be fought and conquered. (OFNS-Copyright.)

Quebec City Street Names

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

At Quebec City Hall a street naming committee has been striving to replace English-language street names with French. Historical Wolfesfield, for example, is now Rue des Allouettes, Prince of Wales has been translated to Prince de Galles, and of the approximate total of 850 streets, now only around 50 carry English names. These will all in time, it is proposed, be changed.

Latest to come under the hammer after much confusion, argument, and loss of dignity is Churchill-Roosevelt Boulevard, first named after the world-famous wartime conference here.

After much argument this famous-name thoroughfare was re-christened Boulevard des Roches, causing the scrapping of another street of that name to Ste. Anne boulevard. Now city fathers have added the name of Henri Bourassa to de la Laurentie and other names already suggested for Highway 54. If the city fathers are not confused the public is.

They Do Not Mix

(L'Evenement Journal, Quebec)

Among the numerous factors that influence Canadian electors, religious prejudice counts for little. This assertion is confirmed by numerous federal elections since 1867. For more than a quarter of a century it was on the French Catholic province of Quebec that the Conservative party with Sir John Macdonald leaned to support its protective tariff policy. At that time Ontario and Nova Scotia were Liberal fortresses . . . The result of general elections has shown in a most striking manner that the Canadian people does not mix race and religious prejudices with its politics. It would be astonishing if it should be otherwise, at the end of this election campaign.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

When thou are come into the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations.

There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer.

For all that do these things are an abomination unto the Lord: and because of these abominations the Lord thy God doth drive them out from before thee.

Thou shalt be perfect with the Lord thy God. For these nations, which thou shalt possess, hearkened unto observers of times, and unto diviners: but as far thee, the Lord thy God hath not suffered thee so to do. (Deut. 18: 9-14.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And when they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God? for the living to the dead? To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them. (Isa. 8: 19, 20.)

Letter To The Editor

TEST MATCHES STUMPED US

Sir: Having just returned from a visit to the United Kingdom was very interested to read your Editorial on Test Cricket in Fridsy's Examiner. Some of your statements appear "a little off the beam".

Firstly the current Tests between England and Australia are allowed 5 days to be completed not 4 days. Secondly to say that attendances have suffered is incorrect. All Test reserved seats were sold months before the games were due to commence. An all night queue formed for "bleacher seats" at the London game at Lords with record receipts and attendances. In the British Isles the interest in Test cricket is simply terrific. Radio, television and newspapers all feature the games. A play by play radio commentary is beamed direct to Australia. It certainly ranks with World Series baseball games in the matter of public interest. Thirdly Cricket can hardly be described as leisurely, particularly professional games. Try batting against the bowling of such speed merchants as Lindwall, Larwood, Miller, Bedser, etc, It just is not possible-leisurely. To bowl for long periods calls for perfect physical condition, courage and lots of stamina. A successful batsman needs the patience of Jobe and undivided concentration, as usually one mistake means "The Batter Is Out" and must wait until the next innings for another chance. It is true batsmen often play safe but that is all part of the game, viz. to try to prevent defeat or bring victory.

More cricket news in the Examiner would, I know, be appreciated by numerous readers. Your edition of Thursday, July 23rd, gave no account of the Fourth Test which started that day. Friday's Examiner contained latent news of Thursday's score. On Monday you gave Saturday's score which the writer picked up on B.B.C. news at 12 noon Saturday. Play ends daily at 1:30 p.m. E.D.S.T. (6:30 p.m. U.K. Daylight Time) thus why cannot the same day's scores be given? The late Toronto evening papers carry it.

GENEROSITY

An actress came off the stage after a successful first night, and was surprised when the manager handed her a beautiful bouquet and a packet of marigold seeds.

"The bouquet is from a gentleman in the stalls, and the packet of seeds from a Scotsman in the gallery," was his explanation.

"WHO can't come out looking like WHAT?"

Oppose Broadening Scope Of UN Assembly Meeting

By RALPH CHAPMAN
(Special to The Examiner)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Latin American members of the United Nations favor limiting discussion in the post-armistice political conference to be held this fall to matters directly concerned with Korea, it has been learned. They are reported ready to press fo rsuch an agenda limitation when the general assembly convenes on Aug. 17.

Since this is in line with the announced position of Prime Minister Nehru, of India, and the probable, though unannounced, position of the United States, it appears that any efforts to broaden the scope of the conference when the assembly meets will fail. There are 20 votes in what is generally known as the "Latin American bloc."

What has troubled many delegates and others here is the wording of that article of the armistice agreement which calls for the political conference. It says that this shall be convened "to settle through negotiations the questions of the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea, the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc." What the South and Central American governments do not want to do is to go into that "etc."

This decision and others were made tentatively at a recent informal luncheon meeting. It could not be learned who attended or where the meeting was held but an informed source said that "most" of the 20 governments were represented.

There was general agreement at that time also as to the composition of the conference, another difficult problem that the assembly will be called upon to solve. The Latin Americans would like to see this line-up at the conference table:

Communist—North Korea, Red China, the Soviet Union, Poland and/or Czechslovakia.

Non-Communist—South Korea, the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Australia, Columbia and India.

Columbia is the only Latin country which sent troops to fight in Korea.

Such a 12-nation conference would satisfy those, and they are a majority, who do not want the conference to become unwieldly. But observers here immediately pointed out one glaring omission, i.e., Nationalist China. The latter is one of the five permanent members of the security council, exercises veto power in that body, and is certainly deeply concerned about any Korean settlement.

It is believed also that the Philippines will seek a voice in these discussions.

Another point that could bring about a fight on the floor of the assembly is whether or not the Korean question should be referred to the political committee. It is understood that assembly President Lester B. Pearson favors plenary sessions only. The Latin American group is understood to prefer having the political committee discuss the question and report back to the assembly.

The difference in procedure would appear academic since all assembly members are also represented on the committee. Chairmanship of the latter, however, is held by Joao Carlos Muniz, of Brazil.

HUNGRY WEST BERLIN RESIDENTS gather around three tents set up by the Communists on the divided city's east-west border as Soviet "overlords" distribute food parcels confiscated from East Berliners returning from the Western zone. Leaflet-carrying rockets tell of the project and a sound truck, foreground, invites the "needy" to come and get the food which the Reds claim was "voluntarily given up" in a move to help the unemployed of West Berlin.

With Fourth Quarter Rally Pats Defeat Gaels 13-9 To Take Third Place In OLA

Whatever Lou Vitarelli tells his junior lacrosse Pats at half-time, it [illegible] works miracles. He quite possibly [illegible] a few ears burn during that time-out session Wednesday night. But the result was slightly sensational for the Pats, led by Gerry O'Reilly and Carl Brioux, the play-makers, overcame a four-goal deficit and went on to win 13-9 over Oakville's Green Gaels.

The Pats clinched third place in the junior OLA standing with the win, shoving the Gaels back to fourth place, the last playoff position. Long Branch (defeated by the Pats last Friday 17-14) placed well out in front, followed up by Brampton only a few points ahead of the Pats.

The Pats outplayed the Gaels throughout the first quarter but held only a 4-3 margin at the end. They they simply failed to backcheck in the second quarter, leaving Ray Hill unprotected. Immediately the Gaels surged ahead 8-4 at the half.

Whatever passed between the Pats and Vitarelli at the half made the Pats play a quick two-way game from the opening whistle in the third until the final blow. O'Reilly and Brioux, Pats' only defencemen, acted as play-starters and Bob Allan, Bob Curtis and Bob Hobart finished the chore. They tied the game up eight-all at three-quarters and took the win in the final 15 minutes.

The Pats' play during the final half was simply a complete reversal of their second quarter form. They broke quickly, backchecked just as fast, won draws, grabbed loose balls and made the best of their scoring chances. This certainly helped goalie Hill who came through with several close shaves.

This complete change in the Pats' form caused another complete reversal for form, this time in the Gaels' camp. They just seemed to lose heart and switched to a rough and tumble variety which saw the smaller Pats dodging in and out with ease.

The change in the Pats seemed to centre around O'Reilly and Brioux who during the second quarter and parts of the first played ragged lacrosse. Once these defence stalwarts began to play well, the team played well.

Bobbie Curtis, a good two-way player, easily paced the forwards, along with others Bobs, Hobart and Allan. Buddie McDougall, Ivan Thomas, Frank Farley, Art Galley and Junior Daniels gave the Gaels a few troublesome moments.

Besides his good game, Curtis also cooled the Gaels' star, Gary Eatough, early in the third quarter. Eatough, with three goals in the second, exchanged stick blows with Curtis, ending up with a head cut.

Both players dropped their sticks after this tussle and went at each other with fists, then fists, arms and legs along the ground. Referees Nip O'Hearn and Gerry Fitzgerald spent several minutes separating the two. They ended up with major penalties.

Lineups:

Pats: Goal, Hill; defence, Brioux, O'Reilly; centre, Allan; wings, Curtis, Hobart; rover, McDougall; alts., Daniels, Thomas, Farley, Galley

In the men's two-ball Les Reid and Ed. Dixon entered the finals by defeating Ray Tanner and Reg. Stewart, one up.

M. G. Hardill moved into the finals of the senior men's tournament by defeating O. M. Steer.

E. W. Armstrong disposed of Joe Frost and now meets Jack Richardson in the final of the MacDonald Trophy.

On Saturday and Sunday coming will be run the Hulbert Memorial Trophy. With plenty of prizes for all flights, this should attract a large entry. Players may play as many games as they wish upon paying the entry fee for each game. Better see Alf Hill for more particulars.

This Sunday morning Les Reid is defending his club championship against Jim Clarkson in a 36-hole match play fight that should prove to be a thriller. A large gallery is anticipated to watch the accurate-playing Les tangle with the long-hitting voluble Scotsman.

Bell And Foresters Take Civic Loop Tilts

With Keith Harrison hurling five-hit ball, Bell Telephone thumped Sunshine 10-0 in the Civic Softball League last evening at the Bowl. IOF scored three runs in the seventh inning of the nightcap to gain an 8-5 victory over Bill's Lunch. It was the ninth win in 10 loop starts for Foresters, who will be going into OASA intermediate "AA" playdowns soon. Paul Mooney was their winning twirler Wednesday.

Civic League games schedule for the Bowl next Monday evening are: Post Office vs. Bill's Lunch, and Seabrooke's vs. the Foresters.

OLA Juniors Playoff

Peterborough Pats, by finishing third in their OLA junior "A" schedule, go now against Long Branch (first-place team) in provincial semi-final playoffs, probably a best-of-five series, starting shortly. Brampton and Oakville meet in the other semi-final playoff series.

Coach Lou Vitarelli is calling a practise for the Pats at 10:30 a.m. on August 9 in Miller Bowl, with every player expected on hand and on time to get ready for the playoff series. The OLA will probably get these series started this coming week.

Soccer Activity

Local soccer activity was evident every night this week when players returned to practise for the forthcoming weekend games. On Thursday evening, Canadian Scots travel to Courtice, five miles west of Bowmanville, to play an invitation exhibition game. All players are requested to be at King Edward Park at 5.45 p.m. On Saturday, the Downer family will play Canadian Scots in a benefit game for Jimmy Gilchrist, who accidentally broke his arm in a recent game. He has just been in the country a few months. Prizes will be given away at half-time. This game is scheduled for two o'clock prompt so that the Eastern Ontario game between Bowmanville and UE will take place at five o'clock.

Port Hope defeated the local Merchants in Port Hope last Monday.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

This weekend's going to be "all wet" as far as sports are concerned.

Fitting in neatly with a network of regattas throughout the Kawartha lakes, the Ontario water ski championships at Inverlea and in the speed-boat races at Chemong will prove to be highlights of summer activity.

The water ski two-day meet, after switching back and forth more than a six-hour chess game, will finally be held in the Otonabee river just off Inverlea beach, between the Auburn and London St. dams.

The water skiers were hoping to show by holding the championships at Little Lake the great possibilities it has as a sports centre. But as in the past the little old bugs won out, forcing them up to the river location.

It's too bad the pollution situation still exists in Little Lake. It was the logical place for the championships and no other centre in Ontario has such an ideal location, providing plenty of room for the high-speed cruiser, for large spacious slalom courses and for spectators.

At Inverlea the water skiers (to say nothing of the spectators) will be jammed together. The speed boats will have to do some ticklish manoeuvring in the much narrower and shorter waterway. Piers and dead-heads provide dangers for the skiers.

But these water skiers won't have too many worries about falling; they are all championship-calibre and stay skimming along in places where the average skier would tumble. They'll make out all right.

Water skiing for most Peterborough people is something quite new and should draw a large crowd, if just to satisfy their curiosity. They'll see in action many skiers of whom they've seen many times in newspaper photos and they've read lengthy news yarns.

These top skiers will be zipping along atop the water, dodging the slalom flags, attempting the dangerous water jumping at speeds up to 38 miles an hour, and finally performing various tricks which have been developed by the world's best.

Speaking of the world's best, a headliner will probably be Carol Ann Duthie of Toronto. She's been churning the water to the North American, Canadian and Mexican water ski titles and is considered among the select. She'll be competing with another top skier, Canadian women's champion, Joan Flydel, also of Toronto.

Bobcaygeon will be well represented on the men's side. There'll be Gus McIntosh, one of Canada's best skiers for several years now. Then there's the up-and-coming Bruce Poole, North American and Canadian junior champion, also from 'Caygeon way. That boy's a whiz.

There'll be many others battling for honors, another step to the CNE great water ski show later this month.

SPEED BOAT RACES AT CHEMONG

But water skiing doesn't hold all the water sports fans this weekend. There'll be some thrilling speed boat races Sunday at Chemong lake, just off the park. The emphasis there will be on speed, speed and speed.

For some time now Bridgenorth's Charlie Abbott has been the district's only speed boat racer. There's a few who consider themselves racers, but they're far from Abbott's class.

Charlie, Canada's only D and E class racer, has developed a deep interest in the faster boats. He has made numerous trips to the States for competition.

His love for the sport prompted him to suggest to Canadian and U.S. racers an exhibition meet in the Peterborough vicinity as a help to encourage inboard speed boat racing.

Apparently these boys will go anywhere as long as there's a possibility of a race. They accepted readily and even at their own expense have made arrangements to be at Chemong Sunday for a full afternoon of racing.

Art Hatch of Hamilton, winner of the Duke of York trophy in England, will have his Cost of Living (a 226 class craft) ready for racing besides two others, Cost of Lotta and Costaphobia (225 class boats). Cost of Living travels along at speeds of more than a 100 miles an hour.

Bernard Daoust, Lachine, Quebec, who set a Canadian record this week at Picton, will also be here. Daoust's Canada Maid (another 266er) set the new record of 103.175 miles an hour. He'll be shooting at the higher world's record of 122 miles an hour.

Besides Hatch's two 225 class boats, there'll be Dave Norton's Gashopper. The Toronto racer during the past winter reached speeds up to 95 miles an hour while in Florida. Bill Hodgson and George Carnegie, both of Toronto, will also race in the 225 class.

Another new record breaker, George Reynolds of Brockville (he set the Canadian 135 class record at 73 miles an hour) will race at Chemong. He'll have competition from Tommy Turner (94 miles an hour) of Kenmore, New York, and Bill Viets (around 90) from Springfield, Mass.

Charlie will be performing before a home crowd and in a D and E class. His opposition will be American, coming from world's record holder, Ed Endres of Buffalo (his world's time is 28 miles an hour).

There'll also be a few races for district outboard motor racers. Boy, these'll be awfully slow after those high-speed racers.

It's a full weekend for the water sports fan.

Kesselring Favored To Take Golf Title

By PETER REILLY

BRANTFORD (CP) — Sixty-four golfers tee off today in two 18-hole rounds of match play as the Ontario amateur golf championship goes into its second day. By nightfall, a slim field of 16 will be left for Friday's quarter-final round.

Defending champion Gerry Kesserling of Kitchener, who Wednesday advanced into the second round on a 7 and 5 win over Norm Martin of Kitchener, still is the top-heavy favorite to make it three in a row. He won the championship in 1949, 1951 and 1952. Nick Weslock walked off with the title in 1950.

Kesselring is paired with George Molnar of Norfolk for today's round. Molnar gained the second round Wednesday with a 3 and 1 triumph over Joe Nolan of Hamilton Chedoke.

Besides Kesselring, veteran observers look for Nick Weslock, Keith Kirkpatrick and Phil Farley to finish easily in today's play. The four made up last year's Willingdon Cup team.

GIVEN BOOST

Weslock with a home-made putter, gave Brantford, the fourth-oldest golf club in Canada, a boost Wednesday when he proclaimed it was "one of the best in the country." The course is well irrigated, making the fairways and greens spongy enough to let the ball dig in.

The only well-known player to bow out so far is Bruce Castator of Islington, who fell before 23-year-old Johnny Skeaff of Toronto St. Andrews, making his first start in the Ontario championship.

Toughest hole on the 6,110-yard course, according to the players, is the 433-yard par-four eighth. The approach to the green is bordered closely by trees, demanding a long, accurate drive.

Toronto Scarboro's Farley, at 41, one of the older competitors, was paired off with clubmate Eric Smith, who gained the second round when he defeated junior hockey star Andy Bathgate of Cutten Fields 2 and 1.

Louis Georgas, the golfing skiier from Owen Sound, is paired today with London Highland's Keith Kirkpatrick, high-ranking Ontario player. Georgas hung on Wednesday until the 23rd hole to take a win from Steve Garrett of Brantford Ava.

Rifle Enthusiasts Gather For Competition

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—Hundreds of small-bore rifle enthusiasts gather here Friday in national competition for the annual shoulder-to-shoulder matches of the Canadian Small Bore Association.

The three-day meet which ends Sunday will see .22-calibre rifle marksmen from almost every province meet to demonstrate proficiency in target shooting.

Spokesmen for the CSBA say that both men and women will participate. Until after the First World War, the 22 rifle was generally regarded as a toy by seasoned marksmen. Slowly it became recognised as being of rifle match calibre.

Until then, shooting clubs were as exclusive as some squash clubs are today. But the .22, the "poor man's rifle," changed all that, opening the doors of the sport to everyone with a desire to shoot.

TWO NATIONAL BODIES

The shooting boom gave birth to two national ruling bodies. The Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, founded in 1868, was the first. Its membership was open only to members or former members of the permanent or reserve force. The DCRA, which still chooses Canada's Bisley teams, opens its week-long .303-calibre rifle shoot here Monday.

Small-bore (.22) marksmen were unorganized until 1906 when Dominion Marksmen was born. Interest in the sport grew quietly until, by 1932, there were so many members, the Canadian Small Bore Association was formed.

Today, many of the larger Canadian industries have their own small-bore rifle clubs. One large Montreal insurance company has such a club 16 floors above the street where a .22 rifle range is laid out. There are dozens of private clubs across the country.

Matches are confined to summer months, but indoor rifle tournaments are held during the winter. These decide provincial and national championships. Results are exchanged by wire and letter.

While statistics on small bore marksmen are scanty, one spokesman said he estimates that close to 50,000 Canadians engage in the sport.

Boat Planking Torn By Shaft

SEATTLE (AP)—A flailing driveshaft, ripped loose by a snapped propeller, tore out rear bottom planking of the speedboat Slo-MO-Shun V at 170 miles an hour Wednesday, but owner Stan Sayres said later he was sure his big hydroplane could be repaired in time for Sunday's gold cup race.

The second of Sayres' Slo-Mos was on a speed test on Lake Washington when a blade of the propeller flew off.

In an instant, the vibration tore the driveshaft free and it pounded out the entire bottom back of the engine.

Driver Lou Fageol of Detroit escaped injury.

Milwaukee Hands Brooklyn Surprise 5-3 Loss

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

With one eye on the standings and the other on the calendar this looks like the day of decision for Milwaukee Braves. Charlie Grimm's club meet the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers twice today. Nothing less than a pair of victories will convince anybody but the rabid Milwaukee fans that the Braves still have a pennant chance. The Braves, who jumped from a lacklustre seventh-place outfit in Boston to dangerous contenders in Milwaugee, trail the Dodgers by 7½ games. Twin triumphs would leave them 5½ behind; a double defeat would drop them 9½ back. It's a rare season when a club can make up that much ground in seven weeks —all that's left of the 1953 campaign.

The Dodgers suffered their first loss in Milwaukee Wednesday, a 5-3 decision which saw the Braves come from behind in the eighth inning. Milwaukee scored twice in the seventh and got three more in the eighth.

TRIM CARDINALS

Third-place Philadelphia Phils, nine games back of Brooklyn, trimmed fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals 7-3. New York Giants, who have collapsed completely in the west, lost two more, 9-6 and 7-6, to Chicago Cubs with the second game running 10 innings. Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 6-4.

The top spots in the American League remained static with New York Yankees still five games ahead of Chicago White Sox. New York came from behind to edge Detroit 5-4 while Chicago was carried 14 innings at Philadelphia before Sam Mele broke it up with a two-run homer.

Ben Flowers pitched a shutout in his first major league start for Boston, beating St. Louis Browns 5-0. Bob Porterfield, the majors' leading whitewash artist, threw his seventh shutout and his second in a row as Washington trounced Cleveland 11-0.

Detroit out-hit New York 13-10, but Gus Triandos, just up from Birmingham, and Billy Martin homered for the Yankees and the winning run was scored in the seventh when Yogi Berra doubled home Mickey Mantle.

FOURTH HOMER

Mele's winning blast was the fourth home run in the Philadelphia marathon. Gus Zernial and Ray Murray homered for the A's in the second and Ed McGhee tied the count in the eighth with a two-run blow

Porterfield scattered six hits and contributed two doubles to the 17-hit Washington assault as the Senators broke their string of 23 scoreless innings.

Wildness caused the downfall of Willard Schmidt in his return to the big time with St. Louis. He gave the Phils only five hits in eight innings, but he walked six. Bob Miller tamed the Cards after Stan Musial homered with Red Schoendienst on base in the first inning.

The Giants spotted Chicago eight runs in the first game and when they tried to catch up in the eighth inning, elderly Dutch Leonard stopped them after five runs were across. In the nightcap singles by Warren Hacker, Frank Baumholtz and Tommy Brown produced the winning run in the 10th.

111 Golfers Entered In Annual Tilt

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A record field of 111 women golfers is entered in the 19th annual Canadian Ladies' Close golf championship which starts at the Sunningdale Club here today. The 54-hole medal competition will choose its champion Saturday.

Heading the field is Marlene Stewart, the smooth-stroking teenager from the Lookout Point club at Fonthill, Ont. She hopes to make it three in a row, having won in 1951 and 1952. If she is successful she will establish a record for the tournament, begun in 1922.

Four other members of the Canadian women's team which accompanied Marlene to Britain are to play today. They are the veteran Ada Mackenzie of Toronto Ladies, Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, Babs Davies of Vancouver Marine Drive and Mary Gay of Kitchener.

OPENING ROUNDS

Marlene, winner of the British Open, also leads an Ontario team into today's opening rounds. Four players from each province are to battle it out for interprovincial honors, the team with the lowest gross score for the first 36 holes gaining the title. Ontario is the defending champion.

Barbara Davies of Vancouver is the only other former Close winner besides Marlene Stewart and Ada Mackenzie who is starting today.

Marlene shot a 76 in practice Wednesday, women's par for the 5,998-yard course. She says she feels good, but isn't predicting anything.

Bisons Crush Rochester In 9-3 Triumph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons took advantage of Montreal's layoff Wednesday night, defeating Rochester Red Wings 9-3 to advance to within 1½ games of the pace-setting Royals.

In other International Baseball League contests, Toronto Maple Leafs downed Syracuse Chiefs 3-1 behind southpaw Hal Hudson's six-hit pitching; a three-run homer by second baseman Ralph Caballero gave Baltimore Orioles a 3-1 triumph over Ottawa Athletics.

At Buffalo, the win gave the second-place Bisons the best of a five-game series with the Wings and lengthened their margin over the losers to two games.

EIGHTH VICTORY

Ken Johnson, pitching two-hit in 1949, 1951 and 1952, Nick Wesnig six, easily captured his eighth victory. Jack Wallaesa pumped his 26th homer and Frank Carswell his 14th for the Bisons.

At Syracuse, Art Hartley fanned the Leafs for five innings, but a walk, a sacrifice and Billy Demars' single tied the count in the sixth. Toronto collected six safeties off Hartley and one off Kurt Krieger.

At the Canadian capital, Caballero's second homer of the season came in the fourth with two on. Howie Fox spaced out seven hits in going the distance for the Birds.

Oshawa Merchants Defeat Springfield

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa Merchants of the semi-pro Senior Intercounty Baseball League defeated the last-place Springfield Cubs of the class AAA International League 11-2 in an exhibition game here Wednesday night.

Mike Mellis, playing-manager of the Merchants in 1951-52 and now with Springfield, was charged with the loss as the Merchants collected 10 runs on seven hits off him in the first five innings. Eddie Drapcho pitched the first five innings and got credit for the win.

Fran Dyson's three-run homer, Bill Turk's bases-loaded double and another double by Butch Lawing that drove in two more runs were the big blows against the Cubs.

Fergus Flattens Orillia 21-15

FERGUS (CP)—Fergus Thistles Wednesday night assured themselves of the fourth and final playoff berth in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior series with a 21-15 decision over Orillia Terriers.

Bob Dobbie led the Fergus attack with six goals. J. J. Hill came up with four and Don McWhirter notched three. Don Damico scored six times for the Terriers with Stu Scott getting four.

Chicago Loses Fain For 10 Days

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Chicago White Sox, clinging grimly to hopes of overtaking New York Yankees in the American League penant race, Wednesday lost the services of their prize first baseman, Ferris Fain, for 10 days to two weeks.

The loss of the fiery, two-time American League batting champion came as the White Sox prepped for their weekend "must" series of Yankee Stadium. They play four games there and on the outcome of those contests could rest the penant.

Manager Paul Richards confirmed that Fain suffered a "green stick" fracture of the ring finger of his left hand, his throwing hand. The fracture, while not a complete break of the bone, is bad enough to prevent Fain from batting or throwing until it is healed. The hand was injured in a brawl in a tavern.

Fain was dancing with a girl Sunday night when he became involved in a fist fight. James Judge of Washington, an employee of an old soldier's home, filed a $50,000 damage suit in the District of Columbia federal court. Fain suffered a cut forehead and a skinned cheek. And Wednesday the word spread that Richards is deducting from Fain's salary, rumored at about $30,000 a year, a day's pay for each day he misses from playing. So far it's estimated to have cost Fain about $600.

$40,000 CONTRACT—Eddie Stanky (right), manager of the St. Louis Cards, and August A. Busch, Jr., president of the club, read over new three-year contract calling for a salary believed to be in excess of $40,000, before Stanky put down his name. The contract is effective next year and extends through 1956.

Main, Rochon Expected To Get Singles Assignment

MONTREAL (CP) — The draw comes up today for the Cuba-Canada Davis Cup tie and there won't be an eyebrow lifted if Lorne Main and Henri Rochon get the singles assignment for Canada.

It appears merely a question of which of the two experienced Davis Cuppers meets which of the Garrido brothers when the semi-final North American zone tie starts Friday.

Main and Rochon opened with successful singles against Mexico last month, and Canada eventually won 3-2. Their choice again by Dr. Georges Leclerc, Canada's non-playing captain, appears a formality in a move designed to get the jump on the Cuban youngsters.

DEFINITE PLANS

Captain Ricardo Morales, Cuba's veteran captain, said definitely Wednesday he will name the Garridos—Reynaldo, 19, and Orlando, 22—for the singles. In their pre-tournament workouts Reynaldo, of bigger build, has struck observers as having a flatter and harder stroke. He relies more on power than Orlando. The brothers are students—and tennis players—at the University of Miami in Florida.

From the start, the Cubans will face a handicap against the confident Canadians because the Garridos are practically strangers to grass courts.

But Morales said his boys are "young and ambitious and improved over last year." They have found the weather here "perfect for tennis, not too hot and not too cold."

LIKELY SEE ACTION

Depending partly upon the outcome of Friday's singles, it is likely Paul Wiley and Bob Bedard, newcomers this year to Davis Cup play, will get into action. Wiley, from Vancouver, is a likely choice for the doubles Saturday as a teammate of Main, formerly of Vancouver and now of Toronto.

If Canada sweeps the opening singles and the doubles, clinching the tie, Bedard, of Sherbrooke, Que., may go into the Sunday singles.

If Canada defeats Cuba, the next opponents in Montreal will be the United States team, Sept. 11-13.

Skov Bows Out Of Baseball Team

GALT (CP)—Glen Skov, Detroit Red Wing hockey star, has turned in his Galt Terrier baseball uniform at the request of Red Wing manager Jack Adams, it was learned Wednesday.

Skov, a native of Windsor and a centre with the National Hockey League club, told Galt Senior Intercounty Baseball club executives Adams had advised him he'd "better leave baseball alone".

The loss of Skov will knock a hole in the Galt lineup. He was hitting .277 and cannot be replaced because of a league rule which prohibits player additions after July 15.

Hamilton Cadet Trying For Two Medals

By ARTHUR ROWSON

LONG BRANCH (CP) — Bob Crossan, 18-year-old Hamilton youth and the best cadet marksman in Canada, is set to try for two silver medals today at the Ontario Rifle Association's annual shoot here.

A Westdale Collegiate youth who won his Canadian title at Ottawa last year during the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association's annual shoot, Crossan tied Wednesday with three others in the Tait-Brassey match and with two others in the City of Toronto match.

Both contests are to be decided today, fourth and final day of the shoot.

One of his competitors in the Toronto tie shoot will be a fellow Hamilton cadet, P. D. F. Ford. The other is Capt. J. G. Kirk of the 21st Anti-Tank Regiment, Listowel. All three scored 73 each with 15 rounds at 600 yards.

Crossan's score of 102 in the Tait-Brassey was matched by Maj. W. P. McBean of the supplementary reserve, London; Sqdn. Ldr. P. S. Shepherd, RCAF Camp Borden; and Sgt. R. B. Cathline, Royal Canadian School of Infantry, Camp Borden. In the first round, riflemen fired seven shots at each of the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges.

OTHER WINNERS

Other winners who posted scores of 72 in the City of Toronto match were Lt.-Col. D. T. Burke, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Sub-Lieut. T. F. Baines, RCNR, Toronto; Sgt. A. T. Sharp, RCAF Camp Borden, and S. Sgt. G. B. Kay, Royal Hamilton Light Infantry.

In the same match, Maj. and Mrs. C. W. Spencer of Ottawa, their daughter, 19-year-old Patricia and son, Cadet Sgt. C. D. Spencer, all won prizes. They scored 67, 69, 64 and 63 respectively.

The ORA silver medal for the Bankers match went to Sgt. R. S. Potter of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, Hamilton, in a closely-contested tie shoot.

Firing on the 500-yard range, Potter scored five bulls, equalled by Flt.-Sgt. J. V. Martin, who in the first round of the match earlier this week protested that he couldn't check a shot because a field telephone wasn't working.

Both contestants scored inners (four points) with the sixth shot, but with the seventh, Potter scored a bull for five points and Martin a magpie, worth three.

Matches to be completed today include the important lieutenant-governor's contest and the Duke of Cornwall and York.

ALL HAPPY—Jockey Teddy Atkinson, astride sleepy-looking Tom Fool, and trainer John Milton Gaver, of the Greentree Stable, have reasons for their smiles. Tom Fool is the reason. The great four-year-old son of Menow-Gaga, out of the money only once in 26 starts, has added lustre to their reputations as jockey and trainer. Tom Fool won his eighth straight victory in the Wilson Mile at Saratoga Tuesday, romping home to an eigth-length win over Indian Land, his only rival in the race which netted his owner $10,925 and sent Tom Fool's all-time earnings to $485,515, making him tenth on the list of the world's money-winning horses.

Give Servicemen Some Comforts Civilian Worker

PORT HOPE (Special) — Conservative critics of waste in the Defence Department were strangely silent now, declared David Croll, Liberal candidate for Toronto-Spadina, speaking at a rally Wednesday night.

Speaking in support of John James, Liberal candidate for Durham, Mr. Croll said "the Tories have overreached themselves . . . (and) . . . now find themselves in an impossible position."

In the Commons the Conservatives had risen to denounce the government for squandering money on the armed forces.

"But what are they saying today? You don't find a word about squandering money on the men in the armed forces. In fact, the Tories are now trying to tell the public, and the men in the military stations, that they believe there is nothing too good for those who are serving their country.

"Canadian workingmen have lamps and carpets and refrigerators; wading pools, swimming pools and bowling alleys are available to them. Why deprive the men in the armed forces of these amenities?" asked Mr. Croll.

The serviceman was entitled to the same comforts as the civilian worker, as long as he could use them. Canada was getting an adequate supply of recruits, partly because men knew they would have some of the amenities they had become accustoned to in civilian life.

Combat Allergy

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The world's first "pollen factory" was opened recently at Vegaholm, with an annual production estimated at about five tons. The pollen will be turned into vaccines for treating allergic diseases.

Planning Sidelight To Golf Tournament

TORONTO (CP)—A sidelight to the $25,000 open golf tournament in Montreal Aug. 17-23 will be a unique "golf contest" involving a golfer, a baseball player and an archer.

It will be a regular 18-hole "golf round" but while the golfer wil be using his regular clubs, the baseball player will be batting a ball around the course and the archer, fittingly, shooting an arrow.

For the baseball player a five-foot circle on each green will denote the "hole." For the archer a target will be placed in the hole when he is in a position to "putt." If the archer shoots into a bunker it'll cost him a stroke to get out.

44 Tennis Aspirants Drop By Wayside

TORONTO (CP)—Forty-four tennis aspirants dropped by the wayside Wednesday as play got under way at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club in the opening rounds of the Ontario junior lawn tennis championships.

Top-seeded junior men's singles player, Pierre Lambert of Victoriaville, Que., defeated Jimmy Coons of Hamilton 6-4, 6-4. Dick Kalil of Cornwall dropped Jim Simpson of Toronto 6-1, 6-1 in a fast-moving boys' singles match. Players under 15 are classed as boys and girls.

Tuesday's rain forced postponement of the opening one day.

Protest Purchase

DUBLIN (CP)—Hundreds of unemployed marched through city streets shouting: "Give us our share of Tuiyar—on a plate." The march was in protest against the £250,000 purchase by the national stud of the Republic of Ireland of Tulyar, wno won last year's Derby for the Aga Khan.

Police Charge Chicago Boxer

CHICAGO (AP)—Police today seized boxer Bob Satterfield and charged him with operating a house of prostitution.

The 29-year-old heavyweight was seized at his south side home by detectives from the commissioner's office. Two women also were seized and charged with soliciting.

Satterfield, once a contender for the light heavyweight championship, has the reputation in fight circles of being an in-and-outer.

On July 1, he knocked out Pittsburgh's Bob Baker in the first round at the Chicago Stadium. This projected Satterfield into consideration for bouts with heavyweight contenders since Baker had been ranked behind Roland La Starza and Ezzard Charles for Rocky Marciano's title.

Rosewall Paces 4 Seeded Stars

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Ken Rosewall, 18-year-old Australian, paced four seeded stars into the quarter-final round of the men's singles play of the Eastern grass court tennis championships Wednesday.

Rosewall, top-seeded foreign entry, won his quarter-final berth by beating Grant Golden of Chicago 6-2, 9-7. Lewis Hoad of Australia, the third-seeded foreign player, was the first to move into the round-of-eight when he put out Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., 6-4, 7-5.

Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., the top-ranking U.S. player and second-seeded American entry had to come from behind to beat Koset Kamo, Japanese Davis Cup star 7-9, 6-2, 6-3.

EXTEND DUCK SEASON

OTTAWA (CP)—Extended shooting seasons and bigger bag limits for duck hunters in most parts of Canada were announced Wednesday by the resources department.

Streamlined regulations which would enliven the duck marshes this fall were approved by the federal cabinet and are being sent to government buildings and enforcement officers across the country for bulletin-board posting.

The 1953 rules, set after study of migratory bird populations and consultation with United States authorities under an international convention, establish open seasons throughout Canada, the first of which becomes effective Sept. 1.

This fall, because of a modernization of the bulky rules and an improvement in the duck population in the west, duck hunters should have their best season in years.

The seasons vary by districts, but the daily bag east of the Ontario-Manitoba border has been increased to eight ducks from seven last year, with an open season of 60 days in each province except Prince Edward Island, which remains at 57 days. Last year most of these provinces had a 57-day season.

In these eastern provinces, the possession limit at any one time is twice the daily bag limit of eight —thus rising to 16 from 14 last year.

But western hunters get a special break, partly because of the increase in population and partly because of the damage ducks have caused to crops.

Manitoba's season jumps to 65 days from 57, Saskatchewan's to 70 from 69, Alberta's to 70 from 67 and British Columbia's to 80 from 70.

Where a hunter could shoot eight ducks a day last year in Manitoba, he now will be allowed 10, with a possession limit of 30 compared with 16 in 1952.

WINS HOCKEY TROPHY

KITCHENER (CP)—Clare Martin, captain and defenceman with the Allan Cup champion Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, won the Hainsworth Memorial Trophy as the team's most valuable player during the 1952-53 season, it was announced Wednesday. Runner-up on the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A squad was winger Doug Verity.

✦ ✦ ✦

SIGN PLAYING COACH

KITCHENER (CP)—The Kitchener-Waterloo entry in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union Wednesday signed Jay Fry, formerly of Los Angeles Rams, as playing line coach Fry, 24, played inside and linebacker with the Rams. A graduate of Miami (Ohio) University, he was all-conference inside in 1951.

✦ ✦ ✦

ARGOS SIGN BACKFIELDER

TORONTO (CP)—Bobby Moorhead, picked as defensive backfielder on the Associated Press All-American team last year when he was with Georgia Tech, has signed to play with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union, it was announced Wednesday. The 175-pound Moorhead, 20, a draft choice of Baltimore Colts, turned down a chance to play for that NFL team to sign with Argos.

ALS SIGN McNICHOL

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes announced Wednesday the signing of Doug McNichol, all-star outside last year at University of Western Ontario, who will join the Montreal Big Four football entry in workouts at once. McNichol, who stands six feet, four inches, weighs 225 pounds and is 23, won a place on the all-eastern team last year, an unusual distinction for college players.

Oil Pipeline To Be Laid Under Straits

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) The longest underwater link of a crude oil pipeline stretching across half of North America is scheduled to be laid under the Straits of Mackinac, 60 miles south of here, on Saturday.

The project is expected to draw thousands of spectators including engineers and government officials of both Canada and the United States.

The basic plan calls for a derrick to pull a two-inch wire cable across the 3½-mile stretch of water. The cable will be attached to the first 2,500-foot length of twin 20 inch pipes and then hauled back towards the southern shore. As each section leaves the upper peninsula shoreline the next length will be attached to it.

READY FOR HITCHES

To overcome the weight of the pipe, 166 pounds a foot, a series of pontoons filled with compressed air will saddle the pipe at 80-foot intervals. Engineers are prepared to make immediate changes in tactics if any hitches develop.

Project manager Joseph Troxell estimates the job will take about 54 hours. The underwater section will be composed of the twin 20-inch pipes, and they will be joined to a single 30 inch pipe at the other shore.

When completed the entire project—from Superior, Wis., to Sarnia—will have cost $76,000,000. It will link with the $900,000,000 pipeline from Edmonton to Superior built in 1950.

The line is expected to be in operation by Dec. 1. Its capacity at the start will be an estimated 120,000 barrels of crude a day.

STRATFORD (CP) — A police search that turned up 848 bottles of beer and 23 bottles of liquor resulted Wednesday in the conviction of Roy Jones, operator of a taxi business in nearby St. Marys. Question Man On Details Of Slaying

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A former Canadian accountant who says he killed his father-in-law in Milwaukee four years ago faced questioning Wednesday on details of the purported crime.

Sheriff's Capt. Ken England said that a list of questions was received from Milwaukee county authorities seeking to establish whether jurisdiction lay in Milwaukee or Waukesha county.

The accountant, Gordon Emerson Weber, 40, formerly of Kitchener and Hamilton, Ont., and Pittsburgh Pa., told officers here that he killed Rudolph Maier, 69, in Milwaukee and cremated the body on a dump in Hartland, a Milwaukee suburb.

BURIED IN WOODS

Last month, Weber said, he returned to the dump, exhumed his father-in-law's remains and buried them in woods in Waukesha county. He was arrested when he came back to Los Angeles, where his wife resides.

Capt. England said that Weber maintains that the killing was not deliberate, but occurred when Maier, a former mental patient, attacked him and they scuffled in a washroom of a Milwaukee Railroad station.

Weber is held on suspicion of murder.

Community Honors Newlywed Couple

WARKWORTH (ENS). — A large community gathering assembled in the town hall Monday evening to honor a recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ewing (nee Evelyn Partridge).

Mr. William Bowen was master of ceremonies for a variety program.

Miss Myrtle Hardy, ARCT, was accompanist for a vocal quartet given by Ida, Clarice, Marjorie and Marion Honey. A piano duet by Mrs. T. Doidge and Miss Lois Fowler. A humorous playette by White's School. Mrs. Leigh Isaac presented a "stunt" with four men and four women taking part: Clifford Skinkle, Owen Finlay, Arnold Poole and Ambrose English, and Mrs. Louis Hay, Mrs. Lorne Hutchinson, Mrs. George Nelson and Mrs. Eldon Ewing.

Little Linda Nelson gave an instrumental number, and Marie Campbell and Ida Honey sang the duet, "Beautiful Ohio," accompanied by Miss Hardy. Billie Isaac presented a humorous monologue with piano accompaniment.

One of the outstanding numbers was a musical number by five young men: Edward Thompson, Peter Morgan, Douglas Pearson, Hugh Campbell and Billie Isaac, with an encore number which was well received by the large audience. Another humorous number was presented by White's School with Garry Huycke acting in singing "Walking My Baby Back Home."

Leona Skinkle presented a crystal cake plate to the guests of honor from the Sunday school class of which the bride was their teacher.

Miss Ruth Edgar read an address on behalf of the Warkworth School pupils and Linda Hermiston presented an electric clock, and Ronnie Partridge a small wrapped humorous gift to the groom.

Earl Nelson then read an address representing the community and the girls: trilight floor lamp, chest of silver, cocktail table and a butterfly lamp table presented by Mrs. L. Isaac, Mrs. George Nelson, Mrs. Aubrey Lockhart and Messrs. Joe Greenly and Jim McCleary.

The couple thanked their friends and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

Five Strikers Fined $35

HAMILTON (CP)—Five striking truck drivers were each fined $35 and costs Wednesday on charges of intimidation.

The men, members of the Teamsters Union (AFL-TLC), were arrested July 22 after a trailer truck was stopped on the highway just outside this city. They are part of the 1,500 truck drivers in southwestern Ontario who went on strike July 20 for higher wages.

One of the convicted men, William Howard, 23, was ordered to pay an additional $26 to cover the cost of hooking up a tractor and trailer after the connecting pin had been pulled.

Octette Sings In English, Protest German Victory

RHYL, Wales (Reuters)—Eight small German boys carried off the top crown for octet singing in the annual Welsh cultural festival here Wednesday and promptly drew a protest because they had not sung in Welsh.

The runner-up Welsh choir lodged an objection against the first prize award to the youthful Bach choir from Brunswick, claiming it was a rule of the competition that all singing must be done in the Welsh language. The boys sang in German, under special permission given by Dr. Haydn Williams, chairman of the national Eisteddfod committee.

Mrs. Gwyn Williams, leader and spokesman of the runners-up, originally charged the boys had sung in English. She acknowledged that the singing wasn't a matter of language, but said the objection was being made "on grounds of principle."

Subsequently she accepted Dr. Williams' explanation that he had authorized the German group to sing in their own language. But the protest stood, she said.

No one raised any objection to the victory of another German group, the Kant Hochschule choir from Brunswick. It emerged winner of the women's choir contest, singing all numbers in Welsh.

Minnow Shortage At Clayton, N.Y.

CLAYTON, N.Y. (AP)—A minnow shortage is bringing the lowly angleworm to the fore at this St. Lawrence river bass fishing resort.

With the bass season scarcely half over guides and veteran fishermen report a shortage of minnows—traditional bait for the bass. The minnows, from four to six inches in length, are netted from the river waters.

Guides say the minnow stock appears to be dying out and attempts to propagate the species have failed. They are selling crabs as substitutes, but fishermen using worms have been bringing in good catches. Clayton lies across the river from Gananoque, Ont.

Thousands File Claims In Uranium Hunt

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)—Prospectors this summer are climbing over reddish gray rocklands and diamond drillers are piercing the surface to widen northwestern Saskatchewan's uranium region.

This year will see the greatest exploration of the infant industry as hundreds of prospectors scour an area about 30 miles in every direction from this hub town, 500 miles north of Saskatoon. The circle of development broadens daily, with some scattered exploration farther north.

The original uranium body and mine is at Beaverlodge lake, north of Lake Athabaska. This development is controlled by the federally-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Corp., which processes all ore produced.

Radiating from the Eldorado holdings are the privately-owned companies, estimated to number more than 100. New stakings are recorded almost every day.

At least 10,000 uranium claims have been recorded so far this year in Saskatchewan compared with 4,251 mineral claims of all kinds for all of last year.

Several mines have had to stockpile ore beside shafts because of the lack of processing facilities. The ore will be delivered to the Eldorado plant when it is ready to start on custom work.

The circle of exploration widened this year with the Gunnar-Gold discovery off Crackingstone Point, jutting out into Lake Athabaska beside St. Mary's channel. Said to be one of the most significant uranium properties in Canada, the find started a jump in the claim market.

12-ACRE AREA

Estimates place the ore body at 12 acres, extending 150 feet in depth. Its value has been computed at $65,000,000.

About 10 buildings from nearby Goldfields, gold-mining community turned ghost town, have been moved to the new property to house workers. About 400 persons are expected to be living in the Gunnar-Gold community within 18 months. Wharves have been built to land supplies hauled over the lake by barge.

Woman Dies In Fire

DELHI, Ont. (CP)—The charred body of Mrs. Norman Biesel of Elmira was recovered Wednesday night from embers of a $30,000 frame farm home which burned to the ground two miles south of here.

The 11 persons in the house were candling eggs in the basement when fire of unknown origin broke out in the upper storey. All but Mrs. Biesel escaped in time.

Refuse To Authorize Sales Tax Payment

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Board of control Wednesday refused to authorize payment of a sales tax on printed matter produced at city hall despite a warning that the city may be liable to a $1,000 fine.

The board has issued several protests against the recently passed federal law which ordered cities and towns to pay a tax on printed matter, such as safety posters, turned out by city employees.

The board decided to defer action on the situation for one month even though city solicitor James E. Watson warned the city could be fined if it continued to defy the federal government.

Files Libel Action Against Candidate

MONTREAL (CP)—Yvon Dupuis Liberal member of the Quebec legislature for Montreal Ste. Marie, Wednesday lodged a $50,000 libel action against Jean-Paul Boisjoly, Progressive Conservative candidate in Montreal Ste. Marie in Monday's federal election.

Mr. Dupuis in his action taken in Superior Court alleged that he was libelled in a number of political speeches by Mr. Boisjoly.

Mr. Boisjoly two days ago took a $10,000 slander suit against Mr. Dupuis' father, Hector Dupuis, who is Liberal candidate in Montreal Ste. Marie seeking re-election in the Commons.

Legion Asks Balanced Immigration Plan

SUDBURY (CP)—The 19th biennial convention of the Canadian Legion's Ontario command Wednesday night unanimously passed a resolution recommending that immigrants convicted of any crime be automatically deported from the country.

The resolution, endorsed in full by the delegates representing 6,000 Ontario legionnaires, also urged a balanced immigration program on the basis of three British subjects to one non-British subject.

The convention asked that the government offer financial aid to desirable British immigrants.

Boy Killed By Truck

SIMCOE (CP) — Brian Owen, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owen, RR 1, Delhi, was killed Wednesday when hit by a truck on the 14th concession of North Walsingham township, about two miles north of Langton. The boy ran across the road in front of a truck driven by Richard Hall, also of RR 1, Delhi, provincial constable John Coedy said.

Plane Crash-Lands

A MEDIUM-SIZED CROWD enjoyed themselves at the Bewdley regatta on Wednesday afternoon. Many of them gathered on the wharf before the judges' stand to watch the power boat and water skiing events. In one of the latter classes Gus O'Brien and Doug Laird do some fancy footwork that brought applause from the crowd. Choppy water did not make their stunting an easy chore.

Bewdley Regatta Combats Rough Water, Poor Day

Regatta Day at Bewdley met with choppy water and a small crowd of spectators as compared with other years. No doubt the holiday weekend just past and the consequent lack of the Wednesday half-holiday interfered with the regatta's success.

Although a large and varied fleet of watercraft were present—a minimum of their owners had any competitive spirit—and few acquired it. What is usually a spectacle of power-boat display turned out to be a panorama of anchored color.

Chairman Don Sidey and public address man Gord Minty experienced difficulty in getting three or more boats to enter in any given race.

One of the bright moments of the afternoon was a five boat entry in the 25 h.p. and under run-about class. A group composed of Dave Craig, Alex Sanky, Bob Harris, Tom Fox and Len Leslie beat the water for three laps around the water course and twice Sanky lost control on the south-east buoy, and narrowly missed colliding with his fellow racers. Even with this difficulty he managed to place third—and give the spectators a much-needed thrill.

Members of the Peterborough Water Ski Club were on hand and performed well despite the rough surface.

A bingo was held in the community hall in the evening. The program was sponsored by the Bewdley Community Association.

PARIS—The cuts France is preparing to make in her European rearmament program and in financing the Indo-China war could be avoided, many tax experts agree, if farmers and small businessmen paid fair income taxes.

The size of the cut has not yet been decided, but some influential economists are pressing for a reduction of nearly $300,000,000 almost 10 per cent of the French two-continent effort.

If the politically powerful farmers were to pay fair income taxes, more than $140,000,000 would be added to receipts, tax experts calculate. Another $140,000,000 to $200,000,000 of income would be realized if small businessmen and shopkeepers turned in the sales taxes they are supposed to collect.

Neither event is very likely to happen.

The farmers, for instance, are legally exempt from paying what international investigators consider a proper income tax. Every time a French premier has attempted to change the law in regard to taxing the farmers he has either been thwarted or turned out of office.

One of the last premiers to try battle with the farm lobby was Antoine Pinay, who tilted at the agricultural windmill for several months last year before being dropped from office in December.

VALUES MADE IN 1908

French farmers pay taxes on the basis of crop evaluations made in 1908. Prices have increased 170 times since then, but since the law gives farm organizations a sort of veto over readjustments of the evaluations, the old tax rates have been increased only about 15 or 20 times.

That means, according to tax experts, that the farmers legally have to declare only about a tenth of their income. In 1950, agricultural earnings were estimated at $3,000,000,000, but only about $250,000,000 was declared. Actual income tax payments were only $34,000,000.

The only farmers who pay income tax now are the 500,000 with holdings of more than 50 acres. They pay at the rate of something less than 2 per cent of their incomes. Tax inspectors say this rate should be boosted to about 8 to 10 per cent.

Meanwhile, the other 1,700,000 poorer farmers are hard hit by the practice of making farmers pay indirectly by keeping agricultural prices down.

As for the small shopkeepers, there is little likelihood they will start paying in the whole of the sales taxes they collect anytime soon.

POCKET SALES TAX

Checks have indicated that many small shops get by almost exclusively by charging the sales tax to the buyer and then pocketing it. The confiscated sales tax is the shop's operating profit.

Farmers and shopkeepers are by no means the only tax evaders. A recent study indicated that fully $1,700,000,000 a year in taxes are evaded. This is 20 per cent of the government's whole tax collection.

Wage earners and large businesses tend to pay their taxes on the nose, thanks in part to the easy detection of fraud in their cases. But unincorporated enterprises, professional men such as doctors and lawyers, and others whose earnings are hard to track, duck taxes year in and year out.

Professional men and unincorporated businesses earned $4,800,000,000 in 1952, according to recent checks, but reported only $3,100,000,000.

But contrary to the opinion of many disgruntled American taxpayers and Congressmen who have heard just such stories as this before, this does NOT mean that the French are NOT bearing their share in the international effort.

Actually, 31 per cent of total French earnings in 1952 went into taxes, compared with 27 per cent in the United States, even though the Frenchman has a far narrower margin between earnings and expenses than an American has.

What all this does mean is that France is in need of a drastic tax reform to shift the burden more squarely on the shoulders of those best able to pay.

Only 26 per cent of France's tax receipts last year were from indirect taxes, such as those on income—the system calculated to reach those best able to contribute.

INDIRECT TAXES

The great bulk of receipts came from indirect taxes, such as the 50 cents a gallon charged for gasoline, and the 400 per cent profit the government makes on its monopoly of the sale of cigarettes.

The question of just why so many Frenchmen refuse to make honest income tax declaration or why such powerful pressure groups resist fair assessments draws many answers.

One is that a vicious circle has now developed. In many brackets, especially the low ones, progressive income tax rates are now higher than they are in the United States. Rates evidently were set high in order to take evasion into account.

Taxpayers are known to ask themselves just how they could be expected to live if they actually made accurate declarations. If the rates were lowered and if people paid, the tax yield would be higher than it is now, tax experts agree.

During the war tax evasions were a patriotic way to share in the anti-German and anti-collaborationist resistance. Habits of ducking taxes have lingered.

There is no doubt the government desires to make improvements in tax laws, but the end of the French tax problem is still far from sight.

Rice Lake Yacht Club held its first major group cruise and picnic on Sunday, starting from Gore's Landing.

Boats and cruisers ran to Birdsall's at the east end of the lake, 14 miles from the starting place. Fishermen in smaller craft were surprised to see the flotilla of eight inboard cruisers from 25 to 50 feet, 11 runabouts and several outboard cruisers.

Master of ceremonies at the picnic was the club commodore, F. W. Belt of Toronto, skipper of the yacht Duchess. Boats returned to their own docks at sundown.

JASPER PARK LODGE—Robert Friars, internationally-known lecturer and photographer, left Jasper Park today after completing the filming of a feature-length motion picture "Northwest Canada" which he will use in his 1953-1954 lecture progam.

The film which will feature the scenic and vacation attractions of Jasper National Park and other parts of the Canadian Rockies will also include sequences of new industrial activities along the Prince Rupert line of the CNR, with emphasis on the great Kitimat development in British Columbia. Friars said the new Canadian film would probably have its world premiere at Town Hall in New York in November.

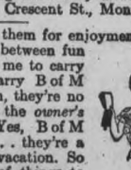
Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE



MONTREAL, August 6th—It's pickling time again . . . time to gather all those good vegetables from your garden or the market . . . and high time to stock up on HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR. Buy it in the gallon jug—it saves you up to 2½c on every cup as compared with smaller containers. And of course you get more than economy when you buy this vinegar made by the folks who made pickles famous! Crystal clear, full-bodied, uniform in strength—it preserves the crisp texture and colour of your pickles to perfection. And, by the way, if the gallon jug you buy doesn't have the free recipe booklet, "Pickling Success", attached — write to me for it . . . Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Holidays Are For Fun . . . so plan them for enjoyment. Often it's the details that make all the difference between fun and worry. For instance, it bothers me to carry cash when I'm travelling, so I carry B of M Travellers Cheques. If they're stolen, they're no good to the thief, because it takes the owner's signature to make them good. Yes, B of M Travellers Cheques are foolproof . . . they're a practical guarantee of a carefree vacation. So when you're making up your list of things to take on your holiday . . . you'll do well to put Travellers Cheques at the top. They come in convenient amounts of $10, $20, $50 and $100—and you can buy them at any branch of the BANK OF MONTREAL. You'll find them easy to cash wherever you go—but only you can cash them.

Talk About Hot Weather! . . . then think of the coolest thing you know. For me, it's a frosty, refreshing glass of NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. New Instant Chase & Sanborn is even cool to make . . . it's so easy. It dissolves like magic in cold (or hot) water—and here's all you do to make iced coffee—

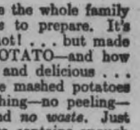
Place one heaping teaspoon of New Instant Chase & Sanborn in a tall glass. Half fill with tapwater and stir. Then add ice. And just wait 'til you taste that real coffee flavour! You see, New Instant Chase & Sanborn is 100% real coffee, made by a new exclusive process that keeps the flavour and aroma of freshly ground coffee.

Something Easy—something good for lunch or supper? My favourite summer treat is a light and tasty meal of soup and salad. But definitely one of the HEINZ SOUPS—they're the pick of the lot. Hundreds of people in dozens of taste tests have tasted and agreed. Yes, the whole family of Heinz Soups rated top marks with dieticians; young folks; men factory workers and housewives. And I'm sure a taste-test in your own home will bring a similar verdict. Simply heat a tin of say, the new Heinz Chicken Consomme or that delicious new Heinz Split Pea with Bacon and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-helpings of each and take a vote. Bet it will be Heinz, 2 to 1!

Salads are only as good as their dressing. I'm sure you know that . . . but did you know that lemons are perfect for bringing out the subtle good flavour of your salads? —and of course they add their own fresh flavour as well. But be sure the lemons you use are the finest to be had . . . use SUNKIST LEMONS in this recipe for Lemon French Dressing—

½ cup Sunkist lemon juice
½ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon each of salt and paprika
2 tablespoons sugar or honey

Shake well before serving. Add ½ teaspoon celery seed and clove of garlic if desired. (Makes 1 cup.)



Peach Jam Is Such A Favourite, isn't it? Of course, not to be ignored either are those tempting cherries, currants and plums. They're all good for jam . . . done the CERTO FRUIT PECTIN way. With Certo you need only a one-minute full rolling boil. Results are grand! You get a perfect set every time if you follow the Certo recipes exactly. You'll find recipes for jams and jellies in the booklet under the label of each bottle of Certo. With these recipes, you'll get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. And you'll save yourself 2/3 of the time of the former long-boil method.

Just Between Us Women . . . here's a dish to please the whole family—and it takes just one minute to prepare. It's mashed potatoes, believe it or not! . . . but made with FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO—and how good they are! Creamy-smooth and delicious . . . you'll never again want to make mashed potatoes any other way. There's no washing—no peeling—no boiling—no mashing . . . and no waste. Just follow the directions on the package. Every package contains enough for ten servings, the last as sweet and fresh-tasting as the first. You see, French's Instant Potato is made from top-quality potatoes, precooked by a special process that preserves important nutriments and delicious flavour!

Babies Love These Famous English Rusks that are so good for them. They're FARLEY'S RUSKS, not only crunchy-sweet and good to eat, but a scientific baby formula as well. You see, Farley's are made from specially milled English wheat flour and other important nutrients. They can be eaten in hand or crushed and spoon fed in warm milk or fruit. No sugar necessary—because Farley's Rusks are sugar-sweetened for appealing flavour and quick food energy. They're fortified, too, with calcium and phosphorus to aid in bone and tooth development. A real discovery for children's, old folks' and invalids' diets. Ask for them in the yellow box with the cellophane top.

Rescue Child In Deep Hole

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police and volunteer workers Wednesday pulled Douglas Welch, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Welch of Essex, out of a 22-foot deep hole in which the child had been trapped for more than two hours.

The partially-completed well hole is at a tourist camp seven miles east of this Northern Ontario centre.

By using two long lumbermen's pike poles wired together, workers were able to hook the boy's clothing and pull him from the tiny hole.

More than 200 persons watched while workers raced to rescue the youngster before rain-soaked walls of the hole caved in.

During the rescue operation Douglas was able to talk to his parents and others on the surface. Oxygen was pumped into the hole at intervals.

Espanola is 40 miles southwest of Sudbury.

Slight Decrease In Fruit Crop

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of agriculture reported Wednesday that this year's fruit crop outlook indicates a less than one per cent decrease from last year's yield.

The apple crop in both southwestern and northeastern areas of Ontario showed a decline of five and 15 per cent respectively. The apple crop prospect is poorer than it was a month ago, the seasonal fruit and vegetable report says, because of excessive rains. The dampness has helped to spread scab fungus.

The peach crop this year is expected to equal the 2,373,000 bushels produced in 1952. Harvesting of some brands started last month.

Sweet cherries in southwestern Ontario are a short crop, about one-third less than last year, due to a poor set following a heavy but short lived bloom this spring.

The province's pear crop is faring well with southwestern Ontario expecting a four-per-cent increase over the 1952 crop and the northern and southwestern sections reporting a possible increase of 30 per cent.

INTO THE GAP—Power-packed tugs ease a 200-foot concrete caisson into a dike gap at Kruiningen, Holland, closing the northern seawall of the western Scheldt River leading to Antwerp. This dike breach was one of four remaining in the flood-stricken southwestern area of The Netherlands.

The mother and all three children were reported doing well. These are the first children born to Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, Cargill is about eight miles west of Walkerton.

Calls Article 'Smear Tactics'

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennet Wednesday branded as "smear tactics, rubbish and untrue" an article on Social Credit in the current issue of New Liberty magazine.

The Social Credit premier, commenting at a press conference on an article by Leslie Roberts which said that if seated securely in Ottawa Social Credit would abolish all other political parties and general elections and "rub out" the secret ballot, said:

"This is a continuation of the smear campaign launched against Social Credit during the recent provincial campaign by our political opponents. . . .

"All these statements of Roberts are untrue."

Executive Assistant To Parking Authority

TORONTO (CP)—John Walker, 31, assistant city traffic engineer, Wednesday was appointed executive assistant to the parking authority of Toronto.

Mr. Walker was formerly assistant city engineer in Owen Sound. In his new job, starting Sept. 1, he will help determine the need and location of downtown parking facilities and work with lot operators to provide reasonable cost parking.

Seek Stronger Budget Control

HAMILTON (CP) — Stronger municipal control over police and fire department budgets will be the main item of business facing representatives from 200 cities and towns gathering here Aug. 24-26 at the Ontario Municipal Association convention.

Delegates will consider a resolution suggesting that the budgets of such commissions be made legally "under the ultimate control of the city council."

The resolution will be sponsored by North Bay, Fort William, Sarnia, Kitchener and Stratford and is believed to have been prompted by the fact that some municipal councillors are blamed for expenditures over which they have no control.

Other proposals scheduled to be brought forward at the convention will ask the provincial government to assume the entire cost of relief, child welfare and institutional care; raise the statutory pay for indigent hospital patients from $3.50 to $6.50 a day and intensify its anti-hay fever work by enforcing provisions of the Weed Control Act.

Guilty Of Theft From Cottage

LINDSAY (ENS)—Three Newcastle youths, Keith Aiken, 20; Gary Hancock, 17, and Earl Foster, 18, were placed on two years' suspended sentence and assessed costs of $5 each Wednesday. They pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and theft from a cottage, belonging to Jack Knight at Black Lake, in Haliburton county.

The charge was laid following the incident, which was discovered by Mr. Knight, July 7. Provincial Constable Alex McHendrie of Apsley detachment, discovered the stolen articles during another investigation and arrested the youths.

According to the evidence of Constable Alex Edwards, of Minden, the hasp on the door of the old log home had been broken. Two windows had also been broken.

After entry had been gained, the youths had stolen a battery radio, three batteries for it, an ancient shotgun, a box of shotgun shells, and a box and a half of rifle bullets. Most of the loot was recovered by Constable McHendrie, from Foster and Aiken.

The boys pleaded guilty to the charges; another youth, Herman Schmidt, also of Newcastle, pleaded not guilty and charges against him were dropped.

The youths were defended by A. B. Greer of Oshawa, who said the offence was their first and asked for suspended sentence. Crown counsel Lorne Jordan consented to this move.

Speakers at the Liberal meeting in Buckhorn this evening will be Max Swanston, Liberal candidate for Peterborough riding, T. J. Carley, QC, Dit Clapper and W. B. Gordon.

CAMPBELLFORD FIRE

A flash fire broke out Wednesday night in the garage of Wes. Sweet Ltd. in Campbellford. Garage employees put it out before the fire truck arrived. Some oil is believed to have ignited, starting the fire. There was no damage.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Alex G. Harrison of Lakefield, a graduate this year of the University of Western Ontario, has been awarded a CIL scholarship for post graduate study of chemistry. Mr. Harrison will study at McMaster University, Hamilton. He was one of 13 winners announced Wednesday.

SPEAKS FOR PCs

The Rev. Norman Rawson of Hamilton will be guest speaker tonight at a Progressive-Conservative rally at the Legion Hall at 8:15. Other speakers will be Gordon K. Fraser, PC candidate for Peterborough riding, the Hon. Harold R. Scott, and Mrs. Jack Cridland.

A MEAN THIEF

A sequel to Peter Beauchamp's flower lot story was his indignation Wednesday at the theft of the steps he had made for climbing down to the Jackson Park creek to get water for his petunias and his sweet peas and other bloom at Kesco Electric. "You wouldn't think there were people so mean," he lamented.

DECORATIONS BACK UP

Flags and pennants which were taken down more than a month after the Coronation are now back up again along the main downtown streets. This time they help provide additional color for the celebration of Derry Day by the Royal Black Knights of Ireland and the Ladies of the Crystal Chapter who will be in Peterborough this weekend.

CCF IN SOUTH-END

Maurice Ketcheson, CCF federal candidate in Peterborough riding, will not hold a meeting tonight; instead he and his committee will distribute campaign literature and talk to prospective voters in the south end of the city. Both Liberals and PCs say their last scheduled meeting of the campaign is tonight, but the CCF have not yet decided. The deadline for political speeches is Friday midnight.

CAUSEWAY DELAY

County Engineer Jack Kean is still waiting for final approval of plans for the Gannon's Narrows causeway and high-level bridge to be approved by the Department of Public Works in Ottawa. The county have complied with the legal requirements of advertising their intentions to build but need the final nod of approval from the department before calling for tenders.

THE RED ELDERBERRY

The red elderberry bush appears to be a rarity in the Peterborough countryside. One of them was noticed recently along a fence at Charlie Brown's farm in Douro, and another was recognized at Robert Armstrong's place in Douro. They are a strikingly attractive shrub. The leaves suggest the poinsettia, the berries are a bright color. Nursery stock is hardly more graceful than this bush. To verify identity Frank Paterson sent a sprig to OAC. Nature grows them herself, but there are only a few around.

RESCUE KITTEN

City firemen made a successful rescue today from the edge of Jackson Park Creek. A kitten had fallen over the cement retaining wall by the creek on the south side of Hunter St. and it was marooned on a small patch of grass beside the water. It couldn't climb the sheer cement wall and it couldn't swim. So passersby, noticing the kitten's plight, called the firemen.

Propeller Gashes Man After Fall

Found In Lake As Boat Circled, Brought To Hospital

Believed hit by the propeller of an outboard motor after he had fallen from a boat, Robert G. Heil, 35, Route 84, Mentor, Ohio, suffered severe facial and arm cuts at noon today just off the Juniper Island boathouse on Stony lake.

A guest of Ray Thomas of Cleveland, Ohio, Heil had been staying with Thomas at the Cleveland man's cottage at Boschink Narrows.

GONE FOR GAS

Apparently Mr. Thomas in his launch had gone to the Peterborough Canoe boathouse at Juniper Island for gasoline. Mr. Heil was alone in a second boat, powered by a 25-horsepower motor.

Mr. Thomas was at the boathouse getting the gas when he and others first noticed Heil's craft "spinning around in the water." Heil was in the water.

Apparently Heil never called. Only the boat's crazy actions attracted any attention to his plight.

Mel Hunter, in charge of the boathouse, went out in a third boat and brought Heil into the government dock at McCracken's. There a call was sent out to Lakefield for a doctor and an ambulance.

GAVE TREATMENT

Mrs. Helen Cherey, a graduate nurse and wife of C. Cherey, owner of Wantasa Inn, gave Heil treatment for shock. Later Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield bandaged Heil's face and arms and gave him a hypo. Heil was then rushed to Peterborough Civic Hospital by Hendren's ambulance of Lakefield.

Just what happened to Heil was rather vague; no one saw him fall out of the boat. But spectators close by said they believed he fell out and was hit by the propeller of the outboard motor.

At press time Heil was in the hospital operating room receiving stitches to his face and arm. An exact account of his injuries was not available but it was believed his nose, mouth, right cheek, and his left arm were badly cut.

District Rinks Lose In Bowling Playdowns

KINGSTON (CP)—Two Kingston, one Ottawa and one Agincourt entry advanced Wednesday to the finals of the Ontario provincial lawn bowling tournament here.

The four entries, rinks, senior doubles, singles and junior doubles qualified after a day's play at the Kingston Lawn Bowling Club in the Eastern Ontario zone playdowns for districts 13, 14, 15 and 16.

Kingston bowlers qualified in the doubles, both senior and junior; Ottawa won the rinks, and George Hillson of Agincourt was the singles winner.

The three Duncans and Dick Edney carried Kingston's colors into the provincial finals, fourth time in a row for the senior doubles, and the first for the junior. Bill Duncan, Sr., and Edney teamed up in the senior; Bill's two sons, Bill, Jr., and Doug, sailed through the junior.

A team skipped by M. A. Atkinson of Ottawa won the rinks division over rinks from Oshawa and Campbellford. All four entries will play in Hamilton Aug. 22 in the provincial finals.

False Alarm?

Reports by the police that the Kingan Hardware door was found open early this morning brought manager Geddes Harper hurrying down about 2:30. After a check of the store, however, the management is certain nothing is missing. "Somebody just left the door open, that's all," Mr. Harper commented. Detectives of the Peterborough Police Department are investigating, however.

CHILDREN of St. Vincent's Orphanage were treated to a picnic by city police at Filtration Park Wednesday where races were run and lots of hot dogs and soft drinks consumed. Above is seen the start of one of the races which everybody won and nobody lost. Don Erskine, organizer of the picnic, is seen awarding one of the young entrants, Randy Paquette, with his prize.

Happy To Lag Behind Work

As Peterborough's plumbing inspector, A. G. Metheral hasn't caught up with his work in years, and hopes he never will.

The number of plumbing permits is an index of housing development and also of employment of the building trades, the building supply firms and so on to the retailers who furnish the completed houses.

Continuously for some years, the backlog of incompleted jobs on Mr. Metheral's list was around 400 or more. At the end of July he still had 214 progressing jobs unfinished.

Last month 29 new houses were connected to sewers. One of the inspection jobs was the work done in converting the former home of the late James Murty at Murray and Downie Sts., into five apartments. The work included enlargement of the old house with its conspicuous gables. It is owned by H. Hymes, an employee at Civic Hospital.

Five other old houses were connected to the sewer, and six were septic tank replacements.

There were 176 inspections during July, 84 water tests, 30 smoke tests, five layouts and 57 miscellaneous tests. Fifty-one permits were issued; 45 completions were recorded.

Youngsters Entertained At Picnic By City Police

Peterborough City Police played host Wednesday afternoon to 15 boys and girls between the ages of 4 to 14 from St. Vincent's Orphanage at the first annual picnic for children held at the Filtration Park. Also present at the picnic were the children of members of the police force.

Pop, candy bars, gum, pop-corn, hot-dogs and prizes in the form of dolls, toy cars, guns, softballs, jack-knives and toy banks were the order of the day; and no child went home empty-handed.

The youngsters were kept occupied playing games, running races, feeding pop-corn and candy to the deer and busily eating all-day suckers and sucking on bottles of pop.

Busiest of all were the big friendly policemen, who were swamped with requests to open pop bottles, "Can I have another hot-dog?" and "Is it my turn to race yet?"

Children at the Orphanage had been looking forward to the picnic for the past week, except one little youngster, who had changed his mind three times the night before whether he would go or not. He was afraid the police might take him to jail.

All in all the children had a wonderful time, as only they can at a picnic. The only ill after-effects suffered were a few sore tummies, due to too much watermelon and ice cream.

All the prizes, food and transportation was supplied by the city's businessmen. Members of the police force gave up their day off and free afternoon to entertain the boys and girls.

Youngsters from the Children's Shelter were unable to attend the picnic, because they were on an overnight picnic of their own.

In the evening pilots Harry Oakman and Ed Brown took the boys and girls on short flights over the city from their Little Lake base. It was an exciting finale to an exciting day in their young lives.

Honey Crop Down To 35% Of Normal

The honey crop may not exceed 35% of the normal output of the bees and their busyness, Allan T. Brown said today. He also quotes the estimates coming to Tom Shield of the Beekeeper's Co-operative.

"We have had two good years, and I have never seen three of them in a row," Mr. Brown said.

Weather was damp and generally adverse to the industry of the bees. They like the sunshine. "And their peak season is comparatively short."

That is the prospect for the people who buy 50 to 60 pounds of honey a year, or more, depending on the number of persons in their families.

These are people who believe that honey is one of the best of foods, essential in the diet, and proved in its dietary value by the long history of mankind.

Dancer's Scar Visible Rules Judge

TRENTON (CP)—A strip teaser's scar, supposedly visible for 10 feet, was the fine line that led to the conviction of Lynda Corrori, Toronto, dancer, here Wednesday.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills found Lynda guilty of inciting and depraving the morals of local citizens by taking off her costume at a carnival here last month.

Despite the testimony of four defence witnesses who had seen Lynda prove that everything she had was absolutely real and yet hadn't seen the scar on her tummy the judge ruled that she had been in the altogether during her performance.

The defence was arguing that the scar and other parts of Lynda were covered.

Lynda paid a $5 fine and $37.50 court costs as quickly as possible in order to get to Toronto where she is now performing.

How Happy Can A Chicken Get?

Laying Eggs Is A Hen's Business

The happiness of the hen, a problem that has caused some soul-searching in the British press recently, brought some comment from a district poultry man today.

Fred McIndoo of Cavan declared that the methods used to get eggs from hens in Britain are ideal. There would be no cruelty concerned, as the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has charged there would be.

Many egg farmers in England use the battery system, in which hens are cooped in small cages, one to a cage. Tiers of these cages fill the chicken pen, and artificial lighting is used to keep the hen busy 18 hours out of 24.

This system, says the RSPCA, makes a hen a "mere egg-laying machine."

THAT'S THE OBJECT

And that, says Mr. McIndoo, is the object of the man who keeps hens for laying.

He recalled times past when the hen sneaked behind the barn or into the bushes in the spring to lay her eggs and stay with them until they hatched. Gathering eggs was a question of continual vigilance by the farmer against some sly work by the hen.

"We've got the hen laying 10 times as many eggs now, and she does it all year round. Sanitation in egg farming has improved immensely," said Mr. McIndoo.

He implied that it would be a step backward to start worrying about making the hen an egg-laying machine, when all agricultural science along that line has been devoted to just such an objective.

A spokesman for the society said that a hen's happiness was a question for philosophical debate. "But we shouldn't take any chances on it just for a doubtful gain of a few eggs. We know that hens stagger and can barely walk when they come out of the battery. Their legs have withered."

Despite the charges of cruelty, the British ministry of agriculture has continued to approve the battery system. The system produces more than 150,000,000 eggs yearly.

The National Union of Farmers has undertaken a campaign in defence of the battery.

BETTER OFF

Battery hens are better off, they say, they are free from pests, disease, drafts, and get clean food and water.

Mr. McIndoo says that "cruelty is out of the question in such a system. There is none. The birds are under ideal conditions."

The battery system was expensive and not one for the small flock holder.

But as regards the happiness of the hen, he believes, that if a hen is "cackling and going about in a busy way, she is content. And they should be happy in such coops." Most Ontario poultry farmers keep birds in pens, allowing three to four square feet for each hen.

The hens, who probably figure it's more their business than anybody's, haven't said a thing.

Collegiate Gets Scrubbing For New Term

With a month to go before students return, the maintenance staff are now scouring every corner of PCVS for dust, dirt and chewing gum which collected during the past term.

One month of scrubbing, washing and scraping is done and the collegiate is taking on a new look and before school opens the second week of September the pupils will hardly recognize the place.

The same work and the same change in appearance will or is taking place also at St. Peters High School and Kenner Collegiate. But the PCVS job is by far the largest.

1,600 PANES

For instance at PCVS there are the some 1,600 panes of glass. The maintenance men will wash and polish each pane inside and out, even those high-up third- floor windows in the chemistry, physics and art rooms.

Then there are the thousands of square feet of floor, from the basement up to the third floor, through the corridors and rooms. Every plank in washed and sealed. The sealing gives the floors a better appearance. It also protects the wood and makes the building healthier by cutting down the dust.

After the floors there are the walls, again thousands of square feet, which are dusted down. The ones which have dirtier spots receive special wash jobs.

Another large job is cleaning the 1,200 desks and the 1,100 lockers. Every locker receives a thorough wash and then is disinfected. The same is done with each desk. Before some desks are washed, they need minor repairs.

Apart from the washing and all, the maintenance men do a little painting, mostly small jobs which don't require hiring a contractor. This year their biggest paint job was repainting the machines in the machine shop classrooms.

Apparently despite the teachers' war on chewing gum, the students still manage to work in a few wads. Sam Castle, maintenance supervisor, said gum gives hours of work for his men. They have to scrape it off the desks, chairs and floors.

"They're pretty good at keeping it in the same places—which is all over," said Mr. Castle.

AUDITORIUM

Students will notice the biggest change in PCVS in the auditorium. Workmen started this week to repaint the entire hall, beginning on high scaffolds on the large ceiling. They'll complete the job in about three weeks.

They'll also notice a new room for cadet equipment storage space in the basement. There the old girls' lunchroom, only used for storage for the past three years, has been re-opened and a door punched through a wall for an outlet into the basement corridor, opposite the boys' entrance.

A new trophy case will be placed on the landing just before school opens and will be used to hold football, basketball, singing and other trophies.

There is still plenty of work to be done, but all will be in order when school re-opens.

Begin To Pave Buckhorn Rd. From South End

First section of the mulch paving on the 12½-mile Buckhorn Road should begin late today. Jack Kean, county engineer and road superintendent, said that work would have begun Tuesday but for the heavy rain and the fact that an oil tank car was temporarily lost by the railway. The tank car is expected on the CNR siding in Lakefield later today. The first section to be mulched will be the mile and a half from Highway 28, south of Lakefield, to the 8th line of Smith township.

Gravel, which was soaked in the rain earlier this week, is being dried and the mixer and roller were sent to the junction so work could begin as soon as the oil arrives.

Some machinery has been rented but otherwise the project is being carried out by Peterborough County and Suburban Area Roads Commission workmen and machinery. Total cost is estimated at $70,000 with the city and the county each paying $14,000; the commission $15,000; and the Department of Highways $28,000.

CENTRE LAST

After the mile and a half has been done at the south end of the road, work will resume north of Selwyn. The mid part—between the 8th line of Smith and Selwyn—will be left to the last because it is used by heavy gravel trucks.

Mr. Kean estimates that his crew will be able to pave a mile in two days and the work should be finished by the end of the month.

Relief from dust has already been afforded residents near the roadside beccuse a coating of prime oil was laid.

One On Holidays Two Sick Cases Adjourned

Several magistrate's court cases were adjourned today because the court stenographer was on holidays, the substitute stenographer sick, and the sub-substitute stenographer was also away ill.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told visiting Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay that he tried to get hold of a stenographer but failed. He concluded that, after all, "it's the job of Magistrate Philp and the police commission" to take care of such shortages.

Without a stenographer, three charges of speeding, and charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving without lights against a fourth man were dealt with and dismissed.

STORIES BELIEVED

Charged with speeding were George Rowbotham, 596 Bolivar, William Holmes, 108 Dufferin St., and Lorne Krause, 49 Argyle St. They all told convincing enough stories that the charges were dismissed, two at the suggestion of Crown Attorney Bradshaw.

William Allen of 313 Bethune St. was charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident and driving without lights.

Albert Groombridge described how, the night of June 6, a car turning the corner of Aylmer and Hunter Sts., struck his stopped vehicle. It had been driving without lights and drove away without stopping.

The licence number Groombridge repeated in court, however, had no similarity to Allen's and the charges against him were dismissed.

Oppose Motion To Suppress Indecent Writing

SUDBURY (CP)—Suppression of the sale of salacious literature met some opposition Wednesday as the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion continued its 18th biennial convention here.

The Peterborough delegation submitted a resolution which would "prohibit the sale of salacious literature which might reach the hands of children and adolescents."

Lou Durkin, president of Branch 52, Peterborough, is heading the eight-man delegation from this city.

Others include Hurrell Dodds, Claire Stuart, P. J. Burke, Albert Mason, James Dunslow, Ned Heffernan and Leo Herr.

The salacious literature resolution was first introduced at a zone meeting of the Legion by Branch 452 (Women's) in Peterborough.

Convention chairman G. Countryman rejected the motion on the grounds that the legion is a broad-minded organization and "what is obscene literature to one is, to his neighbor, great literature which artistically shows the facts of life."

OBJECTIONAL CENSORSHIP

He said the legion, in backing the Peterborough motion, might be supporting what could easily become "objectional censorship."

However, the convention voted to forward the resolution to Dominion headquarters for further study.

The delegates also condemned the recent trend toward elimination of the words "royal" and "dominion" in governmental language and forms. They urged both be restored and retained.

The Van Someren shield for the outstanding branch in Ontario was awarded Sudbury's branch 76.

Presented for the first time this year, the award was established in memory of the former provincial command honorary treasurer, the late Col. Albert van Someren. It is competed for by all Ontario branches.

G. H. Tolley of Sault Ste. Marie was elected president of the Ontario command. He succeeds T. A. M. Hulse of Aurora.

DOWN TO THE SEA—A creamy wash astern marks the first taste of salt water for the anti-submarine vessel, HMCS Saguenay, as she was launched in Halifax, N.S., to become the first of her kind to leave a Maritime shipyard. One of 14 specialized anti-submarine escorts on order for the Royal Canadian Navy, the Saguenay, a product of Halifax shipyards, was christened by Mrs. W. W. Porteous, wife of Commodore Porteous, Superintnedent of HMC Dockyard. A mix-up in signals to the men down at the ways almost sent the ship down unchristened. But when Mrs. Porteus saw the vessel beginning to slide away from the launching platform two minutes ahead of schedule, she hurriedly caught up the bottle of champagne, hurled it against the moving hull and, almost in the same breath, christened the ship and sent her on the way with "God bless all who sail in her."

Demanded Cash Man Is Jailed

LINDSAY (ENS)—James Devlin, Toronto, who was charged with demanding money with menace, was convicted by Magistrate Gee Wednesday and sentenced to 14 days in the county jail. A second charge of intoxication was dropped. Devlin was charged after Norman Mark, Lindsay, complained to police that Devlin had followed him for three blocks last Friday night, asking for money "for booze", and threatening him, even pulling a knife at one time.

Mark testified he had walked away from the accused at first but had hailed a passing car when he saw the open pocket knife Devlin was carrying. The driver of the car obtained the knife from the accused and took it to the police station. Later Constable Mosely went to the Lindsay street bridge and arrested Devlin.

Devlin pleaded not guilty and said he remembered nothing of the incident. He had been working on a local farm, and had come through Lindsay on his way to the tobacco fields around Pontypool. He had too much to drink he claimed.

Crown attorney Jordan commented that he had apparently not been too intoxicated to follow Mark for three blocks asking for money.

Axe First Tool Developed By Early Man

WASHINGTON —Since early man first picked up a conveniently shaped stone and hacked at a tree branch that stood in his way, the axe has been his basic and most important forest tool.

In its long history the axe also has been a valuable weapon, and it has taken some highly specialized forms in both peaceful and warlike employment.

Early chopping stones were little different from scraping stones or knives until man learned to lash the stone to a handle for additional leverage. The axe was probably the first weapon or tool to have a handle.

"GROWN" AXES

Attaching a conveniently shaped stone to a handle was such a natural thing to do that the axe was developed separately in almost every human culture. The best available stone was used in every case, flint where it could be found and granite or some other hard stone in its absence. Eskimos, having no stone or timber, made both axe head and handle of bone.

The first stone axe heads were lashed to their handles with animal sinews or leather. Then it was discovered that if the handle were split to accommodate the head, a more effective instrument could be made. As a further development, primitive man found he could "grow" axes. A shaped head, possibly chipped flint, would be placed in a cleft young tree or branch. The living wood, attempting to heal its wound, would grow around the head, holding it firmly in place.

With the coming of the Bronze Age man discovered that the metal axe head could be cast with a hole for the shaft, and the axe took on the general shape it has today. In the Iron Age the hole was either cast or punched out at a forge.

STEEL BLADES

The one piece iron axe head served man for centuries. The axes that pioneers of the early 1800s used to split rails probably were forged from a single piece of iron. Now the best heads are composed of at least two pieces —an iron butt with a hole for the shaft and a steel blade or blades, welded on to the butt in a forge, then tempered and polished to a hard toughness capable of taking and holding a sharp cutting edge.

Development of the axe as a weapon paralleled that of the peaceful woods tool. Probably the two were one and the same for a long time, used to fell trees, crush the head of an enemy, and hunt game. Gradually the two grew apart, the weapon reaching such distinctive forms as the throwing hatchet, of the ancient Gauls and the battle axes of the Middle Ages.

The throwing hatchet was a small, bronze-headed axe that could be thrown with great accuracy, and was one of the most effective weapons in the Gallic arsenal. The battle axe was valuable to mounted and armored men. It combined the weight and crushing power of the mace with the cutting edge of the broadsword.

Indians Don't Like Losing Movie Battles

TORONTO (CP)—The Indians always lose the battle in the movies. They say it wasn't so.

The Six Nations tribe from the Ohsweken reserve near Brantford in a petition presented Wednesday to Arch H. Jolley, executive-secretary of the Motion Picture Industry Council of Canada, asked the council to intercede with Hollywood on behalf of the Indian. The petition asks that "in future a representative number of movies be made in which North American Indians would be seen to win their share of battles."

Relatives Wait Word From Second PoW

SARNIA (CP) — Relatives here today awaited word from Cpl. Richard J. Toole, second Canadian to be captured in Korea, who may be one of the Allied prisoners released shortly.

The 23 year-old, Point Edward-born corporal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toole of Hamilton, where he moved with his family at the age of 12.

He was named as a prisoner in a Red propaganda broadcast from North Korea.

Early repor s were that he had been captured and shot in the back.

Plead Guilty To 20 Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—A United States couple who police say entered Canada illegally, breaking parole from U.S. prisons, pleaded guilty Wednesday to 20 charges of fraud and were remanded one week for sentence.

Walter D. McFee, 32, and his 35-year-old wife, Elaine, arrived in Ottawa July 7, registered at a hotel under the name of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Barr and then went on a spending spree.

Mrs. McFee faced a total of 16 charges of fraud, her husband three charges, and jointly they faced a single charge of attempting to defraud the Bank of Toronto of $330.

Police said investigation showed that the couple were not legally married. They said Mrs. McFee's real name was Natalie Cullens, wife of Harold B. Cullens of California, who is serving in the U.S. Army.

The couple also face charges at Bowmanville, Ont., for theft.

Huge Area Blasted

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Britain's first atomic blast in the nearby Montebello Islands last October devastated nearly 14 square miles, it was disclosed today. Results had been a closely guarded secret up to now. An Australian press party, which flew over the area in the first civilian plane permitted to approach since the tests, reported the area of destruction.

Emlyn Williams Presides At Eisteddfod

By GLENNE CURRIE

RHYL, Wales (Reuters)—One of Wales' favorite sons — "Williams the Theatre," alias actor-producer-playwright Emlyn Williams—presided over Wednesday's session of the National Eisteddfod.

Williams recently was elected to the Gorsedd of bards, the pseudo-Druidical council which governs the Welsh ritual of the Eisteddfod, or arts festival to keep alive the Welsh language.

Wednesday he donned the robes of a bard to take part in the Eisteddfod, only 10 miles from the village of Mostyn where he was born 47 years ago, the son of a grocer.

Some 10,000 spectators, plus countless television viewers, watched the all-Welsh ceremonies under the huge pavilion erected a mile outside Rhyl.

FIRST ENTRY

Many remembered that Williams had taken part in his first Eisteddfod 30 years ago when he entered a one-act play without telling his parents.

Others thought it strange that on Saturday, at a performance in connection with the festival, he will speak in English, a language he did not learn until he was eight and which is not permitted at an Eisteddfod.

His one-man act at a nearby theatre will be essentially English—his world-famous "Dickens' Readings."

Sherman Funeral Held

WINNIPEG (CP)—Funeral services for Most Rev. Louis Ralph Sherman, archbishop of Rupert's Land, who died July 31, in Brandon, were held Wednesday in St. John's Anglican Cathedral.

"WONDERFUL NEWS"—It was a joyous moment when Mrs. Joseph Pelletier, of Chatham, Ont., received the "wonderful news" late at night that her husband, Cpl. Pelletier, was coming home after being missing in Korean action since May 2. Pelletier was the first Canadian soldier released by the Communists after the Korean armistice. Here, Mrs. Pelletier sits at the telephone with her husband's picture before her.

Fraser Careless In Charges Liberals Ask For Apology

Replying to a speech by Gordon K. Fraser made in Lakefield Tuesday night, Liberals counter-attacked the Peterborough Progressive Conservative candidate, labelled him "careless" and demanded a public apology for an "unfounded" charge against a Liberal speaker.

The comments, by Gus Faux, vice-president of the Ontario Liberal Association, Wednesday night in SS No. 7, Douro, were spurred by a newspaper item in which Mr. Fraser was reported to have called a radio speech: "garbled truth, a downright lie."

The speech, made by Mrs. Arthur Parker, was broadcast July 24.

"If Mr. Fraser is a man of honor, if he is an honest man, if he is a truthful man, he will go to the radio station get a copy of Mrs. Parker's speech and when he gets the facts and finds that his charges are completely unfounded, he will make a public apology," Mr. Faux told about 35 people.

Quoting the newspaper report, the speaker said it was difficult for him to understand "how a man who has represented the people of this riding for 13 years would be so careless as to accuse a woman of telling 'a downright lie' before he went to the bother of finding the truth."

Mr. Faux read the radio speech and emphasized one part where Mrs. Parker said ". . . he (Mr. Fraser) has been able to take no part in forming the policies that have so greatly altered our lives. On the contrary, he has opposed them. . . ."

Tuesday night, Mr. Fraser quoted Mrs. Parker as saying he had opposed social security measures and voted against them in the House of Commons. It was this he denounced as a lie.

Mr. Faux led up to his counter-attack by seeing Mr. Fraser "fulfilling the role of a great critic; apparently he is trying to prove to all of us this is what he should do." Mr. Fraser fails to seek co-operation, instead only criticizing.

Then, if he succeeds without co-operation, "he can toss these things out like highballs at election time." Mr. Faux said he himself was working for two things: one, to get Max Swanston to Ottawa, and two "to get the other guy out."

Mr. Fraser was also quoted as taking Mrs. Parker's speech to mean George Drew would cut down on the number of people receiving family allowances.

NOTHING ABOUT ALLOWANCES

After reading Mrs. Parker's speech, Mr. Faux pointed out the address "does not mention anything about George Drew cutting down the number of people receiving family allowances."

He added later "It is no surprise to me that Mr. Fraser did not stick to the facts in this case. I heard him talk in Ennismore about 10 days ago and I have brought him up to date at our meeting in Lakehurst and also at Ennismore.

"In view of these false charges, I ask you not to pay any attention to him," Mr. Faux said. He attributed Mr. Fraser's comments to "a feverish vapor swirling about in his veins, heating his blood and affecting that part of the brain that normally cautions the tongue."

Arthur Lewis, also speaking on the program in support of Max Swanston, Liberal candidate, took the PC candidate to task for another comment made to his Lakefield audience.

This time it was in reference to the federal building. Mr. Fraser was quoted as saying he discussed its building with Minister of Public Works Fournier, not with "office boys."

NOT OFFICE BOYS

Mr. Lewis said he, along with other local men interested in the project, discussed it also with Mr. Fournier and additionally, "key officials in his department." He said the group certainly didn't consider the key officials "office boys."

"I don't think that was a very intelligent statement to make," Mr. Lewis said. Rehashing the post office dispute, he concluded by commenting Mr. Fraser "is going too far in saying no one can deny he got the post office for Peterborough."

Mr. Lewis pointed out that so far in the election campaign Liberal candidates are not making any promises; "they know they have the responsibility of government on their shoulders. Their opponents don't expect to win the election and talk is cheap when it comes to making promises."

He claimed that locally, Liberals are being accused of mud-slinging; "I don't think we're indulging in that kind of campaign. There's an old saying: People in glass houses shouldn't throw stones."

John A. Dewart, also speaking on the program, recalled that George Drew has promised to regain English markets he claims the Liberal government lost.

"The English market is very little use to us," the speaker claimed, "because they're buying what we have to sell cheaper elsewhere . . . what use is a low price market like that to the people of Canada?"

The future for Canadian products is in Canada, Mr. Dewart pointed out, and he foresaw that 10, 15, or 20 years from now the farmers would not be able to keep up to the Canadian demand.

He said the world was entering a dangerous period and would be "terribly afraid" if "a man like George Drew took over the reins of the government. There is nothing to indicate he has the judgment to meet problems he would be confronted with.'

Referring to reports Drew would institute tariffs in trade with the United States, Mr. Dewart said "above all we don't want to become involved in a tariff war with the U.S.; we can't afford to."

Addressing prospective supporters, Max Swanston told them "you don't discard machinery or a farm just because you've had it for years if it's still doing a good job."

In that way he dealt with Conservative slogans that "its time for a change" and urged support of the Liberal party.

Durham Riding

Battle Of 1949 Renewed

Since its formation in 1904, the constituency of Durham, stretching north from Lake Ontario to Lake Scugog and bordered on the east and west by Port Hope and Oshawa, has seen some tight election battles.

The present riding of Durham was formerly Durham East and Durham West. Durham East was traditionally Conservative and Durham West traditionally Liberal since their formation with Confederation 1867.

In nine terms East was represented by Liberals only twice and West by Conservatives, only once. Thus at their merging, they became the site of slim majorities.

Combined Durham's first representative in the House of Commons was a Conservative, H. A. Ward. He won by 149 votes. C. J. Thornton, who succeeded him in 1908 and 1911 elections as the Conservative candidate, had majorities of 622 and 724 votes.

Durham's member from 1917 to 1921 rolled up the largest majority ever seen in the riding. Union government cabinet minister, he was the Rt. Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell and won by 4,519 votes. Two more Conservatives followed in his path with majorities ranging from 946 to 1,606.

They were F. B. Cowan who ran in 1921 and F. W. Bowen who won elections in 1925, 1926 and 1930.

It was the Liberals' turn next and, represented by W. F. Rickard, they captured elections by majorities of 473 and 1308 in 1935 and 1940. When 1945 came around, the Conservatives, now with the prefix Progressive, nominated C. E. Stephenson, and he captured the riding with 476 votes more than his closest rival.

More recently John M. James of Bowmanville ran in 1949 against Stephenson and edged out the incumbent by 431 votes. He recorded some 5,500 more than the CCF candidate.

JOHN JAMES is again the Liberal candidate for Durham's federal seat. Mr. James was born January 17, 1911, at Bowmanville, son of Gertrude E. Mason and the late Norman S. B. James. His father was part owner of the Bowmanville Statesman.

Educated at Bowmanville public and high school, he entered the Statesman as a "printer's devil" upon leaving school. He was the third member of his family connected with the weekly, his uncle also having a part ownership in the paper.

Following his apprenticeship he worked as a printer at Newmarket and Oshawa before returning to Bowmanville in 1937.

In 1940 Mr. James joined the active army after serving as a second lieutenant in the reserve unit. He toured Canada with the Midland Regiment and later transferred to the Canadian Intelligence Corps.

Going overseas, the Bowmanville man became engaged in counter-espionage work, serving in Italy and Holland. He rose to the rank of captain before his discharge in 1945.

After returning to Canada, Mr. James rejoined the Statesman and in 1947, purchased a half-interest in the paper from his mother.

Mr. James married the former Mildred Dorothy Edgar, daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. A. Edgar of Bowmanville, in 1941.

Always prominent in Bowmanville public life, Mr. James served as a director of the Bowmanville Chamber of Commerce in 1946 and 1947; was chairman of Bowmanville Arena Management Committee in 1948 and '49 when the arena there was constructed and was a director of the Bowmanville Rotary Club in 1947 and '48.

A member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 31, GRC, he taught Sunday school and was a member of the United Church choir in Bowmanville.

Mr. and Mrs. James have two children, John Edgar, 10, and Robert Stephen, five.

Mr. James was also prominent in the Bowmanville hospital campaign and in the Boy Scout movement.

CHARLES ELWOOD STEPHENSON, Durham's Progressive Conservative candidate is a veteran in public life. Not only has he been a member of just about every public body in Port Hope, but he's been president or chairman of it, too.

Nor has Mr. Stephenson been the only member of his family to gain a measure of fame. An ancestor of his, George is in the history books as the inventor of the steam-engine.

C. E. Stephenson was born October 11, 1898 at Unionville, Ontario, the son of John Stephenson and Mararet Tindall, whose parents in turn were settlers in Upper Canada.

Mr. Stephenson attended grade school at Unionville and when the family moved to Toronto in 1909, went on to Central Technical School where he took mechanics. Leaving school he joined the army in 1917 where he attained the rank of corporal with the 127th battalion and later, as a machine gunner. He was discharged a year and a half later.

Returning to Toronto, the PC candidate worked there as a mechanic, salesman, and garageman, eventually deciding upon the latter occupation as a career. Moving to Port Hope, he purchasde the old Royal hotel building and converted it into a garage. It became the first Ford agency in Port Hope.

Also in 1924, Mr. Stephenson married Hazel Anguish, daughter of Jacob Anguish of Caledonia. Later he purchased the Royal theatre and converted it into a bowling alley.

With his election as member for Durham in 1945, he sold the garage and bowling alley to devote more time to his new position. He entered the tobacco farming business but gave that up, too, in 1951.

During his career in Port Hope, Mr. Stephenson served as mayor from 1942 to 1945, and also was a member of the Port Hope high school board for three years. He has been president of the Board of Trade, Red Cross, and the Rotary Club, and chairman of war bond campaigns and Salvation Army fund drives.

taoin aoin aoioin oinn oaoinrdlunnn

He is a former master of the Port Hope Masonic Lodge and an officer of the Grand Lodge of Canada.

Mr. Stephenson has two daughters; Helen, who graduated in the honor arts course at the University of Toronto two years ago, and Shirley, now in her fourth year at the School of Nursing in Toronto. His wife died in 1947.

He is a member of the United Church.

ROY ARMSTRONG, long-time executive member of the CCF party in Durham and a former member of the provincial farm committee of the labor group, he is contesting the riding for the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation.

Born May 7, 1898, son of Charles Armstrong, the candidate is a third generation Canadian of Irish ancestry. He attended school at Janetville and has worked the family farm all his life.

Joining the CCF party in 1934, he has been vice-president of the Durham group. This year, however, is the first he has contested a federal election.

The candidate is a former member of the provincial farm committee of the CCF party.

In 1936 he married the former Mary Irvine of Mississippi. They have one daughter, Marilyn.

Dartmouth Observes 203rd Anniversary

DARTMOUTH, N. S. (CP)—Dartmouth, the town across the harbor from Halifax, celebrated the 203rd anniversary of its founding Wednesday. It is one year younger than Halifax.

With a population of 18,000, Dartmouth is expected to grow rapidly with completion of the Halifax-Dartmouth bridge, now under construction. City manager August DeBard says the town will become the "bedroom of Halifax."

IF BABY IS CROSS FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system may be "out of order." Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right." One Quebec Mother had this experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was." Sweet-tasting—no "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Promptly effective in simple fever, constipation, restlessness and fretfulness resulting from irregularity at teething time, and other minor ills. Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. Get a package today at your druggist. Money back if you are not satisfied.

FOOD FOR KOREANS — Paralleling the work of food relief centres in West Berlin, the Korea Civil Assistance Command is busy handing out much-needed supplies to the hungry families of South Korea. In this scene, Lee Tae Kum, wife of a laborer and mother of four, the youngest in a sling on her back, receives the first of 10,000 tons of grain and C-rations distributed among every family in South Korea. Brig. Gen. Homer Case, commanding general of the KCAC, with hand on sack at centre, started the U.S. gift operation last week on behalf of President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the American people.

Two Small Missing Vessels Been Located

PORT DOVER, Ont. (CP)—The United States Coast Guard cutter Kaw reported Wednesday night that two small vessels, missing on Lake Erie since Tuesday en route from here to Erie, Pa., had been located. Both had taken shelter in a bay on Long Point, Ont., when a storm swept across the lake Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dean of Erie were aboard the 24-foot power cruiser Pal Dean, while John Gott and David Bresslen, both about 25 and also from Erie, were aboard the 22-foot sloop Jay Dee.

Radio messages from the cutter reported all four to be uninjured and well

Take Long Time To Make Tariff Changes

By WILLIAM J. HUMPHREYS
(Special To The Examiner)

LONDON—The British government has reluctantly concluded that it is going to take "a long time" for Washington to revise tariff and customs regulations so that a policy of "trade, not aid" may become fully operative.

In the opinion of one high government official the dollar shortage no longer would be a subject of mutual concern if the Eisenhower administration could wrest from Congress an early enactment of reforms outlined in the Bell report.

(The report, made by a commission of top business, labor and agricultural leaders headed by former Under Secretary of the Treasury Daniel W. Bell, was made to President Eisenhower March 4, this year.)

But government trade experts here now have abandoned their hopes that the President might win early approval of measures which the United Kingdom holds to be inherent principles of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"It is madness to build up NATO if we can't get together economically," one official said.

Nevertheless, Britain is confident its economy can bear the strain until Washington is ready to correct what the Bell report outlined as errors of shortsighted United States trade policy. The official view in London is that the economic effects of the Korean Armistice already have been written off by British industries.

Official quarters don't believe there is a risk of inflation. The pace of rearmament will be maintained because "the march of Communism will continue" to be a threat to world peace. Production is rising while the whole of Britain's industrial facilities is not being used.

But this summary covers the immediate future only and there is no attempt to conceal concern over what is regarded as excessive protection of United States markets by outdated tariff and trade restrictions and their denial to British goods of a fair share of dollar earnings.

ONLY SMALL CONCESSIONS

What make Britons impatient and irritable is the conviction that the United States could accomplish so much for her allies by making a minimum of concessions. A government spokesman brought this feeling out by quoting the Bell report and its recommendations for simplified customs procedures and reform of the "Buy American Act."

The report, according to the official, found that if the United States increased its imports by $700,000,000 in the next three years it would represent less than one per cent of the value of the total American manufacturing output. It is on this aspect of the Bell report that the United Kingdom is pinning its hopes for the earliest possible relief.

The British view that American customs listings are in dire need of reform was pointed out in this example. A government official said that British radar equipment originally had entered the United States listed as clockwork mechanism, bearing 75 per cent duty. With difficulty it eventually was transferred to electrical listings where the duty was 15 per cent.

GOP LEADERS IN SENATE—Sen. William F. Knowland (right), of California, and Sen. Homer Ferguson, of Michigan, pose together in Washington just before being elected to posts of leadership by the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Knowland was named to succeed the late Sen. Robert A. Taft as Senate GOP floor leader, and Ferguson will assume Knowland's duties as chairman of the policy committee.

Mother Day With Father Family Comedy

Next week those happy "Days" are here again when "Life With Mother" opens at the Summer Theatre. "Life With Father" has been the biggest hit, and it may well be that "Life With Mother" will smash the previous record.

Although the new comedy is called "Life With Mother" it, too, reveals Father Day as the dominant force of the family, screaming his household into submission to suit his prejudices and whims. Of course the joke remains that while Father makes all the noise as Mother purses her lips, it is she who quietly and skillfully manoeuvres him into the place where she wants him.

MOTHER RULES

She contentedly lets him roar at the trivialities that annoy him, but firmly resists and conquers his temper when it's concerned with anything of real importance to the family. So father is most amusing when caught in his violent explosions at the iceman, at the telephone operator, at the coachman, at French history, at women's tea parties, at all intrusions on his privacy and comfort, because his bark is so clearly worse than his bite. One of Father's typical reactions in the comedy is when he calls the furniture store and orders an ice-box full of ice when the old one doesn't work.

FOIL FOR FATHER

The clever playwrights, Lindsay and Crouse, have brought a new perspective on Father's furies by introducing a bumptious hay-and-grain man from a small town. He is Clyde Miller, the new husband of giddy Cousin Cora, and an inevitable goad to Clarence Day Senior. For Clyde is a smug know-it-all, suspicious lest any city slickers like Father put anything over on him.

The principal comic emotion in "Life With Mother," however, revolves around Mother's determined quest of an engagement ring she has been denied for 22 years. Her accidental discovery that Father's old sweetheart is still impudently wearing a betrothal ring he had given her before he met Mother spurs her on to a tardy crusade to see that justice is done.

David Powell will be seen as the pompous yet lovable Father Day. Margaret Braidwood will portray the silly ex-sweetheart. Barbara Cummings plays Mother, and Jamie Cunningham is the youngest of the carrot-topped sons. Also featured in the cast are Harry Geldard as the feed-and-grain man from the West; Ronald Bailey, Charlotte Schrager and Robert Barclay. Robert Gill directs the production, which opens on Monday at the Queen Mary Auditorium.

"HOW'S FISHIN'," is the usual question at Buckhorn Lock as outboard boats of tourists lock through from Buckhorn into Lovesick Lake. Bathing beauties Joyce Cunnane, of Toronto, and Joan Gillespie, of Peterborough, are the inquisitive ones perched on the lock gate. In the boat are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Delfino and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chick, all of Columbus, O.; their luck, in pan fish, seems to be just so-so. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Have Fifth Camp

NEW DELHI (AP)—The United States expedition of Mt. Godwin Austen (K2) in Pakistani Kashmir established its fifth camp at 22,000 feet July 18, messages reaching here report. The party, which is trying to scale the 28,250-foot second-highest mountain, was held up a week by bad weather.

John Fallis

Funeral service was held Monday for John Fallis, 72, of Manvers township, who died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bruce McGill, lot 18, concession 9, Manvers.

Mr. Fallis, a farmer, spent a lifetime in the township. He was a son of the late Thomas Fallis and Lydia Grey, both pioneers of the township; they came to Canada from Ireland in the 19th century.

A member of the United Church, Mr. Fallis retired from farming four or five years ago, and had lived with his daughter since the death of his wife, the former Sarah Webb.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. Bruce McGill (Bertha) of Manvers, Mrs. Charles Crowe (Ethel) of Cavan, and Mrs. Glen Bradley (Alice) of Pontypool.

The Rev. C. Grant of Manvers United Church and the Rev. T. S. Gault of Bethany Anglican Church officiated at the service. Burial was in the Fallis cemetery, Manvers.

Do The Swiss Yodel?

Gov't Officials Deny It But People Go On Yodeling

By FRED M. HECHINGER
(Special to The Examiner)

WORB, Switzerland. — "The idea that the Swiss yodel," said a dignified Swiss government official in Bern, "is one of those silly foreign steretoypes. I am a Swiss. I have never yodeled in my life. I don't even know how to yodel."

Several other Swiss friends, as soon as the subject of yodeling was brought up, issued firm denials that they could now, or had ever been able to yodel.

As a plain matter of record, however, I must report that I recently spent 48 consecutive hours here in Worb, during which the only human sounds consisted of yodeling. The non-yodelers, myself included, were six stray American observers.

Occasion of all this, was the 14th annual Jodlerfest (yodeling celebration) of the Canton of Bern.

Every man, woman and child, living within that district and considered able to yodel, was expected to don native costume — something my Swiss friends assure me no Swiss ever wears — repair to Worb and yodel.

AROUND THE CLOCK

There seemed no problem of accommodations, probably because the yodeling was a day-and-nigh, around-the-clock proposition. Nobody slept.

Worb is a tiny, pretty and normally quiet village, about 12 miles from Bern and at the gateway to the Bernese Alps.

Yodeling is a form of singing peculiar to people living in the Alps, permitting them to communicate with people and cattle on neighboring Alps. A sort of folk song leads up to every yodel. If the yodeler is good, it is impossible to tell whether it is a man or woman, without looking.

The two-day fest opened on a Saturday. The group yodelers, frequently supported by soloists, first warmed up for a complicated competition in which townships, organizations and districts yodel for the Canton award.

The equipment of the judges consist of a bottle of wine, an infallible ear and a pencil.

On Saturday night most of the activities, after several hours of dinner with yodeling, moved into a giant-festhalle which consisted of a tent, with rows of wooden tables and benches and a stage. On the stage people yodeled in various groups and singly, danced Swiss folk dances, accompanied by yodel music, and competed in Fahnenschwingen. The latter is flag swinging or hurling which seems to be what yodelers do when they want to give their vocal cords a rest.

ALL SOUND ALIKE

Although there is a great variety of yodels, by many different composers, they all sound alike. This gives them their distinctive character.

The most charming aspect of a jodlerfest, at least in the Canton Bern, is that everything seems totally unorganized. With the possible exception of the band, everybody is out of step, or rather in his own step, and everything starts at least two hours late. A Swiss friends tells me that the Bernese are a little touchy about their alleged slowness.

An army recruit with his leg in a cast is said to have been asked by his superior how he got hurt. "I stepped on a snail and slipped," said the soldier. "Why didn't you look where you were going?" asked the officer. The recruit answered: "I did. But the snail came up from behind."

Sunday afternoon there was a titanic parade with all the yodelers, fahnenschwinger, floats, horses and cows. The crisis came when the beginning of the parade ran into its middle.

Somehow the beginning and the middle of the parade sorted themselves out after a while, yodelers regrouped in beer gardens, gasthoefen and the festhalle. More wine was brought up for the judges. More flags were swung.

On Monday morning you couldn't have found a Swiss in Worb who would admit to knowing how to yodel. Ridiculous. Just one of those foreign stereotypes.

Best-Dressed Women Show Mixed Reaction On Hemline

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Women on the best-dressed list have a mixed reaction to Christian Dior's shortened hemline, an international survey reveals.

Reached at fashionable spas and summer homes on both sides of the Atlantic, some of them indicated pleasure at the prospect of a change. Others differed. Here are some comments:

The Duchess of Windsor (in Paris): "For my personal taste I prefer an intermediate length, neither too long nor too short. But I can't take sides for either Mr. Hartnell (British designer for the Royal Family, who champions longer skirts) or M. Dior without seeing their designs. It is only by seeing the dresses on the mannequins that I could decide what I like."

Marlene Dietrich (in New York): "We have worn short skirts before, and liked them. We always need something new to keep things interesting, but it's not necessary to go to extremes. Anyway, it's much easier to shorten your skirts than to lengthen them. I think it's fun to change."

Mme. Henri Bonnet (in Paris): "My prediction is that within six months everyone will be wearing shorter skirts. I found Dior's clothes very beautiful and I think this has been ignored in the furore over the shorter skirts."

The Duchess of Kent's private secretary told reporters: "Even if the Duchess had views on skirts she would not express them."

K. L. Yeotes Weds Miss K. Pappas In Rochester, N.Y.

Miss Katherine Pappas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aristos G. Pappas of Clifton Springs, became the bride of Mr. Kostos L. Yeotes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Yeotes of Peterborough, at the Greek Orthodox Church, Rochester, New York. The Rev. George Gallos officiated and Mrs. George Gallos was organist. The church was decorated with white gladiolas and pom poms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a light ivory gown in French imported chantilly lace. The bodice was of lace with high Queen Anne collar, the neckline and collar stardusted with tiny iridescent sequins, seed pearls and bugle beads. The long sleeves of the gown were of lace pointed at the wrist. The full bouffant skirt of lace over satin over a hoop had a full bell-shaped train. Her finger tip veil of French illusion with matching lace was held by a crown of iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Mrs. Spiro Zakos of Peterborough, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, wearing a nylon tulle gown in maize with halter-type bodice and full bouffant skirt over a hoop with an attached stole trimmed with tiny flower buds. She wore a matching picture hat of nylon tulle and lace and carried a bouquet of rust-colored pom poms with a centre of yellow pom poms and yellow roses. Miss Charlotte DeMarco of Clifton Springs was maid of honor and wore a similar gown in aqua and a matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of pom poms dyed to match her gown with a centre of yellow pom poms and yellow roses.

Bridesmaids, the Misses Zoe and Anna Arvantides, Clifton Springs, cousins of the bride; Helen Zakos, Peterborough, niece of the groom; Beatrice Yeotes, Belleville, cousin of the groom, and Frances Menchella of Sayre, Pa., wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor of bow mauve and carried bouquets of pom poms dyed to match the gowns with centres of yellow pom poms and yellow roses.

Flower girl, Andrea Ronson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Chris Ronson, of Watertown, N.Y., wore a dress of white lace with tiny flower applique of pearls at the waist and on the skirt, and wore a wreath of palest pink buds on her head. She carried a pink and white basket of white rose petals. Ring bearer was her brother, Harry Ronson, who carried an ivory satin heart-shaped pillow with the nuptial rings.

Michael Georgas of Toronto was groomsman. Ushers were Sturgeos Arvantides, Harry Ronson, William Yeotes, James Zakos, Demetrios Bazos, Mike Crebar.

The bride's mother wore a gown of French imported Chantilly lace in mauve pink with a boat neckline trimmed in bugle beads and pearls and cap sleeves. The bodice was long with full gathered hooped skirt of lace over taffeta. She wore brown accessories and corsage of palest green and white orchids. The groom's mother wore a Queen Elizabeth style dress in cocoa beige of taffeta and nylon with shirred bodice and very full hooped skirt and stole with brown and beige accessories. Her corsage was of palest green and white orchids.

Following the ceremony a dinner for 250 guests was served at the Hotel Seneca, Rochester. Guests were present from Clifton Springs, Rochester, Geneva, Seneca Falls, Watertown, New York City, Auburn, Syracuse, Buffalo, Carthage, Sayre, Pa., Grand Rapids, Mich., Jersey City, Peterborough, Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Leamington, Ontario, Canada and Athens, Greece. Congratulatory telegrams were received from as far away as Paris, France, and Athens, Greece.

For travelling the bride chose a powder blue suit with cream colored accessories and wore a corsage of white orchids. After a honeymoon of two months in California the couple will reside at 191 Dublin Street, Peterborough.

Pre-nuptial events included showers for the bride given by Mrs. Carl J. Olschewske, Geneva, Mrs. Spiro Zakos, Peterborough, Miss Charlotte DeMarco, Clifton Springs and a stag party for the groom given by Mike Crebar and Walter Mahaffey at the Alpha Club, Peterborough. A party for the bridal group was given by Mr. and Mrs. Aristos Pappas and Mr. and Mrs. George Arvantides.

MRS. KOSTOS L. YEOTES, formerly Miss Katherine Pappas of Clifton Springs, N.Y., who will come to live in Peterborough after her honeymoon in California.

Is White Right For Town Wear?

Is white right for town? That's a question more and more girls are answering in the affirmative in summer. But it's still an open question, with many girls expressing a negative opinion.

Some of the girls who choose white dresses say they do so because the man-made fibers render them practical. "Yes, you can wash them, but do you want to be washing constantly?" asks the negative, thinking of the dirt and soot in cities.

To this remark, the anti-white girl might add: "Although white is cool—because it reflects light whereas black absorbs it—which looks cooler shadowy black or glaring white?" In the daytime, glare is a problem on hot city pavements. When black is thin and porous, one needn't worry about light and heat absorbency.

Most girls agree that the white touch is an icing that's cool and refreshing in summer. This would include white hats, white jewelry, white belts—all of them washable.

In the anti-white camp, however, there's an opinion that says white handbags and shoes should not be added to the above list of accessories. Save these items for the country, they say. There's good reasoning behind this. Your shoes and handbag get soiled faster than anything else.

There are girls who faithfully polish up their white shoes but make their work obvious by failing to do a good job. They leave smears of white along the edges of the sole, apply the polish unevenly, and don't brush off the excess. And this cancels out their very reason for wearing white: a crisp, fresh appearance.

Fashion Flashes

ALL DRESSED UP — even more than formerly — are the new sweaters, especially those designed for late afternoon and evening use. A white boucle sweater with a decollet neckline and black sequin hearts scattered all over. Another has a detachable collar of turquoise and pearl beads, while a third has a detachable collar of hand-embroidered coral beads.

✧ ✧ ✧

ADDING to the versatility of wool jersey is a new line of handsome jersey prints, made up into dresses and separates. Heather wool jersey with an all-over star print in shocking pink makes up into a slim dress with tulip neckline, back blousing and soft shoulder folds that ease into the bodice.

Take Your Tan Half-And-Half With Make-Up

Want to be as golden as a goddess without paying Old Sol his heavy skin tax?

Take your summer tan, half-and-half. Go as golden or as coppery as a kettle, but take it half from Old Sol, half from a make-up box.

Best examples of this make-up game, says a cosmetic authority, are Hollywood's famed golden-skinned beauties. What may look like year-round sun-drenching is often drawn from a creamy cake.

"What beauty worth her salt is going to add 10 years to her looks with one deeply-damaging sunburn," he asks, "when she can fake a handsome tan?"

So, this is the expert's advice to all those women whose skins are too tender to take the sun's leathering . . . to those who've stopped counting birthdays . . . to others who haven't time or patience to woo the sun's gold. Fake your gypsy coloring. Take your suntan from a make-up cake.

Having some suntan of your own to enhance with make-up is nice, if you can get it without paying the penalty. This will add warm, healthy coloring to your skin and give your make-up a glow. But a tan's not even necessary, because you can fake that, too.

If you have a tan of your own, use your applied tan to make your skin-tint more uniformly golden. Very few women tan as evenly as they would like.

Annual Festival In Montreal To Last Month

By CHRISTINE SIROIS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's annual festival, once confined to two or three summer concerts, now is a month-long affair that has developed into one of the city's best tourist attractions.

The annual festival, started in 1936 by Mrs. Athanase David of Montreal, now combines activities of interest equally to music, art, theatre and dance lovers.

And if the hopes of Paul Gouin, president of the festival for the last two years, are fulfilled the plays, concerts and art displays will be developed to a point where their quality will attract international attention.

Mr. Gouin, son of Sir Lomer Gouin, former Quebec premier, is well known for his efforts to help Quebec retain its French characteristics. For years he hoped to produce in Montreal festivals comparable to those of Europe and the United States.

FINANCIAL AID

This year the festival which started July 30 will continue to Aug. 30. Wilfrid Pelletier of the Metropolitan Opera, Gratien Gelinas, author of "Ti-Coq," and composer Alexander Brott are among those who worked throughout the winter to prepare the festival program.

The Quebec government and the city of Montreal have provided financial grants.

Mr. Gouin, in an interview, praised the co-operation existing between French and English-speaking artists in production of the festival. For instance, Pierre Dagenais, one of Montreal's foremost Shakespearian scholars, will direct production of "King Lear."

Mr. Gouin hopes the festival will inspire Canadian writers and musicians to produce works that will make the event more typically Canadian. He also dreams of being financially able to stage concerts and plays in Montreal's most suitable historical and picturesque spots.

NOTABLE PRODUCTIONS

On this year's program:

"Jeanne d'Arc au Bucher" (Joan of Arc at the Stake), a musical drama by Arthur Honegger that marked the opening of the festival. It has an all-Canadian cast with one exception.

"Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," by Moliere, and "Zone" by Marcel Dube of Montreal are other French plays on the program. Dube's play won the Calvert Trophy at the Dominion Drama Festival this year.

The English program will include "King Lear," starring John Colicos, young Montrealer, and "The Gondoliers" by Gilbert and Sullivan.

Four concerts of chamber music, including some by Canadian composers, are scheduled. A program of French-Canadian folk dances will feature Felix Leclerc, a young Canadian who has just returned after 2½ successful years in Paris.

Another feature of the festival is an exhibition called "The Arts of Quebec."

THE PROBLEM of figure control in slips and nightgowns is one that plagues women endlessly. Slip problem is solved (left) through patterning the bosom part of the slip after a bra bust cup. This means that you gain a smooth and perfect fit. Made of nylon tricot, this slip is available with several trims: eyelet embroidery and pleating, nylon tucking or nylon lace. (Right) the answer to the universal nightgown problem in a pastel gown with bow tie top. It comes with lace or eyelet, and beneath this there's an inner self-fabric lining shaped like a bra. By drawing the lace to tie in a bow, you achieve a gentle yet firm uplift without a feeling of restraint or discomfort. This gown comes in both cotton batiste and nylon.

Cruikshank-Williams Rites

In a double ring ceremony at St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, the Rev. W. J. Robinson united in marriage, Barbara Mary, only daughter of Mrs. Williams of Trenton, and the late Burdette Williams, and James Alexander Cruikshank, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cruikshank of Keene.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Sheldon Williams of Demorestville. Her floor-length gown of white taffeta was made by her mother. It was fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and smooth midriff. The bodice coming to a point at the waist was joined to a gracefully flowing skirt. The tunic front was outlined with lace and tapered into a long train. It had long sleeves ending in lily points over the hands. Her train-length veil was of silk illusion enhanced with fine embroidery and adorning the head was a bandeau of lace trimmed with satin. Her flowers were a semi-cascade of goldilock roses with white lace and baby's breath, also showers of ribbon streamers with knotted roses.

Miss Joan O'Brien was maid of honor, with Miss Eleanor Williams, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid. They wore lime green and yellow gowns of Chantilly lace over taffeta with a deep skirt flounce of matching nylon net, accented with ruffled net. The bodice was strapless with a short net jacket, and matching mittens of lace. Miss Shirley Cruikshank, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid. She chose pale mauve taffeta with a fitted bodice and a wide, full floor-length skirt.

The bridesmaids headdresses were of net in matching color, in an open juliet cap style and dotted with seed pearls. They carried fans of lace ribbon with clusters of golden sceptre roses, bronze poms and stalice with harmonizing colors.

Groomsman was Mr. Louis Williams, brother of the bride. Ushers, also brothers of the bride, were William, Victor, Thorald and Lester Williams.

The reception was held on the spacious lawn of the bride's home, where Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Cruikshank received with the bride and groom. The bride's mother wore a dress of navy nylon crepe, with lace yoke and matching lace hat, with white accessories. The groom's mother assisted her in a dotted nylon dress and navy accessories. They wore corsages of rubrum lilies.

When leaving afterward on a wedding trip east, the bride was wearing a navy silk crepe dress with a lace insert in the front and a sweetheart neckline. She chose navy and white accesories and a corsage of gradenias.

They will make their home in Sarnia, where the groom is employed.

DOROTHY DIX:

Foster Mother Advised Adoption Is No Secret

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time ago I confided to a neighbor that my daughter was an adopted child. A relative of mine has made quite an issue out of the matter, saying I never should have told anyone the child wasn't mine. Perhaps I was indiscreet. Now I'm worried that people will gossip and that my little girl will hear some unpleasant remarks.

FOSTER MOTHER.

NO REASON FOR SECRECY

ANSWER: There's absolutely no reason why the facts of adoption should be concealed. It is definitely and unreservedly advised that they be imparted to the adopted child, and it is equally important that friends be informed of the true facts, too. Certainly there is nothing about the proceeding that should be furtive; rather it is cause for deep pride. Any advice to the contrary from a relative should go unheeded. If you are uncertain how to go about presenting the true facts, read "The Adopted Family," by Florence Rondell and Ruth Michaels, published by Crown Publishers of New York.

Adoption is almost impossible to conceal, either from the child or from neighbors. It's much better for you to be the informer, rather than to have the truth emerge as a somewhat shoddy bit of gossip conveyed in whispers. If you try to keep the matter a secret, there's bound to be a constant tension in your attitude toward the child, which will react badly in your mutual relationship. Frankness, on the other hand, strengthens the feeling between parent and child. Change your attitude towards your little girl's adoption, and see how much easier life will be for you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MIS DIX: Where can a girl go to meet young adults. After graduation from school, there are few places to make friends. The girls I knew in school are all married or live a long distance away. My job is in a small office where I don't meet people, and the young folks club of my church is for the 13-to-16-year-old group.

F. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Acquire a hobby and pursue it. Nothing makes for firm friendship like a mutual enthusiasm for an activity. Folk dancing, painting, stamp collecting, tennis—decide what you want—then find a course, or a club, frequented by fellow hobbyists.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 and serious about a girl of 16. She likes me, but she also is fond of a boy with whom she used to go steady. Now she wants to go with both of us, but not steady with either of us. Should I agree to this?

B. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Her suggested course is definitely wise. She wants a fair opportunity to make up her mind, which will be to the advantage of all concerned.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been dating William for the past four years and am beginning to have my doubts about him. Whenever I mention marriage or the future, he abruptly changes the subject. Since I'm 30, I feel I haven't time to be tactful about these matters. I have been asked by another man Tommy, to marry him, but I do like William better.

B.B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perverse woman! To prefer a William on the run to a Tommy on the spot. Only you can convince your heart to turn in the right direction. Waiting for William is, I am afraid, a losing game.

BOOST RICE YIELD

The Republic of El Salvador has developed a new type of rice which doubles the yield per acre.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Short Course Canning Of Fruits

Last year you were kind enough to let me know how much you liked the general directions I gave you for making pickles.

Those directions were given so that serious pickle makers would know why some of the mysterious steps were taken, and could eventually work out their pickling problems.

Today's "short course" is an attempt to do the same for canning both fruits and vegetables this season.

Commercial canners use pressure cookers (retorts is the name for them in the trade) to sterilize their products packed in tin cans. That is only because under pressure can the temperature be raised high enough to kill all of the micro-organisms that food might contain that cause spoilage.

Readers write to me saying that the vegetables and sometimes the fruits that they have sterilized in the oven have spoiled. Oven canning can never raise the temperature inside the jars of vegetables high enough to kill spoilage bacteria for sure,—although this is not true of tomatoes and fruits.

But another danger lurks in oven canning, for the temperature of dry heated air all too often fluctuates in the oven and often causes failure of jars to seal,—so they may explode and damage the oven and often injure the worker.

So pressure canning for all vegetables and meats is recommended. It is not recommended to can vegetables and meats at all if you do not have pressure equipment. Hot water bath is satisfactory for fruits and tomatoes. Pressure canning is also satisfactory for fruits and tomatoes, for since if you have the equipment the processing time is shortened. Open kettle method is only recommended for jellies, jams, preserves (which have a very high sugar content), and pickles and relishes.

It is true that some home canners are so cautious that they do have success in canning vegetables by hot water bath sterilizing, but it is because they are steeped in experience and do not contaminate their equipment when handling it. I cannot recommend it for novices.

I add that last paragraph because I may receive a flood of letters from readers telling me that they have canned vegetables successfully by hot water bath sterilization for years, without spoilage. I for one would not try it, and I'm an old hand, for the loss of one jar wipes out too much profit.

CANNING CAUTIONS

Use only fresh, clean food for canning or preserving. Wash and handle the product as carefully and quickly as possible and pack and process it as soon as possible after it is picked. Test canning equipment for cracks and nicks in rims, which form the sealing surfaces. Rubbers should always be new.

CANNING SYRUPS

VERY THIN—1 cup sugar to 4 cups water (often used for raspberries, pineapple and blueberries or pears.)

MEIN SYRUP—1 cup sugar to 3 cups water. If you have a sweet tooth you may want to use it for the fruits listed under "very thin" syrup and also for sweet cherries, apples, peaches, apricots, prunes, plums.

MEDIUM SYRUP—1 cup sugar to 2 cups water. Used for sour cherries, cranberries, sour plums, rhubarb.

HEAVY SYRUP—1 cup sugar to 1 cup water. This syrup is so heavy that the finished product is saturated with sugar flavor and the product is more of a preserve. Maraschino-type cherries, strawberry preserve, quinces, preserved orange and lemon and citron rinds.

CANNING IN HIGH ALTITUDES

Above 1000 feet altitude processing time should be increased 20% for each additional 1000 feet, with the exception of pressure canning, in which case use pressures given for average altitude, up to 2000 feet, but above that increase pressure one pound for each added 2000 feet of elevation.

Next week at this time watch for detailed methods of canning.

WE'RE ALL JOHN WEIRS—Four generations in one family are common enough but seldom are their names all the same. On the weekend four John Weirs were together to celebrate birthdays of two John Weirs. Having birthdays on Saturday were John Joseph Weir, 291 Louis St. (at right, above), and baby John Edward Weir, Jr. Grandfather Jack Edward Weir, 65 Morrow St. (left) and great-grandfather John Harrison Weir, 260 Wolfe St. (centre, with baby), helped celebrate.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

NO MORE STOKERS—The word "stoker"—a holdover from the days of coal-burning ships—has been dropped from the vocabulary of the Royal Canadian Navy. Now that stoker mechanics are to become maintainers as well as operators, they will be known from now on as "engineering mechanics." The picture is of a typical boiler room scene, taken in HMCS Crusader, the UN's champion Korean "train buster," now back at her home port of Esquimalt, B.C. The men are, left to right; AB George D. Kasmiruk, kneeling, of Big River, Sask.; AB William T. Cherwak, of Kenora, Ont., and CPO William C. Hutchings, of Gull Lake, Sask., and Victoria.

ACCOMMODATION PROBLEM

LONDON (CP) — Arthur Delamont, founder of the Vancouver boys' band which toured Britain, said his biggest headache was finding accommodation for his 39 performers. "It's hard enough to find reasonable lodgings for anyone, let alone 39 boys," he said.

IT'S BIG!

The sun is estimated to be 864,000 miles in diameter.

NATO Leaders Well Briefed

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Gen. Alfred Gruenther said today that each NATO commander defending the 4,000-mile Iron Curtain front "knows exactly what to do" in the event of a Russian attack.

He said that the Allied position of strength from the tip of Norway to the eastern borders of Turkey "demonstrates to the Soviets that it is possible for the West to have a unified strength."

The commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Europe told a press conference here: "That doesn't mean we have forces that are necessary to withstand successfully an all-out attack, but this position of strength, limited though it may be, demonstrates to the Soviets that it is possible for the West to have a unified strength."

He said that in 2½ years "we have made tremendous progress."

Of the June 17 Berlin riots, he said: "I would certainly say that the strength which the west has demonstrated has given the people behind the iron curtain some hope in the world, a certain degree of confidence."

Says Douglas Makes It Hard

INDIAN HEAD, Sask. (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner says that no one is making it more difficult to get the South Saskatchewan dam than Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan in the remarks he has been making during the federal election campaign.

Mr. Gardiner told a public meeting Wednesday that the scheme is a provincial project and there is no obligation on the part of the federal government to build it. If Mr. Douglas wanted the dam, the province could proceed with it and be sure of federal help.

The dam would supply power, it would control the flow of the river downstream and it would create a lake more than 100 miles long. It would make possible the development of industry in "every little town and village."

"That is why I am an advocate of it," Mr. Gardiner said.

When the time came the federal government would probaly go ahead with the project.

"But I'm not making any promises," Mr. Gardiner added.

Sweeping Inquiry Planned In Unions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a sweeping investigation of Communist influences in labor unions were laid down today by Senator John Marshall Butler (Rep.-Md), head of a special task force of the Senate judiciary committee.

"Our unions must be free of the slightest taint of communism," Butler said in an interview.

"We can't have this country if we can't keep Communists out of unions, especially out of positions of authority."

Strikers Stop Loaded Truck

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A transport loaded with roofing material consigned to a Windsor dealer was stopped early this morning by striking members of Local 880 of the International Teamsters Union, (AFL), and held until some decision is made as to its final destination.

Angry strikers said that the truck was driven by a "scab" who was drawing double pay to haul material into strike-bound Windsor. They said they had stopped the driver on at least three other occasions and warned him.

The driver, Stan Mosseau, said today's trip was the first he had ever made to this city. He admitted that he had been stopped on other occasions by strikers but always in other districts.

CCF Claims Credit For Social Security

KITCHENER (CP)—E. B. Jolliffe said Wednesday night Canada's old-line political parties didn't "steal" social security planks from the CCF

The Ontario CCF leader told a political rally:

"We had to take them one at a time and ram them down their throats."

Mr. Jolliffe, speaking in support of T. H. (Ted) Isley, CCF candidate in Waterloo North, said: "The CCF has been responsible for particularly every bit of progressive legislation over the past 25 years.

"The old parties are not real political parties at all but just followers of patronage, expediency and opportunism."

Potato Field Day Planned For OAC

TORONTO (CP)—A potato field day will be held Sept. 10 at the Ontario Agricultural College potato farm in Waterloo county, near Hespeler. The aim is to acquaint growers and junior farm club members with methods of harvesting, grading and selling.

The day is being sponsored by OAC, the Ontario department of agriculture, the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association and Waterloo county.

Farm Products Too High-Oliver

ELMIRA, Ont. (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Ontario Liberal party, said Wednesday night that Canada now is exporting as much to Britain as she did before the second war.

Mr. Oliver, speaking in support of Norman Schneider, federal Liberal candidate in Waterloo North, said that when the war broke out Britain, cut off from other supplies asked for "huge quantities" of goods and the Canadian farmer met the challenge.

The trading arrangement was war-born and the United Kingdom now was getting back to her normal ways of trade. British buyers were shrewd and bought as cheaply as possible.

Canadian farm products have priced themselves out of the British market "and neither George Drew (Progressive Conservative party leader) nor anyone else can alter the situation in the immediate future," he said

Cancel Air Search For Missing Youth

THE PAS, Man. (CP) — Air search for 18-year-old Robert Buck, missing since July 25 in the heavy bush east of Moose Lake, was called off Wednesday, but ground parties continued to comb the area for some trace of him.

Two ground parties, totalling 25 men, are making what may be the final sweep through thick timberland.

Hope is almost gone that the youthful resident of Moose Lake settlement, 50 miles east of here, will be found—alive or dead.

Man Kidnaps Two Youngsters

STAYNER, Ont. (CP)—The son of Reeve Robert Brockwell of Sunningdale township, and a companion were bruised and scared last night after being taken for a ride down concession roads here against their will.

Mervyn Brockwell, 12, and Kenneth Stephenson, 13, were on their way home when a man stepped out from the darkness near the Brockwell garage and ordered them into the Brockwell truck.

The stranger then clambered into the driver's seat and sped away with the two boys. Careening down a concession road at high speed the truck went out of control and flipped over three times before coming to rest in a ditch.

The boys, cut and dazed, crawled out of the wreckage and went to a nearby farm house to call the police. They told investigating officers that the man disappeared after the crash.

Stayner is 60 miles northwest of Toronto.

Hold Conference To Settle Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Company and union officials of the striking North American Cyanamid Company of Niagara Falls, Ont., held a day-long meeting with Labor Minister Daley Wednesday in an attempt to settle the strike.

No announcement was made following the sessions.

The strike, affecting 750 members of the Independent United Electrical Workers Union local 536 among the 1,100 persons employed at the plant.

The union was certified as bargaining agent for the firm Jan. 27 but a contract has not yet been signed.

Company officials have said a majority report of the conciliation board recommended pay boosts that would cost the company four cents an hour. The firm agreed to all terms of the recommendation except union security, but the union refused to accept the contract without this clause. Basic wage before the strike was $1.45 an hour.

A LOOK AT A WINNER—The Duke of Edinburgh gets the feel of things as he sits in the cockpit of a prize-winning Aston-Martin racing car at Goodwood, England, racing circuit. The Duke, who displayed considerable interest in the high-speed vehicles, stayed in Goodwood to view Race Week events. Others in the picture are unidentified.

Unlikely Spot Flourishes Under Green Thumb

Peter Beauchamp, an employee of Kesco Electric, 216 Hunter St., has a "green thumb", and doesn't know it.

In the beautification of the city, advocated in season and out by Peterborough Horticultural Society, his accomplishment this summer will probably be unnoticed, because the site of his flower garden is an unlikely spot. But, this opinion may be ventured, Mr. Beauchamp has done more with less growing space than any other flower lover in the city.

His triangular lot is a miniature garden above the concrete wall of the creek on the north side of Hunter St. at Kesco, east of Aylmer St.

It is bustling with colorful bloom of petunias, singles and doubles, geraniums and other flowering annuals. It includes a trailing vine that, is reaching down the cement wall towards the water.

TABLE AND CHAIRS

Mr. Beauchamp dug out the cellar under the old Micks hardware store building, as it once was, and with the soil he widened the Kesco premises. That must have been a laborious job. In one corner he has a small round table and two chairs, in blue and white colors. Further along the creek he has a fairly long table and chairs, also white with blue trim.

Perhaps any persons wishing to lunch there may do so. The interesting feature of this improvement of premises is that the planting of flowers and the setting up of tables occurred to anyone as an opportunity of vastly improving such an unlikely spot.

On the south side of the creek there are also boxes of annuals along the top of the cement retaining walls of the creek, presumably evidence of Peterborough Lock Company's annual attempt to beautify another place that otherwise looks unredeemable.

Restaurant Fire Forces 6 To Flee

WOODSTOCK (CP)—A fire in an adjoining restaurant Wednesday forced six persons to flee from their apartments here.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Claughton, Mrs. Lawrence Claughton and her three children Irvin, 17, Earl, 14, and Barbara, 5, were forced out of their apartment.

Lawrence Claughton, proprietor of the restaurant, Beth Morton, waitress and two customers left the restaurant before it was gutted.

The fire is believed to have started from a gas grill.

Water Drop Worries Hydro Officials

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario hydro officials reported Wednesday they were "somewhat concerned" over the severe drop in water flow at two power stations in Northern Ontario.

Steam-powered generating plants have been used in order to conserve water in the storage basins of the Ottawa and Madawaska rivers where river flows are down 10 and 50 per cent respectively over last year

Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders said "that thanks to our steam plants Ontario would not suffer from an over-all power shortage," because of the drop.

Spend 27 Billions On Russian Forces

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia is to spend 110,200,000,000 rubles ($27,550,000,000 at the Russian exchange rate) on her armed forces in 1953, it was announced Wednesday at the Supreme Soviet session.

The announcement was made by Finance Minister Arseni G. Zverev.

The defence appropriation showed a slight reduction over last year's record peacetime figure of 113,800,000,000 rubles ($26,450,000,000).

Woke Up Every Morning Feeling Tired, Achy, Dizzy

Entire System Was Rundown After Suffering Very Bad Stomach Disorders. "Feel Like Different Person Since Taking Syntona."

MR. LEONARD PULLEN

MR. LEONARD PULLEN, 80 Tisdale street north, Hamilton, Ontario, is glad to pass his experience along to others because he knows what it means to get relief from health disorders which had troubled him a long time and made him feel tired and rundown.

"I was really in a bad way, couldn't get to sleep at night and would get up every morning feeling tired, achy and dizzy," said Mr. Pullen. "I suffered from acid indigestion, would get awful gas, belched up hot, sour liquids, and had a bloated, full heavy feeling in my stomach. My nerves seemed all on edge, I had no appetite and my back was aching all the time.

"I heard a lot of praise for Syntona, so I decided to give it a trial and this medicine did all that was said about it. I never had anything before to give me such quick relief from the acid indigestion and other stomach distress. I now sleep better, feel more rested and refreshed when morning comes and I don't get those dizzy spells that I did before. The aches and pains have gone away. I now enjoy my meals; and feel a different person."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott's Drug Store. Advt.

'Do My Best', PM Tells Huge Montreal Rally

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent came to Montreal Thursday night and went away with the cheers of thousands ringing in his ears.

The prime minister winding up his campaigning here for Monday's general election, addressed an overflow crowd of 3,000 supporters in Atwater Market—there were several thousands more outside—and then was whisked across the city in record time to deliver another address in St. James Market to a similar crowd.

At both places, he told the applauding, cheering crowds that he would "do my best."

Today Mr. St. Laurent speaks in Barrie, Ont., and winds up with a big rally in Toronto tonight.

SCORES PC PROMISES

In his first address Thursday night, the prime minister defended two English-speaking ministers from Quebec and attacked Progressive Conservative leader Drew's election promises.

A further development in the spirit of national unity spreading throughout the country was marked, he said, by the appointment to the cabinet of two English-speaking ministers from Montreal —Defence Minister Claxton and Finance Minister Abbott.

"Use All Arms" If Truce Broken

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark said Thursday that if the Communists break the truce in Korea he would favor using "any and every weapon" in the U.S. arsenal to strike back at them.

Clark did not specifically mention atomic weapons, but presumably his words would cover such weapons.

Clark, soon to retire as supreme allied commander in the Far East, made the statement at a Pentagon press conference.

Clark expressed neither exaltation for the truce he signed nor much beyond a glimmer of hope for the recovery of all Allied prisoners who fell into enemy hands during the 37-month Korean war.

"If the truce is broken," Clark said, "I would favor using any and every weapon at the disposal of my country."

12 North Korean Officials Purged For "Conspiracy"

TOKYO (AP)—The Communist radio at Pyongyang said tonight 12 high North Korean officials have been prosecuted for planinng to overthrow the Communist regime and spying for U.S. secret agents. The North Korean radio said among the 12 officials were Rhee Syng Yop, former peoples censorship committee chairman, (the equivalent of special secret police) and Pak Hong Wong, former vice-premier and foreign minister.

While monitors here heard one name as Rhee Syng Yop the broadcast identified him as a former justice minister and the name probably is Lee Sung Yup.

Last month South Korean intelligence sources said Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier, had fired Pak and Lee in a purge of cabinet ministers who were pro-Russian rather than pro-Chinese.

The RoK sources said Pak had been jailed and his job given to Lee Tong Kun, a South Korean trained in Red China.

Kim allegedly held a big edge in a tug of war between North Korean Reds trained by the Chinese Communists at Yenan and those trained in Moscow.

Pak, a South Korean who turned up in North Korea after being accused of inciting Red riots in the U. S.-occupied zone in 1946, was a former general secretary of the Korean Communist party.

U.S. Bill Admits 214,000 Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed into law today a bill to admit 214,000 extra refugees, orphans and other aliens into the United States in the next three years.

He called the legislation "a significant humanitarian act and an important contribution toward greater understanding and co-operation among the nations of the free world."

The bill finally sent to the president is a compromise measure containing many provisions aimed at screening out any Communist agents among the immigrants to be admitted over and above regular quotas.

Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) finally accepted the rewritten version, which will allow the admission of a somewhat smaller number of aliens than Eisenhower originally proposed and also will lengthen the period of the program from two to three years.

Car Salesman Pleads Guilty To Bank Thefts

MONTREAL (CP) — Arnold Slade, alias John Brown, 27, pleaded guilty Tursday to five charges of armed robbery of banks here since January, 1949. Loot in the robberies totalled almost $25,000.

Slade, who told the court he was a car salesman and, for one term, president of a service club between robberies, was ordered for sentence Aug. 20. Defence counsel asked for the delay so representations could be made on Slade's behalf.

French General Strike Blow To Laniel's Economy Plan

PARIS (AP)—France's 2,000,000 civil servants slapped Premier Joseph Laniel with a crippling 24- to 48-hour country-wide general strike today. They demanded he cut defence costs instead of raising their retirement age and trimming their ranks.

The protest against the premier's rumored plans for government economies was France's worst strike since the 1936 days of Socialist Leon Blum's Popular-Front government.

Trains ground to a halt through the country. Telephones were dead. Gas flickered feebly. Garbage piled up in the streets. Non-government mine workers also joined in.

The one "bright" spot was in Paris—the subway and bus systems were operating. Taxis also were available there.

Otherwise business and commercial life rapidly approached paralysis. It looked as if much of it would stay that way until Monday.

Unlike most French strikes, this one was not called by the Communists but by the Socialist Labor Force and the Christian Labor Federation. The Red General Confederation of Labor, however, happily joined in.

The walkout was ordered to protest reports that Laniel's six-week-old government planned to up the retirement age for government workers from 57 to 62 and lop many employees off the public payroll.

The premier launched an offensive of appeals and threats against the walkout. He ordered the striking telephone workers back on their jobs, threatened to suspend all striking civil service employees and warned that workers would not be paid for time off the job.

Such threats are usually not enforced, however, once a strike ends.

The government also ordered "requisitioning" of striking telephone workers to restore inter-city communications, but first indications were that this move had failed.

The premier's retrenchment program, designed to pull the government out of near-bankruptcy, has not been announced. The rumors of its details have been widely broadcast among workers, however. To the lower-level public servants, who work long years at an average pay of less than $65 a month with retirement as their principal reward, the idea of adding several more years of duty is unthinkable.

Dulles, Rhee Ready To Sign Pact

Discuss Unification "Every Hour" In Talks At Seoul

SEOUL (AP)—State Secretary Dulles and President Syngman Rhee will initial the draft of a security treaty between the United States and South Korea Saturday, it was announced officially tonight.

The ceremony is scheduled for 10 a. m. (9 p. m. EDT today).

Agreement was reached on the treaty today.

The announcement was made by members of Dulles' party and the office of President Rhee. A joint statement from Rhee and Dulles is expected Saturday and the secretary of state will hold a press conference here before leaving for Tokyo.

Rhee has demanded the treaty as one condition for South Korea going along with an armistice in Korea. President Eisenhower promised in June to negotiate a security pact, which still must be approved by the U.S. Senate.

The treaty was reported patterned closely after the security pact between the United States and the Philippines. It provides that the U.S. will come to the aid of South Korea in the event of new Communist aggression. It also provides for basing U.S. troops in South Korea.

"SOME PROGRESS"

Dulles met for two hours and 45 minutes with Rhee today. He said he would have "some progress" to report Saturday.

Dulles said he would have a final meeting with the South Korean president Saturday morning and then fly to Tokyo.

"I will spend tomorrow night in Tokyo and take off for the States on Sunday," he said.

Dulles and high state department officials arrived in Korea Tuesday and Dulles and President Rhee have conferred four times on post-armistice problems.

At a press conference after he drove out of the grounds of Rhee's mansion, Dulles said he thought "good progress" had been made today.

Asked whether he and President Rhee had discussed unification of North and South Korea, the secre-

Poliomyelitis has killed 42 persons in Canada so far this year, a Canadian Press survey showed today. There have been about 1,400 cases reported, compared with about 4,500 for the whole of 1952.

E. German Plants Ringed By Tanks As Riots Threaten

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet army tanks today were reported ringing many East German factories to deal with possible outbreaks of the rebellious population.

The report was published in the U. S. state department newspaper Neue Zeitung as East Germans coming to West Berlin for the American-backed food handout reported new sporadic unrest in the Russian zone.

Neue Zeitung said the Red tanks first called out to quell the June 17 rebellion, had been stationed around "numerous big East zone factories." There was no indication, however, that violence had developed at any of these potential trouble spots.

The northwest German radio broadcast a report that large Soviet troop, tank and artillery forces have been moved into East Berlin in the last three days, but Western military sources said they did not believe it.

BLOCKADE FALLS

With the crumbling of their travel blockade against the food seekers, the Communist police intensified their confiscation drives to strip thousands of East Germans of the food they collected in West Berlin.

Reinforced cordons of Communist People's Police surrounding Berlin snatched the food parcels on trains and at railway stations and plundered people who used pedestrian crossing back to the Russian zone.

Despite the new terror, thousands more East Germans and East Berliners lined up the food queues for the 12th day of the give-away. Thursday 148,061 parcels were distributed, boosting the 11-day total to 1,756,000.

Another 25 deserters from the East zone police fled to West Berlin Thursday as refugees. This brought the total for three days to 113 and the total since the beginning of this year to nearly 2,600.

For the second time in three days, the East German Communist government today refused to buy Western food for its needy population.

Holdup Squad Arrests 11 In Toronto

"Would Have Made Boyd Look Sick," Says Suspect

TORONTO (CP) — Police said today they thwarted a plan to seize General Motors' million-dollar holiday payroll with the arrest of 11 persons last week.

Two more persons were arrested Thursday night by the newly-formed police holdup squad under Sgt. Jim Morgan. Police said they found a fully-loaded Sten gun in the trunk of a car parked on a vacant lot and a loaded revolver hidden behind a radio in the Poplar Plains road home where the arrests were made.

Jointly charged with the theft of the Sten gun, receiving and possessing a deadly weapon are Pte. Preston Nix of the army ordnance depot here and Theresa McKenzie, 28, alias Lalonde, alias Nix.

Police said the payroll gang, composed mainly of Kingston Penitentiary "graduates," made elaborate plans for six holdups while in prison. Four of them were carried out but members of the gang told police they were "just warmups" for two big holdups.

PLANNED BANK JOB

Police information was that within two weeks, beginning last Friday, the mob planned to rob the Royal Bank at the main intersection in Oshawa of the General Motors payroll and then another bank in suburban Scarborough.

Detectives said Nix, arrested Thursday night, was an armorer at the army depot, teaching cadets how to handle machine guns, Sten guns and other small arms. They charge he stole the gun in pieces last month.

Globulin Sales Draw Criticism

WINNIPEG (CP)—The limited sale of gamma globulin as a polio preventative has sparked a controversy in Winnipeg where a polio epidemic is under way, but Dr. M. R. Elliott, deputy minister of health, says the sale is "perfectly legitimate."

Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council passed a motion asking government departments to take immediate steps to supervise strict control and distribution of the anti-polio serum. The action followed reports that the serum was being sold privately for $25 a dose.

The council said a man had tried to buy serum for "his polio-stricken daughter" and was refused. Dr. Elliott said, however, that gamma globulin is used to prevent poliomyelitis, not cure it.

He said there is sufficient gamma globulin on hand for all legitimate contacts, and if people want it who don't qualify under the restriction, they can obtain it from doctors privately.

Charge Driver, 25, In Twin Death; Three In Hospital

LINDSAY (ENS)—A two-car collision on Highway 7, one mile east of Reaboro Thursday evening killed two people, sent three to hospital, two in Lindsay, and one in Peterborough. Dead are 65-year-old Newton Armstrong, of RR 2, Pontypool, and Miss Nellie Watson, 50, a teacher in Kirkland Lake, and a native of Havelock. In Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, are Garnet Armstrong, 35, son of the dead man, and driver of the first car, suffering from severe facial lacerations and shock, and his brother Everett, another passenger, suffering from head injuries. The third person, Miss Fern Dorothy Gallinger, 37, of 56 Lees Ave., Toronto, was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Miss Gallinger, suffering from lacerations of the head and body, was in a very shocked condition on arrival at hospital. Her condition was reported fair today. She is under the care of Dr. W. D. Blastorah of Peterborough.

According to OPP Constable Naismith of Lindsay, who investigated, the collision occurred on a straight stretch of highway where is intersects a county road. The Armstrong vehicle was crossing the highway from a township road on the south side. The highway runs east and west at that point. The car carrying the two women was proceeding east.

The two women were returning from a month's vacation in Western Canada and had stopped in Lindsay to visit Miss Watson's cousin, Mrs. M. Hoard. They had left to continue their trip to Havelock just before the accident occurred.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, of Lindsay, stated today a charge of dangerous driving will be laid against Garnet Armstrong, of Pontypool, driver of the car in which his father was killed.

SCORES CROWD SCENE

The accident attracted scores of spectators within minutes. Provincial police kept the way cleared for McArthur's ambulance from Lindsay to take two of the injured to the Ross Memorial Hospital. Dr. M. White of Lindsay treated the injured at the scene. The two Armstrong men were treated at the hospital by Dr. M. E. Gorman.

After the accident, curious spectators examined the two cars before they were towed to a Lindsay garage. The car in which the women were driving was pushed to the north side of the highway facing east. The right front has been badly damaged, the engine shoved into the right side of the front seat.

Saw Russians Using AA Guns In N. Korea

PANMUNJOM (Reuters(— Sgt. Jack Gauldine of Ashburn, Ga., said on his return here today that he had seen Russians operating anti-aircraft defences in North Korea.

"I saw the Russians working with Chinese technicians, operating a searchlight battery just behind my prison camp," the air force sergeant said.

Drew Asks Voters Preserve 2-Party System

TORONTO (CP)—George Drew made the final major speech of his general election campaign Thursday night and urged Canadians to preserve the two-party system by voting the Liberals out of office next Monday.

The Progressive Conservative leader addressed between 5,000 and 6,000 persons in Exhibition Park on the shore of Lake Ontario. Earlier in the evening he made his final radio broadcast of the campaign, reviewing his party's platform in a half-hour speech over the CBC's Trans-Canada network.

Today's schedule calls for Mr. Drew to spend the morning in Ottawa, doing no campaigning, then to travel by automobile through the Ottawa valley south of the capital, speaking at Hawkesbury and Eastview before returning to Ottawa for an evening meeting.

"GREAT CANADIAN"

Introduced to the park rally as "a great Canadian" by Premier Frost of Ontario, provincial treasurer when Mr. Drew was Ontario premier from 1943 to 1948, Mr. Drew said the Conservatives are ready and able to form a government. Replying to Trade Minister Howe's assertion that the party is in no shape to take office after 18 years out of power, he said that if the voters take Mr. Howe's word, "it means the end of the two-party system in Canada."

He said he is confident the democratic instincts of the Canadian people will result in preservation

Sea Waters Smash Dike In Holland

ZIERIKZEE, Netherlands (CP)—Sea waters smashed through a major dike defending Schouwen Duiveland Island today and all available men were summoned to the scene.

The island, one of the worst hit parts of the country in last February's flood disaster, is in danger of being completely submerged again.

Flood fighters said the breach was 300 feet wide this morning and getting wider hourly as sea waters slushed through it with the rising and ebbing tides.

Families, evacuated last February, have not yet returned to their island homes. Despite intensive sea defence week, the island was still three-quarters under water when the main dike on its south coast was breached this morning.

Dispute Revolves Around A Woman

Downright Lie One Charge Hurled As Campaign Warms

It has been a drowsy local election campaign until the last few days. Now it looks as though it's going to end up in a shouting match. Charges of "downright lie," "garbled untruth," and counter-charges of "deliberate untruth," and "vicious attack" are now the order of the day.

The big dispute revolves around what Mrs. Arthur Parker, a Peterborough housewife supporting Max Swanston, actually said in a short CHEX speech on July 24. Mrs. Parker is described as a responsible citizen, a mother of four boys and a supply teacher in city and rural schools.

P.C. LAKEFIELD SPEECH

In a speech Tuesday in Lakefield Mr. Fraser attacked her speech. He quoted her as saying that he had voted against social security measures during his 13 years in the House of Commons; and he also quoted her as interpreting a speech of George Drew's to indicate that the PC leader would "cut down on the number of people receiving family allowances."

Mr. Fraser denounced the charge levelled against him as a "downright lie of the worst kind."

"And you can rest assured that when George Drew is prime minister he will support old age pensions with no means test," he said. "Old age pensions and family allowances are here to stay."

"That's playing politics in a way I'd never stoop to," stated the PC candidate.

It was the Liberals' turn Wednesday night. Gus Faux, vice-president of the Ontario Liberal Asociation, fell on Mr. Fraser's reported speech with a vengeance. He said the PC candidate was "careless" and demanded a public apology for an "unfounded" charge against Mrs. Parker.

"If Mr. Fraser is a man of honor, if he is an honest man, if he is a truthful man he will go to the radio station, get a copy of Mrs. Parker's speech and when he gets the facts and finds that his charges are completely unfounded, he will make a public apology."

Red Propaganda Intense

Liberated Americans Tell Of U.S., British Prisoners Choosing To Stay Under Rule Of Chinese Communists

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Liberated Americans today disclosed for the first time that some United States prisoners of war, and at least one Briton, have swapped freedom for life under Communist rule.

Many South Koreans also were said to have chosen to remain under Communist rule as a result of intense Red propaganda.

Two U.S. soldiers just released from the same North Korean stockade said they knew of about seven Americans who had refused repatriation, apparently the victims of Red propaganda lectures.

Four other repatriates said at least three Americans they knew probably will remain behind of their free will.

Cpl. James Davis, Bradshaw, Md., said the three got special treatment.

"If you hit one of them you'd be going down the road, two to five years in prison," Davis said.

"We called them G.I. Chinks or Chink lovers."

Three returning privates concurred with Davis that the three, all Negroes, would not return.

The four were liberated from a Red prison camp at Pyoktong near the Manchurian border.

Another American from the Pyoktong stockade, Pfc. Steve Glowacki, of Brooklyn said the camp was emptied during the first days of the prisoner exchange except for one Briton and seven Americans. He said the eight stayed behind voluntarily.

"They were having a party when we left," Glowacki said. "I didn't associate with them."

Under the armistice terms prisoners, both Allied and Red, who refuse repatriation are to be turned over to a five-nation commission, during which time agents from their homelands will have a chance to convince them to return.

If they continue to refuse repatriation they will be freed within six months after the armistice was signed.

The Communists, in a Peiping radio broadcast today, said they have never screened prisoners to determine whether they want to return home.

The broadcast said the Reds will tell the UN command "as soon as possible" the number of captives they hold who refuse repatriation.

Other Americans returned in today's exchange added to the mounting evidence of Communist brutality and disregard for human life.

They told of mass burials of up to 2,000 Allied prisoners, jail sentences for "instigating against the peace" and intense attempts to convert captives to communism.

Pfc. William H. Davis of Hearne, Texas, said "10 or 12" Americans were being held in Red camps awaiting trial on various charges, most of them "instigating against the peace."

Cpl. Ulysses G. Baugh of Little Rock, Ark., told of a Chinese company commander who "threatened to cut my head off" if he didn't write an article for Communist propagandists.

Baugh said he was branded a "re-actionary" because "I told him I could not write them."

A liberated South Korean said many of his countrymen had been frightened into staying in the north —sometimes even as they were within short miles of freedom.

He said the Reds told South Koreans RoWs they would be shot by Republic of Korea troops if they returned to their homes.

The South Korean, Pte. Park Young Ho, said the Red propaganda continued even as the RoK prisoners were being moved to Kaesong for repatriation. Five or six South Koreans, he said, refused repatriation at the last minute.

An American who was held at the Pyoktong camp said "close to 2,000" Americans, British and other UN troops were buried in shallow graves during the winter and spring of 1951.

"There are no markers at all," Sgt. L. C. Dunlap of McCorkle, W.Va., said. "We buried them on the North Korean side of the Yalu river on a hill."

Dunlap said that of 3,000 Allied soldiers at Pyoktong in late January, 1951, only 1,400 were still alive in mid-summer. Dunlap, a tank commander, was captured in November, 1950.

Cpl. Harry C. Copeland of Muncie, Ind., said the British and Turkish soldiers adapted more readily than the Americans to the sparse Oriental diet of millet and rice.

PoWs Charge Reds Hold U.S. Prisoners

Say 3,000 Americans Held In Camps North of Truce Line

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— A healthier group of 394 Allied war prisoners came out of Communist captivity today and added to mushrooming reports that the Reds are holding back some PoWs—including perhaps 2,000 to 3,000 Americans.

Eighty-one Americans were among the group released today under a brilliant sun at this wayside village in the third day of the Korean war prisoner exchange—"Operation Big Switch."

Although the Reds had promised 400, an unofficial count showed six South Koreans missing from the scheduled 250. There was no immediate explanation.

The Reds also sent back 25 Britons, 25 Turks, 12 Filipinos and seven Colombians.

They said the next group, scheduled Saturday morning, would include 90 Americans, 250 South Koreans, 35 Turks and 25 Britons.

ONLY FRACTION

That will bring the total of Americans released to 311, a fraction of the 3,313 the Reds have promised to return.

In all, the Allies are handing over 74,000 Reds for 12,863 Allied PoWs.

The UN command sent back 2,753 Communists today, a quieter and better-behaved group than those of the first two days, who ranted wildly in last-minute shows of defiance. They still sang and chanted, but they were more restrained and did not attack UN personnel as they did earlier.

The Allied repatriates, wearing faded blue Chinese uniforms, appeared in much better condition mentally and physically than the sick and weary men released the first two days. Even so, some were ill and needed medical care.

The Reds, showing eagerness for the first time, started the exchange five minutes ahead of time.

However reports grew that the Reds may be holding out thousands of PoWs, many of them Americans, in their bleak northern stockades.

SEVERAL IN JAIL

One of today's repatriates, Pte. Thomas R. Murray of Baltimore, said several prisoners were being held in jail. He said one of his friends had been sentenced to a year in prison only recently on charges of slandering the Chinese.

Murray also told of about seven Americans at his camp who had swallowed the Communist line and chose to stay behind in Red hands.

Visiting Washington, Gen. Mark W. Clark, UN Far East commander, told a press conference there is evidence the Reds hold from 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans than the 3,313 they listed for return. He also said "thousands and thousands" of South Koreans are unaccounted for.

Clark said Washington instructed him to sign the armistice, but to reserve the right to press for information about additional captives in later proceedings.

Clark said the UN command had to accept the Red figures or use military power to force the Reds to sign the truce.

USE EVERY WEAPON

He said that if the Reds break the truce he would favor using "any and every weapon" to retaliate. He did not specifically mention atomic weapons, but presumably his statement would cover them.

Meanwhile, nearly 12,000 Red fanatics in Koje Island prison compounds off far southern Korea rioted on the eve of their freedom.

One Red was shot to death and four others were wounded when UN guards had to fire to put down the first of three uprisings. They stopped the others with tear and vomiting gas.

The PoW command said the Reds apparently were trying to "save face" after the "disgrace" of being captured and were also trying to avoid reprisals from the Red bosses they will soon rejoin by proving they never quit fighting.

There were no UN casualties.

The PoW command said the riots were part of a long-term plan revealed in documents seized in searches of the compounds.

The Reds rejected an offer of the West German government to deliver a minimum of 25,000,000 marks ($6,250,000) worth of food through interzonal trade if the Communists would pay in West marks.

The East German government claimed it had no West marks to buy food.

Wednesday the Communists rejected an American offer to untreeze $1,400,000 of East German funds impounded in New York banks if it were used to purchase food.

MD Tells Story Of Plane Crash

WINNIPEG (CP)—The story of a flaming crash in the Barren Lands and three days marooned on the trackless tundra was told here Thursday by a Minneapolis surgeon—one of four men rescued last Friday from the rocky shore of Lake Kaminuriak, 800 miles north of Winnipeg.

Dr. Laurence Larson, 49, medical advisor to a seven-man University of Minnesota scientific party, told of the experience on reaching here. He said he and two companions, returning home ahead of the remainder of the party, owed their lives to bush pilot Charlie Webber, 28, of Churchill, Man.

The others on the plane were James Wilkie, 42, photographer, and his brother Robert Wilkie, 42, sound recorded.

Larson said Webber crash-landed his flaming Norseman on Lake Kaminuriak without injury to the passengers and improvised a raft from inflatable mattresses and plane parts to reach shore. He taught them how to survive on the tundra until a search plane found them.

They survived on berries and young ptarmigan that they stoned.

They were rescued by another pilot, Gunnar Ingebrigtson, veteran northerner.

of the two-party system in Monday's vote.

Repeating his party's promise to cut taxes by $500,000,000, he said Prime Minister St. Laurent had expressed shock at the opposition suggestion that 10 per cent of the $2,500,000,000 defence budget could be reduced without impairing defence efficiency.

WISHES SHOCK GREATER

"I only wish he had been sufficiently shocked to do something about it."

There was nothing more certain than death and taxes—"but the latter doesn't need to be so permanent if you make the right decision on Monday."

Earlier, addressing a picnic audience of about 350 at Orillia, he promised two trade-building visits, one to Britain and the other to the United States, if the Conservatives are elected.

He said he would go to London with the new ministers of trade, finance and agriculture to "reopen British markets" to Canadian farm products and would confer in Washington with President Eisenhower on U. S. restrictions on imports of some Canadian foodstuffs and U. S. "dumping" of textile products in this country.

MUST FIND MARKETS

"There is only one way we can make our farmers prosperous—and in that way keep our villages, towns and cities prosperous. That is to find export markets for our farm products."

Last year Canada had sold no pork, beef, salmon, dairy or poultry products to Britain. The attitude of the Liberal government was that Canada had to wait for U. S. action to improve trading conditions with Britain and the rest of the sterling area.

Said Mr. Drew:

"Canada is able to take care of her own affairs."

Country Women Of World Pageant Aug. 21

Mrs. W. Clarence Mann of Smith township is suggesting to the members of the Women's Institute, their families and other rural residents, attendance at the pageant, "Dominion of Destiny", at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, August 21 and 22.

This pageant is shown under the auspices of the Associated Country Women of the World as a feature of their international conference. Aug 21 will be "Canada Day", and there will be a repeat performance on Sat., Aug. 22.

The Saturday program beginning at 2 p.m. will include an address by Mrs. Raymond Sayre, President, A.C.W.W.; organ music by Kathleen Stokes of radio fame; the Junior Farmers' choir of Oxford county, directed by Henry Clark. He has composed a special song for the occasion, "Canada, Dear Canada". These are a prelude to the pageant which is planned as a continuous action cavalcade with full concert orchestra, chorus of mixed voices, solos by the vocal star, Ernest Adams; dancing directed by Boris Volkoff; a large cast of actors with units of the Armed Forces; vehicles and animals to portray Canadian life from the country's earliest days to the present.

This is an extraordinary event of rural interest, and particularly to farm women and children. All seats at the Gardens are reserved, prices ranging from 75c to $2 for boxes.

Mail orders should be sent as soon as possible to Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. Bus parties are being organized from various parts of the province. Special railway fares have been arranged. Purchase a single fare ticket, and procure a convention form from the local ticket agent. Present this form for signatures at the Royal York Hotel, convention mezzanine floor rotunda, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each day, and on Saturday also from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Do My Best

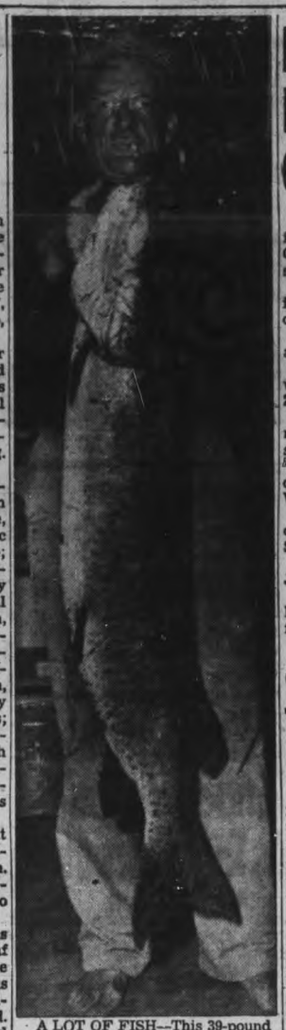
The same spirit of unity was apparent in the appointment of two French-speaking Canadians from Ontario to similar posts—Health Minister Martin and Transport Minister Chevrier.

Speaking in both French and English, he said he was getting tired of Progressive Conservative criticisms referring to Mr. Claxton as negligent and inefficient.

It was true there had been some 'mistakes" in the defence department, but the department was bigger than any Canadian corporation. Also Mr. Claxton had been the first to admit and correct the mistakes.

Mr. Abbott was criticized for being too efficient, for taking too much in taxes, but taxes had been cut last February.

The theme at his second address was national unity. The Canadian nation was made up of two great nations, augmented by Canadians from all other nations who enriched Canada.



The late prime minister Mackenzie King was a great Canadian who spent his life seeking to better relations and to make a truly Canadian nation. His policy would be continued under all Liberal governments.

All realize that language and religion are not taken into consideration when considering what a Canadian was. God was the common father of all humanity.

That was the fundamental basis of the prosperity that Canada has been enjoying.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 3-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Thursday's noon rate was 98 15-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.78⅝, against $2.78 11-16.

A LOT OF FISH—This 39-pound 51-inch lunge, the largest reported so far in the district this year, was taken Thursday morning at Archer's Blue Roof Cabins on Bradley Bay near Campbellford. It was taken on a pikie-minnow by Jack Cromling of Mononga-hlela, Penn., after a battle of nearly an hour. Mr. Cromling has also landed a 36-pounder and a 29-pounder as well as several other smaller fish during his few weeks' stay at Campbellford.—(W. W. Reid Photo).

Beside one of the pedals on the driver's side a shoe still remained on the floor. The interior of the car was a mass of small glass particles which came from the shattered windshield. The larger Armstrong vehicle was also heavily damage. Both cars are considered complete wrecks.

Dr. W. R. Crowe assisted in the investigation but no decision has been made as yet concerning an inquest.

Miss Watson was a daughter of the late James and Isabel Watson. She was born in Belmont township and received her education in Havelock schools and the Peterborough Norman School.

Altogether she had been teaching 25 years, seven years in Belmont schools, 10 years in the Havelock public school and eight years in Kirkland Lake. She was a member of the United Church.

She is survived by four brothers: John, Harry, Carmen, all of Havelock, and Arthur of Detroit. The body is resting at the home of Harry Watson in Havelock. The funeral service will take place Monday. Other details will be announced later.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Installation of 20 new air raid sirens in Greater Winnipeg within the next fortnight is expected to provide the city with an air attack warning system comparable to that of any Canadian city of similar size, civil defence officials said Thursday.

Lost Nine Days In Rockies Mountain Climber Recovers

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—Mountain climber Alex McCoubrey of Winnipeg is recovering in hospital after being lost for nine days in the Rocky Mountains near the Alberta-British Columbia boundary 200 miles west of Edmonton. The 32-year-old veteran mountain climber told his rescuers that a dog found him.

"I guess I owe my life to Laddie," he said. The collie dog is owned by park warden Clarence Wilkins of the Whirlpool river area where McCoubrey was found.

The search was just about to be abandoned Wednesday when McCoubrey was found "well but weak." He was taken to Seton hospital in Jasper. Earlier reports said he was found Thursday.

McCoubrey, son of a former president of the Alpine Club of Canada, became separated from his party July 28. One story said he turned back on the slope of Browne peak after the party completed 6,000 feet of the climb. The second said he disappeared during the descent.

NO VISITORS

Suffering no apparent ill effect from his ordeal, McCoubrey nevertheless was ordered by hospital officials to refrain from seeing any visitors.

They said he was apparently quite tired and was sleeping but that his general condition was "quite fine."

When McCoubrey and the rescue party reached the Jasper-Columbia Icefields highway about six miles from Jasper Park Lodge late Wednesday, the Winnipeg man looked fit although his clothing was worn and tattered.

"I feel pretty good," he said. McCoubrey said he had shaved every day since being lost eight days ago.

"My razor is rather dull now," he added.

HAD TWO SANDWICHES

He told RCMP Cpl E. Kelsbery of the Jasper detachment who headed the party that reached McCoubrey in the woods, that he had two sandwiches in his pocket when lost. He ate one the second day of his wandering and consumed the second for his "Sunday dinner."

Then he subsisted on berries and water.

McCoubrey was found in the Iroquois creek section over the divide.

He was located largely through the efforts of Laddie who picked up his trail 12 miles from the searcher's camp.

McCoubrey told the searchers he had decided that if he hadn't been found Wednesday he would "have to give in by nightfall."

After food and a night's rest the party started on the 28-mile horse back ride to Jasper early Thursday.

The only explanation McCoubrey gave as to why he had lost contact with his original group was that he became confused in the appearance of two ridges and chose the wrong one. "They both looked alike," he said.

Sight Wreckage In N. Atlantic

LONDON (Reuters)—An air-sea rescue fleet today sighted more wreckage and an empty liferaft 60 miles from the spot in the North Atlantic where four survivors of a RB-36 crash were picked up Wednesday.

The British weather ship India was diverted to the spot after the raft was sighted by one of 20 American rescue planes searching for traces of 14 men still missing.

Air force headquarters here said the raft may have been one of those dropped from a search plane. The India was expected to reach the scene sometime before nightfall.

The wreckage lay northeast of the spot where the survivors were found about 500 miles off the Irish coast.

The bodies of five of the 23 men aboard the 10-engine plane have been recovered. Four have been picked up alive after hours in life rafts.

Dancing was held in the exhibition building.

Downright Lie

Mr. Faux continued his attack saying that Mrs. Parker's speech "does not mention anything about George Drew cutting down the number of people receiving family allowances."

When the PCs held their last public meeting Thursday night at the Legion Hall, Mr. Fraser could hardly wait to get his lick in. (As a matter of fact he had to wait for about an hour and a half for Captain the Rev. Norman Rawson is not a man who yields the speaker's rostrum in less than an hour).

REPEATED CHARGES

Mr. Fraser repeated his charges. He carefully read from a script which he said had been given him by Acting Manager Gerald Grady at the radio station. (See the story of Thursday's meeting elsewhere in the Examiner today.)

"Apologize?" he said. "Certainly not. When they wrote the script for her they knew it was a lie. I don't think the woman wrote it herself."

NOT ON ONE FILE

Don Lowery, CHEX manager, said today that the Fraser script wasn't the one he had on file for Mrs. Parker. And he said that the tape recording didn't jibe with Mr. Fraser's version either.

"He must have got it from some other speech," said Mr. Lowery.

Contacted by The Examiner at the Empress while waiting for his noon meal, Mr. Fraser declared: "Dirty work at the crossroads."

"That (indicating the extract from Mrs. Parker's alleged speech) was what Gerry Grady gave me. And I heard the tape played back, too. I'll look into this."

In the advertising columns of the Examiner today the Liberals are running an advertisement under the catch head: "Did Mrs. Parker Lie?" Then follows the Liberal version of the address by Mrs. Parker. And the punch line at the bottom, in large type, asks: "Mrs. Parker has been accused of a deliberate untruth: Is this vicious attack on Mrs. Parker justified"?

Mrs. Parker is going on the air tonight to give her reply to Mr. Fraser. The deadline for political radio time is midnight.

So at press time the situation was one colossal snafu. Is somebody pulling a fast one at the last minute? Are there two scripts by Mrs. Parker? Or is it just one of those litte — but sometimes important—mistakes?

Like everybody else we're waiting for the answer.

Trucker Tells Of Near Crash Before 20 Died

SMITHS FALLS (CP) — Mervyn Burleigh, 24-year-old Smiths Falls transport driver, managed to avoid a pick-up truck hit moments later by a bus near Morrisburg, July 31, it was learned Thursday. The Colonial Coach Lines bus plunged into the Williamsburg canal after ramming the truck, killing 20 passengers.

Burleigh, who has been questioned by Ontario provincial police investigating the accident, helped to pull bus driver Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston, and truck driver Max Roodman of Toronto up the canal bank.

Burleigh is a driver for H. S. Edwards Transport Company. Edwards gave this account of the crash as told to him by Burleigh:

Burleigh was forced to swing to the right to avoid missing a truck which was moving without lights in the centre of the Highway No. 2.

Burleigh parked his tractor-trailer off the road.

The smaller truck, apparently the one driven by Roodman, proceeded slowly by Burleigh's parked transport, stopping at 15-foot intervals.

Burleigh did not see the bus pass but heard the impact when it hit the truck about 500 yards away.

The transport driver saw both vehicles plunge into the water.

Holdup Squad

One of the gang was reported to have told police: "It's a good thing you caught us when you did. In another two weeks we would have made the Boyd gang look sick."

(The gang headed by bank robber Alonzo Boyd left a trail of big holdups across Southern Ontario before being rounded up and sentenced.)

Several of those now in custody are charged with the holdups of the Skene Brothers Transport Company and the Orchard Park tavern in Toronto, along with two other robberies in the Hamilton area.

PRACTICED "JOB"

Police said these holdups were to provide money for additional guns, two cars and the rent for an Oshawa home as a hide-out.

Sgt. Morgan, who helped uncover the arrangements for the General Motors "job," said seven men, six armed with revolvers, the other with a Sten gun, were going to rob the bank. Each man had practised his duties.

A policeman stationed at the entrance of the bank was to have a gun shoved in his ribs and then forced into the bank.

The gang, police said, made two trips to an Oshawa hotel in recent weeks to make their plans.

Arrested last week in three separate raids were: William Lowe, 30; Andrew Peacock, 27; Joseph Renaud, 25; Jack Marshall, 18; Gorman Cassidy, 35; Leo Craig, 51; Leo Gauthier, 50, all of Toronto, and three women, Betty Cassidy, 26; Shirley Reynolds, 29 and Shirley Forrest, 21.

SEEK 12TH MAN

Police also have warrants out for the arrest of another man. Gauthier was originally charged with vagrancy but police said he will be charged with the Orchard Park armed robbery.

They linked recent "large scale" theft of guns from the army's small arms depot at nearby Long Branch to the plan for the Oshawa holdup.

They refused to disclose details but said four revolvers were seized in a raid early today on a Cooksville house, about 20 miles west of here.

Asked if he and Rhee had agreed on a site for the political conference, Dulles said that such an agreement was up to the United Nations and the Communists.

Speeches Become Repetition As Election Day Moves Near

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

E-Day is only three days away. But the election campaign leading to Monday's voting doesn't appear to be reaching any crescendo. The political speeches are largely thinning out to repetition. Though the ground campaign runs to election eve, the air campaign ends tonight with a final flurry by the Liberals. The CCF had its last national radio broadcast fling Wednesday night, the Progressive Conservatives Thursday night. Prime Minister St. Laruent stumped Papineauville, Que., and Montreal Thursday and moves on to Barrie, Ont., and Toronto today, hard on the heels of George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. Mr. Drew, after his Orillia and Toronto appearances Thursday, visits three more Ontario centres today—l'Orignal, Hawkesbury and Ottawa. CCF leader M. J. Coldwell returns to his home riding of Rosetown-Biggar after speaking Thursday at Lloydminster, Sask.

Mr. Coldwell and Mr. Drew hit on the same theme in their Lloydminster and Orillia speeches—agriculture.

The CCF leader said federal agricultural policies must be completely revised if Canadian farmers are to achieve reasonable economic security.

There was no fair or stable relationship between farm prices and farm costs. In the seven-year period up to last January, costs had risen twice as much as prices. Excessive price spreads harmed both farmer and consumer and helped only the large packing and processing concerns.

FAILED IN MARKETS

The government's "failure" to arrange long-term markets to absorb growing farm surpluses threatened to undermine the entire agricultural industry. The problems were too serious to be solved by the government's "stop-gap measures."

Mr. Coldwell outlined the CCF program for parity prices guaranteed in advance, nationalization of the farm implement industry, marketing boards and increased trade with sterling countries.

Mr. Drew promised two trade-building visits if elected, one to Britain, the other to the United States. A conference would be held with President Eisenhower to discuss U.S. restrictions on importation of Canadian dairy products and U.S "dumping" of textile products in Canada.

He would also go to London with his ministers of trade, finance and agriculture to "re-open British markets to Canadian farm products.

Mr. Drew said that last year Canada sold no pork, beef, salmon, dairy or poultry products to Britain. The attitude of the Liberals was that Canada had to wait for U.S. action to improve trading conditions with Britain and the rest of the sterling area. "Canada is able to take care of her own affairs," he said.

Mr. Drew referred to Liberal criticism that public works projects pledged by the Progressive Conservatives would cost more than the $500,000,000 in promised tax cuts.

That argument was "an example of why this government should be turned out of office—they don't even know the difference between capital and current expenditures."

DREW'S LAST RALLY

Later at Toronto, Mr. Drew appeared before an audience of 5,000 to 6,000 in his last big rally. He also made his last radio broadcast of the campaign and reviewed his party's 16-plank platform.

He said there was nothing more certain than death and taxes," but the latter doesn't need to be so permanent if you make the right decision on Monday."

Mr. St Laurent spoke in two Montreal market places. At St. James Market, Mrs. St. Laurent preceded the prime minister to the platform, making her first appearance of the campaign.

At Atwater Market, some 3,000 persons filled the second-storey meeting-hall and another 2,000 gathered in the streets below. They cheered Mr. St. Laurent's single election promise: "To do my best."

The prime minister spoke about national unity and mentioned four cabinet ministers—Defence Minister Claxton and Finance Minister Abbott, both English-speaking and from Quebec province; Health Minister Martin and Transport Minister Chevrier, both French-speaking and from Ontario.

He said he was getting tired of continual Progressive Conservative criticism that Mr. Claxton was negligent and inefficient. The defence department was bigger than any Canadian corporation. It was bigger than Canadian National Railways but Donald Gordon, CNR president, couldn't know everything that went on in his organization. There had been "mistakes" in the defence department, but Mr. Claxton had been the first to admit them and to correct them.

The prime minister suggested that Mr. Drew was a "little late" with a promise of a $500,000,000-a-year tax reduction. Mr. Drew promised his reduction for next October, but Mr. Abbott had already cut taxes last February. Mr. Drew's election promises were "highly imaginative."

Mr. St. Laurent described Montreal as the "fortress of Liberalism." Since 1935, Montreal Island has elected four Progressive Conservatives to Parliament compared to 80 Liberals. A similar trend would show up Monday, he said.

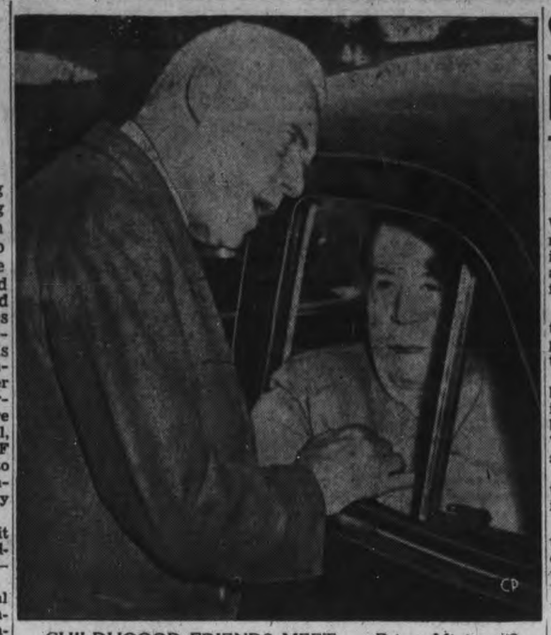
Failure To Sell Wheat Disaster, Says Hees



PORT ARTHUR (CP) — George Hees, Progressive Conservative candidate for Toronto-Broadview, said Thursday night if Canada fails to sell her wheat to Britain the results "will be disastrous both for the farmers and for our whole economy."

Addressing a rally in the interests of R. A. Robinson, party candidate for Port Arthur, Mr. Hees said:

"We can continue to be the largest supplier of wheat in the British market by sitting down with the British government in a spirit of co-operation and mutual understanding, instead of by adopting the arrogant and take-it-or-leave-it attitude of the present government."

Warships For Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP) — The largest share of small warships to be provided Far East countries by the United States will go to Nationalist China. The Republic of Korea also will get some. Defence officials said Thursday this was all the information that now could be made public. Congress authorized the president to turn over 25 ships, not larger than destroyers to friendly nations in the Orient.

CHILDHOOD FRIENDS MEET — Prime Minister St. Laurent greets a childhood friend, Mrs. D. R. Parsons, at Magog, Que., as he campaigns through Quebec on his federal election tour. The Prime Minister came over to talk with Mrs. Parsons, confined to her car with paralysis.

Fraser Stands By Charge Refuses To Give Apology

Gordon K. Fraser, PC candidate in Peterborough riding, said Thursday night he stuck by his previous assertion that a recent speech by a Liberal speaker, Mrs. Arthur Parker, was "a garbled untruth" and "a downright lie."

"Apologize"? he asked incredulously. "Certainly not. When they wrote that speech for her they must have known it was a lie; I don't believe the woman would write it herself."

The Peterborough MP for the last 13 years would make only one concession from his previous speech. He substituted the word "falsehood" for the harsher word "lie".

Mr. Fraser's counterblast to a Wednesday night speech by Liberal spokesman Gus Faux was made in the Legion Hall before 165 people. It was the last public meeting of his campaign to break a record for this riding and be elected MP for the fourth consecutive time.

INTERPRETATION

The acrimonious note crept into the campaign when Mr. Fraser denounced a radio speech by Mrs. Parker whom he quoted as saying that he had opposed social security measures and voted against them in the House of Commons. He also said that Mrs. Parker's scriptwriters had interpreted a speech of PC Leader George Drew to mean that Mr. Drew, if elected, would—as Mrs. Parker put it—"cut down on the number of people receiving family allowances."

Rising to the defence of Liberal womanhood Gus Faux the following night said that Mr. Fraser had made unfounded charges and he demanded a public apology.

Mr. Faux said that if Mr. Fraser was a man of honor he would go to the radio station and get a copy of Mrs. Parker's address, find out the facts and then apologize. He said that the address "does not mention anything about George Drew cutting down on the number of people receiving family allowances".

"In view of these false charges, I ask you not to pay any attention to him," Mr. Faux advised his Keene audience Wednesday night.

Mr. Fraser had a quick reply to Mr. Faux when he spoke Thursday night at the Legion Hall. He said he did go to the radio station and while he could not get a full copy of the address by Mrs. Parker he had a page or so of it—enough he felt to disprove Mr. Faux contention that the speaker had never mentioned George Drew cutting family allowances.

On May 7 Mr. Drew spoke in London, Ont., and said: "Given a chance to form the government, we would see that the highest measure of social security which could be afforded by this rich and growing country was provided for those who need it."

According to the script copied by Mr. Fraser here are Mrs. Parker's comments:

"Just think of those words—"for those who need it". It means that Mr. Drew proposes a means test. He wants you to suffer the indignity of having to prove that you really need the money before you get it. In that way, Mr. Drew will cut down the number of people receiving family allowances."

Another extract:

"It's the same with Old Age Security pensions. It is obvious from Mr. Drew's statement here he wants the means test. He wants to go back to the old days . . . when the pensioners had to swear they had no worldly goods and no other source of income. This is the way Mr. Drew is going to save money.

"He says he will cut $500,000,000 off the budget. Well he'll do it alright, but let me warn you that if he is elected, he will save that money by cutting down the number of people who will receive the Family Allowance and the Old Age Pension."

After reading these extracts Mr. Fraser commented: "There it is. I think that proves I was right in quoting Mrs. Parker when I spoke at Lakefield . . . Maybe Mr. Faux ought to read the script."

"The Liberals have no platform; Mr. St. Laurent says they will stand on their record," said Mr. Fraser. "If their record is based on statements like that—then God help the country."

He repeated his Lakefield claim that he had never voted against the passing of any social security measures and he repeated his statement at that meeting that George Drew will press for more and better social security measures.

Guest speaker was Captain the Rev. Norman Rawson of Hamilton, a minister, ex-soldier and longtime Conservative.

He urged the audience to "mark your ballots for the restoration of responsible government in the Dominion of Canada". There must be an end to the "Who's-to-stop-us?" attitude of ministers like the Hon. C. D. Howe.

Mr. Rawson said that from the time of the Sir John A. Macdonald government at the time of Confederation there had been an agreement, both written and unwritten, that controversial matters should not be passed by order in council — particularly when the House of Commons was in session.

The Liberal government has broken that agreement, he charged.

He said that the taxing powers —temporarily taken over as a wartime measure by the federal government—should be returned to the provinces as laid down in the British North America Act.

During the last few years the federal government hasn't even bothered to tell the rank and file of their own members what they intended to do. George Drew would change this, he said.

"If George Drew is elected Prime Minister of Canada you will see the same things repeated in the nation's business that made Ontario the banner province," he said. "If he did it in Ontario he can do it in Canada."

Mr. Rawson was introduced by the Hon. Harold R. Scott and chairman of the meeting was Henry Batten. Mrs. Doreen Thompson of the Peterborough Young PCs spoke briefly and said that the PCs were pledged to bring in a contributary health insurance plan, if elected.

Says Liberal Ad Drew Attention To Attack On SCs

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Thursday night that radio advertising drawing attention to a magazine article attacking Social Credit was paid for by the Liberal party.

"No longer will they settle matters by debate," the Social Credit premier said, "but by new smear tactics."

Premier Bennett said the article he was referring to was published in New Liberty Magazine. Written by Leslie Roberts, it was entitled "Social Credit Means Dictatorship."

The British Columbia premier told 1,700 persons at Georgia auditorium here:

"I won't say it was written by the Liberal party, but advertising on the radio drawing attention to the article was paid for by the Liberal party to a federal advertising agency. And I have proof."

Speaking on Social Credit chances in the election, Mr. Bennett said:

"I believe we will hold the balance of power in the House of Commons. If we have no chance, why are the Liberals so scared of us?

"Our first move will be to demand immediately that income tax exemptions for a single man be raised from $1,000 to $2,000 and for married men from $2,000 to $3,000 with exemptions of $750 per child instead of $150."

St. Laurent Makes Whirlwind Tour Of Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent literally made a whirlwind tour of Montreal Thursday night.

The prime minister, completing political addresses here preparatory to Monday's general election, was whipped the four-odd miles between two addresses in record time.

Sirens of a police escort blaring, the Liberal party cavalcade whizzed through city streets to get the prime minister to his east-end St. James market appearance before the huge throng had a chance to get impatient.

Mr. St. Laurent appeared on the platform at St. James market calm and unruffled.

Not so newspaper men and photographers who gingerly sat on the edge of their seats as an expert bus driver wheeled his heavy vehicle through the narrow lane opened up by the police escort.

After one particularly close call, someone remarked: "This is what you call really living fast!"

Back came the bus driver with: "I'm glad someone is enjoying it."

Mrs. St. Laurent preceded the prime minister to the platform, making her first appearance of the campaign.

Long applause, whistles, yells and banner-waving greeted their arrival and at the first meeting in southwest-end Atwater market, an accordion player struck up: "Vive La Canadienne" in tribute to Mrs. St. Laurent.

"Good Start" By Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower staked out a claim today that his administration has made "a good start" toward building an honest, efficient regime at home while exerting its power in the cause of world peace.

But Eisenhower conceded that his administration has by no means "seen and conquered all the problems of our nation" in its first six months.

In a radio address Thursday night, the President said this was his "single, supreme purpose":

"To serve and to strengthen our people, all our people, in their faith in freedom and in their quest of peace: and to strengthen all peoples who share with us that faith and that quest."

It was a let's-take-a-look-at-the-record address, much of it already said before but brought up to date and keyed to last Monday's adjournment of Congress.

In it, he mentioned an even dozen actions by Congress—on such items as revised programs for defence and aid to allies, admission of refugees, lifting of economic controls, extension of needed if "onerous" taxes.

Overseas, he said, there has been the fostering of western unity, U. S. food shipments for rebellious East Germans, and a Korea truce in which "two precious victories" have been gained:

An opportunity has been won to demonstrate that free people can build in peace as boldly as they fight in war. In an apparent warning to Russia not to start anything elsewhere, he said Korea has shown "that the collective resolve of the free world can and will meet aggression in Asia—or anywhere in the world."

What it all adds up to, Eisenhower said, is "only a little more than a beginning." And it was with caution and concern that he peered into a future he said is still filled with trial and hazard.

For Waste, Extravagance and Mismanagement by this Liberal Government at Ottawa

FOR EXAMPLE:

This government put up over $1,000,000 of your money to enable a private shipbuilding company to build ships for the Chinese, and then in a burst of generosity wrote off $450,000 of this advance. They justified this on the grounds that otherwise the company might have gone bankrupt. Then they gave this same firm a number of cost plus contracts to build ships for the government and have paid this firm $449,000 over and above their guaranteed costs. They write off $450,000 of an advance one day and then turn around and give the same firm a fee of $449,000 the next day and let them keep it all. The 12 ships built are now in the hands of the Communists.

It doesn't take magic to see the taxpayers' money slip down the drain. Easy come — easy go — seems to be this Liberal Government's motto.

In This Neglected Spot

Perhaps in this neglected spot is laid
Some heart once pregnant with celestial fire. . . .

Yet even these bones from insult to protect
Some frail memorial still erected nigh,
With uncouth rhymes and shapeless sculpture decked,
Implore the passing tribute of a sigh.

The churchyard of Stoke Poges in which Thomas Gray wrote his famous elegy was at least recognizable as consecrated ground. Small graveyards in many parts of southern Ontario have been desecrated by neglect and abuse. Stokes Poges fathers may have been unhonoured (before Gray wrote of them) but they were not dishonoured. Here in Ontario last resting places of our forefathers have been disgraced, and, therefore, the pioneers themselves. Unlike Stoke Poges, we have been unmindful of them.

* * *

Abandoned, unkempt and desecrated old cemeteries in southern Ontario are numerous; we have only to investigate this Peterborough area to see the shame.

There is a pioneer Anglican cemetery at Omemee, containing the graves of first settlers and their children, and, it happens, of the lieutenant who carried the King's Colour "the entire of the day" during the Battle of Lundy's Lane in 1812. The cemetery used to be a churchyard, but the old building was replaced, on another site across the road. The cemetery has been closed for about eighty years and neglected for as long. Until two weeks ago, that is. Then the churchwardens sent a bulldozer into the pioneers' burial ground, to level it and the bramble. Some of the tombstones, broken or only chipped, have been stacked along the side of the field; some of the inscriptions are still legible. The rest is rubble. It is a question whether neglect is not preferable to this drastic treatment.

* * *

There is an old Methodist cemetery, within the city boundaries, which has been neglected for half a century; it is a bleak field of broken tombstones, some have recently been knocked down by grass-cutters.

* * *

At Westbrock, Victoria County, is an abandoned cemetery with some formerly handsome memorial stones. Its condition is a disgrace to history and the good name of the district.

* * *

At the junction of the new highway cut-off north of the city, for Buckhorn or Lakefield, are the pitful remains of a family burial ground.

* * *

In Springville there is an old Presbyterian cemetery which is now a rough pasture. The Church of Scotland used to stand there. The 'Wee Frees' seceded, and in the later amalgamation the newer church was used, the old one with its cemetery abandoned. It has been closed for fifty years. Now only gravestones remain, to be discovered only by a searcher wandering among weeds, grass, bramble and cows. Yet there in this small cemetery are the remains of men and women of hardy spirit who first settled the district, 130 years ago, before Peterborough had white inhabitants.

* * *

Is it thus we should treat our forefathers, the men and women whose labour carved this country from the wilds? Is it right to consecrate their ashes with cows, cover them with bramble, and strew them with rubble of their own memorial tablets?

* * *

The neglect of old cemeteries, and even destruction of them, is shameful. Have we no pride in our heritage, no thankfulness for the efforts of our forefathers, no regard for the pioneer farmers, builders, soldiers and home-makers? They may not have been mute inglorious Miltons, or Cromwells guiltless of their country's blood, or even village Hampdens, but they were the stock from which this country was made. Yet all over southern Ontario their graves have been allowed to decay, their cemeteries to fall into ungodly repute. We, their descendants and inheritors, seem intent on speeding their way into total oblivion. Do we want to forget that we had a past? We bulldoze history. But it is not thus that a people finds roots and feels that it has a secure place in its environment. And in dishonouring the hallowed ground of our pioneers we dishonour ourselves; in forgetting them, we desecrate our common humanity.

* * *

The laws relating to the upkeep and decorum of cemeteries are firm and comprehensive. Cemeteries, old or new, cannot be neglected without risk of penalty. Graveyards, open or closed, cannot be abandoned, nor may the bodies, tombstones and monuments be moved, marred, or otherwise interfered with, except as provided by strict regulations and recourse to the courts. If owners of old cemeteries cannot be found, or if they are financially incompetent to care for them, the municipality in which the graveyards are located must assume control. By law, our pioneers cannot be forgotten, abandoned or desecrated in their last resting-place. But by practice, all over the Province, they are treated shamefully.

* * *

Many persons, including the churchwardens of Omemee, are anxious that neglected old cemeteries be put into decent order. The Omemee churchwardens sent in a bulldozer. Another way of dealing with such a cemetery is being demonstrated by people in Asphodel and Otonabee townships. On the boundary between the two townships, on the "Cameron Line", is a family cemetery, the Cameron cemetery. There the first Cameron, John (who came to this country in 1820) is buried. There are buried several generations of Camerons. Of late years the family cemetery had an air of dilapidation; the Cameron schoolhouse beside it has long been closed, and few direct descendants now live on the Cameron line. Those that remain, and relatives and old neighbours of many Camerons, have established a Cemetery Board. The abandoned school-house has been bought by it, to prevent its being used as a house and thus the cemetery as its back-yard. Letters have been sent out soliciting a few dollars each from interested persons. The Cameron cemetery will be maintained in propriety and honour, because the Cameron descendants and neighbours in Otonabee and Asphodel esteem the men and women who were fine pioneers, and who brought the district to rich cultivation.

Getting Out The Vote

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Get-Out-The-Vote campaign. Its slogan as usual is: Vote As You Like, But Vote. It is a good, and unfortunately necessary sort of pressure, for Canadians are lax in using the privilege of their franchise. The number of persons in this country who do not use their ballot is a striking comment on their complacency. In the last Federal elections two million Canadians who had the right to vote did not vote—less than 75 per cent. of the enfranchised citizens assumed the privilege and responsibility of casting their ballots. In Italy last June 93.7 per cent. of the electorate voted. In Britain about 85 per cent. habitually vote.

Besides voting there is the responsibility of knowing how to vote; that is, of studying the issues, the platforms and the candidates, and casting the ballot intelligently. It is not enough just to vote. Vote as you like, but make sure that you know what you like.

A large vote is not always a guarantee of a good vote, or of sound government. Despite the large numbers of Italians who went to the polls in June, they did not elect a government able to govern. In Germany, before the war, too few voters went to the polls—or went intelligently—in 1933 when Hitler was rising to power. Thereafter, too many went to the polls, or voted unintelligently, since Hitler in his heyday secured almost unanimous approval for his measures.

Election Promises

The St. Thomas Times-Journal observes that Canada was never so much a land of promise as it is now during the federal election campaign. We permit ourself to point the remark by recalling that the Conservative candidate in this riding, holding a campaign meeting in one of its villages, took a magician along with him. To demonstrate how the promises would be fulfilled?

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Someone remarked long ago that the problem of Canada is that it has none. Perhaps that is why the election campaign is so quiet.

The Federal Government of the United States now has two million employees. Which goes to show that Ottawa has a growing future.

"Tax cutting is not quite the same thing as sin," says the Montreal Gazette. We are prepared to admit that the Gazette may know something about sin.

Judge Eugene Lafontaine, sitting in St. Jerome, Quebec, is giving speeders through that Laurentian district some shocks to remember. Last week he fined twenty motorists who were found or pleaded guilty to speeding, $50 to $100 each. In addition he suspended their driving licenses for six months. In addition he warned that he is going to give future speeders jail sentences, instead of fines. Hot rod to hot-rodders.

SCOTLAND VISITED

Glasgow And Toronto

By KENNETH HARRIS

WHEN I was in Edinburgh, writing about the Queen's visit to Scotland, I used to stand as often as I could at the western end of Princes Street, and gazes up towards the Castle. Perched high upon the massive rock at the end of the Royal Mile, it loomed over the city like a cloud, the mighty backdrop of the past distracting the eye from where the present is played out on the streets below. This was a great spot at which to meet visitors to Scotland. They came to photograph and stayed to contemplate.

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE, I met a great many American and Commonwealth travellers. They were all enthusiastic about Scotland. Yes, England was great they said, but it had its disadvantages. London, for instance. To take in London, you had to go backwards and forwards across a vast and confusing metropolis — from Hampton Court to the House of Commons, from the Tower to Windsor. But in Scotland, well, there was all the colour and passion of Scottish history crammed into the towers and spires of the Royal Mile.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND EVERYTHING, they said, was so much more intimate, so much more relaxed in Edinburgh than it was in London. Even the Queen's visit had none of the pomp that surrounded the Coronation; everything was smaller, more informal. You could get near her, she mixed with her guests, mingled with the crowds. And Princes Street. Boy! That was a real straight street. Not like those rabbit warrens around Piccadilly and Westminster. Princes Street was nearly as fine an avenue as North Michigan in Chicago, the Mid-West's Golden Mile. England was great, but, as the big Texan wearing the silverbeaver Stetson said to me as he loaded his cine camera: "I guess I really GO for Scotland!"

Apart from the charms of the country, of its beauty, and its romantic history, the people of Scotland, as a people, are, in many ways, more attractive than the English are to our overseas cousins. An American finds the average Glaswegian warmer and more forthright than he finds the average Londoner. The Highlander strikes him as being much more vivacious and companionable than a Wilts. or Dorset man.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOWADAYS, I am told, there are more personal links between Scotland and the English-speaking countries than between them and England. In this century, the bulk of emigration from this country to the U.S.A. and the Commonwealth has been from the over-populated, depressed industrial areas of Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

There are strong ties of trade and finance between Scotland and these countries. (Does this, I wonder, explain the remarkable resemblance between the city centres of Toronto and Glasgow?) In Victorian days, the Tobacco Lords who brought over half of Europe's tobacco supply in their ships sent them back ballasted with Glasgow-manufactured machinery for the factories they were financing in Baltimore and Philadelphia. In the years before World War One, the flow was reversed — Americans began establishing firms around Glasgow. Since 1945, twenty large concerns with headquarters in the United States or Canada, have set up branches in Scotland. Some employ around two thousand hands. Their light engineering products are just what Scotland needs most — and wrist watches, office equipment and any alternative sources of employment which will help diversify Scottish industry, make the Scots less dependent on slump-vulnerable industry for their livelihood.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND, on the other hand, this expansion suits American industrialists. They see that the countries of Europe, running short of dollars, are unable to buy American goods. This would in time cause American export markets to melt away. These markets are now being preserved by sending to them American goods which can be sold for sterling, since the goods are being produced in sterling countries, like Scotland, where the costs of producing them can be paid in sterling.

✧ ✧ ✧

AMERICAN and Commonwealth visitors to Scotland can very soon find themselves breasting, or swimming with, the tide of Scotland's main political current — Scottish nationalism. Two million Scots (Scotland's population is five million; the population of the United Kingdom as a whole is fifty-four million) are said to have signed the Covenant in which they demand a Parliament of their own to administer Scots domestic affairs — instead of having them run from London by an English Parliament in which Scotland is represented on the same basis as the English —numerically. Americans owe their form of government to their great application of the Federation idea — and they owe their nationhood to their Founding Fathers being fed up with being ruled from London.

Scottish nationalism therefore intrigues them, if it does not convince them. Canadians often become interested in the Scottish Nationalist Party, a small group, whose objective is to give Scotland complete Dominion status — like Canada's. The Secretary of this movement, Robert Curran, told me that he had become a member of the Scottish Nationalist Party because he was appalled by the contrast between the poverty and backwardness of Glasgow and the fresh air, drive, and high standard of living which he had known in his boyhood, spent in Northern Ontario. R. E. Muirhead, the leader of another small extremist group — all of them eschew violence of any kind — told me that he became a Scottish nationalist as a result of visiting Uruguay as a young man. "If Uruguay could become independent," he asked himself, "why shouldn't Scotland?" Soon after this he travelled in America and this made a Republican of him into the bargain. At eighty-six, this fine old man breathes the same pure air as Thomas Jefferson did a century and a half ago.

✧ ✧ ✧

I DO NOT think there is a country in Europe where Americans are more welcomed by the inhabitants than they are in Scotland. The admiration which Americans show for Scotland's colour and pageantry appeals to the Scot's pride in Scottish history and his pride in Scottish history is the most Scottish thing about him. Moreover, he enjoys having a visitor who will listen with such alacrity to his complaints about the English. The American, who may have been told several times below the border of how "ruthless" and "inconsiderate" the Americans are in their methods, may relax if not positively purr, when he hears just these words being used to describe English methods. As the level of the Scotch (in the bottle) goes down, the level of Scottish-American understanding goes up. And as the first rays of the sun spread the length of Princes Street, the last secret is unlocked — the only reason why the Americans bother to grant foreign aid, and the Scots to accept it, is because the poor, benighted, stuff-shirt, stiff-necked Sassenach (Scottish for "Limey") couldn't possibly get along without it.

An American Opinion: ALTERNATE BIG FOUR

Letters To The Editor

HER TERRIER KILLED

Sir: I am writing to you, hoping that the hit-and-run driver who killed my little white terrier last Saturday will read this. He was only a "dog," he may say. But to me he was so much more; he was my ears.

I wonder if it had been a child he hit would he have stopped? I doubt it. He knew he had hit him as he looked back and then stepped on the gas. The least he could have done was stop and taken him off the highway.

My hearing is very poor. No one ever got in or rapped but he let me know. There will be many a rap now I will not hear. And he will not be here to greet my only son who is in the Air Force. He was everyone's friend. And although we have no small children, he was never happier than when he was near them. Yes, he was only a "dog." But a very wise one; more intelligent than the coward who drove away leaving him on the road.

Yours sincerely,
MRS. HENRY.

Hastings.

GAME AND SKIRT

Sir: As a supplement to the above reference (the article of July 25th, p. 5, "Cricket before the Duke") the following may amuse the author of the article and some of your readers.

It is from the "Katchewanooka Herald", a hand-written paper, of which the editor was a talented young English boy, brought out from his home at Stradbrooke, Suffolk, England, as a "Farm Student" by Samuel Strickland. His name was Thomas Balguey Allen. By his own account T. B. Allen was about 17 years of age when he wrote this:—

"June 25th, 1855. Cricket. We understand that a grand Cricket Match will come off on the 26th of this month betwen the Metcalf and Peterborough Clubs assisted by some of our Douro players. We are sure that it will be well attended by all lovers of that noble game."

Then follows by the same writer on same date:—

"Mr. Editor: Allow me through the medium of your valuable paper to propose a slight alteration in the present way of cricket in the evenings. At present we go down about seven o'clock when the oldsters go in, which is undoubtedly right by the rule of 'Seniores Priores.' They stay in till about eight, when it is too dark for playing, then they say, 'Oh, let the others go in.' So as they cannot see well themselves they kindly allow the youngsters to go in. For what? Not to play, for it is too dark to see the ball, but to be bowled at! Now as these were fagging out all the evening for the elders I do not thing it is quite fair they should be shuffled off in this manner. What I propose is this: Let everyone have Ten balls whether he is out or not as then all will have the same chance. Hoping this may be looked to. I remain sir,

Your obedient servant,
A Lover of the Game (A youngster)."

Copying T. B. Allen's admirable style, "Allow me through the medium of your valuable paper" to correct Nick Nickels in his account of the reception of the Bishop by Mrs. Laurie Grahame. It wasn't "a long flowing" dress she had on but the very tightly fitting hobble skirt fashionable at that time (probably the cause of the mishap). When finally hauled out on the wharf she looked like a mermaid—especially as these dresses had a small tail, like the tail of a fish—which was perhaps appropriate to the setting.

Yours truly,
G. M. D.

Lakefield.

Bartlett's Sketch-Book

THE Sigmund Samuel Gallery, 14 Queen's Park Crescent, west, Toronto, is a detached gallery of the Royal Ontario Museum of Achaeology devoted to pictures, maps and charts of Canadian interest. Both building and contents are the gift of Dr. Sigmund Samuel, and in the two years it has been open it has been visited by a steady stream of people interested in the making of Canada. The collection is a very large one, and is shown as a series of exhibitions changed three times yearly. The present exhibition, Quebec and Montreal a Century ago, and the Sketch-Book of W. H. Bartlett in Canada, 1838, will remain until September.

One of the latest additions to the collection is an original volume of Samuel de Champlain's travels and explorations in Canada, published in 1632. Four important and rare oil paintings by W. H. Bartlett, showing Montreal and Quebec in 1840, were received just in time for the present exhibition. Together with the Bartlett sketchbook, which has never been exhibited in detail before, they form a remarkable group of this famous artist's pictures. This exhibition also includes all the famous sets of prints of Montreal and Quebec published between 1830 and 1840, which have become very rare in complete sets. The Sigmund Samuel collection is now the largest collection of Canadiana fully available to the public, and it is hoped that as large a number of people as possible will take advantage of its facilities for studying the history of Canada. Visitors to the Gallery should also see the collections of Quebec and Ontario furniture and silver in the main building of the Museum.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?

Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work. As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with clay, and said unto him, Go wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by interpretation, Sent). He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing . . .

But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and received his sight, until they called the parents of him that had received his sight . . .

His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind . . .

Then again called they the man that was blind, and said unto him, Give God the praise: we know that this man is a sinner. He answered and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not: one thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see . . . If this man were not of God, he could do nothing. (John 9: 1-7, 18, 20, 24, 25, 33.)

Tax Reduction A Major Issue

(Montreal Star)

During the next two weeks the electors are likely to hear more and more about tax reductions. It is the one campaign issue that has any popular appeal at all, yet it is the issue about which the voter is least likely to be fully enlightened. He will be wise to study all the available data before casting a vote on the basis of undocumented promises.

The difficulty consists in the paucity of specific data, the impossibility of showing just where the tax cut money is to come from. Mr. Drew offered further explanations in his broadcast speech Monday night. He still pledges tax reductions amounting to $500,000,000. Of this $400,000,000 is to be taken off by raising basic exemptions from $2,000 to $3,000 for married men and from $1,000 to $1,500 for single men. The remaining $100,000,000 would be met by reductions in indirect taxes.

This is the method to be followed if the Conservatives are returned to power. It has the campaign merit of simplicity, but what will puzzle the elector, as it puzzles anyone trying to work out the merits of this issue, is just where the money is to be found. Mr. Drew offers no further detail on this score: presumably $300,000,000 is to come from surpluses and the remaining $200,000,000 from savings in defence expenditures by the elimination of the waste and extravagance Mr. Drew declares exist.

The Liberal answer to all this is that it just can't be done. Mr. Abbott says that there are no longer any surpluses; he has budgeted for a balance. In Vancouver Monday night Mr. Howe said there should be an immediate lessening of expenditures for ammunition — a relatively minor amount — and some lowering of defence expenditures later. Where Mr. Drew speaks of immediate defence reductions, Mr. Howe uses the phrase "within three or four years."

For the elector, none of this documents the issue in terms of specific amounts. Tax reductions by way of increased income tax exemptions are a pleasant prospect, but we should be by no means certain, on the basis of the data now available, that they can be brought about. Both sides, then, should deal more fully with this issue in the remaining days of the campaign.

Ravaged South Korea Needs Millions For Reconstruction

The war in Korea has left the Republic of South Korea with a gigantic reconstruction job. The extent of the colossal destruction is illustrated in these pictures. President Eisenhower has asked U.S. Congress for $200,000,000 to start the country on the road to recovery. If Congress grants the request, this money and other aid is dependent upon President Syngman Rhee's good faith and continued co-operation with the truce. President Eisenhower said the cost of rebuilding Korea would be cheap compared with the cost of military operations. The bill for the hot war came to about $5,000,000,000 annually. In many cases cities have been destroyed, factories and rail lines demolished and transportation at a standstill. Besides the physical reconstruction of the country, medical supplies and other aid will have to be sent to rehabilitate the people, ill-clothed, ill-housed and undernourished after years of war.

1,000,000 civilians dead out of a population of 29,290,000.

Factories levelled, transportation and other services stopped.

Property damage to cities and homes more than $1,000,000,000.

2,500,000 homeless, many of them refugees from North Korea.

5,000,000 persons need relief either in part or whole to live.

Austins Ordered For Delivery To Red China

By WILLIAM J. HUMPHREYS
(Special to The Examiner)

LONDON — The Austin Motor Company, Ltd., which has a £500,000 ($1,400,000) contract with the United Nations to supply vehicles for Korean reconstruction, also has a trade agreement with Communist China for delivery of similar transportation equipment.

According to a company spokesman, an Austin representative recently has concluded "a contract as good as signed" with Mao Tse-tung's government for "a number of light vehicles."

Asked to specify the number and their value, the spokesman said he had "no down-to-earth details" thus far. He said, "this Peking thing is a little newer than the UN order, which has been waiting for some time on the Korean truce."

Like other UN powers, which have fought Communist aggression in Korea, Great Britain has an embargo on delivery of all strategic materials to Red China, and all kinds of transportation equipment are included on the list.

Government officials have stated there is no intention to relax these controls as long as tension exists in the Far East and fighting continues in French Indo-China.

When the company spokesman was asked whether he thought the restrictions might soon be relaxed on the export of motor vehicles he referred to the British council for the promotion of international trade, an unofficial body headed by Lord Boyd-Orr.

It was the council which sponsored the recent trip of several representatives of well-known British manufacturing firms to China, although the government announced in the House of Commons at the time that it did not consider the moment opportune for trade parleys at any level with Peking.

At the council's office here a spokesman pointed out the British trade delegation had concluded "several contracts in the intelligent anticipation of a faster flowing trade with China." At a council press conference last Wednesday, it was announced that "light engineering equipment" was part of the £15,000,000 ($42,000,000) deal in British exports which the delegations had worked out with China.

Two days previously the Austin headquarters had revealed it had received a UN order worth about £500,000 for commercial vehicles to be used in the reconstruction of Korea. It added that deliveries of nearly 600 vehicles already had started to the UN Korean Reconstruction Agency.

Court Like Store As Pair Tried

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A father and son, who police think were hungry, were accused of theft Thursday in a city court that resembled a grocery store.

On display was a 100-pound bag of sugar, a case of chicken soup, a carton of pickles, a case of evaporated milk and two cartons of shrimp.

Harold L. Grayson, the father, and Harold C. Grayson, both employed formerly by Elliott Marr Co. Ltd., wholesale grocers, were accused on separate charges of theft of the goods. They denied them.

Evidence was that the father had unloaded the groceries into a car with the help of his son. The same day he was fired from his truck driving job with the wholesale grocery.

Harold Sr., said he had taken the groceries from a truck so that they would be secure because he feared he could not complete delivery by supper time.

The trial is continuing.

Catch 10 Gypsies Crossing Border

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Immigration officers at Buffalo, N. Y., said today they have caught 10 gypsies from Canada trying to enter the United States on false birth certificates.

They said the 10 were taken back to the Canadian border, where they were released. no charges were laid.

A migration of Gypsies from Canada to the United States takes place annually at this time, officers said, but this year more were crossing than usual. They blamed the increase on crackdowns by police in Toronto and Montreal on establishments where gypsies make their livings—by fortune-telling and selling ceramics.

Petes Clinch Top OLA Place Beating St. Kitts 16-8 As Hildebrand Counts Seven

Doubling the score on St. Catharines Athletics here last night in a 16-8 OLA senior "A" fixture before nearly 3,000 fans, the Petes' Trailermen clinched first place in the group standing with the schedule ending this week. In 29 games played (they meet Hamilton here tonight in the final scheduled tilt) the Thorpe crew amassed 48 points, St. Kitts having but 44 and just one more game to play. It will be Petes vs. Orillia Yorks in semi-finals next week as St. Catharines tangle with Fergus in the other four-of-seven set, both series being expected to open Monday, the Petes having the first home playoff game. Reserved seat tickets are now on sale here, and season ticket-holders have till noon of the day of the game to pick up their tickets.

PETES KEPT PACE

Thursday's tussle was fairly fast with Trailermen keeping full pace with the speedy Saints, the latter being minus a few regulars. The visitors made it close in every period till they faded before classy driving by the Petes in the fourth. It was 5-3 for the homesters in the first frame, and they just edged Saints 5-4 next heat for a 10-7 halftime bulge. They had a 2-1 margin in the third to make it 12-8 going into the one-sided fourth when Petes rapped in four without a return.

Play was quite clean for three chukkers, but roughened up some in the fourth. Jerry Fitzgerald and Derry Davies tangled briefly and drew major penalties, and a few minor scraps threatened. The Petes got six of the nine penalties and managed to score a couple when a man short. The visitors took chances by using a floater for quick breakaways, but seldom could beat Goalie Moon Wootton even then. Doug Favell also turned aside some hot rubber in the other net.

IKE GOT SEVEN

Star of the game was tricky Ike Hildebrand of the Trailermen as he dipsy-doodled in for no less than seven neat goals. Rusty Slater was wily, too, to rap in three and Ross Powless and Don Ashbee each clicked for a pair. Curly Mason and Bob Thorpe were good for a goal each. High in assists was Nipper O'Hearn with heady work to figure in on four markers. Ashbee helped on two, and Powless, Thorpe, Rog Smith and Dootch Vitarelli one each. Harry Wipper returned to action but was used sparingly as he works back into condition.

Leading the losers on the attack were Jimmy Bradshaw, big Ham Nelson and Jim McMahon with a brace each, Davies and Norm Corcoran lighting the lamp once each. Single assists went to Nelson, McMahon, Corcoran, Fred Martin and Ted Howe. Teams:

St. Catharines: Goal, Favell; defence, Martin and Davies; centre, Corcoran; wings, Bradshaw and Saliken; alternates, Nelson, D. Frick, McMahon, Howe, Teal and Baldwin.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, O'Hearn and Thorpe; centre, Hildebrand; wings, Vitarelli and Ashbee; alternates, Fitzgerald, Wipper, Mason, Slater, Powless, Smith, Nickle and G. Robinson.

Referees, L. Vipond and P. Bain.

Marlene Has 6-Stroke Lead In First Round At London

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Marlene Stewart, nervous as a kitten on the golf course and known affectionately to Canada's sport world as "Little Ben" and "Junior" can take it easy.

The sensation of the links around the country since she came up from the caddy ranks six years ago, the Fonthill whiz kid with the smooth-stroking shots powered her way Thursday to a six-stroke lead in the opening round of the 54-hole Canadian women's close golf championship And the margin should be more than enough to give her the title for the third straight year.

Grim and tight-lipped, Marlene shredded women's par with a terrific 71, five under the women's regulation figure and one below men's for the sunningdale Golf Club course. Closest to her at the end of 18 was Mary Gay from the Westmount club of Kitchener with a one-over-par 77.

"TERRIFIC"

"Terrific, that's the only word for it," said Jim Windsor, Sunningdale pro, after Marlene's score went up.

Windsor's words were echoed by the large gallery which followed the 19-year-old Fonthill miss who stunned the sports world a few weeks ago by winning the British Open title—the first Canadian woman to win a national championship outside Canada.

Her tee shots were deadly and there was plenty of bite in her approach shots giving her easy putts.

At that, Marlene was a bit unlucky. She had an almost-perfect set-up for an eagle three on the 405-yard first hole, but missed a "cinch" two-foot putt for a birdie.

"Missing that putt relaxed me and I'm sort of glad I flubbed it," she said afterwards.

THREE MORE BIRDIES

She added three more birdies on the outgoing nine to post a 33. She missed a three-foot putt on the third and a two-footer on the 18th.

Marlene's round was all the more remarkable in that it was the lowest competitive score posted by the brown-haired youngster and the lowest in the 27-year-old history of the tournament. It was also the first time women's par has been broken at the 5,998-yard Sunningdale course.

All in all, it was a big Ontario day. The Ontario four-member interprovincial team jumped into a 15-stroke lead in the opening round of the 36-hole competition and a Sunningdale member, Mrs. Grace Reeves, scored a hole-in-one, the first time in the history of the tournament. Mrs. Reeves "almost died" when she saw her three-iron tee shot on the 142-yard par-three fifth hole plunk into the cup.

Ontario's interprovincial team posted a gross score of 320 against 335 for Manitoba, 339 for British Columbia and Saskatchewan, 344 for Quebec and a booming 367 for the Maritimes. Ontario, defending champion, should wrap it up today.

Individual scores of the Ontario squad were: Mrs. J. B. Seawright, Toronto, 73; Anne Sharp, Fonthill, 80; Shirley Woodley, Toronto, 80, and Mrs. J. H. McCarter, Toronto, 81.

Miss Stewart is after her third straight Close title, something never accomplished before, and it would be a major upset if Little Ben didn't make it.

DOUBLE RHUBARB—A fight erupted in the sixth inning of the Los Angeles club's game at Hollywood's Gilmore Stadium, when Frank Kelleher charged Pitcher Joe Hatten of the Angels and knocked him down, claiming he was dusted. Outfielder Kelleher was ejected after flooring two others. Hostilities started anew in the same round when Ted Beard of the Stars stole his 23rd base of the year, sliding into third with his spikes high. Outfielder Beard, 26, is down and out.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Some umpires have a quiet sense of humor which helps 'em over the rough spots. They tell of the time Bill Klem was umping as Paul Derringer threw Kiki Cuyler a wide sidearm curve by way of third base. Cuyler fell down on the theory it was going to hit him. Hearing Klem call "Strike two," he leaped up, demanding: "You don't mean to say the ball got a piece of the plate?" Klem replied blandly: "It fooled me, too, young man, but I'm still standing." Another time, Gilly Campbell stepped out of the box on a called strike and said to Klem: "That pitch was two feet outside." Bill lifted his mask and remarked sternly: "For your information, sir, I have made quite a study of this pitcher and I can assure you he hasn't been a foot away from the plate in 15 years."

Jim Driscoll was the winning hurler 'gainst Howie Dalton. Fielding wasn't up to par in the second scrap. Prexy Bob Batley says in future the games must go to a decision.

The Moon shone in goal again. A clean tilt till near the close, and the Petes showed they could run with the speedy Saints and head home in front.

BATTS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK (AP)—Matt Batts, first string catcher for Detroit Tigers, was suspended indefinitely by president Will Harridge of the American League Thursday for failure to pay the $100 fine levied against him two weeks ago.

Batts was fined for fighting with Billy Martin, New York Yankee infielder, at Detroit. Batts said he had mailed the cheque.

7-Horse Field Named For Cup

TORONTO (CP)—A seven-horse field was named Thursday to contest the $7,500 Canadian Cup at Thorncliffe Raceway today in Canada's richest harness horse race.

One last-minute scratch reduced the field when Bobby Herbert, crack four-year-old owned by Bill Herbert of London, was sidelined by lameness.

The entrants, with post positions and owners:

1. Carrol Hanover, William Mountain of Hamilton.
2. Merry England, Dr. J. S. Ferguson of Chatham.
3. Ann Pointer, D. Holmes of Milton.
4. Argyel Grattan, Dunc Campbell of Ailsa Craig.
5. Princess Betty G, J. J. Smith of Orangeville.
6. Queen the Great Jr., Ellis Dell of Becker.
7. Daisy P. Grattan, owned by William Woods of Chesley.

Argyel Grattan, a prohibitive favorite who has won 18 of 19 races this year, has been barred from the betting by the management.

Kawartha Tennis

The final standing in the Kawartha Tennis League is:

	W	L	PC
Kawartha	37	19	.661

Lindsay	20	36	.357
Bowmanville	19	37	.339

For the Morrow Trophy, held now by Kawartha Club, the latter meets Lindsay at Kawartha courts in one semi-final while Quaker plays Port Hope at Quaker in the other, both on Aug. 9. These series consist of seven matches, the winner playing home-and-home finals in 14 matches.

Two New Clubs Enter Jr. A With Cash Vows

TORONTO (CP)—Two new clubs entered the select Ontario Hockey Association family Thursday, one riding in on a glittering bundle of cash and the other clutching five promissory notes.

Quebec Citadelles, ousted from the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association last spring, were welcomed into the OHA Junior A setup when they posted a total of $45,000 in guarantees to behave. Windsor, Ont. was promised a berth in the Senior A circuit if the five clubs which Thursday nodded in approval agree to back the verbal agreement on the dotted line.

Quebec posted a $25,000 bond as a guarantee that it would finish out the schedule. In addition the Citadelles will pay OHA clubs $1,000 each time the Ontario boys venture into the province—twice each season—and add another $1,000 for each of the three games played there by OHA teams.

BANNED

The Citadelles dropped out of JAHA play last year during a playoff dispute and were banned from participating in further Quebec play. They were allowed to compete in the Memorial Cup semi-finals, but fell before the Memorial Cup champion Barrie Flyers.

The Windsor application came from William Butcher, president of the Windsor Arena, which up until now has operated the ill-fated Windsor Spitfires of the OHA Junior circuit.

Five of the eight OHA senior clubs said they favored a Windsor entry for the 1953-54 season. They are Hamilton, Chatham, Owen Sound, Sarnia and Kitchener. Niagara Falls is also reported to want Windsor in.

However, they must back today's approval in writing and submit it to OHA headquarters before Windsor can really count itself in.

It is understood that both Brantford and Stratford oppose the Windsor entry.

Today, the National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association get together for talks.

The question of the Quebec junior circuit, still suspended by the CAHA for refusing to accept the Citadelles back into their fold, is top priority today. However, the JAHA is still bitter over Quebec's move.

Australia Trails Warwickshire

LONDON (Reuters)—Australia's cricketers fought an uphill battle against Warwickshire at Birmingham Thursday, and at the close of the second day's play were 162 for five in reply to Warwickshire's declared total of 270 for eight.

Lindsay Hassett (60) and Colin McDonald (46) were responsible for an Australian opening stand of 104 runs. Eric Hollies broke the stand by catching Hassett.

Final scores in Thursday's first-class matches:

Warwickshire 270 for eight declared, Australian Tourists 162 for five.

Surrey 284 and 75 for one, Hampshire 172

Leicestershire 251, Yorkshire 255 for eight

Somerset 458 for eight declared, Glamorgan 299 for seven.

Middlesex 216 for nine declared and 158 for five, Kent 129.

Gloucestershire 269 and 108 for four, Northamptonshire 163.

Derbyshire 368 for seven declared, Sussex 127 and 194 for six.

Nottinghamshire 361 for eight declared, Lancashire 345.

Seixas Beats Shea, Gains Quarter-Finals

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia experienced some anxious moments Thursday but came from behind to defeat Gil Shea of Presidio, Calif., 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, and gain the quarter-final round of the eastern grass courts tennis championship.

The bracket was filled when Noel Brown of Los Angeles upset Australia's Mervyn Rose 6-3, 6-4; Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., turned back Ian Ayre of Australia 3-6, 8-6, 6-2, and Rex Hartwig of Australia eliminated Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

The defeat of Rose was the main upset of the tournament so far.

Seabrooke's Take A Lead Over UE In Playoffs After First Contest Tied

Dynamic action at the East City Bowl Thursday night featured the opening of semi-finals for the Taylor Trophy, emblematic of the men's senior city softball championship, played before a good crowd. The twin duels pitted Bill Sullivan's colorful Seabrooke Motors against Tom Walton's stalwart UEW squad, with the East City men gaining a one-game edge by virtue of a 13-4 win in the nightcap after the first contest ended in a 6-6 deadlock.

Though nine innings ended at the curfew, league president Batley announced that future playoff games must be played to a decision, weather permitting.

Lefty Doris, slim, silent Seabrooke portsider, toed the rubber for the Sullivan band in the curtain-raiser opposing stout-hearted Jack Crowley with honors about even from a statistical standpoint. Each hurler went the route, the former yielding 11 hits and the latter 10. Each walked four but the latter struck out four against none for his rival.

TWO HOMERS

The bats of George Sullivan and Bernie Robson swung with telling effect for their respective teams, as the former lofted two mighty homers to drive in four runs, while the latter's long triple in the ninth for his third hit, drove home Leether with the tying run to climax a sizzling struggle. Earlier, however, the bats of Howie Dalton and Reg Leether smote with telling effect for the Union men, as each drove in a pair of markers. Jake Jaquith and Leether each homered, the latter having a great night with three for field and a fine showing afield.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle throughout, studded with some neat fielding and Spinner Spencer's great running catch off Conlin in the eighth was a gem. Both infields looked neat in the opener.

The afterpiece pitted the veteran Howie Dalton against Jimmy Driscoll, and youth prevailed here, as the diminutive Driscoll twirled a particularly fine game to overshadow his illustrious but off-color rival.

PITCHES WELL

Driscoll scattered nine hits, struck out one and walked four, and proved effective in the pinches. He allowed no runs till the sixth. Meanwhile his mates, led by Red Sullivan with a homer and two rousing triples; Neil Thompson, who had his best night of the year both at bat and afield, and Speed Currie piled up a good margin, to ensure almost certain victory.

The Walton men kept battling however, and scored four in the next three frames; but the Motor men came back with six to put the game safe. In the RBI department, Sullivan led with five, Currie accounted for two, while Wyatt, Herb Heffernan, Blair Thomson and Leether hammered in singles.

Jim Driscoll homered to deep centre in the seventh and circled the sacks like a plucked chicken, to add an extra feature. Fielding honors were shared by Neil Thompson, who scintillated at short and Sullivan who fielded without a bobble, also Jack White who nabbed Jaquith's drive in the fifth. Fielding, however, from a team standpoint, faltered somewhat on both teams in this second battle.

The series continues Saturday night (best-of-seven) with a twin bill.

Yanks Have Solid Chance To Wrap Up Fifth Pennant

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Mathematicians to the contrary, New York Yankees have an opportunity this weekend to wrap up their fifth-straight American League pennant. The figure jilberts can show you this is not so, that no matter what happens in the Yanks' four games with Chicago White Sox starting today, all eight teams in the league still will remain potential flag winners.

But if the Yankees should win all four, those fellows with the figures are going to have a hard time convincing many folks that the race isn't over.

New York led Chicago by five games going into today's contest. Following Saturday's doubleheader and a single game Sunday, the Yankees will have 46 games left. The White Sox will have 44.

BEAT TIGERS 5-2

The Yankees defeated Detroit 5-2 Thursday without much effort while the White Sox rallied for five runs in the eighth to edge Philadelphia 6-4. Chicago has won eight out of 10 on its eastern road trip; the Yankees have taken seven of nine on their current home stand.

Milwaukee kept alive its fleeting pennant hopes in the National League with a split against first-place Brooklyn. The Dodgers took the first game 4-3 on Pee Wee Reese's bases-loaded single in the 11th inning. Milwaukee won the nightcap 3-2 on a triple by Harry Hanebrink that drove in all three runs in the ninth inning. There were two men out and the Braves had been trailing 2-0.

SPAHN LOSES ONE

Warren Saphn, who has not beaten Brooklyn in two seasons, blew an early lead in the first game, was saved temporarily when Del Crandall tied the score with a home run in the eighth, and then lost as Billy Cox and Carl Erskine singled and Junior Gilliam walked prior to Reese's single.

In other National League action Harvey Haddix of St. Louis Cardinals had a no-hitter going for eight innings before Philadelphia nicked him for a pair of singles in the ninth. He escaped with a 2-0 shutout, his 14th victory of the year. New York broke a six-game losing streak at the expense of Chicago 12-6 and Pittsburgh won its third in a row from Cincinnati 4-3.

TED HITLESS

Ted Williams returned to Boston Red Sox as a futile pinch hitter as the Sox bowed to St. Louis 8-7 in 10 innings. Bobby Young homered in the 10th. Williams, batting with two on and one out in the ninth, popped out.

Washington dumped Cleveland 4-1, Frank Shea winning his ninth game. Jackie Jensen collected three singles as Bobby Feller suffered his sixth loss.

The Giants came out of their slump with an eight-run eighth inning that featured three-run home runs by Monte Irvin and Al Dark.

Cockell To Meet Harry Matthews

SEATTLE (AP)—Don Cockell, the wade-in-and-swing fighter from London, will meet the veteran Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle tonight in his first fistic test since he won the British Empire heavyweight title.

Nothing will be at stake in the 10-round battle but prestige. Cockell's crown is not being risked and a victory for Matthews would make him champion only of Don Cockell.

However, both camps look upon this as an important fight. Cockell wants to prove his championship is worth world-wide attention and he'd like to be near the head of the list of challengers for the world heavyweight diadem.

Victory for Matthews could re-establish him as a title contender; defeat might mean oblivion. His prestige suffered a serious blow when he was whipped last year by Rocky Marciano, before the latter won the title from Joe Walcott.

The fighters were to weigh in at noon today, with Matthews expecting to give away about 28 pounds. Harry the Kid usually reaches ringside weighing about 182; Cockell carries about 210 pounds.

Williams Misses In Pinch-Hit Bid

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams, the last of th .400-hitters, is back in competitive action and most likely will be Boston Red Sox' starting left fielder again in about two weeks.

Williams went to bat for the first time since April 30, 1952 in a crucial pinch-hitting situation during Thursday's game with St. Louis Browns.

With the Red Sox trailing 6-7 in the ninth with runners on third and first with one out, manager Lou Boudreau told Williams: "Ted, I've got to use you now."

Thereupon Williams batted for rookie outfielder Tom Umphlett and lofted relief pitcher Marlin Stuart's fourth pitch to first baseman Dick Kryhoski.

Stuart's first pitch to Williams was a strike and the next a ball. Williams then brought the 6,792 spectators to their feet by lashing a foul into the right field stand.

After Williams returned to the dugout, Jim Piersall singled in the tying run. But Bob Young homered the Browns into an 8-7 victory in the 10th.

Syracuse Hurler's No-Hitter Best Of IL Play

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harry (Duke) Markell's no-hitter and rightfielder Tom Burgess' three homers topped International League performances Thursday night.

Syracuse's Markell turned in the first no-hit masterpiece of the current league campaign, but his wildness and tardy fielding play spoiled his shutout bid as the Chiefs defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1 in the seven-inning opener of a twin bill at Syracuse. Toronto took the second game 3-0.

Burgess' three circuit clouts at Montreal enabled Rochester Red Wings to defeat the pace-setting feat accomplished once before this season and at the same park.

HITS THREE HOMERS

Montreal first baseman Rocky Nelson whacked three of the big blasts June 22 as the Royals drubbed Syracuse 21-5. Burgess drove in six runs.

In hurling his masterpiece, Markell gave up seven bases on balls and three of them led to Toronto's lone twilight-game run. His record now stands at 11-9.

The Leafs won the nightcap behind the one-hit pitching of little Vic Lombardi and Don Johnson. For a time it looked as if Lombardi also was headed for a no-hitter. He was struck by a batted ball after 6 1-3 innings and forced to leave the game. Lombardi and Johnson fanned eight and walked none.

FIVE FOR FIVE

At Montreal, besides Burgess' three homers that ran his total for the year to 16, he collected two singles giving him a perfect night at the plate. Merv Benson whacked his first round-tripper of the season for the Wings.

Springfield Cubs turned the tables on the Bisons at Buffalo, defeating them 5-3. Former Bison Hal Daugherty hit a home run in the second and rapped a triple as a key blow in Springfield's ninth-inning winning spurt.

At Ottawa, Jack Sanford allowed only eight scattered hits to lead Baltimore Orioles to an 8-3 triumph over the Athletics. Sanford twirled his 12th win against eight losses.

Won't Use "Truth Serum" On Former Kitchener Man

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles sheriff's officers Thursday turned down a Milwaukee authority's suggestion that they question Gordon E. Weber, formerly of Kitchener and Hamilton, Ont., under truth serum about his claim of killing his father-in-law in the Wisconsin city.

"It is not our policy to use a drug of that nature," said sheriff's Capt. Vic England. "We would do it only in an exceptional case where the man involved gave his consent."

Capt. England said he saw no further need of questioning Weber who "has been very co-operative and says he has no intention of fighting extradition (to Milwaukee)."

William J. McCauley, Milwaukee county district attorney, made the suggestion, saying that he wanted certain statements checked before seeking to extradite Weber, 40, for the death of Adolph Maier, 69, four years ago.

Meanwhile, Weber's wife asked Richard Cantillon, leading criminal lawyer, to become her husband's counsel. Cantillon said he would interview Weber, held in jail on suspicion of murder.

Weber, an accountant born in Kitchener and who told police he was for a time a steel worker in Hamilton, has told officers that Maier was killed as the result of a scuffle between the two in a Milwaukee railway station.

He said that later he cremated the elder man's body on a city dump. A month ago, he said, he returned to Wisconsin, exhumed the remains and buried them in a nearby woods.

Weber's wife, Muriel, wept as she visited him in his cell.

"My husband never killed my father," she told officers. "He's faking. I'm sure he's shielding quite a number of people."

Tidy Lindsay Tilt

LINDSAY —(ENS)— Duke Daynes pitched two-hit ball last night to lead Carruthers to a 1-0 win over the league-leading Combines in the best game played in the Lindsay men's softball league this season. Daynes received great support from his mates afield, as Jack Kean, Combines' pitcher, held them to five singles, in losing the game.

The winning run was scored in the last of the ninth when, after purposely walking Woodie Ritchie to load the bases with one out, Kean pitched to Cec. Reynolds, whose bouncer was bobbled by Bobby Growden at second, allowing the run to score.

Best for the winners were Harold Williams, Ken Schinkle, Jack Graham and Wimp Parker. Pete Carveth, Harry England and Don Richmond went well for the losers.

Boy, 9, Killed By Car

BRAMPTON (CP) — Edward Turza, 9, was fatally injured Thursday when struck by a car in front of his home on No. 7 highway. He was taken to hospital in Brampton where it was decided to take him to Toronto for a brain operation. He died on the way.

Plane Crashes, Pilot OK

CENTRALIA (CP)—A Harvard training plane from RCAF station, Centralia, on a routine training flight, made a forced landing Thursday five miles south of Centralia just off No. 4 Highway. Cause was engine failure. Flt.-Lt. K. R. Stacey, the pilot, walked away uninjured.

3-Hour Match Features Tennis

TORONTO (CP) — A thrilling three-hour marathon between Dawn Macdonald of Cornwall and Ruth Trickery of Toronto highlighted Thursday's play of the Ontario junior lawn tennis championships.

Miss Macdonald finally came through against the Toronto lass 7-3, 3-6, 7-4, to advance into today's singles semi-finals.

Jerry Hayward of Toronto defeated Keith Bonnyman of Wallace 8-6, 6-4 in men's singles play while Toronto's Pat Watt downed Patricia Brealy of Belleville 6-3, 6-8, 6-4 in the ladies' singles.

Dick Kalil, a 15-year-old standout from Cornwall, bested Harry Hall of Toronto 7-5 in the first set of a men's singles match after overcoming Hall's 5-1 lead. However, Hall came back to take the match 3-7, 6-1, 6-1.

In delayed second-round matches Peter Barnard of Oakville and Harry Hall of Toronto both advanced into the next round. Barnard whipped Alex Kalil of Cornwall 6-2, 6-2; Hall eliminated Doug Middleton of Toronto 6-2, 6-1.

Officer Candidate, Cadet Share Top Shooting Honors

LONG BRANCH, Ont. (CP)—An officer candidate and a high school cadet shared top honors Thursday in closing matches of the 22nd annual Ontario Rifle Association shoot.

Officer Candidate C. O. James of the Royal Canadian School of Infantry, Camp Borden, won the Lieutenant-Governor's match and Silver Medal, the top prestige competition of the four-day meet, while Cadet R. M. Crossan of Hamilton Westdale Collegiate walked off with the Mercer and Ottawa Aggregate and the Capt. Guy F. Mackenzie Memorial Aggregate as Ontario's best shot.

The 18-year-old Hamilton high schooler, competing as a senior, came up with a 563 out of a 580 possible in the Mercer and Ottawa matches and notched 298 out of 300 in the Mackenzie. By winning the Ottawa Aggregate, he will get financial assistance ensuring his presence at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches next week in Ottawa.

In 1952, Crossan won the Wakefield Cup at the DCRA meet as the best rifle shot competing there.

Officer Candidate James came up with a 149 out of a 150 possible in the classy Lieutenant-Governor's match, clicking for 29 bullseyes in 30 shots at 300 and 600 yards. He also shot a 558 in the Mercer and Ottawa Aggregates, tying for third place in those matches.

Maj. W. R. Hampton of the Royal Canadian School of Infantry Camp Borden, posted a 559 in the Mercer and Ottawa Aggregates while Lieut. W. V. Hall of Camp Borden tied with James for third with 558. S. Sgt. G. B. Kay of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry and Sgt. F. Wallace of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, were fourth with 553 each.

Sub-Lt. T. F. Baines, RCNR, Halifax, was tops in the Visitors' Aggregate with a 553, Maj. W. H. Wood, Canadian Scottish Regiment, Victoria, coming second with a 509.

The O'Keefe Tyro Aggregate Trophy was won by Sqdn. Ldr. P. S. Shepherd of the RCAF, Camp Borden, whose score was 577. Cadets P. D. F. Ford and D. R. Smith of Hamilton Westdale followed with 573 each.

Lieut. Hall, Sgt. Wallace and Cpl. N. R. Nicol of the 48th Highlanders posted scores of 147 in the Lieutenant-Governor's match to finish two off the pace set by James. This match carries the same prestige as the Governor-General's at the DCRA and the Queen's Prize at Bisley.

Sqdn. Ldr. Shepherd also won the Tait-Brassey title with a 33 and Major Hampton took the Duke of Cornwall and York event with a 38 in a shoot-off to break a tie.

Capt. J. G. Kirk of the 21st Anti-Tank Regiment, Listowel, potted five bulls in a shoot-off for the City of Toronto title, defeating Crossan for the match title.

The Camp Borden Rifle Association won two team events and shared a third with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry. The Camp Borden quartet took the Lieutenant-Governor's team trophy and the Tait Brassey Team Cup. The RHLI group won the City of Toronto challenge event.

WORSHAM LEADS WITH 65

CHICAGO (AP)—Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., pitted Tam o'Shanter's rain-softened greens with deadly approaches Thursday to score a seven-under-par 65 and lead in the first round of the $75,000 "World" golf championship, richest tournament in history.

With a bait of $25,000 posted as the winner's share, the big-wheel pros made shambles of par. Their lofts to the greens stopped cold, making the par 36-36—72, 6,915-yard course a virtual target range.

While Worsham was carving his spectacular 34-31—65, his colleagues were close at his heels.

Ted Kroll from New Hartford, N.Y., rolled into second place with 34-33—67, going over par only once.

Grouped at 68 were Gardner Dickinson, Jr., a 25-year-old from Panama City, Fla., who has been a pro only 15 months; and such veterans as Jack Burke, Jr., defending champion Julius Boros, Porky Oliver and Freddie Haas.

In all, 52 men pros in a field of 85 equalled or bettered par 72.

Eight were locked at 70, including Cary Middlecoff, who lost to Boros in a playoff in last year's "world," Jimmy Demaret, Doug Ford and Dutch Harrison.

At 71 were Norman von Nida of Sydney, Australia, and Dai Rees of Wales.

Patty Berg took the first round lead in the women's pro competition with a brilliant 36-34—70 that matched the six-under-par course record for women set by Babe Zaharias in 1950. Louise Suggs was second with a 73. Betty Jameson, the defending champion, and Mrs. Zaharias were next with 74

A graduate of Royal Military College, Kingston, he served with the 15th battery, 4th brigade, Canadian Field Artillery, during the First World War.

Canadians Hold Favored Role In Davis Play

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's experienced tennis stars, Henri Rochon and Lorne Main, were in the favorites' role today for the opening of the Cuba-Canada North-American zone semi-final round of Davis Cup competition.

Observers who have watched both teams at practice feel the Canadians can dispose of the Garrido brothers—Reynaldo, 19, and Orlando 22—in the opening singles and quickly set up a 2-0 lead for Canada.

Many think Canada has a good chance of duplicating the 5-0 victory scored over Cuba here two years ago. The Garrido youngsters weren't in the cast then, and they are pretty much an unknown quantity hereabouts in competitive tennis.

FULL OF AMBITION

But captain Ricardo Morales of the Cuban team says his boys are full of ambition and competitive spirit and have no qualms about meeting the favored Canadians.

The draw Thursday brought Rochon against Reynaldo Garrido in the first singles and Main against Orlando in the second.

The Cubans have been working hard to overcome a handicap they will face right at the start—grass courts. They are used to hardcourt play, whereas the Canadians, fresh from a 3-2 victory over Mexico, are right at home on the Mount Royal Tennis club grass.

Both Morales and Dr. Georges Leclerc, non-playing captain of the Canadian team, said they were satisfied with the draw. Both also indicated that their nominees for Saturday's doubles will depend on the outcome of the singles.

If Canada takes both opening singles, it is almost a certainty that Paul Willey of Vancouver, making his debut this year as a Davis Cup team member, will be paired with Main. Morales, a veteran and a topnotch doubles player may put himself into the doubles.

Kempa's Putting Forms Threat In Amateur Golf

BRANTFORD (CP)—Leo Kempa who knows the Brantford Golf and Country Club course like the back of his hand, is the player to watch in today's fourth round of the Ontario amateur golf championship here.

The Brantford Ava clubber Thursday upset tournament predictions when he putted George Eluck of Windsor out in the second round.

After his 3 and 2 victory over Eluck—rated among the top six amateurs in the province—the little known Kempa in the afternoon round defeated Toronto Scarboro's Eric Hanson 1 up. Kempa is paired with Keith Kirkpatrick of London Highland in the forenoon fourth round today.

Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, who tore up the course Thursday with a five-under par score for 12 holes, was drawn today with Herb Epstein of Toronto Oakdale, who advanced with a 3 and 2 win over T. Middleton of Sarnia.

KESSELRING WINS

Kesselring, three-time winner of the Ontario championship, disposed of Tony Matlock of Windsor, 6 and 5, in the third-round play. Earlier, he polished off George Molnar of Norfolk 4 and 2.

Nick Weslock of Windsor, favored to meet Kesselring in Saturday's final round, was paired with Gord Ball of Kitchener Essex in the fourth round. Weslock finished off Hamilton's Bernie Johnson 5 and 4 in the second round and eliminated Bill Harrison of Kitchener Roseland 6 and 5 after lunch.

Phil Farley, who brought his 13-year-old son, Mike, along to caddy for him, shot an even par in the afternoon to eliminate Jack Payne of Humber Valley. In the morning round, the 41-year-old Farley, six-time winner of the Ontario crown posted a 5 and 3 win over clubmate Eric Smith.

Jack Nash of London Hunt, considered a possible choice for this year's Willingdon Cup team, advanced into fourth-round play on a 5 and 4 win over Dan Thibodeau of Kitchener. Nash, three-time winner of the Ontario crown, meets Ted Holmes of Brantford today.

Shippers Of 10 Countries Seeking Share Of Millions In Shipping On Great Lakes

By GEORGE LINTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — There's big money in trade on the Great Lakes these days and shippers in 10 countries are hurrying for their share.

As a result shipping lines are scheduling new runs, foreign vessels are making quick trips through the St. Lawrence, and busy lake ports are planning million-dollar additions to warehouses and wharves.

This year overseas shipping is at a peak. Cuban and Venezuelan vessels showed up for the first time since the war, to bring to eight the number of foreign countries sending ships to the Great Lakes.

Harbor officials at Toronto expect overseas ships this year to chalk up considerably more than the 360 arrivals and departures they made in 1952.

TAXED TO LIMIT

Docks at many ports are taxed to the limit. Toronto, for instance, can't get unloaded goods away before another ship comes in. Stevedores worked overtime to handle the almost 1,500 cargoes loaded and unloaded by all ships to July 1 of this year.

The greatest increase at Toronto this year is in cargoes from overseas. Almost twice as many trips by foreign vessels were made to June 1 as during the same period of 1952.

Harbor officials at many Great Lakes ports are planning quick expansion with the feeling that these vessels are the vanguard of large fleets that will come once the St. Lawrence seaway is built.

At Toronto, even more boats are expected next year and the city is building a $350,000 freight shed. Also planned is a $1,000,000 seawall two-thirds of a mile long, with slips for large vessels at each end.

Ships flying the flags of Britain, France, Holland, Germany, Sweden, Norway, Cuba and Venezuela ply the Great Lakes this year. They trade in heavy machinery, textiles, prefabricated houses, olive oil, wines, glassware, and a host of other items.

MATTER OF CONCERN

Officials of Canadian shipping lines show mild concern over the activity of foreign vessels. The law prohibits them from trading between Canadian ports, but they can and do trade between Canadian and U.S. ports.

"We're not concerned if overseas vessels bring their goods to Canada, pick up their return cargo and go home," says G. R. Donovan, secretary of the Dominion Marine Association. "But they're encroaching on our territory when they trade between Great Lakes ports."

Meanwhile, an official of the British Manchester Line says his firm has found the Great Lakes trade so profitable it has brought a new ship to the lakes this year.

Frederick Lewis, captain of the Manchester Pioneer, says the line plans to deliver almost twice the tonnage it did in 1952. Last year, using two ships, the line loaded and unloaded 20,000 tons of goods at Great Lakes ports.

In an interview on his high-decked ship at Toronto, he said the vessel is built well up from the water to stand the pounding of Atlantic storms. "She's built for speed and power to keep a steady course through any weather."

BIG FOR LOCKS

But he says the ship has difficulty in navigating the St. Lawrence's 26 locks. There's a leeway of only two feet on the ends and less than that on the sides. As a result, passing through the locks is a tricky job that he and other overseas captains are happy to hand over to rivermen.

"We pick up pilots between Kingston and Montreal," Mr. Lewis says. "They're good men, but it's impossible not to hit the locks occasionally."

Wind was the most serious problem in the locks. "It catches tall ships like ours, blows them a foot or so and you're into the concrete."

Overseas shipping lines are waiting for the day when vessels up to 10,000 tons will ply the lakes after coming up from Montreal through the St. Lawrence seaway. Such ships will be able to carry much bigger cargoes than vessels like the Pioneer.

IN LAKE TRADE — More ocean-going vessels are invading the Great Lakes this year than ever before. The 1,731-ton Torsholm was built in Sweden three years ago especially for the overseas runs to the Lakes. Harbor officials at Toronto expect overseas ships this year to chalk up considerably more than the 360 arrivals and departures they made in 1952.

Hold Dog Owner In Cable Cutting

BATH, England (AP)—Leonard Phillips, 32-year-o d greyhound owner, was remanded to custody Thursday and charged with cutting a vital telephone cable which led to the Bath race track.

Just after the cable was cut July 16, Britain's greatest "Who done it, who won it?" horse race mystery of the century was created.

A horse entered under the name Francasal won the race. Long odds of 10-1 were on the boards. Scotland Yard later said a much faster horse named Santa Amaro won under Francasal's name.

The cutting of the cable prevented bookies all over Britain from laying off bets—and shortening odds JERSEY COW'S SECOND HIGH BUTTERFAT RECORD—Avondale Alga, a Jersey cow bred and owned by Senator A. C. Hardy, at Avondale Farm, Brockville, Ontario, has completed her second sensational record. Alga went on test at nine years and in 365 days produced 17,856 pounds of milk and 1,230 pounds of butterfat, with an average test of 6.74 per cent. This is the highest record ever made by a Jersey in Canada on less than three times milking. Alga was milked three times for 153 days. The highest record ever made in Canada by a Jersey cow on two times milking was made by this very same cow at seven years, when she produced 16,768 pounds of milk and 1,122 pounds of fat. In her last two lactation periods Alga has produced 2,325 pounds of butterfat, and qualifies for a Ton O'Gold award by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club. During her recent record, she was milked and cared for by George Healy, a young farm boy from Richmond, Quebec. Arden Baker is farm manager and Mr. Baker reports this is the fourth 1,000 pounds record made at Avondale by three cows, and Alga carried the blood breeding of the two others. Alga has four offspring living. Her oldest son heads the herd of Henry White & Son, at Chatham, N.B. She also has a yearling son, and her two daughters are now on test.

Ronald Marquis To C.N.E.

Like all farmers, Ronald Marquis of Sunderland, Ont., has his work cut out for him at this time of year. And with one of the best crops his district has had in several years he expects to be a very busy man for the next few months.

Besides working hard with his harvets though, Mr. Marquis is keeping a close eye on his herd of Angus cattle which he is grooming for the Canadian National Exhibition.

"The CNE show is one of the best on the continent for our breed", he says, "and we don't want to miss it".

An exhibitor for several years at the Ex, Mr. Marquis last year won distinction with a heifer which took second in her class to the Grand Champion Female Angus. She'll be back at the Ex this year and Mr. Marquis has high hopes for her.

Celebrating the 75th anniversary of its founding, the Canadian National Exhibition which began as an agricultural fair, has made big plans for its agricultural show this year. Prize monies have been increased to more than $125,000, new exhibits have been arranged and old ones added to as the CNE goes all out to make the 1953 Ex an oustanding show for the Canadian farmer.

Cattle will be judged from Thursday, September 3 to Wednesday, September 9, beginning with dairy cattle on the 3rd and 4th and beef cattle on 7th, 8th and 9th.

Huge U.S. Food Piles

The spectacular distribution of free food by the United States government to the hungry people of East Germany, occupied by Communist Russia, turns attention to the accumulation of stores reported a month or so ago from Washington.

Of dairy products, the government owned then:

(1) About 140,000,000 pounds of surplus butter, with new purchases running between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 pounds a day, at the time of this inventory.

(2) 110,000,000 pounds of cheese, and more coming in at the rate of more than 1,500,000 pounds daily.

(3) 230,000,000 pounds of dried milk, increasing by almost three million pounds a day.

Other stocks in government storage included: 214,000 hundred-pound bags of baby lima beans; 7,000,000 pounds of surplus honey; 150,000 gallons of olive oil. The honey was being offered at the bargain price of 12 cents a pound but only in five-gallon jars.

Value of the government-owned food was estimated at more than one billion dollars, with fresh receipts daily. Much of it was available on a "take-it-away" basis to schools and welfare organizations.

These tremendous quantities were dumped into the hands of the government through the price-support program which compels the Department of Agriculture to buy up all excess farm products to keep them off the market, and thus maintain high domestic prices.

Refresher For Judges

Ontario's panel of plowing judges certainly know good plowing when they see it. They proved that conclusively last week when some 40 judges attended a "refresher" course at the Massey Harris farm, Milliken, when they demonstrated that there was remarkable unanimity of judgment on the art of turning a good furrow.

Confronted with a series of plots demonstrating all types of plowing, good, not so good, and some that might be called indifferent, the judges turned in score cards that compared nearly perfectly with ratings established by the panels of consultants who had previously judged the fields.

Organized by the Ontario Department of Agriculture the one day "refresher" course was designed to bring about uniformity in scoring practices. That there was uniformity was evident when the judges turned in score cards that varied only in minor degree with the score of consultants. So minor was the variance the consultants agreed that the placing of the one plot in question was debatable.

When local matches, the International and World matches get under way this year contestants will plow under the watchful eyes of men who know plowing.

The one-day course was organized by F. A. Lashley, director of the agricultural societies branch, and A. J. McTaggart, also of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Winfred Timbers, W. L. Clark and W. C. Earrie constituted the board of consultants.

Rural Clergymen On O.A.C.

More than 50 rural clergymen and their wives from many parts of Ontario, as well as New York State and Quebec, attended the fourth annual summer school for rural clergymen held at the Ontario Agricultural College ending July 31.

The clergymen took one of three main courses intended to better acquaint them with the relation of agriculture to human welfare and community life. Twenty were enrolled in the general agriculture option, which dealt with all aspects of practical agriculture, from soil conservation and the latest engineering developments to new developments in poultry and the role of insects in agriculture.

The same number were enrolled in the course of human relations, which featured discussions of man's role and development in his environment, as well as a review of Canadian literature and practical experience in radio broadcasting. The remainder studied the business of farming, a course accenting the principles of farm management and marketing.

Those attending the school from this district included: Rev. A. E. Larke, Springville; Rev. Lloyd Delaney, Lakefield; Rev. A. W. Smith, Gore's Landing; Rev. W. H. V. Walker, Stirling; Rev. E. A. Lorimer, Haliburton.

Plowing Directors

Directors of Peterborough Plowmen's Association are meeting Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 8:30 p.m. at Stuart Hall's shop (Massey-Harris), Simcoe St. Plans for taking part in the International Match at Cobourg in October will be discussed. Henry Batten is president.

WEEDS WON'T EVEN GROW—This was once a so-called "improved" pasture in Marshall, Mo., but now it's only slim pickings for the cattle shown above. The field was fertilized and seeded according to the latest methods, but it was to no avail. It has been so dry that even weeds will not grow. As a result cattle are losing weight and the market in the area is disintegrating.

Are Farmers Too Shy?

Accepting Public Office, Both Duty And Right, Wellington Sutton Says

Wellington Sutton of Otonabee is pondering who will be his successor as chairman for the coming year of the Peterborough county Farm Forum committee. He also expects that his second term as chairman of the Ontario Forums, ending next year, will be his last. And with that service in leadership he will feel satisfied that he has made his contribution to the cause of the Forums, in this province at least "the strong right arm" of the Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Sutton said yesterday, pausing in the season's work at home, that when he became a director of the Peterborough Federation he hadn't the slightest idea of what was in store for him when he began to take a special interest in the promotion of Peterborough Forum groups.

"First of all you feel that you should take part in the affairs of your community," Mr. Sutton said. "That is our duty as people of a democracy. Pernaps we think sometimes too much of the duty and not much of the right. If we didn't have that right for awhile, maybe we would have a better appreciation of our duty.

A lot of people in the county attend annual meetings for the election of their school boards. I was one of those in our community attending our meeting for School Section No. 16, Otonabee. At one of them I was mentioned for the position of trustee. I wasn't thinking of office, and I suggested that somebody else be proposed. Several were interviewed, but they hadn't the time or there was some other reason, and it came back to me. So, I agreed to stand. That is about the usual way of getting started in public affairs. Once you take hold of that kind of responsibility to the community, you naurally want to do the best you can.

So, it was with the board of directors of the Federation. It came about that I was named chairman of our Forums group, then their representative on the provincial committee."

Eventually, Mr. Sutton became Ontario chairman, and was re-elected for a second term last June.

From his experience he prefers to emphasize the necessity of people in the rural community taking an active interest in it. "If all began to make excuses" when they were asked to go on a committee, even to come out to meetings, "where would we be?"

"Our Forum discussions show that our people are well aware of farm problems; and they are not getting lighter. So, something has to be done about them, and we have many men and women in Peterborough county who are capable of helping in what is being done in our county and district and province."

That is not a new discovery for Mr. Sutton. The past gives proof of what Peterborough people have done in organized efforts. They have shown sincerity and ability and judgment. It is the present and future, he says "that we have to be concerned about".

SOME DIFFIDENCE

"I think too many are a bit shy about taking an active part when they are asked to do so. Then, some think too much about the time required for such work. It isn't that serious, and you can usually plan ahead to catch up if you have to miss a day or two."

Forum meetings during the winter months have disclosed the fact that farmers have considerable knowledge about their problems and also that they are willing to study the subjects that are discussed through the Monday night broadcasts.

That point is settled in Mr. Sutton's opinion. They have the ability and they are becoming more vocal in expressing their ideas. "You do the best you can; people are co-operative and friendly, and they all want to help in the same cause."

Meanwhile, the rural population is decreasing, the average farm acreage increases with consequent mounting of agricultural work, in spite of the new mechanics. Hence, the allotment of collateral duty falls upon fewer men and women of the country, if it is to be done as needs be.

ANNUAL IN THE FALL

When the annual Forum meeting is held this fall, Mr. Sutton said, there should be no difficulty in getting a new chairman, and bringing out a good attendance. He stresses the fact that he was actually the first practicing farmer to be chairman of the Ontario committee, and he is convinced that what he endeavored to do in that position, others can do also.

And, there is the significant reappointment of Mr. Sutton to that chairmanship.

His conention is briefly that rural citizenship imposes on its people the willingness to share in the various duties that have to be accepted,—municipal administration on school boards, township and county councils; in commodity groups, Forum and Federation, and otherwise; that farmers have the ability to conduct these associations once they cross the line of being willing to do their part; and they don't have to be orators in expressing themselves.

Mr. Sutton is hoping to see a broad renewal of interest, after the summer's work is done, in the promotion of Farm Forums, and at the provincial and Dominion conventions he attended he has gathered a few ideas he wishes to propose.

The farmer who is willing to participate in community affairs can find encouraging example from the accomplishment of Wilson Gemmell. When the county plowing match was held at the farm of J. A. Darling in Smith township, some years ago, Mr. Gemmell appeared there as a newcomer from Montreal to the management of the Peterborough branch of the Royal Bank.

That was one of his first steps in applying himself to learn as much as possible of the problems of farmers. He found himself dealing with many of them. His metropolitan experience was a handicap in discussing rural business with farmers. It did not take him long to decide that he should do something about it. So, he began meeting farmers that plowing match afternoon, looking in on their affairs. He let few opportunities go by in attending farm sessions. All that has been the observation of Peterborough and district farmers themselves. It is not his recital.

From such associations, and from reading and other questioning, the young Montreal banker was invited to be the guest speaker at the Ontario Farm Forum convention at the Royal York in Toronto in June.

Most farmers have the experience and knowledge essenital to the consideration of their business and its relations to the public and the nation. They are equipped with that advantage to begin with. All that some of them require, and that group is gradually shrinking in number, is vocal confidence. A city man like Mr. Gemmell had to acquire both.

No one in the country wants to see a generation of garrulous farmers. Their common sense would check any trend in that direction. But at the other extreme is the silent, staying outside the sphere of associaiton activities. That gets nowhere in this verbal and vocal age, in which the rural community is entitled to a hearing.

If Welly Sutton has any message from his engagements in the councils of Farm Forums, it is simply that farmers can do it,—if they will.

LEND A HAND—Battle-toughened United Nations soldiers, shocked by the gaunt and haggard appearance of repatriated prisoners, lend a hand as the halt, the lame and the desperately ill leave ambulances at Freedom Village, near Munsan, Korea, where they will undergo preliminary medical examination in the reception tents at right. For many in this group it was the first taste of freedom in close to three years. Few were demonstrative yet some displayed fiery spirit despite their weakened, emaciated condition.

Become Better Listeners, Minister Says

"A deeper sense of the significance and magnitude of the business of farming," is one of the principal gains from attending the week's school for rural clergymen at Ontario Agricultural College, Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville United Church, told The Examiner yesterday.

"When this course was instituted four years ago, some of the press articles implied that ministers were going to tell farmers how to work their farms," Mr. Larke recalled. "That would have been the worst kind of presumption. That report just wasn't true, and I am sure that our farmers paid no attention to it."

"On the other hand, we do acquire information that enables us to listen more intelligently to facts and discussions about agricultural matters, and to have a deeper understanding not only of the importance of farming today in the life of the nation, but also of the intrinsic dignity of farming and the real worth of the task which farmers have to do."

Rev. Mr. Larke said that the course makes clearer ministerial observations and impressions of the bigness of the farmers' work, the extent of the knowledge they must have to carry on their business, and to appreciate fully the place the farmer occupies in society. He suggested that it would be greatly helpful if a whole month of such schooling could be provided for the clergyman before entering the rural ministry. Valuable understanding was to be gained about the particular way of life that has long been appreciated in the country, its environment, its social problems. It is all a new aid to the ministry in the place of the church in the rural communities.

A member of the advisory council of this OAC course, Mr. Larke said that it was drafted last March on a continuing pattern for three years in order that it would not be repetition for this year's members attending in 1954 and 1955.

Belmont-Methuen School Fifth In Last Competition

SS No. 5, South Cayuga, Haldimand, won this year's province-wide school ground improvement Competition, John F. Clerk, secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Association, has announced. The South Cayuga school captured the provincial award after keen competition from five other school that qualified for the provincial contest. In all some 258 schools entered district competitions with the winners in six districts being automatically entered in the provincial competition. The South Cayuga school was awarded the A. J. Jackman trophy. Inspector of the winning school was Donald Young, Caledonia, and Miss Mae Held, Fisherville, the teacher.

Second prize went to SS No. 11 Normanby, Grey South. SS No. 7, Minto, Wellington South, was third; SS No. 4 Culross, Bruce County, was fourth; and Union 12-9 Belmont and Methuen, Peterborough East, fifth.

The sixth entry was received from SS No. 5 Crowland, Wellington County, but it was disqualified as the number of farmer ratepayers was insufficient. The rules of the competition provide that a rural school section shall be defined as one the ratepayers of which are not less than 80 per cent farmers operating farms of 25 acres or more.

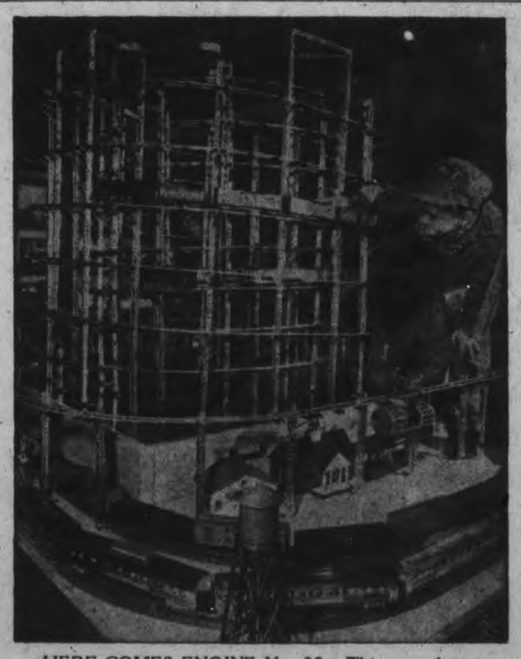
Because of the outstanding work of the Crowland school however, the Ontario Horticultural Association has awarded it a special prize and a diploma or merit.

Mr. Clark announced that the Ontario Horticultural Association is of the opinion that the maximum of interest has been accomplished and that a good standard has been set in school ground care. As a result the competition will be discontinued by the association.

School Forestry Awards

St. Clement's Separate School, Waterloo County District No. 2 was the winner of the Ontario Horticultural Association 1953 School Forestry Competition, John F. Clark, secretary of the association, announced today. The school which will receive $50 as a prize headed the province-wide competition.

SS No. 8 Westneath, Renfrew County, was second winning $25, and Bondy Public School, Essex County, third for a prize of $15.



There were 43 entries in three district competitions with the winner in each district being entered in the provincial competition.

Jack Stewart To Sell Herd In September

Jack Stewart of Shadybrook Farm, just east of Peterborough on No. 7 Highway, is selling his implements and his Guernsey herd of 82 head by auction on Friday, Sept. 11. The Shadybrook herd he is preparing to disperse comprises 64 registered and 18 grade cattle. Sale of implements begins at 11 a.m. and the Guernseys at 1 p.m. J. H. Miles has been engaged as auctioneer.

"This is a young herd," Mr. Stewart said today. "There are several aged cows, one 13 years and the other eight, and a couple at six years. I am selling all the cattle, including the two herd sires, 22 heifers open calves to breeding age; and 50 other females due to calve between Sept. 1 and Dec. 1.

"One of the two sires is a three-year-old I bought as a calf from Charles G. Lang, a manufacturer, at Glenarm, Maryland. A half-brother went to the Nova Scotia breeding unit at Truro or Amherst, and another was kept by Mr. Lang in his own herd. I feel safe in saying this is one of the best bred bulls in the province. A lot of the young females are his get."

Orthodox Jewry Clings To Ancient Laws

BY FRANCIS OFNER

JERUSALEM — Before going to the Rabbi, the young man had one of his toes cut off. Thus he finally became "maimed".

This was necessary to enable him to marry the girl of his choice. For a Cohen (descendant of the clan of ancient Israel's High Priests) is allowed to marry a divorced woman, as was his desire, only if maimed.

This did not happen in Biblical days, it happened recently in modern Israel. This is one of the many archaic customs imposed upon this nation by a fanatical, ultra-religious minority.

The delicate balance of goodwill has recently, however, been endangered by increased demands by the zealots.

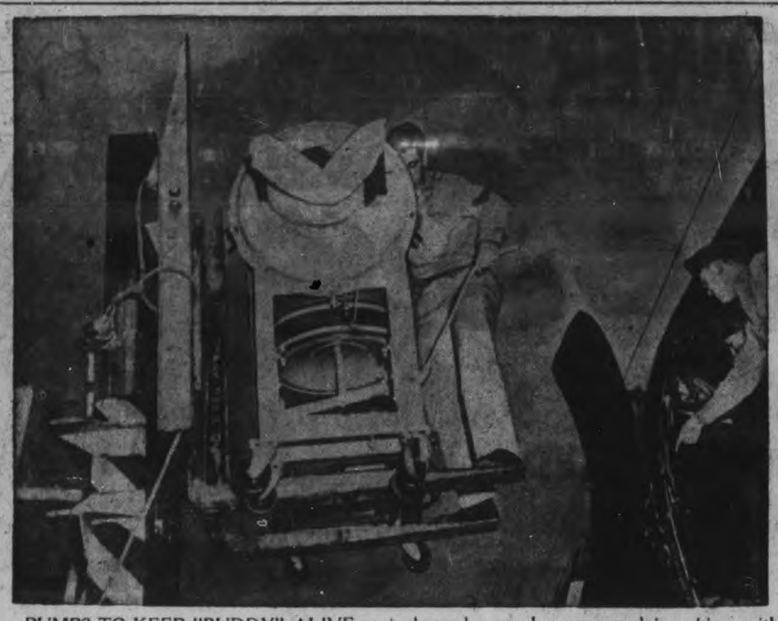
Among the issues in dispute is the Marriage and Divorce Law, now before a Knesset (Parliament) Committee which imposes, in matters of personal status, the exclusive rule of Rabbinical Courts.

According to this proposed law, there is no possibility of civil marriage in Israel, and therefore no provision for marriages between Jews and non-Jews. Mixed marriages concluded outside the country are considered void. Thus, some of the country's most prominent public figures — including Mr. Amos Ben Gurion, son of the Prime Minister, and the Deputy Inspector-General of the Israel Police Force, having married Christian girls, will, after the passage of this law, "live in sin" with their wives.

The wide range of discrimination again women includes such rules as the prohibition of remarriage by childless widows, unless they have written permission from the brother of their deceased husband. Apart from the humiliation, this restriction caused undue hardship to a number of women in Israel who were unable to trace their brothers-in-law after the mass extermination of Jews during the Hitler era.

Recent attacks by zealots on those who do not observe the religious restrictions of the Sabbath, are another source of growing resentment. Since one is supposed not to travel on the Sbabath, a number of cars have been held up and set on fire by students from ultra-religious Rabbinical schools; often the occupants have been beaten up.

Dozens of persons smoking on the Sabbath, particularly in Jerusalem, have been insulted and stoned.



Shops selling non-kosher food have been burned. A butcher's shop next to the Knesset has already been set on fire twice for selling ham. Parliamentary and Cabinet sessions have been wasted on sterile discussions of whether to allow pig-breeding by non-Jewish residents in Israel, or whether to prohibit this "desecration of the holy soil" entirely.

Although the country's educational system is being freed from political influence, orthodox schools still cling to the old method of control by religious parties. The battle over education has been raging for several years. Bitter controversy and several Cabinet crises were caused until all political parties agreed to give up control of their respective schools — this, however, excluded religious schools, and thus diminishes the prospect of unifying Israel's youth, which is formed of young immigrants from nearly 60 different countries.

Recent opposition to the bill allowing dissection of bodies for the study of anatomy at the Jewish Medical Faculty has also reminded the public of the outdated view those extremists wish to impose upon the entire state. Similarly, opposition by the Agudat Israel bloc to the Bill for National Service for Women has hardened public opinion against continued concessions to the ultra-religious minority.

Political leaders and the public have begun to study ways and means of diminishing the influence of this minority upon the country's life. For instance, the Marriage and Divorce Law may be somewhat modified before it is submitted for its second reading. A movement to diminish the influence of the religious extremists—without, however, hurting genuine religious feelings—is getting under way. It remains to be seen whether this can succeed without painful disturbances.

Socreds Confine Campaigns To Grass-Roots Activities

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The Social Credit party, striking to win the balance of power in Monday's general election, has confined its electioneering to a grass-roots campaign.

Most of its key candidates, from party leader Solon Low down, have stayed close to their home constituencies.

Party officials here say their 71 candidates across the country have preferred to forgo the big political meeting and have concentrated on door-to-door and farm-to-farm canvassing of their prospective constituents

ADDRESS SMALL GROUPS

They have preferred to address small groups—perhaps 10, 20 or 30 farmers out from the summer fields — depending on broadcast speeches to reach the larger audiences.

Mr. Low did not embark on a national tour in this campaign, though he spoke in a number of Ontario centres on his way west from Ottawa late in June. Like his followers, he has kept close to his own riding.

Two Social Credit provincial premiers, E. C. Manning of Alberta and W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia, have stumped for the federal party, but only within their provincial borders.

Mr. Low for the last four weeks has toured his riding of Peace River, the big unwieldy constituency that blankets the northwestern corner of Alberta.

There, where a Liberal candidate came just 321 votes short of beating him in 1949, the 53-year-old one-time school teacher has moved far into the sparsely-settled reaches of the constituency. He has conducted his campaign largely in places where newspaper correspondents are few and press coverage of his tour consequently has been light.

In this election, Mr. Low faces the same Liberal candidate—C. B. Carignan, popular Peace River farmer and rancher—as well as opponents from the CCF and Labor-Progressive (Communist) parties. There is no Progressive Conservative.

SEEK BALANCE

Here in Alberta, where Social Credit sprang to provincial power in the depression-riddled 1930s on a platform of far-reaching monetary reform, party spokesmen say they hope to hold the balance of parliamentary power after Aug. 10.

Mr. Manning told a rally at Lethbridge last week that the election might see the party for the first time in a position to exercise an effective voice in the program and policies of the next federal government.

He pointed to a possibility that neither the Liberals nor the Progressive Conservatives would win a majority in the new Parliament, leaving the Social Crediters with an effective voice even though in opposition.

The party has concentrated its 71 candidates in the West, running only nine east of the Manitoba border—eight in Ontario and one in New Brunswick.

The party has promised to wipe out hidden taxes, abolish the sales tax except where it supports old-age pensions, reduce personal income taxes and increase income tax exemptions.

One key plank is establishment of a national monetary authority which would exercise full control over the issue of money and credit.

Black Minorca Lays 29 Double-Yoke Eggs

WEST HAVERSTRAW, N.Y. — A seven-month-old black minorca hen with an exaggerated sense of duty has become the centre of interest in this community of 3,500 after laying 29 double-yolk eggs and two triple-yolk eggs in the past five weeks.

The hen, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carella, first came to the attention of local breeders after she layed a double-yolked egg a day for seven days beginning on June 24. Her performance was deemed "extraordinary" when she topped her daily double-yolk rate on July and again on July 26 with a triple-yolked egg.

A leading breeder, with 3,500 hens, said that his yearly yield from his whole brood includes an average of only three or four triple yolks with a top yield of the more common double-yolked eggs of 12 a day.

Report Underground Shoots Up 'Express'

BRAUNSCHWEIG (AP) — East Germans refugees said Thursday that Polish underground snipers have shot up the crack East Berlin-to-Moscow "Blue Express" so badly the train has been sidetracked for repairs.

There have been numerous reports of clashes between Soviet forces and Polish underground fighters in recent weeks but none of these has been confirmed by Allied intelligence officers.

First Flying Poll Used In Manitoba

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—Canada's first flying poll will be used in this northern Manitoba area for the Aug. 10 election.

Railway workers at seven camps along the Lynn Lake line and residents of two settlements—a total of about 550 voters—will be served by the voting airplane.

All four candidates in the Churchill riding have agreed to the use of the plane which will take about 10 hours and cover 100 air miles in its tour.

Election Gives Extra Work To Planes, Ships

OTTAWA (CP)—The forthcoming federal election is providing extra work for some commercial airlines and shipping companies operating in the Canadian northland.

Their planes and vessels are being enlisted to carry election materials in and out of the remote places in the northern sections of the Mackenzie river and Saguenay constituencies and the Labrador areas of Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador riding.

These constituencies have about 60,000 eligible voters, many living in spots visited only infrequently by bush planes and supply vessels.

Voting for the first time in these ridings will be 2,500 Eskimos of a population of about 8,500. Few are expected to exercise their right to vote, granted by Parliament since the 1949 election by an amendment to the Election Act.

Most Eskimos will be ranging the Arctic and sub-Arctic country for game during the short summer season. However, at Aklavik and Coppermine in the Northwest Territories and Fort Chimo, Port Harrison, Ivuyivik and Sugluk in northernmost Quebec and Labrador some will be within easy distance of polling stations.

The planes and vessels carried in election supplies, and ballot boxes and will take them out again after the Aug. 10 voting day.

CHAMPLAIN, N. Y. (AP) — A young husband was drowned Wednesday night in the Great Chazy river, and police said he had jumped in after relatives criticized his driving.

Police quoted Burdo's father-in-law as reporting:

Burdo was driving his father-in-law, his brother-in-law and his wife and they complained about the way he handled the automobile. He stopped the car and jumped into the river.

Eisteddfod Gives German Octet First In Singing

RHYL, Wales (Reuters) — The Welsh cultural festival Thursday confirmed first prize award to a German boy octet after deciding that their singing in German did not "endanger" the Welsh language.

The appeals committee of the annual National Eisteddfod made the decision in overruling an objection against Wednesday's award to the youthful Bach choir from Brunswick, Germany. The second-place Welsh choir, after mastering a Welsh translation of English lyrics, complained that rules of the competition required all singing to be done in Welsh.

The committee agreed that the regulation was in the books. But, they decided, its purpose was "to safeguard the status of the Welsh language," and singing in German or any other continental language," posed no "danger" to Welsh.

The Eisteddfod's coveted bardic chair was awarded to a 46-year-old Baptist pastor, Rev. E. Llwyd Williams, for his poem "Y Eforddd" (The Way), adjudged the best of 23 entries. Judges said that his work rises "at times to the realms of truly great poetry."

The new pastor was escorted to the bardic chair by Welsh actor-playwright Emlyn Williams to the cheers of a record 12,000 persons crowded into the vast pavilion.

Williams wore the white robes in which he was earlier initiated into the order of the Druids.

Take Captain's Papers For Ship Collision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Coast Guard Thursday blamed Capt. Albert Stiglin of Vermillion, Ohio, for the sinking of his ore carrier last May during a Lake Superior storm and said that steps will be taken to strip him of his licence.

A Coast Guard report on the sinking also said data collected in a recent investigation will be forwarded to the justice department "as such record contains evidence of probable criminal liability on the part of the master of the Henry Steinbrenner."

Seventeen of the crew were lost when the Steinbrenner foundered May 11 off Passage Island in Lake Superior. Fourteen, including the captain, survived. The vessel, loaded with iron ore, was bound for a Lake Erie port.

More Red Cross Girls Leave For Far East

TORONTO (CP)—There will be a feminine accent on the first welcome given Canadian soldiers who were imprisoned in Korea.

The Canadian Red Cross announced Thursday five more Red Cross girls will leave Sunday for the far east to help the welfare team being posted along the line of exchange with comforts for the troops.

The girls are: Kathryn Jefferies, London, Ont.; Margaret McRae, Orillia, Ont., Brenda Long and Astra Eggertson of Winnipeg and Nancy Banks of Montreal. They bring the total to 22.

DEFECTIVE SPRINKLER

Shortly before 1 a.m. today the fire department made a call to the Canadian Sealright plant on Aylmer St. It was a false alarm. The only trouble was an electrical default in the sprinkler system.

TO DEDICATE CHAIR

A red cedar sanctuary chair will be dedicated Sunday at St. Peter's Church, Stony Lake, by the Ven. Archdeacon F. J. Sawers in memory of David Keith Russell. Canon John Frank is taking over the services at St. Peter's Church for August.

HAMILTON DEFAULTS

At noon today the Peterborough Trailermen learned that tonight's senior OLA game with Hamilton would not be played. Hamilton defaulted. This was the final game of the OLA schedule for the Trailermen and means that they have easily clinched first place.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

The executive of the building trades committee of the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council is meeting tonight at the home of William Gibbons on Parkhill Rd. to discuss further plans for construction workers rally later this month. One of the items to be decided is the date.

CONDITION SATISFACTORY

The condition of Robert G. Heil was reported satisfactory by hospital authorities today. Heil, whose home address is Route 84, Mentor, Ohio, was hit by the propeller of an outboard motor after he had fallen overboard just off Juniper Island boathouse on Stony Lake Thursday and suffered severe facial and arm cuts.

MORE PICNIC

Climaxing a picnic given Wednesday by city police officers, children of St. Vincent's Orphanage were treated to a free show Thursday afternoon at the Centre Theatre. Harry Yudin, manager of the theatre, was host to 19 children and supplied them with refreshments from the show's candy bar. PC Louis Rodrigue supplied the transportation.

NAME CONCILIATION OFFICER

William Dunn, Department of Labor conciliation officer, has been named to try and settle contract difference between the CGE and Local 599, IUE (CIO-CCL), bargaining unit for the Peterborough office and salaried workers. A meeting of the two parties will be held Wednesday in Toronto. If he fails to get a settlement Mr. Dunn will probably recommend the setting up of a conciliation board to get agreement.

Brings Tears To The Eyes

Been In Too Long Now

It's enough to bring tears to the eyes of a campaign-hardened politico. And after all that money spent on electioneering, too! Well here's the story vouched for by Johnny James, Liberal candidate for Durham.

The Liberal candidate was canvassing for votes in a remote part of his riding—apparently a region of the politically unconscious. He stopped at a farm and handed the farmer his printed card bearing the Liberal campaign slogan but not his name or party.

The farmer looked the card over carefully. "And what's your party my good man," he said.

"The Liberal Party," said Johnny who was watching carefully for the farmer's reaction.

"Liberal eh?" said the farmer. "Well you know, all my life I've voted Conservative but this time I think I'll switch to the Liberals."

"That's fine," said Johnny.

"Yup," continued the farmer, looking thoughtfully across the field. "I'm going to vote Liberal this time. Those dang Conservatives have been in too long now."

Number Of Unemployed Fewer Than Year Ago

Unemployment conditions in Peterborough and district were better in July than a year ago, James Sharp, National Employment office manager, said today. While announcing the monthly unemployed totals, Mr. Sharp said that working conditions in the city and district were much better than in the same period in 1952. More jobs in factories, outside work, and a few summer resort openings resulted in a decided decrease in unemployed on insurance claims.

There were only 806 men and women on claims at the end of July as compared with 1,160 at the same time a year ago.

HIGHER THAN JUNE

But July's total was slightly higher than June's total. Mr. Sharp explained that unemployment fluctuated slightly at the end of the month but since then the claim load has decreased again.

Until the end of July the monthly figures since the first of the year had gradually decreased to a low of 720 in June. The 1953 unemployment peak for the district was 1,916 in January.

The number of city unemployed in July caused the slight increase in the number on insurance claims. There were 506 men and women drawing money in July as compared with 430 last month. At the same time July's city total was considerably lower than in July, 1952, when 881 city people were on claims.

During May and June the district claims showed slight decreases but in July these increased by nine, from 290 in June to 299 in July. The July, 1953, district claim total was 20 more than in July, 1952.

The number of job opportunities decreased in July when compared with the June positions were still higher than a year ago when 51 were available. The office had 44 jobs for men and 37 for women.

Mr. Sharp said these jobs are mostly for highly skilled workmen and for stenographers and domestic help. A few summer resorts have asked for additional help.

Had No Word Of His Family In Thirty Years

Thirty years without word from his family in England and not knowing whether they had survived the blitz, Edgar Cheel, 65, of 473 Bolivar St., heard recently through a friend that they were alive and well; and that his older brother Christopher, 90, was married for a second time on July 11.

A friend of Mr. Cheel's was visiting in London, England, and saw the write-up of Christopher Cheel's forthcoming wedding. He brought the clipping and asked Mr. Cheel if it was a relation of his.

Following correspondence Mr. Cheel found out that it was his brother and that he was well and healthy. He had been living with his brother-in-law, Albert Strong, 80, for several years. His elder sister, Annie, 92, was also alive and well and was living in Brighton and that his two other sisters were living in Eastbourne.

Mr. Cheel immigrated to Canada in 1907 and has lived in Peterborough for the past 46 years.

Maple Syrup Season Worst Since 1945 Low

OTTAWA (CP)—Poor weather during the maple syrup season brought production of maple products to the lowest point since 1945, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Rain and frost-free nights reduced the flow of sap during the spring and winter and production dropped to 1,948,000 gallons this year from 3,470,000 gallons in 1952. The gross farm value decreased to $7,306,000 from $12,175,000.

Prices for syrup rose to an average of $3.74 a gallon from $3.46. Maple sugar prices dropped to about 39 cents a pound from 43.

Ontario's output of maple syrup decreased to 121,000 from 459,000.

Ontario's maple sugar production fell to 14,000 from 16,000.

General Time Co. Sales $22,708,711

Sales reported by General Time Corporation, of which Western Clock Company in Peterborough is a subsidiary, amounted to $22,708,711 for the first half of this year. Volume for the corresponding six months in 1952 was $16,272,960.

"General Time's clock and watch manufacturing division — Westclox, Seth Thomas and Western Clock Co. of Canada —all have defense contracts which supplement their normal output of civilian products," says the Wall Street Journal . . . Although defense shipments are estimated to have reached their peak, the firm has a substantial backlog of this business which will contribute to second half sales."

Inquest To Be Held Into Highway Dead

Neighbors Finish Harvest For Mother, Son

Asphodel township neighbors completed the harvest at the farm of Mrs. Walter Humphries while she and her son, Kenneth, 20, were in hospital at the same time for treatment of injuries in separate accidents at their home. The emergent work was all done except a field of oats that was held up by rain.

Mrs. Humphries suffered a broken ankle July 7 while helping take off the hay, and her son's injury, July 20, was a severe cut on one leg while operating a binder. The sympathy of neighbors took immediate and practical form. The evening after Kenneth was hurt, William Moore and Cecil Lynch tackled the wheat and finished it. The next evening Leo Lynch and Louis Crowley cut most of the oats. The young men who joined forces in stooking the grain included Will Moore, Jim Moore, Cecil Lynch, F. Lynch, Leo Crowley, J. Crowley, Harry Johnston and Carl Welsh.

THRESHED TOO

Finally, the crop was threshed by Reeve Jim Humphries and his brother Max. In the meantime, Margaret Clark helped the daughter, Shirley Humphries, in the house work, and when Mrs. Humphries returned home, Walter Clark of the Norwood Lions Club provided a wheel chair for her use.

It may be two months until Mrs. Humphries is able to walk. The family is deeply grateful to their neighbors in the south section of Asphodel about three miles west of Hastings village.

Car, Train Hit At City Crossing

Jan Schoenmaker, 29, of RR 1, Ida, escaped injury Thursday night although his 1950 model car received $800 damage when it collided with a CPR train.

Shoenmaker had just pulled out of a parking lot on High St., and was driving south when the accident occurred. The car bounced off the train saving it fram further damage. It had struck just at the engine steps.

There are no signals at the High St. crossing and a city bylaw prohibits ringing bells and blowing whistles after midnight. The accident occurred at 1 a.m.

VIEW OBSCURED

Schoenmaker's view of the crossing to the west from which direction the passenger train was proceeding, was obscured by a string of freight cars on a siding.

City police Constable J. Armstrong investigated.

In a second accident Thursday night, a police motorcycle was struck by a bicycle at the corner of McDonnel and Reid.

The bicycle, ridden by Basel McGee, 15, of 546 Downie St., had been southbound on Reid when he skidded into PC William G. Scott's motorcycle as he attempted to stop.

The youth was treated for a lacerated elbow by PC Cec Bowyer in a patrol car.

Is Little Lake Polluted Or Not, Water Skiers Ask

Is Little Lake polluted or isn't it? That's what the Peterborough Water Ski Association wants to know. Recently water skier Bill Thompson took four water tests from Little Lake and had the samples sent to Toronto to the Ontario Department of Health for a bacteriological report.

Thursday the report was received by Terry Hill, association president, and all four tests were classified as Group I, indicating that no intestinal bacteria were present in the water samples.

Mr. Thompson told the Examiner today that he took tests, first 20 yards out from the T-wharf and then the remaining three about 20 yards from the shore along to Little Lake cemetery.

OTHER SAMPLES

Alf Pink, promoter of the Ontario Water Ski championships which were originally scheduled for Little Lake, now for Inverlea Beach Saturday and Sunday, said several Crescent St. residents had also taken samples, getting the same results from the Toronto laboratories.

Work on the Inverlea Beach project was discontinued temporarily Thursday when word of the Toronto tests was received. But the committee finally decided that it was too late for another change and work, putting up bleachers, road blocks, the ski jump, was continued.

Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health, said today that "I would be interested in seeing the reports and knowing exactly where the samples were taken and what technique was used."

At the same time Dr. Wells pointed out "that we made examinations" and "went to considerable trouble" in determining whether the water was safe or not. About 30 samples were taken the first time and about 18 the second time along the designated course of the meet. Both times the water samples indicated pollution.

LAKE PLACARDED

Dr. Wells said that he warned that the "water was unsafe" and that the lake has been placarded.

On the basis of the provincial laboratory report made in Peterborough on the two checks, the championship meet was changed to the alternate location, Inverlea Beach.

At the same time Dr. Wells said "I don't offer any explanation for it," when asked why the Thompson tests and the Peterborough department's tests were different. He said he wanted to see the Toronto reports, know where and how the samples were taken before answering.

Name Cobourg Mayor Legion Vice President

Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg was elected regional vice-president of the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion Thursday at their four-day convention, held in Sudbury.

The convention's agenda included resolutions calling for compulsory national service, the extension of liquor privileges to ex-service Indians, the establishment of November 11 as a statutory holiday, and an increase in veterans' allowances and pensions.

It was decided that they would hold next year's convention in Ottawa.

Curb Cruiser Fined For Carelessness

LINDSAY—(ENS)—A 28-year-old curb-cruiser, William Hore, of Lindsay, was fined $5 and $18 costs today when he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

PC Percy Mark said he had seen Hore driving slowly along the curb beside two pedestrian girls on July 11 and had watched as Hore gunned his car in front of the girls at Lindsay and Kent Sts.

He said the car had narrowly missed one of the girls.

Magistrate E. A. Gee, in setting the fine, commented: "Next time be sure you know the girls before you offer them a lift."

Lucky Visitors

The Evans family from Erie, Pa., hit the jackpot twice in a row in Peterborough on their holidays. Saturday night while attending a lacrosse game, Mr. Evans held the winning ticket for a basket of groceries. Thursday night he and his wife came back to see another game. Mrs. Evans held the lucky ticket.

Plowing Match Requires Landing Field

COBOURG (ENS)—More than half the concession and exhibitors' space available at the world and international plowing match here in October has already been taken up and officials say that it indicates a very large affair.

Usually the concessions are taken up rather slowly during the months before the match and there is a big rush at the last minute. But this time leasing of space is starting comparatively early.

An interesting item is the request for landing fields. A group known as "The Flying Farmers of America," have been asking for information on the closest place to land.

Already the plowing match area has spilled beyond the boundaries at first believed to be sufficient and land which would have been ideal for landing fields is being absorbed. However, the committee is making a survey to see what can be done in that regard.

Sanitation, a big problem at other plowing matches and a still greater one with the prospect that more than 40,000 people a day will be at the plowing match here, has been tackled in a realistic manner. Arrangements are being made with a firm to provide a set-up which will be effective and meet all sanitary requirements.

WATER SUPPLY

The question of water supply for the tented city is another matter that has been settled and the contract has been let.

Food for the thousands who will be eating on the grounds is another big chore. Five ladies' organizations from Port Hope, Cobourg, Precious Corners, Baltimore and Harwood are taking on this responsibility.

"We are ahead of schedule, the OPA tells us," said general chairman Harry Campbell of Bailieboro, "and we are hoping to keep it that way until the big match opens."

Prisoner Dies Hanging From Bars

Inquest Ordered For Tuesday; Held As Drunk

Elmer Tripp, 42, was discovered dead this morning hanging from the bars of a cell in the city police station. Brought into the station early this morning on a drunk charge, he had fashioned a rope from his bunk blanket and committed suicide.

PC Ray Caldwell discovered the body when he entered the cell to question Tripp. He had been the only occupant of the cells Thursday night. "It might not have happened otherwise," Chief of Police John Thompson said later.

An inquest into Tripp's death has been ordered by Coroner Dr. Herb Young. Time has been set at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Tripp's last reported address, in March, was 660 Romaine St. He was unemployed.

The man was brought into the police station shortly before one o'clock. As precautions against what did happen, his belt and tie were taken away from him. This is the usual procedure with prisoners. His only possession at the time was a watch.

Approximately 8:20, PC Caldwell entered the block to ask Tripp if he wanted breakfast and obtain particulars from the prisoner. He discovered the body hanging from one of the cell door's upper bars.

Dr. Young said that Tripp's death had taken place "some hours before." Cause of death was strangulation.

This is the first suicide in the cells since the modern Civic Building was constructed.

Tripp was born in Wilberforce, son of the late Archibald Tripp and Mrs. Mary Tripp, who survives. He lived in this district for 25 years and is survived by his wife, the former Elizabeth Anne Stone; four brothers, Herbert of Fraserville, Rodney and Bud of Peterborough and Stephen of Nova Scotia; and four sisters, Alice and Ruby of Toronto, Dora of Peterborough and Myrtle of Oshawa.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at two o'clock from the Nisbett funeral home by Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

DR. F. G. ROBERTSON

F. R. ARMSTRONG

OLLEY TAYLOR

Riding of Northumberland

4 Liberals, 4 Tories In 8 Elections

Since 1917, when it returned a Unionist — or supporter of Sir Robert Borden's pro-conscription coalition—the neighboring riding of Northumberland has elected four Liberals and four Conservatives.

Because the Northumberland electors seem committed to no one party, some observers think that the result of the voting there will indicate a country-wide trend in the August 10 balloting.

The member in the last House was Dr. Frederick G. Robertson, of Cobourg, Liberal candidate, who in 1949 defeated his Progressive Conservative opponent R. E. Drope by 9,374 votes to 8,522. The defeated candidate was the sitting member, elected in 1945, and this time the PCs hope to reverse the result.

However, this time it will be a three-way competition. Franklin Armstrong, of R.R. 1, Grafton, is contesting the riding for the CCF. In 1949, Dr. Robertson won with a majority of 852, and the political pundits in the riding are trying to guess how this third entry will affect the final standings.

Northumberland (Ont.) was established under the Redistribution Act of 1914, incorporating the former ridings of Northumberland East and Northumberland West. Both the old ridings were traditionally Conservative from Confederation in 1867 until 1914. Northumberland East was Conservative nine times, Liberal twice and Independent once; Northumberland West was Conservative seven times and Liberal five times.

Since 1917, however, there has been an even split. M. E. Maybee was in for three consecutive terms and so was W. A. (now Senator) Fraser.

Here is the record since 1917 and majorities or pluralities:

1917—C. A. Munson (Unionist) 3,397
1921—M. E. Maybee (C) .. 776
1925—M. E. Maybee 1,150
1926—M. E. Maybee 386
1930—W. A. Fraser (L).... 941
1935—W. A. Fraser 1,767
1940—W. A. Fraser 953
1945—R. E. Drope (PC) .. 941
1949—F. G. Robertson (L) .. 852

Northumberland riding, which takes in the whole county, was not changed in the Redistribution Act of 1952.

Member in the last House of Commons was DR. FREDERICK G. ROBERTSON, 44-year-old canning factory owner and operator, and formerly a practising physician. He was first elected to the House in June 27 election of 1949 as a supporter of the Liberal party. It was his first try.

Dr. Robertson was born March 7, 1909, in Belleville, son of W. G. Robertson and Annie McGlennon, who were of Scotch and Scotch-Irish stock, respectively. His father was a Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature from 1926 to 1929.

The Liberal candidate was educated at Colborne Public and High Schools and the University of Toronto. He graduated with his MD from the University of Toronto in 1933.

Dr. Robertson in 1936 married the former Margaret R. Aitkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Aitkins, of Boissevain, Manitoba. They have a son, Ian Greystock, and a daughter, Margaret Anne.

During the Second World War, Dr. Robertson was a medical officer in the RCAF, attaining the rank of Squadron Leader. After discharge he practised medicine in Cobourg until January, 1948. Since then he has given Robertson Packers, of Cobourg, the canning factory he owns and operates, his full-time business attention.

Dr. Robertson is a Presbyterian.

The Progressive Conservative standard bearer in Northumberland this time is OLLEY TAYLOR, 55-year-old secretary manager of the Cobourg Chamber of Commerce. He lives at 365 College St., Cobourg.

He is a veteran of the First World War and a former councillor in the town. Besides being secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, he has held the office of Industrial Commissioner. He was a councillor for two years.

Mr. Taylor was born in Cobourg, son of Levi and Elizabeth Taylor, both of British stock. In 1927 he married the former Dorothy Isabel Pratt. He has a son, Charles Edward, 25, a laboratory technician at the Peterborough CGE plant, and a daughter, Dorothy Elizabeth, 21, a graduate nurse at Civic Hospital.

As a boy, Mr. Taylor sold papers, worked in retail stores before and after school and during school holidays. Later, he clerked in retail stores, was district supervisor of a chain food store, and he owned and operated a food market for 27 years in Cobourg.

He is a past president of the Cobourg Rotary Club and of the Northumberland Fish and Game Protective Association. He is also a member of the Masonic and Rameses Shrine Temple, Toronto.

During the First World War he served overseas for three years as pay sergeant and as an ammunition column driver in the 4th Division.

In Cobourg, he has maintained a strong interest in civic affairs and was federal and provincial campaign manager for the Red Cross and Salvation Army canvasses.

Mr. Taylor attends St. Peter's Anglican Church.

FRANKLIN R. ARMSTRONG, 52-year-old farmer living at RR 1, Grafton, is the CCF candidate. He has not run for federal election before and there is considerable conjecture in Northumberland as to how many votes he will get. No CCF candidate ran in the 1949 election so his running complicates the guessing game for those trying to predict the results.

Mr. Armstrong was born in Brighton township in November, 1900, son of the late George Armstrong and Martha Hardinge. When still a baby, his parents took him out west to a wheat farm near Milestone, Saskatchewan. He remained there until 1949 when he sold his half section and came back east, settling at his present address where he has a 250-acre farm.

Twenty-one years ago, Mr. Armstrong married the former Elsie Tipping. They have four girls and two boys, the eldest married and the two youngest at public school.

Mr. Armstrong was educated in Saskatchewan and has been in the CCF movement since it started. His experience in public office was a term on the school board while out west. Since coming east to Northumberland he has been active in the CCF organizational committee.

He is a Protestant.

Russia Supplies China With Long-Range Bombers

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS

HONG KONG—(Special to The Examiner)—The Soviet Union, it can now be revealed has transferred to Communist China the first shipment of long-range strategic bombers. Twelve are now operational from a Red airfield, 40 miles Southeast of Peking. Until now the Chinese Red air force has consisted of Russian-built Mig jet fighters and medium bombers.

Four days ago Red Migs sought for the first time in three years to intercept Chinese Nationalist air patrols off Southern China. But to the delight of all Formosa the Nationalist slow-speed F-47 fighters eluded the Migs by the device of pulling them into a fight at low altitudes—where the Mig's high speed is neutralized.

In the same bellicose vein, but politically speaking, the Chinese Communist press and radio, which have been describing the Korean truce as a "defeat for the West," are cockily predicting the "unification of Korea under a truly democratic regime," which is Red jargon meaning a pro-Communist regime.

These are only a few examples of reasons why the situation in Korea is described throughout the Far East as a "hot truce" and why a peace, in the sense of a stable negotiated settlement of East-West differences is not in sight.

According to reports reaching Western intelligence here and in Tokyo, there is admittedly evidence that the Chinese Communists, in order to gain time, have decided to put off any aggressive action that might bring United States retaliation on a scale requiring a Korean-size drain on Red resources.

LAUNCH AGGRESSIVE PROBES

In the immediate future the Reds, it is estimated, will launch aggressive probes only where they have an idea that the United States would keep hands off or where American help would be on a limited scale only.

To illustrate the current Communist attitude, it can be disclosed that the Reds have been closely and steadily querying Indian and other "neutral" diplomats for an estimate of just what the United States might do should Chinese "volunteers" openly take the field en masse to assist Communist insurgents in French Indo-China.

The Chinese have long had manpower trained and ready for this operation, and it appears that the main deterrent remains the fear that the United States, having proved iself so unpredictable through its last-minute intervention in Korea, might, despite all its protestations against any new commitment of American ground forces, proceed to reverse itself again.

In looking at Communist China today, senior diplomats and intelligence officers in the Far East say that there are—unfortunately, from the free world point of view—no grounds for believing that exhaustion or internal crisis motivated Red eagerness for a truce in Korea.

RED CHINA STRONGER

There were internal strains, but looked at from the overall point of view, there is no doubt that Red China, both militarily and economically, is far stronger today than at the beginning of the Korean war or indeed at any time in recent Chinese history.

The truce appears instead to have been pursued as a result of the conviction of top Chinese Communists that the Korean war had reached a point of diminishing returns. Thus in the beginning Korea offered the Reds an unprecedented opportunity to liquidate their opponents in the middle and upper classes, and under the prodding of patriotic fervor, to regiment and organize this nation with ruthlessness and efficiency.

It gave the opportunity to extract first-rate modern weapons from the Soviet Union, including an air force of more than 2,000 planes. Combat itself offered modern military tactics and the Reds learn fast.

But all these things had been substantially achieved a year ago. And again, according to reports of neutral diplomats, Peking seems to have feared that with the advent of the Eisenhower regime, a new Red offensive or indeed the indefinite prolongation of the war might have brought painful results in the form of new economic warfare or a blockade and even possibly air attacks against the mainland.

In the last weeks the Reds have emphasized that truce or no truce they are more determined than ever to continue their military build-up, particularly the modernization of the Chinese army.

Recent speeches and articles by Chinese dictator Mao Tse-Tung have emphasized his concern that the Korean war has interfered with China's five-year plan and particularly with the rapid build-up of heavy industry and armaments "without which", according to Mr. Mao, "there can be no solid national defense."

The Peking radio and Communist mainland press talk as beligerently as ever these days of "driving the imperialists and bandits" out of Asia. But as a senior American diplomat observed; "It does appear that the next time the Chinese Reds use force of arms on a sizeable scale they intend to have both stockpiles and sufficient modern industry so that the war can be sustained without so great a proportionate cost on the country's mobilized resources."

Relations Suddenly Cool Between Mexico And U.S.

By LAURANCE STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Relations between officials of the United States and Mexican governments have been cooling definitely of late, although no one in authority will explain why.

Mexicans regarded as anti-American have been receiving good government jobs, and even newspapers ordinarily friendly to Mexico's northern neighbor have turned critical.

Part of the new coldness is explained by some as due to Mexican uneasiness over the Latin-American policies of the Eisenhower administration in Washington.

However, Washingtonly recently agreed to an extension of the peso stabilization agreement. It also increased the amount Mexico could borrow from the U.S. from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000. The agreement provides that if the value of the peso goes down, Mexico can borrow from the U.S. to support it.

VIEWED WITH SUSPICION

The Simpson bills, which would have increased U.S. import duties on lead, zinc and oil sold by Mexico, also were viewed with suspicion.

Mexico's refusal to follow the advice of Mexican and U.S. technicians in fighting the latest outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease is only one sign of impaired relations.

The two countries carried out a joint five-year campaign against the cattle plague, ending in 1951. When the infection broke out again this year the joint commission which had directed the previous campaign was pushed aside.

Negotiations over new visa regulations affecting Mexican migrant harvest hands coming to the U.S. for work have dragged on for months without results.

Tourists still are welcome, but there's friction here, too. The U.S. wants to abandon all charges for visas—but negotiations have dragged. It would mean the United States would pass up its $10 fee if Mexico would wipe out its $3 charge.

RUSSIAN CREDENTIALS — Yugoslav Dictator Marshal Tito, right, makes a tight-lipped acceptance of ambassadorial credentials presented by uniformed Basilije Valjkow, new Russian Ambassador to Yugoslavia, during a recent ceremony at Brioni, Tito's Adriatic summer residence. Did Mrs. Parker Lie?

Mrs. Arthur Parker of Western Avenue Said, On July 24, 1953, Over CHEX:

"I have been asked many times during these past few weeks why I, as a housewife, am voting for Max Swanston in the coming Federal Election. In the short time that I have at my disposal, I wish to answer that question. Since we have had a Liberal government, life has become much more secure for all of us and our children have many more opportunities to build a better and more fruitful life. I believe that we can go much further still with a Liberal government.

"Let me point out specific examples which we have all begun to take for granted. Our children are assured of the basic necessities of life through the system of family allowances. During the last fiscal year, for example, our 7,900 families in this riding received $1,137,000.00. Our citizens no longer have to worry about being penniless and on the street. The Federal government paid out in the same period $1,495,000.00 in old age pensions to the older citizens of Peterborough. I could cite many more examples such as unemployment insurance and assistance to our hospitals. These payments not only help the people who directly receive them but they put money into circulation and indirectly help every one of us.

"The aim of the social security program is to help those who cannot help themselves such as the children, the old folk, the sick, and the unemployed. Fortunately Canada under Liberalism has had few unemployed.

"However, this is only one side of the picture. I have heard it said that the greatest and best security is a job. In this country of ours today my son and your son can find employment that is becoming more fruitful every year. The national product of Canada has been increasing year by year which means that your family and my family have been able to live better and fuller lives. Our memories are, I am afraid, too short. But I would ask each of you to look back 18 years when the Liberal government came to power. Today we are housed better, we eat better, we are clothed better and have many more of the goods of life that help to make life easier and happier. I won't bother giving the figures on the number of telephones, automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators and so on. We all know the great changes that have occurred. I only mention them, lest we forget. And during those years we fought the most costly war in the history of mankind with all its expense and sacrifice.

"Of course I don't attribute these great advances solely to the Liberal party. But they were achieved under a Liberal government. The government went after customers all over the world and today, with less than 15 million people, Canada is the third greatest trading nation on earth. Yes, the principles and policies of Liberalism have indeed made Canada a land of security and opportunity.

"During the last 15 years Peterborough's Member of Parliament has sat on the lonely opposition side of parliament. He has been able to take no part in forming the policies that have so greatly altered our lives. On the contrary, he has opposed them—not vigorously, it is true, but he has voted against them. I think we all want Peterborough not only to enjoy the benefits of Liberal government but also help make these policies. I believe that the Liberal party has a big job yet to do and that it's not the time to mark time and play safe. That is why I am voting in this election for Mr. Swanston. I urge you all before election day to think the issue over seriously and solemnly. I feel sure if you do this that you will send Mr. Swanston to Ottawa and do your bit to keep Canada on the Liberal road—the road to progress and prosperity."

Mrs. Parker is a responsible citizen of Peterborough, a mother of four boys and a supply teacher in city and rural schools.

G. R. FRASER SAID—

In referring to this Speech at Lakefield on August 4, 1953, as reported in the Examiner of August 5th:

"It was the worst four and a half minutes of garbled untruth I've heard in a long time," he said. Mrs. Parker's script writers had interpreted a speech of George Drew so as to indicate that the PC leader would "cut down on the number of people receiving family allowances."

"That's playing politics in a way I'd never stoop to," he said.

Mr. Fraser also quoted Mrs. Parker as saying that he (i.e. Mr. Fraser) had opposed social security measures and voted against them in the House of Commons.

DOWNRIGHT LIE

"That's a downright lie of the worst kind," he said. "I've never voted against the passing of any social security measures."

Mrs. Parker Has Been Accused Of A Deliberate Untruth! Is This Vicious Attack On Mrs. Parker Justified?

PCs Should Produce Facts To Back Criticisms—Carley

"We have a right to inspect and criticize any public action," said T. J. Carley, QC, addressing about 45 people in the hall at Buckhorn Thursday night at the Liberal rally. But he went on to say that because a thing was not in agreement with certain (Conservative) policies—labelling such things as "lies" is no proper criticism or refutation.

"At a meeting held recently in Lakefield, Mr. Fraser not only quoted Mrs. Parker incorrectly, but then as much as called her a liar." (Mrs. Arthur Parker had given a five-minute speech over the radio on July 24.)

'It was the worst four and a half minutes of garbled untruth I've heard in a long time,' Mr. Fraser was quoted as saying.

Mr. Carley read the entire address given by Mrs. Parker to his audience and then asked them where Mr. Fraser could find his "downright lies."

"That's a downright lie of the worst kind," Mr. Fraser was quoted as saying, "I've never voted against the passing of any social security measures. . . "

Mr. Carley pointed out that the only section of the speech (Mrs. Parkers'), which had any reference to Mr. Fraser's accusations was the following:

VOTED AGAINST

"During the last 13 years Peterborough's member of parliament has sat on the lonely opposition side of parliament. He has been able to take no part in forming the policies that have so greatly altered our lives. On the contrary he has opposed them—not vigorously it is true, but he has voted against them. . . "

There is no mention of social security measures involved, said Mr. Carley. "I challenge Mr. Fraser to tell us how many times he has vote for Liberal policies—and how often against."

Mr. Fraser was reported as also saying that Mrs. Parker's scriptwriters had interpreted a speech of George Drew's so as to indicate that the PC leader would "cut down on the number of people receiving family allowances."

"Nowhere in the speech," said Mr. Carley, "was any mention made of Mr. Drew nor any cutting of family allowances. Any decent man would make a public apology to Mrs. Parker," said Mr. Carley. "I don't think he has the courage to do it, but he still has time to redeem himself."

"How can we get women interested in politics and the government of this country—if we call them liars?"

Mr. Carley pointed out that any government is responsible to the people and for the best interests of the country. "We expect the opposition to be alert and on guard against wrong—but let's have some facts—not just the cry lies - lies - lies."

MUST HAVE FACTS

"We cannot condemn a government for extravagance unless we have some facts." It is easy, said Mr. Carley, for the opposition to state that someone spent $1,000 here and $10,000 there—but unless the questions — who? where? when? and how? are answered there is very little to those accusations. If they mean certain people who are engaged in foreign affairs, trade officials, why certainly that much money is in all probability spent in the cost of transportation and upkeep.

Mr. Carley went on to say that Canada, with a population of about 14 million, is the third ranking trading nation on earth and the responsibility for this foreign trade is on these men who migrate to other countries with their families and establish these necessary contacts.

In reply to the loss of Canadian markets in England, Mr. Carley advised that we examine the prices offered in London, Montreal and the United States. "We are selling out produce for a better price here—greater than any previous prosperity. Why compete with countries much closer and more able to supply Britain than we are" We are producing more and getting rid of more at reasonable prices than ever before in history.

"Maybe we will have less income tax to pay if Mr. Drew gets in—but we may have no income." When the opposition can undertake responsibility instead of offering promises everywhere they go—that could be the time for change—but not just a change of government for changes' sake.

Another speaker, W. B. Gordon pointed out that the men of the opposition were untrained and untried, and that their leader George Drew made promises that he could not possibly carry out. "It is virtually impossible for Mr. Drew to fulfill all his promises—he is either going to do one or the other (cut down expenditure or build bridges, irrigation plants, etc.)"

Liberal candidate Max Swanston and 'Dit' Clapper made short speeches—the theme being 'prosperity or promises.' Chairman was Tom Mason.

Restless Hornbill Terrorizes N.Y. Pigeons

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Heaven help a pigeon on a day like this.

Rufus the restless hornbill was aloft over lower Manhattan for a second day. What a crazy, mixed-up hornbill!

Traffic was blocked in the streets. Hundreds of New Yorkers passed up lunch to cheer and applaud Rufus, who did everything but take a bow. The U.S. weather bureau got all mixed up.

And pigeons, innocent bystanders of the whole pageant, had a rough time

Rufus, a $200 red-necked hornbill from Siam, escaped from a pet shop Wednesday. Freedom made the turkey-sized bird giddy. He spent Wednesday keeping a flap or two ahead of agent Joseph Schlesinger of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Thursday Rufus opened his performance in the role of weather vane. With a magnificent sense of audience appeal, he posed atop an instrument tower of the weather bureau in lower Manhattan.

Then he hopped onto a real weathervane, fouling it up so it recorded steady northwest winds. Actually, the winds were variable.

A pigeon, a regular tenant of the weather tower, started in for a landing. But he got one look at Rufus and his seven-inch bill, pulled up his flaps and wheeled off into the sky in terror.

All this brought Schlesinger back into action, net in hand.

Rufus looked on in delight as Schlesinger scrambled up the weather tower When the agent was almost close enough to shake hands, Rufus flapped away disdainfully to the 20th floor of a nearby skyscraper.

Schlesinger chased Rufus in and out of three more skyscrapers.

But hours later, Rufus—or his twin—was captured in ignominious fashion.

The hornbill blundered through a trap into a pigeon coop belonging to Frank Renda on a downtown Manhattan roof.

While Renda's pigeons fluttered nervously, Renda collared Rufus and took him to the cellar where he put him in solitary confinement in—of all things—a large canary cage.

Whaling Returns As New Uses Found By Science

Whaling is staging a comeback in Australia, once a world centre for the industry.

Three coastal whaling stations are operating in western Australia and another on the continents's east coast. Main catches in the offshore waters are humpback whales, averaging 40 feet in length, weighing about 30 tons, and producing seven tons of oil each. Australia lies directly in the path of the two main whale migration routes in the seasonal run to warmer waters.

Australia's coastal whaling season extends from May to October. Since 1950, the government station at Carnarvon, western Australia, has caught 1,290 humpbacks. Another station processed 193 whales worth $224,000 in oil during a single season.

In 1841 more than 300 foreign ships worked the south coast of Australia. Whale oil, used to light the streets of European and American cities, and whalebone for corsets found lucrative markets. But with the discovery of kerosene and the substitution of metal for bone, the thriving industry collapsed.

Australia did not suffer alone. America's fleet of 700 whaling ships, involving an investment of $40 million, was docked. The sailing ships of a dozen other nations ceased to prowl the seas.

After 1900, new uses for whale products revived the industry. Today's international fleet of 19 floating ships and 250 catchers, manned by 10,000 men, pulls in and processes more than twice the number captured a century ago by 1,000 ships.

Antarctic waters now supply about two-thirds of the world's whale catch. Working out of South Georgia Island, hunters concentrate near the ice edge of the southermost continent. Vessels from seven nations — Norway, Great Britain, Union of South Africa, Japan, the Netherlands, Russia and Panama—participated in the 13-week Antarctic season from January to April this year.

Under terms of an international whaling agreement drafted in 1946, the seasonal catch on the open seas is limited to 16,000 "blue whale units." Largest of all whales, blues sometimes exceed 100 feet in length. Out of 100 species of whales, dolphins and porpoises, only four other whales —fin, humpback, sei and sperm —are commercially valuable. Since 1925, more than half a million of these five species have been taken.

The world's largest animal, surpassing even the dinosaur and mastodon of prehistoric times, the whale today is a vast storehouse of supplies for industries producing everything from food and clothing to perfume and lubricants.

Most whale oil goes into soap, glycerine and European-made oleo-margarine. Cosmetic makers use it in creams, lotions and lipsticks. It is utilized to lubricate watches, guns, typewriters, and other fine machines, and for tanning leather. The steel industry uses it in tempering processes.

Whale meat is a valuable protein food. The Japanese consume large quantities, but it has never become popular on European or American dinner tables. One whale can provide as much as a herd of 100 cattle. The close-grained meat contains little fat or gristle and looks like steak.

Ground bones and meat are marketed for cattle feed and fertilizer. Whale liver oil is rich in Vitamin A. Insulin and hormones are found in the glands.

Most valuable of all whale products is ambergris. A grayish, waxy substance, it is found in the stomachs of sick sperm whales. Used in perfume manufacture, it commands exceptionally high prices.

FLOODED UNDERPASS — It was lovely weather for ducks when nearly an inch of rain was dumped on Calgary in a half-hour. This duck quacks happily as it swims in four feet of water in the city's railway underpass but the motorist whose car stalled in the subway long since has fled.

Experts Probe Ballooning Growth Of Consumer Credit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Is consumer credit getting out of hand in Canada?

This is a question that seems to be bothering a growing number of business editors and financial experts across the country. And at least one leading financial service in the United States has expressed "concern" at the rapid growth of consumer debts in this country.

Emboldened by a rising level of purchasing power and lured by an increasing flow of both domestic and imported products, Canadian housewives and their husbands have been on a prolonged buying spree since the federal government lifted restrictions on credit buying in May, 1952.

The Bank of Canada reported in its June statistical summary that credit outstanding in Canada at the end of March, was a whopping $8,500,000,000—a little better than $100 owing for each man, woman and child in the Dominion. That figure, says the summary, represents a $500,000,000—about $34 per capita—increase in the last year.

The main increase has taken place in the business of finance companies which buy the dealers' installment paper at a discount, and in turn sell it to a bank. This class of credit is six times as great as it was in March, 1949.

SOME DOUBLED

In contrast, consumer credit through other channels has only doubled. These channels are store charge accounts, installment receivables outstanding, and cash personal loans by banks, credit unions, small loan companies and licensed money lenders.

So fast is the growth that some business editors are beginning to hint at revival of the tough credit rules imposed by the federal government for 17 months beginning in November, 1950.

Broadly speaking, the terms called for a down payment of half the price of an automobile or motorcycle, one-third cash on big home appliances like refrigerators and stoves, and an 18-month limit in which to pay off the remainder.

However, the financial wizards say they are stumped on one aspect of the credit problem. They just can't seem to agree on how much consumer credit is too much.

Jail Neighbor For Wounding

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Frank Trelyo, about 50, was arrested Thursday night about a half hour after a neighbor, Mrs. Frances Drozdowsky, 36, was shot.

Trelyo, married and the father of several children, was picked up after being chased by several police cruisers through a four-block area in east-end Windsor. A shotgun was found near the spot where he was apprehended.

Neighbors said Trelyo, carrying a shot gun, crossed the street from his home to the Drozdowsky residence.

Police said Trelyo ordered Mr. and Mrs Drozdowsky to line up against the fence, then shot at them several times. They said Mr. Drozdowsky escaped injury.

Chief Constable Recommends New Bylaws

CAMPBELLFORD —(ENS) — Chief Constable Charles Lockwood told town council Thursday night there was a need to draw up several bylaws, such as an anti-noise bylaw, under which he can lay charges.

He made his recommendation after explaining the disposition of fines collected by the courts under the Highway Traffic Act and Liquor Control Act.

A total of $322 in fines was collected locally under the two acts during July.

Councillor David Ness, who introduced the chief constable to council, reported for the police commission that he had been quoted a price of $140 each for blinker lights on two bad curves in town, one on Highway 30 and the other on the Campbellford-Stirling road.

WET GARBAGE

Charles McCoy, town garbage collector, complained to council that cardboard boxes used to contain garbage were becoming wet from rain and the bottoms were falling out. In addition, he said, householders were setting out containers without covers and they were half-filled with water when he came to collect them.

He added that local merchants were putting out large numbers of cardboard boxes without folding them. Two weeks ago he had obtained $15 in Trenton for two tons of cardboard which he had to fold himself.

After a study of local bylaws, council agreed that Mr. McCoy's contract did not require him to pick up the boxes and said they would see what could be done about the situation.

Councillor P. H. MacMillan reported for the road and bridge committee that streets in various sections of the town had been resurfaced and a new five-foot sidewalk on Oliver Rd. was almost complete.

HOSPITAL SIDEWALK

In answer to a request from the Memorial Hospital board, council decided to start the first of the week laying a sidewalk from the street on Oliver Rd. to the steps of the hospital, which will be officially opened August 23.

Town council will lend its equipment and the services of its workmen to the hospital board to lay the sidewalk but the board will have to pay the workmen and supply the materials.

The road and bridge committee was authorized to have repairs done to the town truck. Two tenders were received for painting the truck, one of $125 and one for $50. After very little discussion the $50 tender was accepted.

MONTREAL (CP)—A woman and two children were drowned and seven persons rescued late Thursday when a motor-driven yacht capsized after striking a floating log in the St. Lawrence river off Lanoraie, 35 miles downstream from Montreal.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Desmarteaux, 5, both of Montreal, and Cecile Hervieux, 2, of Lanoraie.

The yacht sank almost at once and all 10 passengers were thrown into the water. Gerard Dube and Jean Chaput, who were in a boat nearby, drew alongside in their craft and, plunging repeatedly into the water, managed to haul seven of the struggling passengers to safety.

Lieut. Gaston Vanier of Quebec provincial police said the ill-fated yacht, operated by Henri Cadieux, 64, of Montreal, was overloaded.

Boy Cyclist, 10 Injured By Car

LINDSAY (ENS)—A 10-year-old local boy, Jimmy Gillogly, was slightly injured Thursday night when he fell from his bicycle on Kent St. into the path of a slow-moving car.

The boy suffered a bad cut on the back of his head which required eight stitches at the Ross Memorial Hospital, but was released after treatment by Dr. W. C. Blackwell.

According to Sgt. Gord Eberts, who investigated, the Gillogly boy was following another cyclist, riding east on Kent St., on their way home from a movie. The boys were passing a slow-moving car, driven by Donald Currie, of Lindsay, at the south curb.

The first rider, Johnny Keenan, turned at York St. The Gillogly boy continued easterly and struck a pedestrian, Glen Mark, of Port Hope, who was crossing the road. He fell from his bicycle and into the path of Currie's car. Witnesses said the car stopped almost immediately.

Dr. W. R. Crowe, on his way home after assisting in the investigation of the double fatality on Highway 7 earlier in the evening, treated the boy at the scene.

Profits Tax Enough For Health Plan: CCF

FOSTER'S GROVE, Sask. (CP) Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan says the federal Liberal government could have started a national health scheme with the $400,000,000 excess profits tax it cancelled a few months ago.

At a picnic Thursday at this southwestern Saskatchewan resort, the premier criticized the Liberal government for not instituting a national health insurance plan he said the Liberals have been promising since 1919.

The $400,000,000 from the cancelled excess profits tax would have gone a long way toward such a program, he said.

Accept Champagne Glass As Silhouette For Fall

BY ALISON SETTLE

The Paris designers have been driven by economic pressure to discard their usual rivalry in silhouettes and to accept Dior's "tulip flower" line as the Paris line for women.

In the Paris dress collections, now in full swing, the feminine form is, says Balmain, to be the shape of a champagne glass. His day dresses have width of bust and shoulders above very slender skirts. Jacques Fath, who, like Balmain, stands with Dior in the top rank of dress designers, last season rejected the tulip or goblet line. Now he designs with what he calls a "Roman arch shoulder line," producing egg-shaped figures for women with down-sloping shoulders, accentuated busts and tightened waistlines.

Madeleine De Rauch asks you to think of a lamp when you think of a woman. She sponsors an opulent body line above a slender stem of skirt.

In all the collections so far shown, the curve of shoulder seams down into the sleeves is egg - shaped from the neckline out over the elbows and in again towards the wrists. Fashion has waved goodbye to squared shoulder lines, it would appear. Corselet belts tighten in waists below built-out bosoms, while skirts through the day are as slim and as straight as they can be and their lengths have increased by an inch or two. Unanimity cannot be expected from designers, so Jacques Fath announces that as against the general acceptance of lengthened skirts, his hemlines are to rise to fourteen or even fifteen inches off the ground. But in fact the eye is so greatly drawn upwards by these egg-shaped shoulders and sleeves, the draped bosom and corseleted waistline, that daytime skirts make very little impression beyond being straight and narrow. Only when evening comes are skirts allowed to balloon out, or, slim in front, to fall in a wide, backward sweep into trains such as women have not worn since the 'nineties.

For the evening, when the skirt comes into its own, a climax has been reached in Jacques Fath's long series of gleaming satin ball dresses in which bustles are used, over which the skirts fall into long trains. Balmain, too, shows some scores of glorious evening gowns with long trains of the same kind, but without the bustle. He has innumerable evening dresses in satins and tulles in which the fabric is almost entirely covered with encrustations of gold and silver and embroidery, on which workers have spent days of close work for each model. With the Fath collection a complete contrast is seen. He leaves his satins to speak for themselves and uses no embroidery.

In the egg-shaped cut of daytime bodices, collars have disappeared; the collarlessness of the close-fitted daytime dresses is a strong fashion trend of the season.

Coats with widened but sloping shoulders cover princess day dresses, and redingotes are used over corseleted dresses. Balmain coats narrow gently down to the hemline. Fath shortens his redingotes to show several inches of the dress below. Patou makes importantly straight coats with fur-lined upstanding collars. Madeleine de Rauch gives her coats sloping shoulders but has draped the yokes; these replace the former breast-line pockets to emphasize the widening of the bust.

The most interesting coat fabric is used by Balmain: it is a fleecy wool woven to imitate ermine, zebra and other skins. Tweeds are having a wonderful year, but there are also in use wool moires and brocaded woollens. In silks, flower designs have almost disappeared in favour of marbled effects.

In colouring, the tortoiseshell tones lead, combined with black, which alone is seen in far less quantity than in any previous season. A sand-coloured shade of beige is teamed with charcoal or pale grey. Greens are tinted to bronze, blues look like thunder-clouds. But Balmain's collection was immensely applauded for his use of the palest tints for use as winter dresses.

The church was decorated with gladiolas and ferns. Organist Mrs. Charles Renaud played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a cocktail length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, made with a panel of accordion-pleated nylon net down the front and scallop detail at the back. Her fingertip veil was caught to her headdress with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of long stem red roses.

Miss Rita Naylor as bridesmaid was frocked in teal blue nylon net over blue satin, of cocktail length also, and wore a net stole over the strapless bodice of satin. The bride and groom left for a two-weeks' trip in U.S.A. On their return they will live at 152 Parkhurst Boulevard, Toronto.

FASHION NOTE

The sleeveless dress, which should be worn with caution by any one who is not quite sure that her arm is still firm and attractive, is being carried into the fall in the sleeveless suit. Using wool tweed, one St. Louis designer has created a box jacket suit, without sleeves. This is worn with a cotton blouse in early September and a jersey blouse when the weather is cooler. It is nice for the college campus.

Potato Salad Goes Fancy

Potato salad is one of the foods we all look forward to in summer meals.

Yet its special goodness is hard to describe, whether you make it German-style, with a bacon-vinegar dressing, toss it with smooth salad dressing, or combine with a tart French dressing.

Potato salad can even go fancy. Use custard cups to mold individual servings made the feature of a luncheon platter which is completed with tomato wedges and scalloped hard-cooked eggs.

For a good potato salad, one wants potatoes cooked just to the proper texture, neither overcooked nor underdone. Chill potatoes thoroughly, then remove the jackets and cube them. Though potato salad should be tossed lightly, every cube of potato should be moistened with dressing so that each bite is rich and flavorful.

ORANGE-COTTAGE CHEESE MIX

This is a simple kind of salad that can be made up on a moment's notice, and serves as main dish luncheon salad. Serve it with toast or hot rolls and tea.

Peel and slice several oranges, cutting each slice into three or four bite-size pieces. Add a carton of cottage cheese and mix well.

For additional fruits you might want to add pineapple, grapes, fresh berries in season or frozen berries.

Arrange on large individual salad plate which has been lined with crisp lettuce leaves.

New Hair Colors Created In Paris

PARIS—The French creative haute coiffeurs presented their bi-annual show at Laurent's restaurant with haute couture mannequins, dresses and haute mode hats.

Hair this season takes on three new colors, each one with ranges for blonde or brunette. Spanish topaz features shades of yellow. "Chrysolite" are green gold shades particularly studied for brunettes. Black coral is a dark shade with violet cast.

Generally hair is coiffed short. The urchin look is gone and heads are tidy, well groomed and curled or set with a definite line. The hair is often feather cut at the temples which is in accordance with newest millinery. No parting and except for variations of bangs there is little variety that strikes one. We recognize two of Antoine's coiffures. One is the short terraced cut, stepped at least four times. The other is a head dressed for evening with a headdress of laquered shavings.

Chicken Salad

There are two schools of thought concerning chicken salad. Nevertheless, it is a universal favorite. It is a wonderful main course for luncheon or supper. Some consider Chicken Salad de Luxe to consist of nothing but tender white meat of chicken cut in substantial size pieces, slices of inner stalks of crisp celery, the two blended with smooth mayonnaise. This is served in individual bowls, lined with crisp lettuce. The only allowable addition would be to sprinkle the top with capers. No sliced hard cooked eggs, no green peas, no chopped peppers detract from the elegance of this perfect salad. Use ¾ as much chicken as celery.

CHICKEN SALAD SUPREME is considered by many to be the perfect salad. It has the recognized and acceptable additions.

2 cups cubed cooked chicken.
¾ cup chopped celery.
½ cup slivered toasted almonds.
¼ cup chopped ripe olives.
3 hard cooked eggs, sliced.
¾ cup mayonnaise,
Crisp lettuce.

Chill ingredients thoroughly. Toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with tomato wedges and slices of bacon criss-crossed on top.

Wasson-Drumm

The marriage was solemnized Saturday by the Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, at the parsonage of Lakefield United Church, of Marie Madeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drumm of Peterborough, to Donald William Wasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wasson of Lakefield.

The bride was wearing white Swiss embroidered eyelet over ice blue taffeta, mittens of eyelet and a Juliet cap of white daisies and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Delight roses and white shaggy chrysanthemums. Miss Elaine Wasson, the groom's sister, was her attendant, wearing a strapless gown of yellow taffeta with a small bolero jacket of white eyelet and a matching headdress. Her cascade bouquet was of yellow and white 'mums with golden Sceptre roses.

Mr. Neil Wasson was groomsman for his brother.

A reception at the Club Aragon followed the ceremony. The bride's mother received, dressed in rose and white figured nylon and wearing a white milan hat and a corsage of cream roses and white 'mums. The groom's mother, who assisted, was in a navy crepe dress and wore a white and navy hat and a corsage of pink roses nd white 'mums.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Detroit and other places in the United States, the bride wore a dress of pale blue linen and matching accessories and her corsage was of pink popcorn 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Wasson will live at 249 Reid St. on return.

JUST IN TIME to smarten up the evening wardrobe comes a beautiful stole of pink nylon tulle, the fabric in double layers with violet tinted flowers and buds placed between the layers for a three -dimensional effect. A concentration of flowers marks the outer frame.

Ruth Vanderburgh Bride Of R. B. Melville

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Deep River Community Church was scene of the wedding on Saturday of Ruth Marie, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Fulton R. Vanderburgh of Deep River, formerly at Havelock United Church, to Robert Bruce Melville of Georgetown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melville of Havelock.

The bride's father officiated in the ceremony and she was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Clarence Vanderburgh of Leaside. She was wearing an original model gown of white lace and nylon net over satin, the strapless lace bodice decorated with sequin flowers and fashioned with a pointed panel at back. Her lace jacket had sleeves coming to points over her hands. A cap of rayon satin petals and seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Ted Pollock of Ivanhoe, was gowned in mauve satin and nylon net and wore a bandeau of yellow gladiolas and pink carnations to match her bouquet. Bridesmaid Miss Joyce Adkins of Burlington was in nile green lace and nylon net over taffeta and her headdress and bouquet were of mauve gladiolas and pink carnations. Miss Carol Beckett of Harold made a pretty flower girl in floor-length maize nylon and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet and wore a halo of flowers in her hair.

Mr. Gerald Melville of Toronto was groomsman. Ted Pollock of Ivanhoe and Richard Vanderburgh of Deep River ushered. Organist was Mr. Fred Glendinning of Deep River and soloist Mrs. F. B. Beckett of Harold.

The bride's mother chose a dress of blue crepe and lace with navy and white accessories for the occasion and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. The groom's mother was wearing beige crepe and lace with brown accessories and a corsage of cream roses.

After receiving the guests in the Sunday School hall, the bridal couple left for points south, the bride wearing a turquoise nylon dress with white accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds.

They will live in Georgetown for a brief period and then move to Sarnia.

Where's The Picnic Basket

Have you planned a picnic supper for your family this week? Better take advantage of these warm summer days and get out the picnic basket.

Of course, the nicest thing about a picnic basket is the food that goes into it in the summertime. You'll want something easy-to-make, for that makes picnics fun for the gal that packs the basket. You'll want something good to eat, for that makes picnics fun for the family.

Here's a menu that's fun to make AND good to eat . . .

FAMILY PICNIC BASKET MENU

Chicken and Ham Salad
Cranberry Picnic Relish
Potato Chips
Tomato, Cucumber and Garden Vegetable Tray
Lemonade or Iced Tea
Fruit Bowl and Angel Cake Wedges

Pack the chicken salad in a quart canning jar. (Easy to carry this way).

CHICKEN AND HAM SALAD

2 cups cooked chicken, cubed or shredded
1½ cups cooked ham, cubed or shredded
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
1 to 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 tablespoon chopped pickle
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients and chill. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with parsley and small sweet pickles. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Choose one of the relishes to serve with your salad bowl. Spoon it into a pint canning jar to carry in the picnic basket.

CRANBERRY APPLE RELISH

1 pound can jellied cranberry sauce
1 apple, quartered and cored
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup raisins

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Put apple through food chopper, skin and all. Combine all ingredients and stir to blend thoroughly. Chill for several hours.

CRANBERRY PEAR RELISH

1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
1 or 2 fresh pears, cored, peeled and diced
½ lemon, put through food chopper, rind and all
1 teaspoon powdered ginger.

Combine ingredients and let stand in refrigerator for several hours to let flavors blend.

Fashion Flashes

IN STORE for autumn brides are beautiful wedding gowns on softened classical lines. For instance, a silk taffeta in white or blush is beautifully designed with appliqued lace garlanding hipline and bustline. The deep but narrow neckline has a fill-in of softly tucked chiffon and lace to make a queenly stand-up collar.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Packaged Mixes Fill The Breach

At one time as you know, I was in the canning business, and our firm, among other things, made ready-to-serve soups. I know how much time and energy were spent to perfect these products. Our experiments on Mushroom Cream Soup ran into six hundred or more.

So when you ask me my opinion of cake mixes I can only say that the research work done on such complex mixes is staggering to the buying public. Researchers devote all of their working time to making these products excel in flavor and texture. In 1942 I worked out one of the first commercial chocolate cake mixes. It took me nearly all year, although of course, I was writing this column and keeping house and raising two children.

Cake mixes are excellent products. It is difficult to reproduce the qualities of a fresh egg when you are using powdered egg though. That is why some manufacturers instruct you to add 1 or 2 eggs to the mixes before baking. The eggs prevent the mixtures from crumbling and from being so very tender when baked. They hold the batter together and bind it.

So choose the cake mix that you like best and if it tends to split at the centre after it is baked, next time try adding an egg to the batter, and see if you do not correct this fault.

Last night we used 2 packages—one for the base, and one for the top—for dessert which follows. We made it at the last minute for we were out of fresh fruit and six were coming for dinner. Impulsive Marianne had just phoned to say she was bringing two of her nursing buddies. Darling girls they are too—Irma and Ann.

CHOCOLATE COTTAGE PUDDING WITH LEMON SAUCE

To 1 chocolate cake mix we added 1 egg and baked it in square pan as directed on package. From the pantry shelf we took another packaged mix—lemon pie filling—added 3 eggs to it and cooked as directed on package. (This generous addition of eggs is done for the obvious reasons of improving flavor and to increase the nutrition, for these young people I am feeding are hard workers, as I am sure yours are too.)

When the pie filling had been cooked, we added the sections of 3 oranges and what juice dripped from them while we were slitting them from the white membrane.

The cake and sauce were prepared so late that they were warm even after we had eaten our main course. All of the young people had 2 helpings, so while the bowl of sauce was very full, there was not a crumb or drop of either left.

✧ ✧ ✧

However I am conducting a cooking column and if you prefer to exercise your own skill (and who does not) and save money (and who does not) make your own 1-egg chocolate cake.

ONE-EGG CHOCOLATE CAKE

Sift cake flour and measure 1¾ cups and sift it with ¼ cup good quality cocoa, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt 3 times. Cream 4 tablespoons butter or shortening until very light and fluffy and gradually cream into it 1 cup white sugar, then beat into it 1 unbeaten egg until all is creamy and light. Add dry ingredients in thirds alternately with ¾ cup milk that is not cold and to which you have added 1 teaspoon vanilla. Bake in greased paper-lined 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan at 350 deg. Fahr.

RICH LEMON SAUCE OR FILLING

This makes an excellent rich sauce for a white or spice or chocolate cottage pudding, but is at its best as a filling for layer cakes or tarts.

In top of double boiler mix ¾ cup sugar, 6 tablespoons flour and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Stir in 1 egg, then stir in ½ cup boiling water and cook stirring over boiling water until thick. Cover and allow to cook 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Remove from double boiler, add 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup lemon juice and ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Cool this before spreading if it is to be used between layer cakes. It may be spooned hot into tarts or over cottage pudding.

DOROTHY DIX:

Husband's Help Needed When Wife Is Employed

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I both work. We have a three-year-old daughter. Do you think he should help with the housework (five large rooms) If so, how much should he do?

MRS. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

FAIR SHARING

ANSWER: Since you both share the breadwinning, it's only fair that the housework should be shared, too. The exact division of labor is a problem that must be solved individually.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Although my boy friend of a year tells me he loves me, I am beginning to doubt it. He is planning on going to Europe this fall for an indefinite stay. He doesn't have a good job here, and feels that a period of travel will help his future. My friends say if he loved me he wouldn't want to go. In all fairness, I must admit he had begun his plans before he met me. Do you think such a trip will cure his restlessness? We are both 21.

YVONNE D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You must realize that since you and the boy are in love, anything he does for his own self-improvement in the long run also will be for your benefit. If he feels that a European trip will aid his future business prospects, you will benefit directly by what he accomplishes. As he has had this European bug in his ear for some time, he would probably feel frustrated if you urged him to give it up, and any failures in his future might be blamed on the fact that you discouraged his efforts for betterment. Let him have his expedition and see to what good use he puts it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Linda and I have been pals for a long time, and we have both fallen into the same type of boy-friend trouble. For several months we went skating and to hockey games with two boys, whom we liked a lot. One night Gene, my boy friend, asked for a date the following Sunday. We were to meet at the skating rink but he never showed up. That was two months ago. I've seen him twice since—both times with other girls. I'd love to get him back.

MARGARET

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why cling to a vain hope of recovering the boys' interest, when they have shown so obviously they no longer care? Boys don't break dates with girls they like, nor do they immediately latch on to someone else. You're growing up, girls, and as part of your maturity you must learn to accept hard facts like these. Actually, they only seem hard for a while; other heart-throbs soon take up the slack.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young married woman who likes to sleep late in the morning. I get up to prepare my husband's breakfast, then return to bed, and since we have no children this custom imposes no hardship on anyone. However, my neighbors seem to be considerably irked by it. They love to spend the morning finding excuses to get me out of bed.

T. N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly it's your own business how you spend your time, and the neighbors should permit you to enjoy your snoozing. Are you sure you're not slightly bitten by a guilty-complex bug? Many late-sleepers feel that in a world of early risers they should conform, but, since they can't make the adjustment, their individuality produces a slight sense of guilt. This is, of course, foolish. Since no one is being hurt, or even inconvenienced, by your sleeping schedule, ignor the neighbors. Plug the phone and doorbell until you decide to arise.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Current Trends In Home Decorating

By JOAN BARBERIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Model houses decorated by experts and often shown to the layman are usually extra-modern or extra-costly. But a Toronto department store (Simpson's) has set to work and furnished a five-room display house combining current trends with moderate incomes.

Mrs. Madeleine Bell, interior decorator, said she gave special attention to the kitchen to eliminate the "clincial look."

Three quarters of the kitchen is taken up by the usual conveniences—refrigerator, stove and various utensils—which often do look rather clinical. But the other quarter of the room is devoted to a handsome oak dining table, chairs and a matching china cabinet.

It sounds a sharp contrast but the entire room is tied together by the clever use of small provincial pattern wallpaper in yellow with green and brown. An interesting look is provided by the oak dado around this "kitchen living area" in a finish to match the furniture.

KITCHEN COMFORT

Mrs. Bell said that with many families moving from cities to old rural houses these days, housewives are finding themselves back in large kitchens.

"As a large kitchen invariably becomes the centre of family living, this design is intended to handle the double duty," she said.

White metal cupboards in the kitchen have magnets to hold them closed. No warping or sticking in the summer.

Fibreglass curtains in the house hung beautifully and do not have to be ironed after washing.

Peasantly eye-catching was the jade green living-room wallpaper repeated in the mats of the white-framed prints on the wall.

A large modern lamp on a corner table in the living room had a shade made of the drapery fabric—a white ground antique satin with an airy design of trees and birds in shades of green, brown and gold.

A card table in the dining room with a toasted mahogany finish could be extended to seat six for dining.

Wrought iron furniture, now consolidating its popularity, is being designed for just about every room in a house. Rather expensive at one time it is now obtainable in different price ranges. Although it is most often seen in black or white, the odd touch of color is appearing, too.

6—In Memoriam

NICHOLS—In memory of our darling baby, Peter Blaine, who passed away August 8, 1952.
He was only a little white rosebud,
A sweet little flower of heavenly birth,
God took him home to heaven,
Before he was soiled on earth,
But God forgive a silent tear,
A wish that he were here.
—Ever remembered by his parents.

WELLS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frank A. Wells, who passed away five years ago.
In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peacefully, free from pain,
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.
—Ever remembered by loving wife and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the clergy, the attending doctors, Sisters, nurses, friends and neighbors for their kindness to me during my recent illness in St. Joseph's Hospital.—Vincent Moher.

We wish to extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and the many beautiful floral offerings received from friends, relatives and, especially to the attending doctors and all the staff at St. Joseph's Hospital for their wonderful care during the passing of the beloved son and brother, Gerald Godfrey.—Mrs. A. Driver Fined After Accident

LINDSAY—(ENS)—Mrs. Robert Chapman, 634 Wooford Rd., Willowdale, was fined $10 and $49.90 costs today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

A charge of dangerous driving was dismissed.

The charges arose out of an accident on Lindsay St. S. July 13 when Mrs. Chapman's car was in collision with one driven by Gordon McKillop of the Palmerston district.

According to the evidence, both cars were on McKillop's side of the road at the time of the collision. Mrs. Chapman told the court she "might have" frozen at the wheel after she had gone to McKillop's side of the road to avoid striking what she thought were cats.

Neither driver was injured in the accident but McKillop's wife suffered injuries to her neck and back and her sister-in-law, Mrs. V. McKillop, suffered two broken bones in her foot.

In the Chapman car, Mr. Chapman received severe facial lacerations and their three-year-old son, who was riding in the front seat with them, was injured in the mouth.

Damage to the two cars totalled $1,200.

CCF Health Plan Country's Best, Says Coldwell

LLOYDMINSTER, Sask. (CP)—From his hotel in Alberta Wednesday night M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, walked a couple of blocks to the Canadian Legion hall in Saskatchewan.

And there before an audience of 250 which filled the place he contrasted the health services provided by the CCF government in Saskatchewan and the Social Credit government in Alberta.

In Alberta, he said, hospital patients pay $1 a day for ward care and they pay for other services in hospital so that a long stay there might cost them up to $100.

In Saskatchewan, which had the best hospital plan for its people in North America, every person had the right to free hospital treatment on the authorization of a doctor.

COULDN'T JOIN

The people in the Alberta section of this border town had asked to join the Saskatchewan plan, he said, and had been refused permission by their government.

"Nevertheless they still vote Social Credit," he added. "You can't very well beat promises of $25 a month here and the kingdom of Heaven afterwards."

Mr. Coldwell said the CCF wanted more than anything a national health plan under which everyone could have medical care without regard to financial circumstances. Many Canadians could date their poverty in old age to illness and many made their ailments more grave because they felt they could not afford to go to a doctor.

The CCF would finance such a plan on ability to pay. Neither the Liberals nor the Conservatives could be depended upon to do that. Of the tax cuts of $250,000,000 under the last budget, he said, 70 per cent went to the big corporation and rich individuals. A man who earned $2,400 a year would be saved $1, but International Nickel was saved $3,500,000.

SOIL BEST ASSET

He warned the people of Saskatchewan that whatever wealth might be made through the discovery of oil, their only permanent asset would be the soil.

When oil had been extracted nothing was left but a hole in the ground. That had been learned in Texas. It would also be learned in Alberta, where "oil and liquor, the province's liquid assets, financed those holy people in control."

Mr. Coldwell spoke of the difficulty the CCF had in making progress in the part of Lloydminster that is in Alberta.

The "religion talking" Social Crediters of Alberta alarmed him more than Social Crediters in British Columbia.

"The latter," he said, "are unscrupulous opportunists who have failed to get control of the Conservative party and have jumped into Social Credit though they remain dyed in the wool Tories."

Bonardelli, right, secretary of the Canadian Inter-American Association.

TLC's Neutrality Policy With Politics Threatened

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal election day coincides with the opening of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada's annual convention here, and the delegates are expected to hear some political talk.

Several bodies within the 560,000-member congress will be making an attempt to swing the TLC away from its traditional stand of political neutrality in the direction of the CCF, but congress informants say they won't be successful.

Resolutions calling for a tie-up with the CCF have been sent in for convention consideration from a number of congress affiliates, in somewhat larger numbers than in previous years.

The sister central labor body in this country—the smaller Canadian Congress of Labor — has been hooked up with the CCF for 10 years. It calls the CCF the "political arm of labor."

But the older TLC has pursued a policy of not supporting directly any political party, and officials say it undoubtedly will stick to this stand during the week's convention that opens Aug. 10.

SOCIAL WELFARE ISSUE

The approximately 600 delegates are expected to devote their attention largely to discussion of broadening of social security measures in Canada. The congress likely will call for a wide scheme of contributory health insurance, along with other security measures such as larger old age pensions payable at an earlier age than now.

Housing also will come in for attention, with the TLC calling for government aid in low-rental housing programs and easier financial terms for home-builders.

Congress officials say the convention is not likely to hear any major repercussions from a recent shake-up in the Canadian branch of a TLC affiliate—the AFL Teamsters Union. The Canadian teamster chief, A. F. MacArthur of Toronto, was deposed by his international office in Washington, which also set up a trusteeship for a Montreal local.

For several years MacArthur has been a leading figure in the TLC—among other things heading the affiliated Ontario Federation of Labor—but the congress is unlikely to try to interfere with his removal. It generally keeps a hands-off attitude on the internal affairs of autonomous affiliates.

One question that has been to the forefront of some recent TLC conventions but will be pushed into the background this year is that of communism in Canadian unions. Until a couple of years ago, Communist domination of some big TLC unions was a headache for the central body, but it led to a house-cleaning that has largely got rid of the subversives.

One election-day problem has bothered the congress leadership—that of getting a vote for delegates and their wives from all over the country in the general election. The TLC tried to get facilities set up for them here but couldn't do it under existing legislation. The only delegates voting will be those such as railwaymen who could bailot at advance polls before leavin ghome. advance polls before leaving home. Bengough will be running again and will undoubtedly be re-elected. The 70-year-old chief has given no indication of retiring.

Rams Foot Through Boat Man Drowns In Sturgeon

THE PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE LEADER, GEORGE DREW, chatted with two of his party's candidates at Port Hope today. Shown on the left is Ollie Taylor, candidate for Northumberland, and on the right, Charles Stephenson, candidate for Durham. Mr. Drew lunched at Port Hope today before leaving in a motorcade for Cobourg where he spoke this afternoon. Tonight he will wind up his long campaign with a speech at a rally in Kingston, the seat, for almost three decades, of Canada's first Prime Minister and Conservative leader, Sir John A. Macdonald. —(Parks Studio Photo)

Drew Says RCMPs Uncovered Incredible Waste In Ottawa

PORT HOPE (Staff)—Evidence of incredible waste and extravagance in the Defence Department has been furnished by the RCMP in the several charges made in the past few weeks, Progressive Conservative leader George Drew stated in an interview here today. In support of his contention, Mr. Drew cited thefts of large sums of money by having "Wing Commanders and Air Commodores on the payroll who don't even exist and recent cases of theft from army camps and irregularities in army contracts." Pausing briefly at the Idalia hotel here at noon today for lunch with candidates, MLAs and party supporters from Northumberland and Durham ridings, the man who was leader of the official opposition in the last House of Commons showed little sign of the strain of weeks of arduous campaigning from one end of the country to the other.

In regard to the success of his party's appeal for votes at next Monday's election, Mr. Drew made the cautious observation that he had received "encouraging support in every part of Canada and there was evidence of strong support for all the party candidates.

Preceded by a sleek black limousine, driven by a liveried chauffeur, bearing the press corps which accompanies him on his campaign trips, Mr. Drew arrived here in a sharply-contrasting moderate-priced two-door car. He arrived in Toronto this morning on the overnight train from Ottawa.

OFF TO COBOURG

After lunch, Mr. Drew left in a motorcade for a speech in Cobourg this afternoon. Tonight he will speak to a rally in Kingston which the founder of the Conser-

Coldwell Denies Supporting Diefenbaker

ROSETOWN, Sask. (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell arrived back in his constituency of Rosetown-Biggar Friday night after the toughest day of his two-month election tour.

He rose at 6 a.m. at Lloydminster, where he had spoken Thursday night, and finished speaking here at 10:20 p.m. In between, he motored 435 miles over Saskatchewan roads with only four breaks—three for coffee and one to change his shirt.

In his first speech, given before an audience of 300 in a Prince Albert theatre, he denied that he had said anything in support of John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative candidate there.

Mr. Coldwell said the Sudbury Daily Star of July 22 reported that "a top campaigner of the CCF" on his way through Ottawa between the Prairies and the Maritimes had said he believed that Mr. Diefenbaker would be elected and that he (the campaigner) would not be unhappy if that were the case.

"I was the only top CCF campaigner in Ottawa just before that date," said Mr. Coldwell. "I gave no such interview and did not see any reporters in Ottawa who could have written such a story. I saw no one in Ottawa connected with any newspaper."

Mr. Diefenbaker was a Conservative "trusted by financial and other interests in Eastern Canada." Mr. Coldwell said that he and the CCF party supported the CCF candidate, David Corney.

After the meeting he took coffee in the committee rooms, picked up a bag of sandwiches and drove 200 miles to Rosetown where an audience of 340 was waiting for him in the community hall.

They and others listening in autos to loudspeakers outside the building neard him say that if there was a stalemate in the election the CCF would not join any coalition, but would give its support in forming a government to the party which would give written promises of a national health plan, the Saskatchewan dam and "other undertakings useful to the people of Canada."

Body Jammed Under Pulpwood

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP) — Discovery this morning of the body of Joe Masson, 45, of Espanola, jammed in the pulp boom 1½ miles above the KVP mill here has launched a provincial police investigation into what they believe is Espanola's first murder in three years.

Masson, assistant vendor at the Espanola liquor store, was reported last seen early Thursday morning as he left an Espanola restaurant for his nearby home. He drove away in his light delivery truck. The truck is still missing.

Only a freak accident revealed the body which might have lain under the pulpwood for months. It was apparently jammed down through the floating pulpwood in the hope of concealment. The man's belt, however, had caught in the bottom boom chain bringing the soles of his shoes to the surface, where they were seen by Edmond Lachance, winch boat operator.

2 Men Slain In Toronto Rooming House

TORONTO (CP)—Two men were brutally murdered Friday night in a dingy downtown rooming house. One had his throat slashed; the other was strangled with his tie.

Police identified the victims as Joseph George King, 81, and George E. Weaver, 78. Weaver's throat was slashed with either a sharp table knife or the broken edge of a wine bottle. A tie was twisted tightly around King's neck. Broken wine bottles littered the small room.

As soon as the murders were discovered 50 police officers under the direction of Chief Constable John Chisholm began to comb all rooming houses in the downtown area.

Police said the possibility of a suicide has been ruled out. The knife found had been wiped clean of blood. It was also some distance from the two bodies, which were on adjoining beds.

SEEK TWO YOUNG MEN

The search centres around two young men, described as flashy dressers. One is said to be a former carnival operator.

Police today picked up two suspects for questioning but later said it was believed they had no connection with the case.

George Howlings, who took a room in the house on John St., after obtaining a weekend pass from Sunnybrook military hospital where he is a patient, found the bodies.

Howlings told police he went upstairs to the front room and found the bodies on separate cots. Pulling back the covers, Howlings found one body on the cot by the front window with a tie tightened around the throat. Pieces of a broken wine bottle surrounded the head, which was covered in blood that had soaked the mattress.

Howlings said the second body was on the other side of the room. The victim appeared to have died with a deep knife wound through the left side of the throat. The other mattress also was blood-soaked.

KILLED 3 HOURS EARLIER

Dr. J. B. Lovering, assistant coroner, placed the time of death at about 7:30 p. m. The bodies were found some three hours later.

The rooming house operator, Mike Pynboyski, told police the room was rented by the day by

New Curbs For E. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The Russian zone Communists clamped severe new restrictions on travel into Berlin today in a desperate attempt to prevent a week-end rush of East Germans to American free food stations here. But thousands of the hungry and resourceful made it anyhow.

The newest Red measures was aimed at stopping even cyclists and pedestrians. They were said to have been ordered after a one-week ban on the sale of railroad tickets, and direct assaults by Red storm troopers, failed to smash the relief campaign.

The East Germans thumbed their noses at the Communist police by the 2,000,000-parcel mark during finding or making new loopholes.

Lines formed at the food stations before mid-morning and the vast give-away was expected to pass the weeknd.

Widespread Communist persecution continued against people who took the American aid. In some places, pensions and other public aid were cut off in reprisal.

Election Service On Monday Night

Election results on Monday night will be broadcast by the Examiner over CHEX at regular intervals during the evening commencing at 7.30. There will also be a bulletin board service for those who are down town and the Examiner's switchboard will have its lines staffed ready to give out the latest returns.

Polls close at 7 o'clock and it is hoped to have a first total ready to broadcast at 7.30. This will be followed with spot broadcasts at 8.30, 9.30, 10.25 and 10.45. National returns will be broadcast commencing at 8.35 and from then on the radio scene will be taken over with local and national returns.

Deputy returning officers have all been advised to telephone the results to the district returning officer and the compiling the results on Monday night will largely depend on the efficiency in which they do their job. The Examiner will also endeavor during the evening to bring the three candidates in the Peterborough riding to the microphone.

Those who will be telephoning to 4641 for the results are asked to withhold their calls until 8.15 when it is hoped a more complete return can be given of the election in Peterborough.

Russia Has H-Bomb Chief Reports

Malenkov Appearance In Parliament Comes As Surprise

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia gave the world notice today that she has mastered production of the hydrogen bomb. Premier Georgi Malenkov said: "The United States no longer has the monopoly of the hydrogen bomb."

He told cheering deputies in the joint session of the Supreme Soviet (Russia's Parliament) that Soviet scientists mastered its production a long time ago.

Malenkov said that for a long time now the United States had not had the monoply on the atom bomb but American leaders took comfort in saying that while they had not the monopoly they were making a better bomb than the Soviet Union—the hydrogen bomb.

HAVE CRUSHING BLOW

He said the Soviet military budget provided for an improved defence capacity "to give a crushing blow to any aggressor who wants to violate the peaceful life of the Soviet Socialist Republics."

The Soviet premier's appearance at the session came as a surprise; it had not been announced beforehand.

He said that after many years there was now felt a certain relaxation in the atmosphere of international affairs, which was reflected in public aspirations for a lasting peace.

But there were forces which put stakes in war and followed a strategy of cold war and atomic blackmail.

He termed the North Atlantic bloc the main danger to world peace and blasted what he called

Warns All PoWs Must Be Returned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department told the Communists today they must turn over to the armistice repatriation commission all United Nations prisoners captured during the Korean war.

A department statement said any who have been given jail sentences are to be included.

The statement, put out by Acting Secretary Walter Bedell Smith, expressed grave concern over reports that the Communists may not intend to return "all our prisoners now in their custody."

Earlier this week, Gen. Mark Clark, the UN commander in Korea, said he thought the Reds might hold 2,000 or 3,000 U.S. prisoners of war whom they have not listed for repatriation.

News dispatches from Korea have told of the reported sentencing of American PoWs by Communists within the last few weeks.

Today's statement said "progress of the prisoner exchange is being watched very closely and appropriate action will be taken just as soon as definite facts are established."

French Strike Petering Out

PARIS (AP)—French civil servants began trooping back to work today as the country's worst general strike since 1936 sputtered toward a close. But mail, telegraph, telephone, gas and electric power services remained out.

Buses and subways roared back into operation and government employees were at their desks when offices opened this morning. Crack railroad trains chugged out of Paris's big stations. Elsewhere, the rail strike continued.

The returning workers were an estimated 2,000,000 Frenchmen employed in a variety of public services who left their jobs at midnight Thursday in protest against Premier Joseph Laniel's rumored plans to save money at their expense.

Walkouts in the big government-owned gas and electric power services were scheduled to continue until midnight tonight. The government's postal, telegraph and telephone services also remained unmanned as workers remained away from their jobs for the third consecutive day.

St. Laurent Says PCs Trying To Fool People

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday night a vote for a Progressive Conservative candidate in Monday's election "is a vote to take risks with the security of Canada and the Canadian people."

In a final CBC trans - Canada network broadcast and a rally speech to 10,000 persons in Maple Leaf Gardens, the 71-year-old Liberal leader also called Conservative tax-cut promises a "barefaced attempt to fool the people."

Today is a free day for Mr. St. Laurent, who has just wound up a seven-week cross - country campaign. He and Mrs. St. Laurent are returning to Quebec City.

Mr. St. Laurent, joined on the platform by External Affairs Minister Pearson and Trade Minister Howe, said the Conservatives have promised to reduce defence expenditures by $250,000,000 a year through elimination of waste and extravagance in government spending.

EXAGGERATED CLAIMS

But, said the prime minister, most of the Conservative charges of waste and extravagance either are "grossly exaggerated or untrue." Even if they were not, they would not add up to even $1,000,000 a year.

"And that would mean that more than $249,000,000 of the $250,000,000 a year the Conservatives are promising to save would have to be represented by a real reduction in our defences."

He did not mean Conservative leader George Drew intends to risk Canada's national security—"but that could not help but be the consequence of carrying out his promise."

The Liberals promised no defence reductions until the dangers from world war were overcome.

Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Drew has tried to appeal to young married couples by promising to raise the income tax exemption to $3,000 a year from $2,000. But if those couples hoped to raise families, they must not forget that both they and their families were being protected by the government's efforts to prevent another war.

The prime minister said he could not help but agree with CCF leader M. J. Coldwell that "there has never been a more bare-faced attempt to fool the people than the Conservative promises in this campaign."

Mr. St. Laurent appealed to democratic Canadians to get out and vote Monday and prevent the possibility of communists electing members to the next Parliament.

He also said the Conservatives have been saying over and over again that Mr. Howe had asked

New Violence In Strike, Truck Burned

Driver Says Carload Of Men Stone, Stop His Vehicle

HAMILTON —(CP)—A new truck was burned early today at nearby Clappison's Corners on No. 5 highway. An official of the Cope Transport Company of Hamilton said the driver had reported that a car-load of men had stoned his truck and then stopped him near a restaurant. While the driver was in the restaurant telephoning police the truck was taken away from the trailer and the interior of the cab was set on fire.

Lennox Share of St. Jacobs, the driver, said he did not know how the fire was set and when he returned to the cab the men were pulling away in a car.

The transport unit was on its way from Kitchener to Hamilton with a half load of carboard and jute pads.

A strike of truck drivers from the Hamilton and Windsor locals of the AFL Teamsters' Union, now in its 20th day, has tied up half of highway transport in the area. More than 1,500 drivers and 36 companies are affected. The drivers walked out July 20 seeking higher wages.

Sentence Cahill On August 25

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Leo Cahill, 29, of Smiths Falls, Ont., charged with the armed robbery of the Portland, Ont., branch of the Royal Bank of Canada on May 25, 1953, was remanded in custody Friday afternoon until Aug. 25 when he will be sentenced by Judge Donald E. Lewis, of Brockville.

Cahill, who elected trial by judge, pleaded guilty to the offence, and $4,324 of the $4,884 stolen from the bank was ordered returned. Bad debts and poor health were given as reason for Cahill's actions. Several character witnesses and his wife were heard.

Even the investigating officer, Inspector J. F. Craig, of Toronto was called as a character witness. He told the court that Cahill appeared to have been stupid in connection with the crime, and was not a hardened criminal type.

"He admitted that he was scared when he robbed the bank and told me that if the manager had said 'boo' when he was scooping up the money he would have fled," Inspector Craig stated. He said Cahill co-operated with police and showed them where the money was hidden.

Oshawa Fisherman Tries To Step On Flopping Bass

FENELON FALLS—Trying to jam his foot on a flopping bass, Clifford McDiarmid, 42, of Oshawa, rammed his foot through the bottom of his plywood boat and caused his own death by drowning in Sturgeon Lake Friday about 10:30 p.m. McDiarmid, accompanied by his brother, Leonard, and father-in-law, Leslie Magee, was on holidays. He was staying with his wife and two small daughters at a cottage at the north end of Sturgeon, about nine miles from Fenelon Falls.

The boat filled up and turned over. The men tried to cling to the boat, but somehow in the scramble, McDairmid, who could swim, went under and wasn't seen again.

CRIES HEARD

The cries of the two men were heard by people on shore and the two men were rescued before they too were drowned. After treatment by Dr. Thomas of Bobcaygeon they were taken to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay.

OPP Constable J. A. Williams is directing dragging operations, which by press time today had not yet located the body of the Oshawa man in the deep water.

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mary left an estate of £406,407 ($1,137,939), it was announced when her will was probated today.

The will did not disclose the names of any of the beneficiaries. The net value of the estate was announced as £379,864. This sum was smaller than many had anticipated.

The net value is the amount left after taxes, which the estate had to pay even though the Queen was the mother of two monarchs and the grandmother of the present Queen. Only wills of reigning kings are exempt from taxation.

Royal family wills are admitted to probate in the usual way but are kept secret unless publication is authorized by the president of the probate court.

Taxes on the estate amounted to £163,745.

Prime Minister Asks Canadians To Vote

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent Friday night appealed to democratic Canadians to get out and vote Monday and prevent the possibility of Communists electing members to the next Parliament.

"There is a section of the population . . who I know will be at the polling booths," Mr. St. Laurent said in a radio broadcast and political rally here.

"These are the small group of fanatical people who are dedicated to the spread of communism. In this country they go under the name of Labor-Progressives. . . ."

"Let nothing stand in the way of each one of you casting your vote," the prime minister urged the democratic electorate.

Civil Servants Promised Better Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, closes out his seven-week election campaign today with speeches at three more Ontario centres, Oshawa, Cobourg and Kingston. He returns here late tonight to await results of Monday's polling.

In the capital Friday night, Mr. Drew aimed a good portion of his speech at a good segment of Ottawa's population—the civil service.

He promised a five-day work week and freedom from "political interference" for civil servants. His party had pledged pay and working conditions comparable to those in private industry "and that means the five-day week."

Mr. Drew renewed his criticism of State Secretary J. W. Pickersgill, recently appointed to the cabinet from his post as clerk of the Privy Council, a civil service job.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY

Mr. Pickersgill's "full time for the last few years" had been taken up with political activities. "No government should dare to use a senior civil servant for political purposes," Mr. Drew added.

The Progressive Conservative leader spoke before 1,800 persons in Exhibition Park coliseum, where he was elected to the party leadership five years ago. A band preceded his motorcade to the park.

He asked for a Progressive Conservative majority in the next

Take Big Bus On Wild Ride

LONDON (Reuters)—Three men were charged in court today with beating up a bus driver and conductor Friday night and commandeering the big double decker to take its 20 passengers for a wild ride through West London.

The bus swayed along at top speed with police cars in pursuit. Passengers hung on in terror.

Police eventually overtook the runaway bus and arrested the three. Two more of the gang escaped.

The three under arrest appeared today on charges of beating the two bus men who received hospital treatment—and stealing the bus.

Police said investigations were still under way to determine the motive of the escapade. The three were remanded for a week.

Wind Up Election Campaign

Eight Weeks Of Oratory End As Electors Get Chance To Give Their Decision With Secret Ballots Monday

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA (CP)—The oratory is just about ended, and now it is the electors who will talk with ballots.

Except for some last-minute shots, the general election campaign is finished after eight weeks of verbal firing. The voters, on the receiving end up to now, take over Monday at the polls.

After a week-end respite from speeches, perhaps 8,000,000 voters will go to the polling stations to make their four-year choice among the Liberals in government, four other major parties and a variety of independents.

896 FOR 263 SEATS

In this first August election since 1874, they are confronted with 896 candidates running for 263 Commons seats, two Quebec Liberals have gone in by acclamation, and a multiplicity of issues.

But they know the government can be formed only by the Liberals, the Progressive Conservatives or the CCF. No other group is running enough candidates to get a majority.

It will take a big upheaval to put in either of the two opposition parties bidding for power. It needs 133 seats, and at dissolution in June the Progressive Conservatives held 48 and the CCF 13 against 181 by Prime Minister St. Laurent's Liberals.

Political quarters have been looking for any possible big-scale turnover to develop largely among Ontario's 85 seats where the Progressive Conservatives got the bulk of their support in the last election. For t . reason Ontario has been the final fighting ground of the leaders of the two big parties.

PCs NEED QUEBEC

Barring heavy switches elsewhere, the Progressive Conservatives also must carve out a large chunk of Quebec's 75 traditionally-Liberal constituencies to get into power. They also have been concentrating there in the late days of the campaign. They held only three Quebec seats as Parliament closed.

The two major parties are contesting almost all of the decisive Quebec-Ontario block of 160 seats, with the CCF also putting well over half their candidates in those provinces, though that party had only two Eastern Canadian seats at dissolution.

The Communist Labor-Progressive party, too, has more than half its record 100 candidates in the central provinces. Social Credit has aimed its fire largely at the West, where Alberta gave the group all of its 10 seats in the last Parliament and where it hopes to ride a Social Credit wave in British Columbia.

48 WOMEN RUN

Several parties have gone in more heavily than usual for women candidates this time. There are 48 in the field. The Communists lead with 21, including seven apiece in Ontario and Quebec.

The CCF is running 13 and the Progressive Conservatives nine. The Liberals have only three and Social Credit one. There is one Independent Progressive Conservative woman.

Ontario has the heftiest concentration of feminine candidates with 23 and Quebec is next with 11. British Columbia has eight. Only Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have none in the lists.

The Progressive Conservatives have reinforced their bid for the distaff vote by promising that they would bring a woman into the cabinet for the first time since Confederation. In the last Commons, they had the only woman member in Mrs. Ellen Fairclough of Hamilton West, who would likely be one of their cabinet ministers, if re-elected.

8,500,000 VOTERS

In this election, it is probable the eligible voters will run to an all-time high of around 8,500,000, though the total will not be known until regional officials send their enumeration returns to Ottawa after the voting. The previous high was in 1949, when 7,893,629 were qualified. Of these 5,903,572 voted.

Since the number voting has increased steadily in every general election, it appears probable more than 6,000,000 will use the franchise Monday. However, the August date, never before used since

Korea-U.S. Sign New Treaty

Promise Action If Reds Break Truce and Attack

SEOUL —(AP)— A treaty pledging the military might of the United States in defence of war-battered South Korea if Red armies break the truce and attack again was initialled here today.

The mutual security pact, which must have U.S. Senate approval, was initialled by U.S. State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai of South Korea.

The ceremonies in President Syngman Rhee's home climaxed four days of important conferences between Rhee and Dulles.

It came as UN headquartres in New York announced that 16 Allied countries with troops in Korea have promised to take up arms again in the event of a new Communist attack. But two countries—Britain and Canada—later hedged their commitment.

Dulles and Rhee in a joint statement hailed their work as "an important contribution to the development of independence and freedom in the Far East."

They also announced a United States-Korea agreement to walk out of the forthcoming political conference if both feel after 90 days that the Communists are "exploiting" efforts to achieve peace in Korea.

Dulles, his mission to Korea completed, flew to Tokyo on the first leg of his trip to Washington.

The security pact provides for basing U.S. troops in Korea. But Dulles told a press conference that "we want to get our armed forces home as soon as is consistent with our responsibilities."

Dulles and his advisers also discussed with South Korean leaders a vast program of economic aid planned by the U.S. to rebuild the war shattered land. The three- to four-year plan contemplates $1,000,000,000 in American aid, of which $200,000,000 already has been approved by Congress.

The Rhee-Dulles statement said they hope their exchange of views "will establish a preparatory foundation for co-ordinated efforts at the political conference."

The high-level international talks, according to the armistice terms, must open by Oct. 27.

The talks are aimed at finding a way to unite North and South Korea by peaceful means and fixing a time for withdrawal of Chinese and UN forces from the peninsula.

Dulles told newspaper men other matters might arise for debate. These could include such Asian issues as the fate of Formosa and the Indo-China war.

But Dulles and Rhee agreed that if, after 90 days, the U.S. and South Korea see "that the conference is being exploited by the Communist delegates mainly to infiltrate, propagandize or otherwise embarrass the Republic of Korea," the two nations will walk out.

The statement said the two nations, if they leave the talks, will "consult further regarding the attainment of a unified, free and independent Korea."

In response to questions, Dulles said "the agreed duration of the political conference is the time the conference lasts, subject to a cut-off. That would be 90 days if both governments agree."

Dulles emphasized, however, that the conference could go less than 90 days or longer.

He added that "any judgment of ours (the United States) on this would be based on consultation with other Allied delegates."

The 16 countries with troops in Korea signed a pledge July 27 to fight again in the event of a new Red attack there, but it was not announced until Friday.

Britain and Canada, both of whom signed, qualified their concern over consequences of war on the China mainland.

The declaration signed last month in Washington says of a possible new Communist attack:

SINGER ORDERED DEPORTED — Singing star Dick Haymes (dark glasses) is escorted into the U.S. Immigration Service office in Hollywood, Calif., by investigator Thomas D. McDermott (left). Haymes was arrested for deportation to his native Argentina on charges of leaving and re-entering the country illegally. He had recently flown to Hawaii to visit redheaded actress Rita Hayworth.

Report Heavy Wheat Carryover

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian wheat stocks in transit or in store at North American positions at the close of the 1952-53 crop year, July 31, totalled 268,100,000 bushels, the heaviest wheat carryover since the end of the Second World War, and exceeds the previous year by 40 per cent.

This figure does not include the stocks on farms, which are estimated later.

The board of grain commissioners also reported today that wheat deliveries from farms to licensed elevators during the crop year totalled 52,600,000 bushels, an all-time high for farmers' wheat marketings in Canada. The previous high was recorded in the 1928-29 crop year. Deliveries of all grains totalled 318,000,000 bushels, 12.8 per cent greater than the 1951-52 record year.

Canada's wheat exports to overseas countries and the U.S was 329,000,000 bushels. A record 119,000,000 bushels of barley left the country.

Commons: "There's a real job to be done in tidying up a lot of untidy corners [illegible]. We want assistance in cleaning up the mess that's been left by these people (Liberals) for 18 years."

Mr. Drew denied the Liberal charge that a Progressive Conservative promise to reduce defence expenditures would weaken Canada's armed forces: "We will provide all the millions needed for real defence, but not one red cent for waste, extravagance and inefficiency."

HAVE GOOD MEN

He said there was no question about fine men of cabinet calibre within Progressive Conservative ranks: "I hear the question asked where would we get the men to replace these supermen like the unparalleled minister of national defence, Brooke Claxton. . . I can give you the names of 12 of our members in the last House of Commons who would be 10 times as good as Mr. Claxton."

Earlier, at Hawkesbury, Ont., Mr. Drew said he opposes the idea of amalgamation of Canada's two railway systems, the government-owned Canadian National and privately-owned Canadian Pacific.

Progressive Conservative policy was to expand use of railways through increased competition and give them more business through increased trade and industrial development.

He attacked what he said was a Liberal campaign statement that a Progressive Conservative government would amalgamate the railways and put large numbers of railroaders out of work.

"That is an election appeal of an utterly improper kind. . . . The government knows perfectly well I believe in competition between railways in this country," he told an afternoon audience of 150 in the Hawkesbury town hall.

The railways had lost much freight business to trucks.

"My position has been right along that we should get some of this heavy freight back onto the rails and get it off the highways."

Mr. Drew again raised the issue of the campaign letter sent to members of the armed forces by the National Liberal Federation, and referred to a news report that some Canadian soldiers in Korea lacked official lists of candidates when the service voting began last Monday.

The letter contained a list of all Liberal candidates, he said, and the government "used government aircraft to carry those letters to military establishments at your expense."

"They were able to get their political letter there, but they couldn't deliver the official list of all candidates."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices generally dropped to lower levels Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Some early advances were lost as the session progressed.

Modest commercial demand early in the trade included small purchases by American interests in oats and barley. Light export buying showed in oats in connection with small sales of feeding grades to the United Kingdom. Early advances in flax were reduced or erased as offerings increased near the close. Rye was sharply lower throughout in sympathy with declines on outside markets. Prices for Class 2 wheat dropped three cents. IWA prices were unchanged.

Corn Cheaper Not Plentiful Yet

Home grown corn dropped from 60 to 50 cents a dozen in price this week at the open market, but according to jobbers and farmers they expect the prices to stay about that level for the next couple of weeks, until corn becomes more plentiful.

MOSTLY TOMATOES

Tomatoes were the biggest seller of the day. They were selling for 80 cents a basket.

Eggs were down two cents in price from last week. Grade A oversize were selling for 73 cents, large 70 cents and medium 68 cents.

Garden vegetables were the next biggest item on the farmers' stands. Cucumbers were selling for 5 cents; peppers two for 15 cents; two bunches of carrots 15 cents; two bunches of beets 15 cents; head of cabbage 10 cents; basket of beans 50 cents; onions 25 cents; vegetables marrow 15 to 25 cents, and lettuce 10 cents.

Buches of gladioli were selling from 50 to 75 cents a dozen.

New potatoes varied in price, but most farmers were asking 30 or 35 cents a basket. The last of the home grown cherries were on sale at $1.50 a six quart basquet. Red currants and gooseberries were selling for 30 cents a quart. Harvest apples were on sale for 70 cents a basket.

Man Knocked Off Truck By 'Phone Wires

COBOURG — (ENS) — Clarence Strain, 20, of 706 Cameron St., Peterborough toppled off a truck driven by Alexander Curtis of Peterborough Friday, while travelling along Highway No. 28, four miles north of Port Hope.

He is in the Port Hope hospital for examination.

The truck, owned by Beatty Transport Company was transporting three gasoline storage tanks. One tank was bolted on the truck horizontally and the other two were fastened on the truck standing up.

Strain was hired to lift the wires along the highway with a pole to give the truck clearance. Four miles north of Port Hope the gasoline tanks got fouled up in telephone and hydro wides leading to a farmhouse and broke the telephone and hydro poles.

Strain was perched on top of one of the storage tanks and when it hit the wires he was thrown to the ground.

OPP Constable Bill Baluk of Cobourg investigated.

Payroll Robbery Report Denied

TORONTO—Toronto police Friday night denied reports published Friday that a Toronto gang had planned a $1,500,000 General Motors payroll robbery in Oshawa. It was explained that the rumor began with a facetious remark made by a prisoner in the Don Jail. But authorities added that no proof or evidence had been found to support such a theory.

The report claimed the holdup had been planned by a group of 10 men and women arrested on armed robbery charges in Toronto a week ago. The 10 were rounded up in a continuous 18-hour period of police activity, and members of the group were charged with four recent holdups, two in Toronto and two in Hamilton.

Thursday night a Canadian Army private, Preston Nix, and Therese McKenzie, alias LaLonde, were arrested in a Poplar Plains Rd. home and charged with possession of weapons dangerous to the public peace. Police found a loaded Sten gun—stolen from the Army's Long Branch camp—and a .22 calibre revolver. The pair are believed connected with the other group of 10 arrested earlier. Bail for them was set at $2,000.

As to the $1,500,000 robbery planned in Oshawa, officials stated that no single bank carried that amount of cash in that city. The immense General Motors payroll is covered by smaller deposits in eight banks.

Reporter Confirms Coldwell Interview

SUDBURY (CP)—The Sudbury Star today said its Ottawa correspondent, Richard Jackson, confirms that M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, told him he believed John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative, would be elected in Prince Albert.

Mr. Jackson said he had an informal interview with Mr. Coldwell, who knew he was a reporter, at the door to the centre block of the Parliament buildings in Ottawa. He was sure Mr. Coldwell had not said the talk was off the record but if he did "then I wish to apologize."

Mr. Coldwell at Prince Albert Friday night denied knowledge of two interviews with him published in the Sudbury Star May 23 and July 22. Dave Corney is CCF candidate in Prince Albert.

"The truth is he never said it at all and you can look for it as I did at the place the Tory literature says it is in Hansard (Parliament's official report) and there is no such thing there."

SHUDDER AT THOUGHT

In his speech Mr. St. Laurent said that Mr. Drew, if the Progressive Conservatives were elected, was prepared to "talk the language the United States government would understand" in connection with Canada's trade relations.

"I am sure all those Canadians who depend for their livelihood on our trade with the U. S. will shudder at the very possibility of giving Mr. Drew a chance to talk tough in Washington."

As Ontario premier, Mr. Drew had talked this same kind of "tough language" to the late prime minister Mackenzie King "and all we got was disagreement and frustration."

"But as soon as Mr. Drew ceased to be premier, relations between the provincial and federal governments began to improve."

Mr. St. Laurent said he was sure Canadians would be safer with Mr. Howe negotiating with them than with Mr. Drew trying to "blast" his way into foreign markets.

There was no immediate decision as to what charges, if any, will be preferred against Beer. Questioning is being conducted by Ontario provincial police since the incident occurred outside the city.

Beer offered no resistance when picked up.

The three complainants, Tom Boyce, Stan Turner and George Firlott, all striking members of Local 880 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL-TLC), said they were on lookout duty at the junction of Highways 2 and 39 through the night.

Lookouts, they explained, have orders not to stop trucks or interfere with them in any way. Their role is to drive into Windsor ahead of the transport and notify strike headquarters.

This morning, said Boyce, the three were asleep in their car after having been on duty for several hours.

"We awoke to find ourselves looking into the barrel of a rifle and to hear a warning as to what would happen if we bothered the guy."

The three sat quietly while under the threat of the rifle, then rushed into Windsor to notify police.

Beer, a driver for North American Van Lines, admitted that he had threatened the three strikers.

He said he has been hauling furniture for North American throughout the strike and has been stopped three or four times, then allowed to proceed. Two days ago he was stopped in Tilbury and, while several strikers questioned him others pulled the pin of his truck. The heavily-loaded trailer slid off the carrier and crashed to the ground, ruining the jacks and causing a delay of more than eight hours.

"I wanted to tell these men," said Beer, pointing to the three complaints, "not to bother me or there'd be trouble. I was one against three so I took the rifle along to make sure they'd listen."

Cutter Rams Club Schooner

TORONTO (CP) — A schooner from the National Yacht Club of Toronto was rammed amidship by a Dutch cutter in the pre-dawn darkness on Lake Ontario today. No one was injured in the collision which occurred 12 miles off the mouth of the Niagara river.

The Lady Jet, a 38-foot craft out of Toronto was damaged above the water line by the steel-hulled Dutch boat. Brothers H. J. and W. J. Coenders said they had sailed their 45-foot cutter all the way across the Atlantic from Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

The Lady Jet was on her way to Kingston when the accident happened.

Krushchev Now One Of Russia's Big 3 Leaders

By DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters)—Nikita Sergeyevich Krushchev, a short, squat tough Ukrainian who recently became senior secretary of the central committee of the Soviet Communist Party, has emerged this week as one of Russia's "big three."

On the first three days of the Supreme Soviet session in Moscow only three persons have attended each meeting of the two chambers. They are Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov, head of the government, Marshal Klimenti Voroshilov, head of the state, and Krushchev, head of the party.

The attendance of all three at each Supreme Soviet meeting seems to have been intended as a demonstration of unity at the top—the much publicized "collective leadership" principle—in face of the recent split through the downfall of Lavrenti P. Beria.

STALIN TREATMENT

Stalin treated the Supreme Soviet somewhat disdainfully. He always made a point of attending the joint budget session and sometimes he was seen at one other meeting, usually sitting in the back row of the government benches. He did not bother to attend the remaining meetings, always of a routine nature.

Marshal Voroshilov—at 72 the oldest close contemporary of Stalin—seems to rank fourth in the present hierarchy. Vyacheslav Molotov, foreign minister and a senior deputy premier, still ranks second according to the latest official listing. That leaves No. 3 spot to Krushchev, 59-year-old miner's son who joined the Bolshevik (Communist) party in 1918.

On the eve of the Supreme Soviet meeting this week the leading party and state figures attended an exhibition of Chinese industry and commerce in Moscow's Gorky Park.

Moscow radio announced the personalities in this order of precedence: Malenkov, Molotov, Krushchev, Voroshilov, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin (defence minister), Lazar Kaganovich, Anastas Mikoyan, M. Z. Saburov and Mikhail Pervukhin.

vative party, Sir John A. MacDonald, represented for almost three decades.

There was an echo of Sir John's national policy in the stress which Mr. Drew laid on the importance to the future of the country of the "development of our resources under a national policy creating new industry and opportunity in Canada."

In reference to the 16-point platform which the Progressive Conservative leader presented to the public when he opened his party's campaign in his home town of Guelph, Mr. Drew singled out two items of "most immediate consequence": the reduction of taxes and the recovery of Canada's export markets. No less important, he said, was the restoration of the rights of parliament.

OVERTAXED

In explaining how he thought taxes could be reduced, Mr. Drew said the opposition in the last parliament had pointed out that the Canadian people have been over-taxed since the end of the Second World War at the rate of a million dollars a day.

By ending this, he said, there can be a saving of very large sums of money.

"On top of that," he declared, "there can be a further saving by ending waste, extravagance and inefficiency.

"The evidence that there has been waste and extravagance has not been placed before parliament because the opposition has been denied the opportunity to conduct an inquiry.

"The evidence of increased waste and extravgance has been furnished by men appointed by the government, particularly Mr. George Currie, Mr. McNabb, Dr. Warson Sellars, the auditor-general, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

THEFT OF LARGE SUMS

Asked to cite instances where the RCMP had revealed increased waste and extravagance, Mr. Drew mentioned "the several charges made in the past few weeks, such as theft of large sums of money having wing commanders and air commodores on the payroll who don't even exist and recent cases of theft from army camps and irregularities in army contracts.

"All these show that waste and extravagance are still going on," he said. "And the chaotic condition of supervision and accountancy described by Mr. Sellars still exists. The figures of waste and extravagance run into the hundreds of millions."

On hand to greet Mr. Drew were the Hon. William Goodfellow, MLA for Northumberland and Ontario Minister of Health and Welfare; the Hon. John Foote, MLA for Durham and Ontario Minister of Reform Institutions; Ollie Taylor, Progressive Conservative candidate in Northumberland; Charles Stephenson, Progressive Conservative candidate in Durham; W. N. Moore, mayor of Port Hope; Jack Burnet, mayor of Cobourg; John Flynn, president of the Northumberland riding Progressive Conservative Association; Alex Carruthers, president of the Durham riding association; W. R. Jex, president of the Port Hope association and former mayor; Mrs. Ruth Clark, Port Hope, a member of the executive of the Durham women's association, and Mrs. Dorothy Ingram, president of the Port Hope women's association.

Canada started one-day polling, may pose a question mark there.

The civilian vote will be buttressed by that of several thousand members of the armed forces in Canada and various parts of the globe, including Korea. They started balloting Monday and continued through this week.

There are 105,000 men and women in uniform eligible to vote, though returns from some points in the early balloting indicated the service vote was light. It will be counted Aug. 17—a week after civilian voting—and correlated with the civilian count.

In cases of close counts, the service ballot could overthrow the election night result, but such upsets have been scarce in the past.

In getting out after the votes, the party leaders have made this perhaps the most-travelled election campaign in Canadian history. Each of the top three chiefs, Prime Minister St. Laurent, Progressive Conservative leader George Drew and the CCF's M. J. Coldwell, has rolled up well over 20,000 miles by train, plane and automobile.

They have gone all the way from coast to coast and done a lot of north and south criss-crossing. Solon Low of the Social Credit has done less, for the most part sticking to the West.

They have carried to the electorate a variegated fare of issues, of which perhaps the main one has been the record of the Liberal party in 18 years of office and particularly in the last four years under 71-year-old Mr. St. Laurent.

The Liberals have said they are willing to be judged on it, and offered no specific promises for the future. The others have attacked it on many fronts.

The Progressive Conservatives have offered $500,000,000-a-year tax cuts as the front-rank point of a 16-plank platform. The CCF has pressed mainly for a national health insurance scheme financed from the national treasury, along with nationalization of some industries and other Socialist policies. The Social Credit group promised monetary measures to boost trade.

Various side-issues have cropped up. In the West, the building of the South Saskatchewan dam has been one, and opponents are wrangling over this vast project in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The controversial figure of J. W. Pickersgill, Canada's new secretary of state, has been injected into the campaign in various spots. The Progressive Conservatives, in particular, have attacked him as having won his spurs as a cabinet member by acting as a Liberal strategist while on the government payroll as a civil servant.

The 47-year-old Mr. Pickersgill is running in Newfoundland's Bonavista-Twillingate riding to succeed F. Gordon Bradley, his predecessor as state secretary. The only other cabinet member at dissolution not running is Works Minister Fournier, who went to the Exchequer Court bench. He had sat for Hull, Que.

Prime Minister St. Laurent is running in Quebec East; Mr. Drew in Carleton near here; Mr. Coldwell in Rosetown-Biggar, Saskatchewan, and Mr. Low in Alberta's Peace River riding on the northern frontier. All are expected to be in their home ridings on election day.

two elderly men and two young men. Other roomers said they heard no fighting or loud arguments.

The room contained four cots, each covered with a thin mattress, sheets and blankets. The rest of the furniture consists of a large dresser and two chairs. A pair of old-fashioned high-buttoned men's shoes lay under the bed of one of the victims.

Police found six wine bottles, two of them broken, in the room.

COVERED BY SHEETS

Howlings described for reporters his discovery of the two shrouded forms on the beds.

"When I pulled back the sheet, I said 'What's this?' The man's neck was slashed from ear to ear. All I could see on the other bed was a leg hanging out from under the covers.

"I ran downstairs and told the manager he'd better go and have a look. What else could I say? I've seen dead people before."

Canada Signs Pledge Fight Attack

Ottawa Not Tied To Immediate Invasion of China

OTTAWA —(CP)— Canada signed a pledge last month with 15 other United Nations Allies to resist any new attack in Korea, the external affairs department said Friday.

However, an external affairs department spokesman said that there would have to be full consultation among the 16 signatory powers before any action is taken in the event of a breach of the armistice.

The agreement, signed July 27 in Washington, said that the 16 countries with armed forces in the UN command in Korea "affirm in the interests of world peace that if there is a renewal of the armed attack, challenging again the principles of the UN, we should again be united and prompt to resist."

COULDN'T BE CONFINED

"The consequences of such a breach of the armistice would be so grave that, in all probability, it would not be possible to confine hostilities within the frontiers of Korea."

The spokesman said that this latter part of the agreement does not mean that Canada is committed to an immediate invasion of Communist China if China breaks the armistice now in effect in Korea.

The UN itself would have to decide whether the armistice had been broken and Canada, as a UN member, then would be obligated to "be prompt to resist."

the United States policy of atomic blackmail.

The Soviet policy of peace through negotiation was not a diplomatic tactic but the general line of present Soviet policy.

Malenkov's speech lasted an hour. It was his first speech since March 14 when he addressed a session of the Supreme Soviet that ratified the appointment of his administration after the death of Stalin.

The hydrogen bomb is a development of the atom bomb but many times more powerful. The United States atomic energy commission is believed to have exploded the world's first hydrogen bomb in a series of tests at the Einwetok atoll in the Marshal islands last year.

MADE TESTS

(The commission announced Nov. 11, 1952, that it had made tests with weapons "contributing to thermo-nuclear weapon research." Experts said this was a veiled reference to the hydrogen bomb.)

Malenkov also disclosed that Russia will grant 1,000,000,000 rubles (worth $250,000,000 at the agreed Western rate) for rehabilitation in Korea.

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Malenkov also outlined a big new government program for the production of consumer goods. He said the government was prepared to make a major effort in this direction.

The budget, he told the deputies, was a big step forward towards building communism in the Soviet Union and reflected the government's policy towards a steadily rising national economy.

Three minutes of cheering greeted his appearance from a seat behind the Praesidium table to address the last joint session of the Supreme Soviet's two houses, the Soviet of the Union and the Soviet of Nationalities.

Malenkov gave a lengthy breakdown of statistics showing Soviet industrial expansion.

He said the 1953 targets included: 38,000,000 tons of steel; 320,000,000 tons of coal; 52,000,000 tons of oil; 16,000,000 tons of cement; and 133,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity.

The Soviet premier reviewed against the broad background the present domestic and foreign policies of the Soviet government.

On foreign policy he reiterated that the present Soviet government adheres to the principle enunciated in March that there are no outstanding controversial questions that cannot be solved by peaceful negotiation between interested states, including Soviet-American problems.

Malenkov also referred to the dismissal of Lavrenti Beria, the former minister of internal affairs and police chief who has been denounced as an enemy of the people.

He said it was shortsighted to think that the case of Beria showed a weakness of the Soviet state.

To have exposed and rendered harmless a master agent of imperialism was a demonstration of internal strength, he declared.

After Malenkov's address the Supreme Soviet closed its four-day session.

Healthier PoWs Being Freed

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Some laughter and joy came to Panmunjom today as 90 Americans returned to freedom in obviously better health and spirits than those liberated in the first three days of the Korean prisoner exchange.

There were few maimed and haggard men in today's group.

The Reds sent back 250 South Koreans, 90 Americans, 35 Turks and 25 Britons—a total of 400.

They said Sunday's group of 400 will include 250 South Koreans, 112 Americans, 21 Britons, 13 Turks, two Australians, one Canadian and one Filipino.

So far, the four-day exchange has brought back a total of 1,205 South Koreans, 311 Americans, 143 Turks, 126 Britons, 34 Filipinos, 21 Colombians, seven Frenchmen, six Australians, one Belgian, one Canadian, one Greek and one South African.

Of the prisoners released today, 80 were Negroes.

AMERICANS YELL TOO

Seeing a convoy of singing Red North Koreans driving up the road, the Americans yelled and hooted.

"We might as well sing, too—shall we give him a little blues, boys?"

The Britons also were full of good cheer. One tall young Tommy shouted, "Iets' make it Dirty Dick's!" (a famous East London pub) as his truck rolled up.

A deeper note was struck by the Turks and South Koreans.

Their hatred of their captors was so intense that scores tore off their Chinese prison uniforms in spontaneous acts of defiance.

Military police had to restrain the Turks from stripping right in the roadway.

COULDN'T STOP KOREANS

But even the MPs could not stop the South Koreans. Many stripped to their underclothes the instant their feet struck ground.

The Communist prisoners, too, followed the urge to shed their garments, and the UN road from Munsan to Panmunjom was littered with American army gear—so much that poverty-stricken Korean civilians stole down from the hills and scavenged it.

Allied officers estimated returning Reds have discarded thousands of dollars worth of prison gear which under the Geneva Convention must be the same quality of clothing as Allied soldiers wear at the front.

Although the return of American, British and other UN prisoners went off much as scheduled by the Reds, the Communists showed no such precision with the South Koreans.

Allied officers complained that the lists of South Korean prisoners were grossly out of order and were, frankly, "a mess."

American repatriates revealed that some prisoners smoked a weed which had narcotic effects.

Meanwhile, at Inchon, a port on South Korea's west coast, some American disabled were loaded by helicopter onto the hospital ship Haven for the voyage back to the United States.

As the exchange continued, more Red prisoners were brought north for their ride back to communism.

At the port of Pusan, in far South Korea, 473 North Korean Communist women demonstrated at the docks, shouting "get away, Yankees."

They had thrown away their regular prison uniforms and were wearing slacks, Russian-type tunics and shiny leather belts they made in camp.

LOADED ON TRAIN

Security guards loaded them on a train for the journey north for delivery of its first women and children to the Reds Sunday.

The women are nurses, helpers, wives and camp followers mostly captured during the fall of 1950 in the flight of the North Korean Army. The children were either with the women or born in camp shortly after their capture.

Campaign Shouts Fade Away With Voting Two Days Away

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

The election campaign died away to a murmur today. Most of the candidates sat back fretfully to await the people's verdict Monday. Prime Minister St. Laurent held his last major rally Friday night at Toronto. He goes home to Quebec City today and will speak Sunday there and at Baie St. Paul. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, visits three Lake Ontario centres today—Oshawa, Cobourg and Kingston—to close out his campaign and returns to Ottawa late tonight. CCF leader M. J. Coldwell remained in Saskatchewan. He spoke Friday at Prince Albert and later to his own riding of Rosetown-Biggar. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, was in his home constituency of Peace River after a brief dash into British Columbia.

came to a halt Friday night. The Liberals were the last to be heard on the national networks.

Mr. St. Laurent made the radio broadcast and gave substantially the same speech before an audience of about 10,000 in 14,000-seat Maple Leaf Gardens.

ATTEMPT TO FOOL PEOPLE

He charged that Progressive Conservative campaign promises were a "bare-faced attempt to fool the people."

A vote for a Progressive Conservative candidate "is a vote to take risks with the security of Canada and the Canadian people." He didn't mean that Mr. Drew intended to risk Canada's national security "but that could not help but be the consequence of carrying out his promise."

Mr. St. Laurent said the Progressive Conservatives "are showing in this election a lot of contempt for the intelligence of the public." But even they could not make the public believe they could cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year without some reductions in expenditures—"and they have apparently picked on defence because they think it is less popular than other expenditures."

"None of us likes to have to spend money on defence, but we in the government believe the majority of Canadians would rather spend $2,000,000,000 a year to prevent a war than $5,000,000,000 or 6,000,000,000 a year to fight one with all the unimaginable horrors which the newest weapons could inflict on mankind."

DENIES FORCES WEAKENED

At Ottawa, Mr. Drew denied that his party's pledge to reduce defence spending would weaken Canada's armed forces: "We will provide all the millions needed for real defence but not one red cent for waste, extravagance and inefficiency."

Addresing an audience of 1,800 in the Exhibition Park coliseum, he said his party had explained how taxes could be reduced by at least $500,000,000 a year by ending "over-taxation" and increasing efficiency in the defence department.

There was no question about finding men of cabinet ability in Progressive Conservative ranks: "I hear the question asked where would we get the men to replace these supermen like the unparalleled minister of national defence, Brooke Claxton . . . I can give you the names of 12 of our members in the last House of Commons who would be 10 times as good as Mr. Claxton."

FIVE-DAY WEEK

Mr. Drew promised the five-day week and freedom from "political interference" for the civil service. He criticized State Secretary Pickersgill, recently appointed to the cabinet from his job as clerk of the Privy Council, a civil service post, for his "full time" political activities while he was clerk.

Mr. Coldwell denied that the CCF supports John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative candidate in Prince Albert. He said the Diefenbaker club in Prince Albert had issued a pamphlet which carried "what purports to be an interview with me recorded in the Sudbury Daily Star of May 23."

He said a second interview in the Sudbury newspaper July 22 quoted a top CCF campaigner that he believed Mr. Diefenbaker would be elected and that he (the campaigner) would be happy if that were the case. Mr. Coldwell denied knowledge of either interview and said he was the only top CCF campaigner at the place and time mentioned in the story. He urged his theatre audience of 200 to support Dave Corney, CCF candidate in Prince Albert.

CRITICIZES COLDWELL

At Prince George, B.C., Mr. Low criticized Mr. Coldwell, who, he claimed, had said Social Credit was "North American fascism."

"Mr. Coldwell is a bitterly disappointed man with a vindictive and abusive tongue," he said.

Trade Minister Howe, speaking from the same platform as Mr. St. Laurent, said the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties "are opposed to the policies which have enabled the Canadian nation to move ahead as it has."

Threat Of War Persists Pearson Warns Canadinas Textile Dumping Hits Mills

TORONTO. — External Affairs Minister Pearson declared Friday night that the issues before the people deserved more than the shallow approach to them of the Progressive Conservatives. Mr. Pearson was the first speaker at a Liberal rally in the Maple Leaf Gardens.

"When we received a vote of confidence in 1949, the international situation was grim and tense," he said. "We have made some progress, but the threat of war remains, particularly in the Far East."

Mr. Pearson said that more than 22,000 Canadians who have fought so gallantly in Korea have been granted reprieve from fighting.

"We must now do our best to convert that into something more than a truce. If aggression again were committed by the Communists, the same obligation of resistance would remain, but next time—after a truce has been broken—it might be made difficult to limit the war."

NO TIME TO CHANGE

This is no time to change the direction and administration of Canada's foreign policy, he declared.

"Is htat work likely to be done more effectively and with better results by any other party under any other leader?" asked Mr. Pearson.

There was a thunderous "no" from the audience.

Trade Minister Howe said opposition criticism of Liberal trade and financial policies means these parties would prefer to weaken Canada's financial structure and undermine confidence in Canada as a good investment. The Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties "are opposed to the policies which have enabled the Canadian nation to move ahead as it has," he said.

He charged that Opposition Leader Drew has sniped at the Liberals for taking a leading part in breaking down tariff barriers between Canada and other countries.

"If the people of Canada would let him, and thank heaven they have more sense, he would return the country to the trade policies that brought Canada to disaster in the early 1930's.

KEEP REPEATING

The government had answered Conservative charges that taxpayers' money was misspent in connection with defence but the Conservatives repeated them.

"I suggest, however, that this is only what one can expect in an election campaign. The Tories have been out of office so long that they will do anything to get votes."

He prediced "a tremendous vote of confidence" in the government on Monday.

David Croll, Liberal candidate in Spadina, said Laurier once remarked that people of Toronto cheered him, but did not vote for him. Mr. Croll introduced Prime Minister St. Laurent.

"How times have changed," Mr. Croll remarked. "Tory Toronto is now a Liberal fortress and we aim to keep it that way."

Mr. Croll lauded Prime Minister St. Laurent as having done more than any other living Canadian to make good Laurier's prophecy that the 20th Century belonged to Canada.

8,500,000 Voters Expected

OTTAWA (CP) — Information reaching Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, indicates possible registration of close to 8,500,000 voters in the Aug. 10 Dominion election.

The total registration in the 1949 general election was 7,893,629 compared with 6,952,445 in 1945.

Urban areas will still hold the edge over rural sections in number of votes. In 1949 the urban registration was 4,242,846, rural 3,650,783.

Based on requests from returning officers for supplies, indications are that the increased registration this year is predominantly urban.

There are 60 constituencies in which all the polling stations are located within urban areas—municipalities with a population of 5,000 or more.

Ontario and Quebec contain 47 of the wholly urban ridings, and most of about 25 other ridings in which there are more urban than rural polls.

Liberals Have No Platform Fleming Says

TORONTO—Never in Canadian history has a political leader been subjected to the "infamous abuse" which the Leberals have directed at Progressive Conservative leader George Drew in the current federal election campaign, Donald Fleming, Conservative candidate for Eglinton, said Friday night.

This personal attack, Mr. Fleming told a radio audience, is the direct outcome of the fact that the Liberals have no platform to offer the Canadian voters.

"We are fast nearing the end of this election campaign," he declared. "The government gives every indication of knowing it is beaten. In its final frenzy it has turned to renewed distortion of the Progressive Conservative Party and to personal abuse of George Drew. These are auguries of defeat for a government which has been in office too long.

HAD NO POLICY

"Neither at the outset of the campaign nor at any stage during it, nor even now, has the government placed any policy before the Canadian people. The electors are simply asked to entrust themselves and the political and economic fortunes of Canada to the tender mercies of this government, which is not prepared to bind itself to any program nor to give any pledges.

"No government in Canadian history has ever dared to exhibit such unbending arrogance. . .So far as they areconcerned, the electors are expected to buy a pig in a poke."

In every riding, Mr. Fleming said, the Liberals had not only pretended that Prime Minister St. Laurent was the only Liberal candidate in Canada, but had also from the platforms, over the radio or in whispering campaigns sought to convince recipients of old-age pensions or family allowances that these would be stopped by a Conservative government.

This attack, he said, was a downright untruth. The Conservatives had all along said they would in no way tamper with social security measures, nor had they any intention of reverting to the means test in old-age pensions.

The Conservative candidate also attacked what he called the government's wasteful expenditure of tax money, promising again that his party would end this and cut taxes as well, if elected.

"One of the interesting consequences of the government's wasteful expenditure of your money in handing out lucrative contracts to their friends has been the way in which they have been tapping those sources for contributions to this enormous Liberal campaign fund," he declared. "I say to you that the size and use of this fund in this election has become a national scandal."

Returning to the personal attack which he claims the Liberals have made on Mr. Drew, Mr. Fleming said that appeals to racial and religious prejudice in various parts of the country had been one of its main features. "These mealy-mouthed Liberal leaders who have been preaching national unity have permitted such appeals to fanaticism as cannot fail, if successful, to destroy Canadian unity."

Only One Of Cinque Ports Still Follows Ancient Ways

Along England's southeast coast, facing Europe across the narrow Channel, stands a group of towns that gave Britain her only navy, enjoyed royal dispensations, and felt the sword of every invader since Caesar.

These are the Cinque Ports — Hastings, Romney, Hythe, Dover and Sandwich—the two "Ancient Towns" of Rye and Winchelsea, plus other member "limbs" of a confederacy still in active existence.

FORGOTTEN HARBORS

Only Dover still has a harbor worthy of the name. Time and silting tides have eclipsed all the others as ports. Now they are quiet seaside resorts, filled with memories and architecture of Romans, Saxons, Danes, and Normans.

Yet no less proudly did the Cinque Ports boats an ambassador at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II this year. As Lord Warden and Admiral of the Cinque Ports, Sir Winston Churchill wore the gold-crusted uniform and cocked hat of a British sea service predating the Royal Navy by centuries.

Before the time of William the Conqueror, the Cinque Ports (pronounced "sink", and so named for the original five) were furnishing fleets of ships and seamen to defend England's shores and carry her armies abroad. In return, the townsmen were exempted from army service, paid no custom tolls on their shipping, and enjoyed many other privileges.

They reached their peak in the early 1300's, when passing ships had to render salutes on pain of attack by the fighting galleys, and the activities of the parts included not a little outright piracy and smuggling. But always, when England needed them, the Cinque Ports fought as the front line against dangers from without.

INVASION COAST

Hastings gave its name to the great battle of 1066, although it actually was fought seven miles inland. Earl Godwin, the powerful Saxon lord, landed at Sandwich against Edward the Confessor. Near Hythe are the ruins of Lemanae, chief Roman port in England. The name Romney means Roman "eye" or island.

Dover, beneath its ancient castle, saw knights depart to the Crusades, and later the Spanish Armada, met and defeated offshore. Both the Kaiser and Hitler bombed and shelled Dover. To it returned Dunkirk's survivors. The RAF stopped the Luftwaffe over Dover's rooftops.

The sea eroded and filled in the coast, until now Sandwich, Rye, New Romney and Winchelsea are inland, and sheep graze where Vikings sailed.

Nonetheless, Winchelsea— remembering a terrible raid by the French 600 years ago—still pays an annual stipend to a townsman to keep watch for an invading fleet. He can barley see the water from the town's highest tower.

PM Has Denied Howe Statament

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent Friday night denied that Trade Minister Howe ever said: "What's a million?"

The Progressive Conservatives have been saying "over and over again" that Mr. Howe had made that statement in Parliament, Mr. St. Laurent told a Liberal rally.

"The truth is he never said it at all and you can look for it as I did at the place the Tory literature says it is in Hansard (Parliament's official report) and there is no such thing there."

The Progressive Conservatives had stated Mr. Howe made the statement in connection with government spending.

Rowe Declares Hint Unfair

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Hon. Earl Rowe Friday night branded as "cowardly, unfair and dishonest" the Liberal's election campaign suggestion that a Progressive Conservative government would "impair" the family allowances, old-age pensions and other social security measures.

These things are here to stay, whatever government is in power, the veteran Conservative parliamentarian, member for Dufferin-Simcoe, told a meeting of close to 200 persons in the Canadian Legion hall.

Article Written For Revenge, Low Says

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Solon Low, national Social Credit leader, charged here that revenge was the motive for an article on his party in the current issue of New Liberty magazine.

At a meeting Thursday night, Mr. Low said publisher Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto was "seeking vengeance" for the "trouble he got into with the Alberta government" several years ago.

At that time New Liberty published an article titled "Babies for Export" dealing with an alleged adoption racket. Publication was followed by a lawsuit and Mr. Cooke, said Mr. Low, "lost a lot of money."

The article in the current issue of the magazine by Leslie Roberts said that if seated securely in Ottawa, Social Credit would abolish all other political parties and general elections and "rub out" the secret ballot. The article also claimed that Social Credit would lead to a dictatorship.

Mr. Low also criticized CCF leader M. J. Coldwell, who, he claimed, had said Social Credit is "North American fascism."

"Mr. Coldwell is a bitterly disappointed man with a vindictive and abusive tongue," said Mr. Low. "He has been saying things not far different from Roberts."

In Toronto, Mr. Cooke was not available for comment on Mr. Low's remarks.

Textile Dumping Hits Mills

CORNWALL—Main cause of depression in the Canadian textile industry is "legalized dumping of American textiles," George Hees, Progressive Conservative candidate in Toronto-Broadview, declared here Friday night.

"Mills in the United States supply a market 15 or 20 times the size of the Canadian market. They make very large runs in order to take full advantage of mass production methods. As they cannot forecast exactly the yardage of a particular pattern or material that will sell, they make sure to overrun, rather than incur the high cost of setting up their machines a second time," he said.

"The yardage in excess of what the U.S. market can absorb, at regular prices, must be disposed of. If it is sold at bargain prices on the U.S. market it will slow down the absorption of new lines. It is therefore desirable to dispose of this excess yardage in outside markets, the closest of these being Canada," he declared.

"In order to get around our anti-dumping laws, the U.S. mills make one small sale at a price for below the price at which the goods are regularly sold on the U.S. market. The goods are then disposed of in the Canadian market at an artificially low price which is usually well below the cost of production of the Canadian mills."

He declared the situation had been brought to the attention of the government, which had replied it did not know the solution to the problem.

"The minister responsible and the government may not know what the solution is, but 100,000 taxtile workers can tell them what it is. It is to make sure that the price of American goods which is accepted for import valuation is the price at which the goods sold on the American market during the regular selling season. That price includes the cost of production, plus administrative expense, plus selling cost, plus a reasonable profit."

The Alexander Construction Company (formerly Prudham Construction Company, of which firm the Hon. George Prudham, Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys, was the head) was given a contract to build R.C.A.F. Station at Penhold, Alberta. This firm submitted lowest tender, but $664,000.00 worth of change orders were added, bringing the contract, after it was let, to far more than the highest tender had been. Also added to this contract was $28,200.00 to speed work up. Prudham Construction Company rented property from C.N.R. worth $100,000.00 for only $100.00 per year—less than the average tenant would pay per month for a $10,000.00 house.

It doesn't take magic to see the taxpayers' money slip down the drain. Easy come — easy go — seems to be this Liberal Government's motto.

UNJUST TAXATION UNDER LIBERAL GOVERNMENT ADMITTED BY LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR PETERBOROUGH

We quote from a statement by the Liberal Candidate in the edition of the Examiner of Thursday, July 16th: "In my opinion the burden of tax on just about everything that is needed to build a home, or furnish one, or live in one is unjust." This is a candid admission by your Liberal candidate that taxation under the St. Laurent government HAS BEEN and is UNJUST. Yet in the same article he urges you to vote this same government back into power on August 10th.

Surely the Liberal Candidate will give the taxpayers of Peterborough credit for having a little more common sense. The majority of them realize by now that if they wish to see a reduction in taxation they must have a change of government. The only other party which could form a government is the Progressive Conservative Party, which is definitely pledged to cut taxes.

Election Will Be Made

On Monday the twenty-second general election since Confederation will be made, to elect members to the largest House of Commons Canada has had—a total of 265 seats. Five of those seats will be filled through the choice of our readers. They will make their choice from the following candidates: In the riding of Peterborough—Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, PC, member in the last House; Mr. Max. J. Swanston, Liberal; Mr. M. E. Ketcheson, CCF. In Hastings-Frontenac—Mr. George S. White, PC, former member, and Mr. C. W. Foster, Liberal. In Northumberland—Dr. Fred Robertson, Liberal, member in the last House; Mr. H. O. Taylor, PC, and Mr. Frank Armstrong, CCF. In Durham—Mr. John James, Liberal, member in the last House; Mr. C. E. Stephenson, PC, and Mr. Roy Armstrong, CCF. In Victoria—Mr. C. W. Hodgson, PC, member in the last House, and Dr. F. M. Graham, Liberal.

* * *

Since none of the three CCF candidates in this district has any chance of election, or the CCF party generally of forming a government, it is the Conservative and Liberal policies and candidates which require weighing. Their platforms, national and local, have been well publicized in this newspaper, through our reports on speeches, planks and campaign progress, and through advertisements. Special articles, written in this office, have appeared about the candidates in each of the five constituencies, together with photographs. Therefore, we believe that no voter within the orbit of the Examiner need cast his ballot blindly; the information on policies and personalities has been available to him, if he has cared to use it.

* * *

We have commented in these columns on chief issues or lack of them. We do not pretend to tell our readers how to vote. We have sufficient respect for their intelligence and independence to believe that, given the information and time to study platforms and past performances that our readers are quite capable of arriving at a reasonable decision. We may permit ourself to remark this, however, in view of the prominence both major parties have given to purely domestic, local and temporary issues. This has tended to obscure the importance of Canada's foreign affairs to the purses and lives of Canadians, even Canadians in Peterborough, Victoria, Hastings, Durham and Northumberland. Canada is now an important nation in the international world, and cannot keep out of peace-making and war-making. It is Canada's twentieth century commitment, whether Canada likes it or not. The way the elected government will approach international matters like trade, tariffs, mutual defence, Russia and China, will affect the money in our pockets, our future income, the value of the dollar, our exports and even our physical lives. Which party will provide the better Canadian voice in these matters and better influence international decisions?

* * *

A word about the two major party candidates in Peterborough: Both Mr. Fraser and Mr. Swanston are well known and well liked; both have served city and district faithfully in various capacities. Both are highly respected. Since both would personally be good and suitable members, the electors in the constituency of Peterborough may properly determine that they will vote for the party the candidate represents and not for the man personally: that is, that they will vote for the candidate of the party they wish to see in office in Ottawa.

Good Times

Neither the Korean armistice, the American cancellation of contracts in Canada, nor the general settling of the Canadian dollar and of the cost of living seem to have affected the prosperity of the country. Not even election promises have depressed it. Figures on business, industry and agriculture to the end of June have now become available. Economists and statisticians have looked them over and given mid-year reviews of the first six months and looked out on the next six. They find retrospect and prospect good.

The commercial letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce for this month begins thus: "General economic activity in Canada has lost none of its essential vitality during the past twelve months." Retail prices fell by less than one per cent. during the first half of the year. There was a modest reduction in the price of food—an important item in everybody's budget since food accounts on the average for a third of his expenditure. Wholesale prices have stabilized. There is a continued buoyancy.

On the whole, price movements have proved beneficial to the Canadian economy. There has been a total decline of about seventeen per cent. from the peak of import prices reached in June 1951, but export prices have declined only about six per cent. These are businessmen's terms, but the price movement has meant this to labour income: an increase of about thirteen per cent. in the real labour income. Further, dollar labour income has continued to increase, and employment, other than in agriculture, was three per cent. higher in the January-May period than in the same period of 1952.

Ontario government statisticians have looked over the half-year ending June and made some cheery reports thereon. "A period of unprecedented industrial activity in almost all sectors of the economy", they say of Ontario's half-year. About four per cent. more persons were employed by the Province's leading industries this year than last. The employees earned eleven per cent. more income in the six months than they did in the first half of 1952. The Provincial statisticians note also the decline in average prices, wholesale and retail, with the resultant increase in real incomes. "The effects of this expanded purchasing power have been reflected in substantial increases in trade at the retail level", says the last issue of the monthly Economic Review of Ontario. Examples are: sales of new motor vehicles in five months of 1953 were 50.7 per cent. higher than in the same period last year. Sales in appliance and radio stores rose 25.8 per cent. and in furniture establishments 13.7 per cent.

Construction contracts in the first six months of this year were 20.7 per cent. greater generally in the Province; residential contracts were 88.6 per cent. higher. Incidentally, contracts for house-building constituted more than half the total value of all contracts awarded; it looks as if Ontario people are able to afford to build their own houses, or to rent new ones.

Good Times Here!

We shall take some of the statistics referred to in the preceding article, right down to this region, which for their purposes, the Provincial economists call the Kawartha region (the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Ontario, Durham and Northumberland). Our figures are for May, 1953, contrasted with May, 1952. They are based on 1939 rates being 100. Industrial employment in this region stood at 234; it was 207.7 in May 1952. Industrial payrolls were 675.8 this May, and 573.5 a year ago May. The average weekly wage in the leading factories of the district this May was $64.15 compared with weekly wages the year before of $61.38.

House construction, as indicated by building permits issued in the Kawartha region for the first four months of this year amounted to $4,504,600 compared with $1,998,100 in the first four months of 1952. We have no figures on farm earnings, such figures for the first half-year, before crops and livestock are sold, would be worthless as indications of farm income.

The foregoing statements and figures, regional, provincial and national (see the preceding article) indicate that generally we have had a pretty good time thus far in 1953; a time of steady and increasing prosperity. They also show that the prospects for the rest of the year are good. The only notes of mild warning are these: that the situation at mid-year gives evidence of some re-orientation and that external developments—drastic shifts in the degree of international tension, and adjustments to the new Republican administration in the U.S., may have both material and psychological effects on business.

How can we call the times anything but good which show, since 1939, such startling increases in payrolls, right here in this district? Industrial payrolls in these five counties are 675.8 per cent. higher than in 1939. Wow!

A Penny From The Tourists

The Junior Chamber of Commerce operates a booth on Charlotte street near the station, to give information to motoring tourists. A sign invites them to come in and be served. Two parking meters outside the door invite them to contribute a penny or five to the city's coffers. This is hospitality with a pinch. During the tourist season, could the city not have the grace to shroud the two meters, and put little signs on them: "Free parking for tourists seeking information"?

WILD, POETIC PATHOS

The Island Of Paradox

By KENNETH HARRIS

If the poets have lied about everything else they have spoken the truth about Ireland: it is the greenest, the freshest-looking island in the world. Seen from a distance, the thick white clover melts into the green, lightens it, and gives the grass its brilliant emerald look. It is worth going to Ireland if only to see the greenness of her fields.

The train from Dublin to Belfast takes you through the foothills of the Mountains of Mourne, past tiny villages snuggling under the black craggy hills, past tiny white-washed, almost windowless cottages, through whose gardens the hogs root freely, and through boglands, where the rich earthern flanks of the freshly-sliced peat steams up towards the sun. On all sides the landscape rolls restlessly, so that even in the low country the horizon seems never more than a mile or two from the eye. The scene is coarse, wayward and unkempt. But beautiful, in the way that a village girl, barefooted with a shawl around her shoulders, is beautiful — proud, uncombed, bold-eyed — beautiful in a way that the soignee mannequin is not.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dublin is so like the city depicted in "Ulysses" that one hour in it convinced me that James Joyce was, among other things, the greatest of descriptive writers. He had the camera's, as well as the poet's eye — a friend of his told me that forty years after he had left Dublin as a young man, Joyce could recite in perfect order the names above every shop along St. James Street.

Anybody with an ounce of imagination will find Dublin overpowering. All the wild, poetic pathos of Irish history has impregnated this lovely down-at-heel, yet so noble city. Here buildings which are usually the symbol of mundane municipalism quiver with humanity. Even the Post Office enshrines an epic: in it, thirty-seven years ago, young Eamon de Valera held out against British troops which had come to suppress the Easter Rising, until the slaughter forced his surrender. Among the letter-boxes and the parcel counters one can almost smell the blood. There is colour as well as history. The barges on the languid Liffey; Phoenix Park, the second largest park in the world, I have been told; the great bay between Clontarf and the Hill of Howth which many have compared with the Bay of Naples; the fine buildings like Trinity College; the Customs House and Parliament House, all on College Green. They make Dublin a capital with a soul.

✧ ✧ ✧

In some ways it seems a rather sad, sick soul. There seems something decadent about that lovely, original city. The poor of Dublin, I think, are no worse off than the poor of Belfast up in Northern Ireland. But unlike the poor of Belfast they seem to make no attempt to make the best of themselves. Dublin girls are as handsome as you will find in the British Isles, but in the poorer quarters, they are untidy, hoydenish, and carelessly dressed. The poor seem almost to parade their poverty — to wear it like a badge. An hour in some parts of Dublin — glorious city that it is — makes one think of St. John Ervine's cruel crack: "The Irish have an itch for slums."

This intimate mixture of elegance and decadence, youth and decay, makes it hard to describe Dublin. Englishmen may have seen it in the old houses of Bayswater, (district of London) where vast families now camp out, in the houses where once lived the ornate rich. Scots may have seen it along the Royal Mile, (Edinburgh) and below the Castle. Americans have seen it in the old estates of the Deep South around Natchez on the Mississippi, and in Savannah on the coast, where the heavy magnolia trees bend over and whisper of the days when the plantations sparkled with a brilliant, aristocratic life, and now, growing wild and shaggy, remind you that life seems to have sucked the vitality out of the soil, so that nothing else has been able to take its place.

✧ ✧ ✧

You might expect that, in a country which has fought so fiercely for its freedom, its Parliament would be ringing with oratory of men harvesting with the cultural and social fruits of independence. But Irish politics, beneath their superficial wind and waves, seem stagnant. The two parties fight like Kilkenny cats, but they fight about the past, not about the future. Whatever the subject under discussion in the Dail, the real issue is, "What did you do in 1922? Did you stand for an Irish Republic or did you stand with the men who signed the "shameful" Treaty with England, the treaty which agreed that the six counties of Ulster should remain attached to the English Crown and that Ireland should be a Dominion?" And since the country is very evenly divided — the Prime Minister De Valera governs with a majority of one — each party studies the views of the electorate very carfully; so carefully in fact that whoever is in power does not seem to have enough confidence to deal with Ireland's pressing current problems.

✧ ✧ ✧

The dealock puts a premium on the influence of the Roman Catholic Church — Ireland is preponderantly Roman Catholic. In 1951, for instance, the Prime Minister drove his own Health Minister out of office because, the Prime Minister said, the type of health scheme which the Minister has sponsored was not acceptable to the Catholic Church. Whether the Prime Minister has wanted to or not he could not have supported the Health Scheme; if he had, the opposition would have rallied itself behind the viewpoint of the Church and used it to drive the Government out of office. It sometimes seems that the Catholic Church does not move of its own accord into Irish politics, — but that it is dragged in by politicians who — the country being so evenly divided — will use anything to secure themselves in their tenuous power.

✧ ✧

In this state of affairs, Ireland's prospects of good progressive government, leading to the building of a healthy modern economy look dim. Dublin businessmen complain that their businesses are suffering because they dare not attempt to expand or redirect their interests until a government comes to power which will lay down long-term policies on rates, taxation, and materials. Dublin doctors and teachers groan to see the medical and educational development frustrated by the general fear that, whether this government will help you to do that or not, they may be out of office tomorrow, and their predecessors will want things altered. All agree that the country's main problem — to give its people a reasonable standard of living — is being dealt with by neither party. And the continued flow of emigrants to Britain and the U.S. suggests that they are right.

Politicians, possibly looking for excuses, are inclined to blame Ireland's ills on the fact that the Treaty of 1922 cut off the Republic from the industrial area of Belfast, which lying in Northern Ireland, remains part of the British Commonwealth. They often wonder whether the United States could be induced to bring pressure on London to let Northern Ireland "come back" to the fold. In Belfast, of course, the majority believe that Belfast's prosperity depends on her links with Britain and that re-union with Eire would ruin them, as well as put the Protestant majority in the six counties under Roman Catholic domination in the twenty-eight counties of Eire.

But though the Irish economy may not expand, this does not mean that it cannot go on for a very long time as it is now. Ireland is a rich agricultural country; she can feed her own people — just about — and they are used to a low standard of living. Being Irish, they are prepared to a great extent to eschew efficiency and prosperity in order to go on quarrelling with each other and being able to tell everybody else to go to the Devil. Unlike other European nations, therefore, economically and psychologically Ireland can afford not to bother too much about her problems. And my impression is that she makes the most of it.

An American Opinion:
IT'S THE RECUPERATING THAT TAKES TIME

British Industry To Get Warning

By SUSAN STRANGE

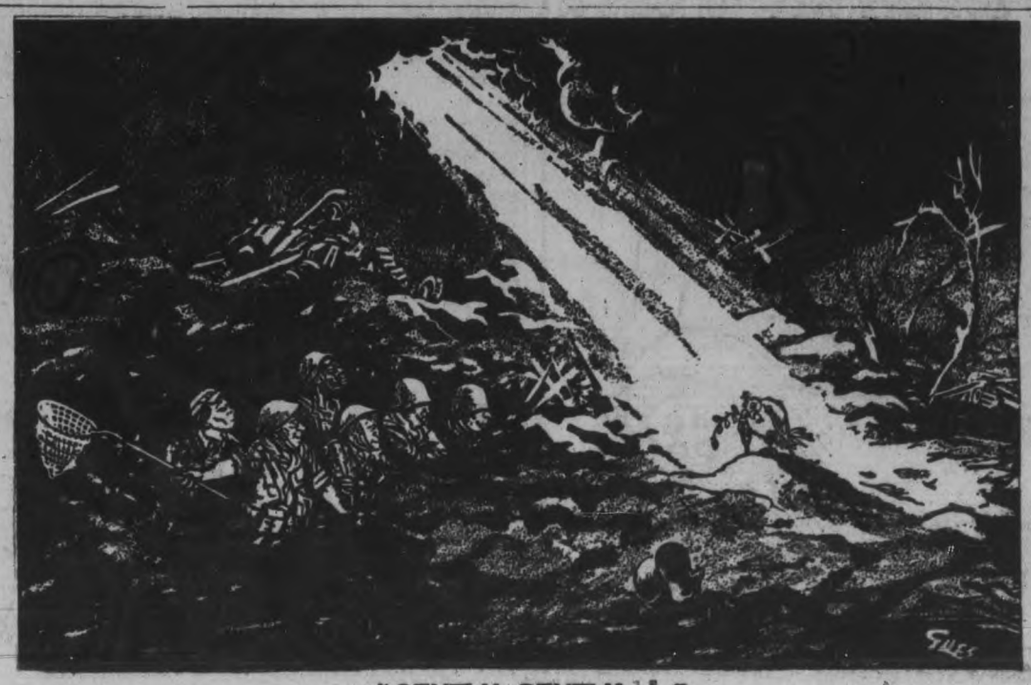
The leaders of British trade unions and industry are being told of the Government's grave concern with three current tendencies in Britain's economy. All three are felt by the Cabinet to be serious sources of weakness underlying the present relatively calm surface of the country's economic life and strength. An appeal to both sides of industry is being made to put every effort into correcting them before it is too late.

The three tendencies are: (1) the steady spiralling rise in wages throughout the country, which has been getting no better in the past year and now seems liable to get worse: (2) the stagnation of industrial production at a level which, though now slightly above that of last year, is too low to justify large wage increases: (3) the slow and complacent pace set by British exports in an increasingly competitive overseas market.

In addition to all these, which affect every corner of the country's economic life, there is also to be faced the dangerous possibility of another fuel crisis next winter, which, apart from the discomfort and irritation it would cause to housewives, would seriously handicap industry in any drive to raise output.

This week's meetings between Government and industry are being held in the two advisory bodies set up in the time of the Labour Government by the late Sir Stafford Cripps, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, to provide a periodic link between the economic strategists in Whitehall and the frontline in the factories. One is the National Joint Advisory Council, which is concerned mainly with wages and labour conditions in industry. This will give Sir Walter Monckton, Minister of Labour, an opportunity to appeal to the trade unions to moderate their requests and to the employers to resist them.

There are some bad signs that this appeal may go unheeded. According to a now-established custom, the first turn in the annual wage spiral in Britain is begun by the farm workers. This year, as in July last year, the Agricultural Wages Board has recommended an increase in farm wages. But where the recommended rise in 1952 was for five shillings more on the minimum wage, this year it is for seven shillings. This example is liable to be followed elsewhere. And although the farmers may be refused their request, in effect, to pass on the extra cost to the consumer this autumn, they are almost certain to get compensatory higher prices next spring which, in turn, will mean dearer food for every other group of worker.



In line behind the farm workers are now ranged a formidable queue of other trade unions. The engineering workers have asked for a fifteen per cent rise; the cotton workers for ten per cent. Dockers, shopworkers, electricity supply workers and workers in clothing, furniture and tobacco are formulating fresh claims. The railwaymen and the miners will probably decide to do the same.

The result of all this in increased labour costs would almost certainly wreck any drive to increase exports. Even if there were no competition in foreign markets from America, Japan, Germany and other European industrial countries, higher-priced British manufactures would more often be refused for sheer lack of funds to pay for them. The price of artificially supporting and protecting rival domestic industries would no longer seem so highly disproportionate in all those countries determined to industrialise at almost any cost.

Again and again, both Labour and Conservative Governments have said they would not resist higher wages if they were justified by higher production. Mr. R. A. Butler, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, is certain to repeat this—at the other Government-industry conclave of the week—the meeting of the National Production Advisory Council for Industry. He is likely, too, to appeal earnestly for wholehearted cooperation from labour and management in making a success of the forthcoming productivity drive, financed by over three million pounds in American conditional aid. The real problem here is not to convince the enterprising and the go-ahead, but to break down the psychological defences of the majority on both sides of industry, who cling obstinately to their outdated methods and attitudes.

Mr. Butler will deal with the twin problems of raising production and raising exports. The export situation is causing a great deal of private disquiet in Whitehall. Progress is desperately slow; exports in 1953 have been only four per cent greater by volume than in the last half of 1952. And the danger of the present situation is temporarily disguised by the fact that in the last half-year imported raw materials have fallen twenty per cent below 1952 average prices. Britain, in other words, has been buying cheap, but failing to use the opportunity to push her own sales overseas. All sorts of reasons and excuses can be—and are—found for this failure. But the bitter fact remains that the need to build a safer surplus to add to the gold and dollar reserves against a rainier day requires a much greater effort than—so it is felt in Whitehall—is at present being made.

Whether the appeals by Sir Walter and Mr. Butler will make any impression on this situation remains to be seen. But at least, after this week, the Government can fairly say to industry and to the country that it has been warned.—(OFNS—Copyright.)

Letter To The Editor

ONE GARBAGE COLLECTION AUTHORIZED

Sir: Scores of the better-paid employees of our major industrial plant, the C.G.E., are westernenders, and likewise the majority of the lower-paid category clerks all live in fervent hope of residing in the great west end, considered the elite district, of course, of our fair and thriving city. Such a district is generally speaking, well cared for by the various civic departments, with frequent tree and shrubbery trimming, street sweeping and removal of all leaves, etc., at the proper time. This district is indeed a wonderful exhibit of the cleanliness and combined effort of all those worthy citizens who make this great contribution.

It is indeed unfortunate, under these circumstances, that some penwriter using the non de plume Constant Reader and Taxpayer should have used the columns of your valued daily to personally attack one of the most efficient and valued officials of the city, in at least the past quarter century; an ex-service man with decorations and medals recognizing his merit for nearly five years' active service, with famous Canadian line regiments. It is not expected that his critic will offer retraction to the offensive remarks, directed at a very sincere and guiltless civic departmental head. Perhaps it might be cricket, however, so to do.

In conclusion it might be mentioned that the regulation, directing that one garbage collection only, shall be made any week in any area effected by a public holiday was passed, signed and sealed by the council of the City of Peterborough, on May 19th, 1953, and thus became municipal law. Our critic might have received this information from the city clerk and desisted from maligning a wonderful citizen and man.

TREVOR H. BROWN.

Pioneers Neglected In Old Abandoned City Cemetery

Old Methodist Graveyard Derelict For 80 Years

BY TED CLIFFORD

The dead lie undisturbed on Hilliard street; they have no friends.

Once they were the founders and builders of the town, the ordinary people who pioneered in Peterborough. Now they lie beneath a scarred soil, a soil scarred by the ravages of time, years of neglet and generations of vandals.

Nobody cares for the ordinary people so they continue to sleep while over their heads sinks the rubble of tombstones broken and cracked for years.

The weeds grow profusely and in places, bushes have obscured the old stones.

Many have never heard of Hilliard St. cemetery. Many people have never noticed the plot of land near the corner of Wolsley and Hilliard Sts. Yet in the past it has not escaped attention.

In fact an 1891 newspaper pointed out: "The fences have fallen into poor repair, the verdure has grown rank and wild and the place has become the haunt of bad characters who ruthlessly desecrate the place of the dead with their vile carousals."

The writer added with some wit: "The plot owners have to contend with several grave difficulties."

It was definitely without witicism however, that a 1927 newspaper declared: "the cemetery should be a subject of humiliation to Peterborough residents."

TANGLE OF BUSHES

In 1931 it was called " . . . a tangle of trees and bushes . . . "

And now, today, all but two or three of the tombstones have fallen to the ground. With no exceptions, all are marred in some way. Some are chipped, others cracked and the majority broken right off.

One, originally an imposing eight foot stone, exists now only as a heap of rubble. Parts are scattered for a radius of 10 feet, the work of both time and irresponsible children.

IN 1931 a conference was held between the council and George Street United Church officials, who owned the old cemetery. Then - mayor Roland Denne described the tombstones as "standing here and there like grim sentinels of the spirits of Peterborough citizens of a remote day." Today, more than twenty years later, they are still grim sentinels.

Nothing is left of the iron fences that once surrounded the plot; only their memory, perpetuated by a few post holes on the boundary.

Where once grew lush grass nothing exists except weeds and brush. In summer, the cemetery is overrun with poison ivy and the only visitors are rabbits whose burrows spot the area.

Sometimes the city sends in a mower, when weeds become too rampant.

A large section at the northerly limits is absolutely impenetrable and to walk over the rest of the grounds is, at the least, risky, due to sunken graves and little gulleys and holes that appeared with the passing of time.

Tree stumps dot the cemetery as do stone posts which once marked boundaries of family plots. None of the chains which once hung between these posts is in the area.

Twenty years after boys in the district were first noticed using broken pieces of tombstones for baseball bases, Dr. T. E. Kaiser, MP for Ontario riding, said in 1927 ". . . I think Peterborough should establish a pioneer plot to preserve old family names . . ."

What was said in 1927 still holds true today for Hilliard St. cemetery has a long record of defeat in its background though many have strived to restore it.

It was dissension that gave birth to the cemetery originally. When it became clear to the townsfolk in 1849 that the Public Cemetery would soon be filled to capacity, a municipal committee was set up to study the problem and it bore fruit in the foundation of Little Lake Cemetery, then situated on what was known as "Moe's Point."

WESLEYAN FOUNDATION

But churches represented on the committee ran foul of members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church who were not represented. A split developed and thus the Wesleyan Methodist Cemetery was founded.

This little cemetery of four acres, purchased from Henry Benson of Kingston, served the folk of the church from 1850 to 1875. On its establishment, many bodies were brought there from the original Public Cemetery, now Confederation Park.

When opened, the plot was neatly fenced and graded, while paths and avenues were laid out. A few short years after the last burial in 1875, it was closed to further interments as "a menace to public health."

Following is a list of names compiled from the barely legible stones. In some cases the date of death has been obliterated.

Ann Lewers, wife of John Graham, died, 1851; Mary Heard, wife of John Heard, died 1852; Charlotte Heard, daughter of Mary and John Heard, died 1843; John Northcott, Jr., died 1857; Aaron Elsworth, died 1850; Mary Wigher, daughter of Rev. J. W. Wigher.

Mary Jeffery, wife of G. W. Robinson; Mary, Adam, Joseph, and Martha, children of Mary and G. W. Robinson; Jane, wife of Charles Taylor, died 1869; John, son of Jane and Charles Taylor, died 1859; Sophia Manning, wife of Samuel Manning; James Mitchell, died 1860; Andrew Fairburn, died 1863.

John Cobb, died 1842; James Toomey, died 1861; Eliza Bell, wife of John Bell, died 1857; Elizabeth Rea, wife of Thomas Rea, died 1861; Mary Morrow, wife of John Kindred, died 1861; Jane Erskine, wife of John Baxter, died 1862; William Baxter, died 1860; James Collins, died 1859; James Kempt, died 1872; William and Rebecca Jackson, died 1874.

"PERHAPS in this neglected spot is laid Some heart once pregnant with celestial fire," wrote Thomas Gray in his 'Elegy.' Here is a corner of the abandoned old cemetery near the old Nicholls Hospital. The Methodist Church (now George Street United) held title to the graveyard until 1944, when the city assumed responsibility. Nothing has been done since to restore or dignify the once-hallowed ground. The cemetery was used by Methodists from 1850 to 1875.

"GRIM SENTINELS"

Wesleyan Methodist, which later became George St. Methodist and still later, George St. United Church, kept title to the property for many decades afterwards. For a period of 15 years, the ground was leased to Nicholl's Hospital which adjoined the property.

Once again faced with the situation, George Street United Church was called into conference with civic officials in 1931. At that time a committee headed by Mayor Roland Denne described the tombstones as "standing here and there like grim sentinels of the spirits of Peterborough citizens of a remote day."

Though Peterborough citizens wanted action the council finally decided the cemetery was the responsibility of the church alone and the problem was left entirely to the church board.

Finally the city bought Hilliard St. Cemetery in 1944 at a cost of $300. Although a few trees and bushes have been cut down since then, the cemetery is much the same now as it was at the time of purchase.

The 1927 animadversion is more than ever applicable: "In this neglected spot sleep pioneer residents whose names should be honored. They most certainly deserve a better tribute than is represented by the present deplorable condition of the cemetery."

TREES WERE PLANTED and paths laid out in 1850 when the Wesleyan Methodists opened the Hilliard Street cemetery in 1850. They had disagreed with other townsfolk and refused to share the new Little Lake cemetery, then begun as a municipal cemetery. Now stumps and broken stones dot the graveyard, the only trees are at the edges, beside residences.

DECAYED AND DERELICT is the pioneer Methodist cemetery on Hilliard Street, north end of Peterborough. Even in 1891 the cemetery was unkempt and the Examiner of that date remarked that "the plot owners have to contend with several grave difficulties."

"SACRED TO THE MEMORY"—There is irony in the old inscriptions now in the graveyard which the Methodists and recently the city ignored for more than half a century. Judging by the appearance of the cemetery, there is nothing held sacred about it. . .

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

It rained on Tuesday, in case you need to be reminded of that glorious near two inches of wet stuff that came down for about 18 hours. And it made everyone happy.

District farmers looked askance at the streaming skies and worried a bit about the damage they thought would be done temporarily to the standing oats and stooked wheat. City folks regarded the rain as a blessing to their parched lawns and flower gardens. Cottagers and fishermen, tired perhaps of all the fine weather and constant luck, jumped in the cars and streamed into shopping centres.

On Lakefield's main street tourist cars were jam-packed along the curbs. Summer people with slickers over their sketchy play-clothes rummaged happily.

In the hardware stores they picked up small wares for cottage kitchens, replenished lost fishing tackle and bought building supplies. Kids had a field day in the Five and Ten and the drug stores did a roaring business, too. Outboard motors needed repairs at George's livery and gas pump bells rang in unison with cash registers.

Garnet Samis chomped on his dead cigar and sold sheafs of gladioli to tourists from his large array beside Barney's barber shop.

"Just sold three dozen to go to a wedding in Kapukasing," he chortled. "Business is great."

Tourists crowded under the dripping awning of the tourist booth awaiting their turn for information from Buddy O'Brien for a hundred and one small problems that go along with the visitor business. During a lull she told me of a lady who called to say "hello" earlier in the day.

"I didn't remember her at first," said Buddy, "but after a few leading questions found out that I had sent this person to a lodge last year. She thanked me for doing so because she had met her heart throb there (the tall man standing beside her). So, now you can see I've had the course. A matrimonial bureau I'm running, yet."

The freezer locker, shoe repair shop, the restaurants and clothing stores, the boat works and taxi stands hummed like beehives.

A million-dollar rain, figuratively speaking.

AFTERMATH: While cottagers browsed happily in shopping centres the rain drummed steadily over the land and into their parked boats that had heavy motors weighing down the sterns.

When the rain finally let up on Tuesday evening at least half a doen boat owners were amazed to find their boats awash at their moorings and indeed some of them with just the bows out of water.

So, business was still rushing at George's livery on Wednesday as four 25's and two 10's were brought to him to be drained, dried and put in working order again.

This should be a warning to outboarders to keep a sharp lookout on their craft during storms, and be ready with the bailing can.

Outdoor editor John (Old Angler) Crowe of Johnstown Tribune-Democrat and radio station WJAC followed the smell of printer's ink to our newspaper office this week to enquire of speckled and brown trout fishing spots. We sent him off full of dope and hope with the feeling of a public relations job well done for the Kawarthas and a fellow newspaperman. John is staying at Buckhorn Lodge for a few weeks.

FISH FRIES ARE THE ANSWER

As a citizen who will always wage verbal war against waste of our game fish in the Kawarthas, I was heartened by a story from Fred (Red Cedar Lodge) Young of Young's Point.

The Komer party (of nine) from Beaver Falls, Pa., recently pulled out with their legal one-day's catch of black bass and pickerel. To preserve the excess fish they had taken during a long stay at Fred's they held three community fish fries and fed upwards of 30 people. Their guests and themselves had fun and plenty of food. There are no rotting game fish around Fred's place at any time and we vote him a great big flannel mug for his conservation mindedness.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

LIMELIT 'LUNGE

'Lunge were the only sport fish to make any big splash this current week and the Campbellford corner of the Kawarthas came through with some nice trophies.

Season's best was a 39-pounder (and how much better could a fellow want?) gasped its last "after an hour's battle" by Jack Cromling of Monongahela, Pa. This big one topped Jack's already full score after taking a 36- and 29-pounder during the earlier part of his visit right on the Bradley Bay firing line at Archer's Cabins.

Allan Wood of Oshawa, down the same way, also horsed in three that scaled respectively 36, 21 and 18 pounds. Now, that is a nice bit of fishing. Boat loads of fisherman Bradley-bay bound, where these big ones were taken, are advised to take up their positions line astern with the black buoys off their starboard bows. Worse than any gold rush, I betcha.

It's not fair for Campbellford to bask in all the limelight and would swing it briefly to Frosty Mintburn of Pittsbu'gh, Pe-A, who took himself a 23-pounder at Deer Bay on Thursday. Not a whopper but, gosh! Frosty's only been trying for 20 years and this is his first. Staying at Irwin Inn, Stony Lake.

American Birth Rate High

There has been an enormous rise in the American birth rate in the war and post-war years. The rate has climbed from eighteen births per thousand of population in 1940, to twenty-five per thousand in 1952; last year saw the record figure of 3,900,000 births.

There are signs, however, that this boom in babies is coming to an end. A recent Gallup Poll showed that for the first time since 1936 the largest group of American families favours three rather than four children. In 1936, thirty-four per cent wanted four or more children; in 1941 the figure was forty-one per cent; and in 1945, forty-nine per cent wanted four or more. This year the figure is down to twenty-nine per cent wanting four or more, with thirty per cent favouring three children and twenty-eight per cent favouring two.

FABULOUS FINDINGS

Ancient Universe

Long since have the old religions of Greece and Rome become extinct, and there is not a worshipper today of the so-called divinities of Olympus. They have been wafted through the ages from the department of theology to that of literature.

Those ancient Greeks, followed by other nations, at first believed the earth to be flat and circular, their own country being its central point around Mount Olympus, where dwelt the gods.

The earth was crossed from west to east and divided by the Sea, later known as the Mediterranean. Around earth flowed the River Ocean, going from south to north on the western side of earth and in the opposite direction on the eastern side. The earth received its waters from the River Ocean.

It was believed that the northern part of the earth was inhabited by a happy race called the Hyperboreans, dwelling in continuous bliss and spring beyond lofty mountains.

On the south side of the earth were an equally happy people named the Aethioplans, highly favored by the gods.

On the western margin by the stream of Ocean lay a happy place known as the Elysian Plain, where mortals liked by the gods were taken, without tasting death, to enjoy blissful immortality.

Their imagination peopled the Sea with giants, monsters and enchantresses. Around the disc of earth they believed there were other nations beloved by the gods.

Apparently there was no Columbus in Hellas to brave the belief of a flat earth with a possible drop off if one travelled too far. At any rate, mythology records the ancient Greeks were happy. That, of course, could be a fallacy and frailty of humanity—modern man believing the old days were best. And those were very, very old days.

Your Garden:

Healthy Rose Plants Now

By HENRY PREE

Hot weather is not a serious problem to healthy rose plants as long as a regular schedule of care is followed. Giving roses adequate water is probably the prime responsibility during these hot, dry periods.

Water is important to keep up the blooming rate and growth and to build energy which will mean better plants next year.

While hybrid roses are hardy enough to do well with only minimum care, a plentiful supply of water will bring them to the peak of loveliness. A glorious color display in spring and autumn can be had by any gardener who gives roses sensible care.

A schedule of long soaking at regular intervals is the secret to successful watering. The best method is to let the water slowly trickle over a board at the base of the plants.

This will give a more even watering and avoid washing the dirt away from the base of the plant. The soil should be soaked to a depth of at least 10 inches. An important thing to remember is to avoid late afternoon or evening wetting the foliage since this often contributes to the spread of fungus diseases.

Naturally a good damp soil attracts weeds, but these may be discouraged by mulching with peat moss, composted grass clippings, buckwheat hulls, ground corncobs or other available material.

Mulching will not only deter the growth of weeds but will keep the soil moist and cool. Any cultivation of the beds should be kept light and close to the surface, as deep cultivation may seriously injure the hairlike roots.

Because roses use up a large amount of the available food supply during this active growing season, additional applications of complete plant food will replenish the bed. Organic fertilizer, such as well-rotted manure, may be worked into the soil to keep plants healthy and vigorous.

If organic fertilizer is not available, the application of a heaping tablespoon of any good 4-12-4 commercial fertilizer should be worked into the bed around each plant at four-week intervals.

The successful battle against fungus diseases and insect pests depends on regularity to a great extent. Dusting or spraying with a mixture of Fermate and DDT at regular intervals will keep damage to a minimum.

It is recommended that dusting or spraying be done in the early morning or late afternoon every 10 days. This application should cover both sides of the leaves and be reapplied promptly after every heavy rain.

Careful watering will add life and beauty to your rose plants.

Gardening Questions

Q—Will two-year-old delphiniums produce a second crop of bloom?

A—Yes. Cut back almost to the ground after the spikes fade in color, and plug up the old hollow stalk with a pebble to keep out water and insects. Feed lightly with a 6-10-4 fertilizer. New spikes will grow for September bloom.

Q—What causes early dropping of plums and gummy substance on the fruit?

A—It may be caused by failure to follow a spray program, excess or lack of nitrogen and/or water in the soil, borers, etc. The gumming is probably due to curculio, a pest that attacks most fruits. Proper spraying will control them.

Pay Increases Hearten Soccer Players

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Heartened by a pay increase, the fourth since the Second World War, the 3,000 members of the 92-club Football League resume play Aug. 19.

The industrial disputes tribunal authorized pay increases ranging up to a maximum of £1 a week extra for the playing season and £2 extra a week during the off-season, raising the maximum salaries to £15 and £12 for the playing and non-playing seasons. In 1939, the totals were £8 and £6.

The powerful first division clubs, in the best position to pay the increases, hailed the move as timely. Struggling third division clubs said the findings constitute new financial crosses and predicted they will be able to hire fewer full-time soccer players.

The players union committee showed disappointment, and said it will continue to seek higher pay among other things.

YOUNGSTERS' PAY CUT

The increases, retroactive to July 1, didn't extend to 18- and 19-year-olds, who actually suffered a slight slice in their maximum pay rates. Biggest gainers were the handful of players selected to play for England or Wales against other countries. These all-stars henceforth will get £50 a match instead of £30. The union sought £100.

What the union actually wants is a little bargaining freedom for its charges, who can be bought and sold by the clubs without being able to do anything about it. The union wanted a three- or five-year playing contract, which the player would be able to renew himself.

It also sought a three-way split on the transfer fee that clubs get when they sell a player. Some of these reach five figures—and the union wanted one third to go to the selling club, one third to a league club pool and the remainder to a joint fund for the benefit of professional soccer players.

Another item sought by the players was the right of a player to have legal representation in any case affecting him, plus outright abolition of the pay maximum, as in Scotland.

There's a slight difference of opinion about how much the average soccer player earns in England and Wales these days. The union claims the sum totals £680. That's misleading, says manager Stan Cullis of first division Wolverhampton, who suggested £951 as a likelier figure, considering all benefits.

Incidentally, transfer fees can bring a club a lot of money, of which the player sees none. Sunderland in the first division has spent £60,000 this summer in an effort to improve its ninth-place position of last year. Some observers even are tipping Sunderland to win the league, although others point out that no "bought" club ever has won. All the signs point to Arsenal again, they say.

New York Marksmen Score Highest Points

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—Shooting against top-flight Canadian and American marksmen, A. B. Wood of Eldridge, N.Y., Friday scored highest points at the opening of the three-day meet of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen.

Wood shot 400-36x in the master class of the Sportsman Match.

A. Grundy of Windsor, Ont., won the marksman class of the Sportsman Match with 399-37x. G. Ouelette of Windsor topped the marksman class in the Runge Press Match with 395-23x.

NHL-CAHA Agreement Will Be Revised Shortly

TORONTO (CP) — The present agreement between the National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will be revised and new provisions will affect playoff funds, movement of players and uniformity of rules.

Officials of the two bodies met Friday and agreed to redraft the pro-amateur agreement, first drawn up in 1936 and revised six years later.

Amateur officials said they recognize that playoff money in junior A games can be distributed more equitably and CAHA president W. B. George of Kemptville said a new method of distribution will be worked out.

He added it would take into account travelling distances, the number of games and the period of time the clubs were engaged in post-schedule play.

DON'T WANT TAMPERING

NHL representatives asked CAHA officials to recommend to the CAHA executive that both amateur and professional scouts should not be allowed to "tamper" with players in the junior A, B or senior categories. They should be required to approach the team holding the player's contract, rather than negotiate directly with the player.

George said CAHA officials will recommend to the CAHA semi-annual meeting that the movement of players from west to east, and vice versa, banned for two years, be resumed after the next season. in each sponsored organization Under the new rule, two players would be allowed to make west-east transfers.

In a move towards uniformity of rules, the CAHA, which used its own "icing-the-puck" rule, will revert to the NHL version this year, in accordance with the agreement between the two groups.

Cockell Wins Decision Over Matthews

SEATTLE (AP)—A body blow thrown in the desperation of a losing battle doubled up the veteran Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle Friday night and put the fat but agile British heavyweight champion, Don Cockell, on the road to a 10-round, split decision victory.

A crowd of 14,868, which paid $96,606 to see the scrap, was as surprised as the 180-pound Matthews at the sudden ninth-round explosion. Cockell, who outweighed Matthews by 31½ pounds, was bleeding from a deep gash over his left cheekbone and seemed all but whipped after eight rounds.

Then he caught Harry with the sweeping smash to the mid-section and blasted the Seattle veteran on the jaw before he hit the canvas in the first of three nine-count knockdowns in that decisive ninth round.

HOWLS OF RAGE

There were howls of rage in the Matthews camp after the decision was announced. Only judge Eddie Pinkman favored the 31-year-old "Kid," 51 points to 49. Judge Jim Grant had it 50½ to 49½ for Cockell and referee Jimmy Wilson voted for the Briton, 55 to 45.

"I thought Harry won seven out of 10 rounds," said Jack Hurley, Matthews' manager. "He was so far in front at the ninth I didn't see how he could lose."

But the fight was decided on points. The Associated Press scorecard had Matthews winning six rounds, with two going to Cockell and two even—but split the points, 55 to each man.

Harry began piling up the points from the start, evading the rushes of the overweight Cockell and punishing him with sharp jabs and hooks. In the sixth he opened a cut 1½ inches long on the Londoner's cheek and he kept it bleeding for three rounds.

PAY-OFF PUNCH

Early in the ninth Cockell landed his payoff punch as Matthews moved to avoid entrapment in a corner. Don kept launching haymakers as Matthews kept getting up, and most of them landed The third knockdown, off a looping left, almost knocked Harry through the ropes.

"I was slow," said Cockell. "I couldn't catch him.

"I weighed 205 when I got here and went up to 211½ before the fight. I didn't get any road work and it slowed me down."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A hefty turnout of husky guys have been sweating it out the last several nights at Morrow Park. Coach Tony Kotowski has been putting Orfuns' grid prospects through some stiff calisthenics, and next week they'll go in for running, blocking, tackling, passing and kicking in nightly workouts. They have to hurry into condition with a game listed in Ottawa (an exhibition) on Aug. 22, and the ORFU schedule due to open ere the end of this month. Orillia players have been coming down, some newcomers, ex-PCI fellows, and most of last year's team. Notable exceptions have been Frank Fitzgerald (with the fire department) and Jerry and Don McGillis, tied up with evening work.

Just 10 years ago this week announcement was made that the Brock St. rink had been sold as a dance hall for $20,000. Just try to build it for anything like that today! Some stirring hockey was seen there in its 40 years as a palais d'ice. The structure was built in 1903 with the subscriptions of Peterborough fans, after the local team took the OHA intermediate title the year before, and it replaced the small Charlotte St. cushion. Hockey was played continuously in the Brock arena until 1942 when it was changed over to a dance pavilion, and local wartime teams had to switch to Lindsay and Omemee for "home" ice. Civic Arena was finally built several seasons back as a fill-in till the big Memorial Centre was constructed. Excuse our wry smile.

Fast Water for Skiers

Thrills galore promise this aft and tomorrow afternoon at the provincial water ski meet at Inverlea, as the speeders on the slats will find a worthy opponent in the swift Otonabee River. It's not quiet lake water by any means, and there'll be many a ducking ere the top winners are declared. Contestants come from various parts of Ontario for this championship meet, under CWSA sanction, and sponsored by the local ski club and the Jaycees. Good prizes up and continuous action promised both in competitions and in entertaining aquatic gimmicks. First time for such a meet in this city. Spectators may vew it from either bank, and parking facilities are provided.

An OLA senior meeting tomorrow will confirm dates of the OLA playoffs in semi-final series. Fergus Thistles are likely to open Monday in St. Kits, while Orillia (Toronto) Yorks will be here for the opener the same night. Petes probably will be in Orillia next Wednesday and back here Friday eve. Both are best-of-seven sets, survivors having a similar series in the finals to declare the OLA and Eastern Canada champs. Winner goes west after the Mann Cup in September. Those Yorks will be plenty tough when the chips are down, fielding a full team and roughing it up plenty in an effort to soften the leading Trailermen. Remember the Yorks-Petes' series last year! New attendance records are likely to be set this series.

Tigers Default to Petes

Hamilton Tigers were slated to wind up the senior OLA schedule here last night but sent word at noon that they wouldn't be on hand. So, it goes as a default and a windup win for the Trailermen, but President Bob Peirson and his executive don't like that stuff at all. They spent money advertising the game and also lost plenty by not having a Friday night fray here—a game that might have drawn close to 2,000. They'll raise Cain with the OLA executive about this at the next meeting. Hamilton maintained they had played their 30 games and were through. The whole mixup can be dated back to the time Brampton folded up and withdrew after various teams had played various numbers of games, and the schedule had to be redrafted. Just a mess all around.

* * * * * *

There may be some argument yet ere Mann Cup finals commence regarding six-man lacrosse. Western teams insist on the six-man game in the Canadian playoffs, whereas some eastern clubs aren't so sure they want to floor an abbreviated team against the fast-running westerners, who prefer an open type of lacrosse with less body-checking. OLA has been trying out the six-man game for several weeks now and it'll continue in eastern playoffs, but the Canadian Lacrosse Association eventually will have to rule on the six-man style or the seven-man type in the Mann Cup series. The Petes have done okay with six men on at a time, but they too are debating on which style to support in a pre-series discussion if they go all the way.

Canada Holds Commanding Tennis Lead

By W. [illegible] HEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Because of wider experience, sharper tennis smartness and greater familiarity with grass-court play, Canada today holds a commanding 2-0 lead over Cuba in the North American zone semi-final Davis Cup tie.

Backed by Friday's clear-cut singles victories of Henri Rochon and Lorne Main over the Garrido brothers, Reynaldo and Orlando, Canada's assignment in today's doubles was faced with confidence and full expectation that the series will be clinched.

Paul Willey of Vancouver was scheduled to make his official Davis Cup debut paired with Main. At the same time Ricardo Morales, 39-year-old captain of the Cuban team, planned to make his farewell stand in the blue-ribbon tennis competition as partner, with 22-year-old Orlando Garrido.

The Garridos Friday could salvage only one set in seven. Rochon, the bouncing Montreal southpaw, romped away to a straight-set victory over Reynaldo, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4, and Main, starting slowly and giving up a set while figuring out Orlando's style, went on merrily from there to win 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

GIVE LITTLE TROUBLE

Reynaldo relied largely on power but his flat shots gave Henri little trouble. Rochon, always unorthodox, decided to depart from his favorite drop shots and baffled his young opponent with slices to Reynaldo's forearm.

Reynaldo double-faulted eight times and had 26 outs to Henri's 18. Each netted 25 times.

For a while it looked as if the second match would put a different aspect on the day's results. Orlando wasted little time getting the jump on the slow-starting Main, but again experience ultimately told. It was a far more interesting match, producing 15 service breaks of which 10 were in Main's favor.

Both were guilty of errors galore in the first set which Garrido won.

After that Lorne changed his tactics. His top spin, with a high bouncing ball, had apparently been to Orlando's liking. From then on Lorne began chopping and cutting, scoring repeatedly on short angled placements. In all, the Toronto-Vancouver player had 43 placements to Orlando's 24.

STARTED LADIES' DAY

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Abner Powell, who originated the baseball rain check and ladies' day, died Friday. He was 92. In 1887 as player-manager of New Orleans Pelicans, he introduced the rain check because "we were losing money after rainy days then by giving tickets to those who jumped the fence or came in on passes." He started ladies' day in 1887.

Out At The Kawartha

LADIES SECTION

Thursday was a perfect day for golf! The weather man smiled on us, the course was in fine shape and Henry our steward, topped it all with a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. J. Gatfield won a point for low net and Mrs. Wm. Beggs won the golf ball. The competition was for par 4 holes and Mrs. H. Woodcox won a point. Mrs. Wm. Beggs and Mrs. H. Scott tied for the silver spoon. The draw going to Mrs. H. Scott.

In the 9-hole event the competition was low on hidden holes, won by Mrs. N. Williamson and Mrs. Wm. Wedlock, both receiving points. The silver spoon was won by Mrs. Murray Ranesbottom and the golf ball won by Mrs. Wm. Todd.

BUSINESS GIRLS

A great number of the B.G.'s are still on vacation but those who were out on Thursday evening were playing off matches and as the weather was the best all enjoyed the golf very much. Captain Dorothy Harle is on vacation too so Louise Spriggs announced the low net winner of the day's competition as Josephine O'Brien, who was given a spoon.

It will be of great interest we are sure to know that two of our B. G.'s are playing in the Ladies Canadian Open at the London Hunt Club this coming week. Ruth McKee and Barbara Siddall have sent in their entries and will be in London for a practice round on Sunday. We will be wishing them all the best and hoping that they both have "hot" rounds each day.

Our own Ladies Tournament is only three weeks away, August 22nd, so keep this in mind when visiting out of town Clubs.

Holloman Helps Give Leafs 6-3 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The much-celebrated Alva (Bobo) Holloman has finally come through with his first International Baseball League triumph.

Bobo had found it tough going since being sent down to Toronto by St. Louis Browns, for whom he pitched a no-hit no-run game against Philadelphia Athletics in his first major league start May 7.

Until Friday night, Bobo had failed to show anything impressive, and had lost two decisions with the Leafs.

Three runs in the 12th inning at Syracuse gave the Leafs a 6-3 victory over the Chiefs and Bobo's initial win. In the 11 innings he hurled, Holloman yielded only five hits. But Benie Zientara's two-run homer in the ninth deadlocked the score, forcing extra innings.

DOWN RED WINGS

At Montreal, the league-leading Royals downed Rochester Red Wings 5-3, tallying four times in the fourth inning.

Don Richmond and Tom Burgess walloped home runs for Rochester.

Buffalo Bisons, in second spot, exploded for five runs in the fifth inning at Buffalo to set up an easy 6-1 victory over Springfield Cubs. Jack Wallaesa hit his 27th round-tripper of the season for the Herd.

Both Baltimore pitchers batted in a run as the Orioles whipped Ottawa Athletics 7-4 at Ottawa. Dick Starr singled in a run in the sixth and reliefer Tom Herrin one in the seventh.

Selke Finds No Fault In Citadelles' Move

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, said Friday he could find no fault with the admission of Quebec Citadelles to the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league.

Here for discussions among NHL and Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials over the pro-amateur agreement between the two bodies, Selke told The Canadian Press, however, that the Citadelles' switch from the Quebec Juinor League to the OHA was a "peculiar move."

The Quebec team's move was ratified by the OHA here Thursday. They were ousted from the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association last spring over a play-off dispute and allowed by the CAHA to compete in the Memorial Cup playoffs.

Chicago White Sox Trail 6 Games As Yankees Win

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

More and more it looks as if Chicago White Sox are going to need outside help if they hope to overhaul the fast moving New York Yankees. The Sox went into today's double-header in New York trailing the world champions by six games. After today the clubs meet only six more times, meaning, of course, that the most the Chicagoans could possibly make up by their own efforts would be six games. Where the Sox can find that outside help is another question, for so far this season they are the only club that has as much as broken even with Casey Stengel's crew.

After Friday's 6-1 victory by the Yankees, the season's series stood even at seven games each.

It looked for awhile as if the Sox were going to jump off to a comfortable margin in the second inning when with one out they pounded Eddie Lopat for three straight hits—a double and two singles. But the attack netted only one run as a squeeze play failed. The Yankees settled the issue in the next inning.

Lopat started with a single. Joe Collins walked and when Minnie Minoso missed a quick cut-off on Mickey Mantle's hit, the fleet-footed Yankee circled the bases. Yogi Berra, the next man up, made the runs look legitimate by poking the ball into the right field seats. Billy Martin homered with one aboard in the eighth.

GAIN FULL GAME

The Yankees gained another full game over the third-place Cleveland Indians who bowed to Boston Red Sox 4-2. Brilliant fielding by Jim Piersall and relief pitching by Ellis Kinder saved Mel Parnell's 15th victory. Philadelphia Athletics edged Detroit Tigers 3-1 and Connie Marrero of Washington Senators shut out St. Louis Browns on three hits 12-0.

In the National League Brooklyn Dodgers maintained their 7½-game lead over Milwaukee Braves as all the first division teams triumphed. The Dodgers trounced Cincinnati Redlegs 9-4, Milwaukee whipped Pittsburgh Pirates 9-2, Philadelphia Phils nosed out Chicago Cubs 5-4 and St. Louis Cardinals handed New York Giants their 10th loss in 13 games, 2-1.

Parnell's victory over Cleveland was his first against the Indians at Fenway Park in almost four years. He drove in three of the runs.

Alex Kellner fanned seven in beating Ralph Branca and the Tigers for his 10th victory.

SEVENTH SHUTOUT

Marrero's shutout was the seventh one in the last eight games at Washington.

The Brooklyn game at Cincinnati was interrupted for 42 minutes by rain in the sixth inning, but it didn't help the Redlegs. The Dodgers had just scored three runs and led 3-2 when time was called. If no further play had been possible the three runs would have been washed out and the Redlegs would have won 2-0 on Andy Seminick's two-run homer in the fifth.

As it was the Dodgers added one in the seventh on Duke Snider's homer, four more in the eighth including a three-run drive by Carl Furillo and a final tally in the ninth.

The Cardinals pushed across the run that beat the Giants in the fourth with a double by Ray Jablonski and a single by Steve Bilko. Wilmer Mizell went all the way for his 10th victory.

The Phillies are 9½ games behind the Dodgers, but they play like champions when they encounter the Cubs. Their triumph Friday was their 13th in 14 meetings. Ralph Kiner hit his 27th homer for Chicago.

Del Crandall hit a two-run homer for the Braves.

Stone Church Now On Site First Hungarian Settlement

ESTERHAZY, Sask. (CP) — An old stone church a few miles south of this village in southeast Saskatchewan, overlooking the rolling hills and banks of the Qu'Appelle river valley, marks the site of the first Hungarian settlement in Canada.

The Kaposvar church stands where a group of 35 Hungarian families under the direction of Count Paul d'Esterhazy, a member of the Esterhazy family, one of the oldest and richest in Hungary, established an agricultural settlement in 1886.

The count, who conceived the idea of forming such a colony shortly after arriving in the United States from his native land, obtained permission of the federal government in Canada and the help of the CPR, and from his New York city headquarters, conducted a campaign to arouse interest in the project.

He gathered 35 families and left the U.S. The CPR made farm machinery available to the settlers on long-term payments.

WINTER TOO SEVERE

The colony did not flourish, however. Most of the settlers found the first winter too severe, and two-thirds of them left the next summer.

But Count d'Esterhazy remedied the situation in the spring of 1888 when he arrived from Hungary with 20 new, enthusiastic families. The community grew steadily and finally in 1902, a railway branch line was built through the district.

The first Kaposvar church, a modest log structure, was erected in 1892. A rectory of native stone was added shortly after the turn of the century, and in 1907, work on the present building began.

The Parish Priest, Rev. J. Pirot, went to his native Belgium and brought back working plans and his two brothers who were stone masons.

COLORFUL STONE

The structure required 1,600 loads of stone hauled by sleigh in the winter. The stones, in their natural brilliant red state, were cut and put up with mortar made from sand and chalk.

When the golden jubilee of the founding of the colony was celebrated in 1936, a stone cairn was erected honoring the original settlers.

One of the original pioneers, Lajos Gyuricska, still lives in the district. Many children, grandchildren and even great-grandchildren of those settlers also live in the area, several of them farming the same homesteads as their ancestors

Christian's Way Of Life Demands War Against Evil

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Apostle Paul, who was a Christian in a Roman pagan world dominated by power and Roman conquering armies, did not hesitate to draw effective illustrations for Christian life and conduct from the details of happenings in that Roman world

He compared the Christian life to a race (I Corinthians 9:24), and he laid great stress upon running to win. He had very strict notions of training and mastery, as will be seen from that same passage in I Corinthians 9. And he conceived of his own life as a race, patiently run, with a long goal ahead. (Acts 20:24).

In imperial Rome, with its dominance of the world, he saw the material realization of a similar dream of imperialism, but a spiritual imperialism of a world completely conquered by Christ and His gospel.

In that sense Paul was an imperialist, and the dream enshrined in the Lord's Prayer, "Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," is still the dream and prayer of Christians, though it is still far from fulfilment.

That Roman world was one of action, war, and conquest; and in his spiritual world Paul saw the Christian life and Christian duty, individual and collective, as demanding action, war, and conquest.

The Christian's warfare was against inward evils, temptations and weaknesses from which Paul himself was not immune. He himself was not immune.

But the foes of the Christian were not all inward. "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

These words, written so long ago, might well be a realistic rallying cry for Christians of today.

Against these forces of evil, within and without, Paul called for Christians, strong and well-prepared. He describes the well-equipped and well-armored soldier of Christ and the Cross in terms of the fighting man of the day, the irrestible and conquering Roman.

Indoctrination of the soldier, in which Paul was an expert, has a present-day importance, and preparations and provisions beyond the soldier himself are of vast proportions. But basically the conditions of successful warfare remain the same: preparation and efficiency, strength, courage and skill.

What the Christian world of today lacks is the Pauline sense of the Christian warfare. We tend to think of Christianity too exclusively in terms of personal character and conduct. What we need is aroused and awakened Christians, following a Son of God, Who goes forth to war, and fully equipped with all the available spiritual weapons for offense and defense.

99 Per Cent U.S. Citizens Believe There Is A God

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—The average United States citizen believes in God, considers religion "very important," attends church at least twice a month and thinks he'll go to heaven when he dies.

These are among a few of the findings of probably the most comprehensive survey ever made of religious beliefs and practices in the U.S.

"It's the first time such a study has been made in the United States," says Father Paul Bussard, editor of the Catholic Digest. "On almost every subject covered, the facts had never been recorded before."

For the last eight months partial results of the survey, made by an independent research firm, have been appearing in the digest with some findings still to be reported.

Here is the first consolidated summary of the main points so far determined about the faith and worship of adult Americans:

Almost all of them, 99 per cent, believe there is a God, although two per cent of these are not positive, but like to think God exists. Only one per cent flatly don't believe.

FEW WOMEN ATHEISTS

Among men, two per cent are athiests, but among women, the number of non-believers doesn't amount to even one-half per cent. College graduates included four per cent atheists.

Most people, 77 per cent, think the soul lives on after death. A slightly lesser majority, 72 per cent, believes there is a heaven where the good are eternally rewarded.

However, only 58 per cent think there is a hell where the bad are everlastingly punished. Just a few, 12 per cent, see any possibility whatever of their going to hell.

LOVING FATHER

The predominant conception of God, held by 79 per cent of adults, is a "loving father who looks after us," while 17 per cent consider God "some kind of supernatural power you can't describe." The other four per cent either are undecided or don't believe.

Only 32 per cent of the people polled go to church each Sunday. Counting those, a total of 68 per cent go sometimes, most of them at least twice monthly, while 32 per cent never go at all.

Highest weekly attendance is in New England, 45 per cent, and the lowest, 22 per cent, on the Pacific Coast, where a big bloc of 50 per cent of the people never go to church.

RELIGION IMPORTANT

However, 75 per cent of all adults consider religion "very important," 20 per cent say it's "fairly important," and only five per cent say it's "not very important."

Regard for religion isn't so high among college graduates, only 67 per cent count it "very important" or in big cities, 68 per cent. In rural areas, 84 per cent rate it tops.

As to what people should strive hardest to accomplish in this life, only a slim margin, 51 per cent, say preparing for an existence after death. Many 22 per cent, say attaining a comfortable life on earth is a principal duty, but 23 per cent say working for the present and the hereafter should get equal attention.

WIN TROPHY

A squad of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment (reserve), who are at summer training camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake won the brigade honors and trophy for precision drill Thursday. The squad was under command of Sergeant-Major Tommy Ash of Madoc.

SPEED BOAT RACES

The fastest speed boats to have ever operated in the Kawartha Lakes will be seen in action off Chemong Park on Sunday afternoon. Some of Canada's best drivers along with at least two from the United States are entered in the various classes which are scheduled to commence at 1:30 p.m.

Dollar Days Offer Shoppers Special Bargains

Last year it was tried for the first time in many years. It was more than successful. This year it will be held again for three days —August 13-14-15.

We are speaking of Dollar Day —the biggest buying value of the year. For three days the city of Peterborough will offer a community sale with approximately 100 merchants taking part. This is an event that every housewife will look forward to.

All stores participating will display stickers on their windows and bargains on their counters.

Out-of-towners as well will be able to make some wonderful purchases and no matter where you live, close to the downtown section or from out of town—one trip is all it will require to cover the town—getting better buys everywhere.

Sales staffs are loading counters and shelves and preparing for an onslaught of thrifty shoppers from the city and district—ready to take advantage of the year's biggest dollar values.

With the approach of autumn practically every member of the family will be in need of various articles of clothing—so what better time than to hustle downtown and make use of some of the finest saving buys ever offered.

'Dollar Day' has the approval of the Chamber of Commerce, and is a joint effort of that association and the Peterborough Examiner.

Rambling Reporter

IT DID THE TRICK

A picture which appeared in the Examiner before two Peterborough girls left on a trip to Europe, served as identification when they landed in Ireland recently. Miss Marian Parks and Miss Phyllis Sage were to visit relatives of Mr. John Boyd, 311 Stewart St. Since neither group was acquainted, there was the difficulty of getting the right people when the boat docked from England. However the Irish solved the dilemna very neatly. Firmly grasping the clipping which had been forwarded from Peterborough, the Irish hosts checked every passenger coming off the boat against the picture and found their Canadian guests without any trouble.

Henry B. Allen Still Active On 92nd Birthday

MILLBROOK (Staff)— Henry Burke Allen is celebrating his 92nd birthday today in the rambling red brick house where he was born.

The house stands atop a hill on the eastern edge of this village. It was built by his father, Archdeacon Thomas William Allen who, until his death in 1906, was Anglican rector of Cavan. For 57 years Archdeacon Allen conducted services in St. John's Church, Millbrook, and Christ Church. Bailieboro.

A native of County Sligo, Ireland, Archdeacon Allen came to Canada as a youthful parson and ministered at Kingston before coming to Millbrook. He was married to Jessie McClellan, a native of Scotland, and the couple had eight sons.

The eldest boy, George, went to the Canadian West and eventually became collector of customs in Emerson, Man. Norman and Thomas studied medicine. The former became a noted surgeon in Toronto and the latter established a practice in New York city. Walter studied law and practiced in Springfield, Ill.

Alec and William followed in their father's footsteps and studied theology. The former went to the United States and William eventually succeeded his father as rector of Cavan.

John and Henry remained on the family homestead after attending Trinity College School, Port Hope, "for a polishing off" as the latter says.

Today only Henry remains. He married the former Ida Fair, a sister of the late Robert Fair, of Peterborough. They had no children and so Mr. Allen is the last surviving member of his line.

With the exception of five or six years which he spent in Millbrook "leading a gentleman's life" he has lived on the family homestead which his father developed from its original 10 acres to its present extent of 100 acres.

When John Allen died, his son and namesake shared the work of the farm with his uncle until a couple of years ago when illness forced him into semi-invalidism. Today the land is worked by a neighbor, Joseph Thompson.

But Henry Allen, in all his 92 years, has never had ill health. The evening before last he mowed the grass on the pleasant farm lawn bordered by beds of hollyhocks, sweet William, phlox and sunflowers.

He reads the paper every day with the aid of "good common glasses that can be bought for a dollar" and shaves himself with a straight razor.

Although he smokes his pipe every day, Mr. Allen attributes his good health to moderate living. For exercise he takes an occasional walk through the fields and often walks into the village to do a bit of shopping.

A singer in the choir for many years, he is no longer able to attend church regularly because his hearing has begun to fail, although he is able to hear the baseball and hockey games on the radio, which he "wouldn't be without."

"They wanted me to wear a hearing aid," he explains, "so I tried one. But it was too much bother."

Among his many memories are those of the days when he would go to Peterborough for curling bonspiels, the favorite sport of his younger days. But his most vivid recollections are of the work on the farm where he has spent practically his whole life.

Mr. Allen has little respect for modern methods of farming with machinery, methods which he calls "slovenly."

"Maybe they cover a lot of ground," he is willing to admit. "But they don't seem to do it as thoroughly as we did with horses."

Sixteen coaches filled with members of more than a hundred lodges of the Royal Black Knights and Ladies of the Crystal Chapter, arrived at the CPR station about 11:30 today. They swelled the number in the city to an estimated 20,000, according to registration officials. To the sound of fife and drum, interspersed with the wail of an occasional bagpipe, a portion of the visiting group began marching up Aylmer St., towards the heart of the city. Others, no doubt hungry after the long ride, started directly up George St. towards the nearest restaurant. The minor parade that started up Aylmer St., was headed by the St. Andrew's Girl Pipe Band of Toronto—a group of young ladies quite proficient on that ancient wind instrument.

Throughout the morning chartered buses and private cars were bringing hundreds from all over the district.

The men and a sprinkling of women and children announced their identity, some merely with small orange ribons, and others with colorful sashes and aprons. Many wore bright uniforms and a few wore top hats and morning dress.

They looked over the town and the town looked them over. They window shopped and wandered through the stores. They were visitors having a good time despite the cloudy day and the high humidity that threatened rain.

A few who had brought their own lunches with them, sat on benches or the lawn in Confederation park.

There is a representation of lodges, chapters and preceptories from as far east as Ottawa and west to London.

Upon arrival all members of the lodges registered at the Armoury. Wreath placing ceremonies took place at the War Memorial at 1:00 p.m. and shortly after a parade lined up before the Armoury. At 2:45 p.m. the parade began along McDonnel St. to George and eventually to the Exhibition grounds, led by the CGE Pipe Band.

A program lined up there included selections by the CGE Pipe Band, a welcome by Mayor Hugh Waddell, and addresses by Leslie Saunders, Toronto, and Very Worshipful Sir Knight Norris, County Master, York County.

HONORS SIEGE

The celebration, Derry Day, being held in Peterboroguh this year, is in honor of the citizens of Londonderry, who withstood the forces of King James II in 1688. King James was attempting to regain the throne of England.

The campaign finally came to an end in 1690 with the defeat of King James at the Battle of the Boyne. At this time each year the Royal Black Knights of Ireland assemble to commemorate the victory.

This year Weir, Royal Black Preceptory, 261, of Peterborough, is playing host to the many visiting lodges and chapters.

92 YEARS AGO Henry Burke Allen was born in the farm home where he still lives on the eastern edge of Millbrook. He is the eldest and the only surviving son of Archdeacon Thomas William Allen. Other brothers left the farm but he stayed and worked the land. Modern machine methods? —"slovenly" says Mr. Allen. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Arrangements Being Completed For Election

The office of the District Returning Officer Arthur J. McClellan is in a flurry of excitement and activity today as last-minute preparations are being made for Monday's federal election.

In the first two days that the advance poll has been open at the DRO's office only nine voters have marked their ballots.

A number of others have come in believing that they were eligible to vote in the advance poll, but they could not qualify. Some insurance salesmen, for instance, who were going to be out of town Monday believed they could vote this week. It was explained that commercial travellers only whose regular business kept them out of the city could qualify.

Travellers from other centres also asked if they could vote in Peterborough, but they had to be turned down.

Most other arrangements have been completed and last ballot boxes are being picked up today.

The staff is working today to complete the transfers which will allow scrutineers working in one poll but registered to vote in another poll, to vote where they are. They are not allowed to leave their station throughout the day.

Mr. McClellan is keeping his fingers crossed hoping that there will not be any 11th hour changes required among the officers. At the last federal election a death in the family of one officer forced him to find a substitute. This week he has had to find a few to fill vacated posts.

The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daylight saving time. Mr. McClellan has asked that the deputy returning officers at the polling stations telephone in their results as soon as possible to either 4971 or 3604.

The 33,219 voters of Peterborough riding have three men to choose from as their representative in the House of Commons. They are Gordon K. Fraser, Progressive Conservative member for the past 13 years; Max J Swanston, Liberal candidate and former mayor of Peterborough making his first bid for election in the federal field and Maurice Ketcheson CCF standard bearer, who has long been interested in politics and municipal affairs but also a freshman in the dominion political field.

Conservatives And Liberals Recognize Cause Of Strife Was An Honest Mistake

Gordon K. Fraser Had Wrong Script of Speech Given By Mrs. Arthur Parker; Contained Part of Another Address

The election controversy between Liberals and Progressive Conservatives over what Mrs. Arthur Parker actually said in her July 24th radio speech cooled down today from the superheated stage to a mere boil. Both political parties now recognize that the cause of the verbal slugging-match was an unfortunate but honest mistake. Little wonder that they couldn't agree on what the Peterborough housewife had to say on Gordon K. Fraser's record in the House of Commons, and on the subject of George Drew. Mr. Fraser, the PC, candidate got hold of a wrong script.

When Mr. Fraser went to Sattion CHEX to check on the written text and the tape recording of Mrs. Parker's speech in support of Max Swanston, Liberal candidate, he got what he wanted. But somehow he also got a partial text of another script written by David Croll, the hard-hitting Liberal candidate for Toronto Spadina.

Mr. Fraser quoted Mrs. Parker as saying George Drew would would "cut down the number of people receiving family allowances" by using a means test. A copy of the speech, filed with CHEX, shows that Mrs. Parker didn't say this; and the tape recording bears it out.

ON CROLL SCRIPT

The fact is this: the reference to George Drew and family allowances was on the Croll script. Somehow part of the Toronto Liberal candidate's script was attached to the copy of Mrs. Parker's—and the fat was in the fire.

Mr. Fraser said today he is standing pat and not making an apology to Mrs. Parker as demanded by the Peterborough Liberal Association.

"I have nothing to apologize for," he said. "I went to the radio station and was given a speech and it was my understanding that it was Mrs. Parker's speech."

"Are you satisfied now that the part dealing with Mr. Drew and family allowances was not part of Mrs. Parker's speech?" the Examiner asked today.

"Let it go at this," he said. "I asked for Mrs. Parker's speech and that's what they gave me. I copied the main extracts from two pages of Mrs. Parker's speech The third page was missing."

"Will you agree that a mistake was made and that particular section of the speech wasn't Mrs. Parker's?" the PC candidate was asked.

"If there was a mistake it wasn't mine," he said.

The controversy spread over the last five days came to a head Friday afternoon after Mr. Fraser had described parts of Mrs. Parker's speech as a "downright lie" and "garbled untruth"; and the Liberals had sprung to their speaker's defence and counter-charged with "deliberate untruth" and "vicious attack". There was a two-hour sesison at CHEX in which the matter was threshed out.

It was generaly agreed that a mistake had been made in attributing parts of the Croll speech to Mrs. Parker.

The situation was summed up by CHEX Manager Don Lawrie:

"It looks very much as though a mistake was made, somehow so that a speech attributed to Mrs. Parker was actually made by another Liberal speaker, Mr. Croll.

"I'm sure Mr. Fraser in quoting those remarks and attributing them to Mrs. Parker did so in all innocence and he believed they were made by Mrs. Parker at that time. The incident, I think, is regretted by everybody."

However the Liberal Association were still hot under the collar and not disposed to forgive or forget so easily.

T. J. Carley, QC, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, said today:

"The Liberal Association feel that after Gus Faux denied at Douro on August 5 that Mrs. Parker had spoken the words Mr. Fraser had accused her of speaking, then Mr. Fraser was under a strong duty to check his statement with the tape recording of her speech before repeating his vicious attack on August 6 at his Peterborough meeting.

"We feel that Mr. Fraser should have made amends for his incorrect accusation by making a public apology to Mrs. Parker as speedily as possible. This he has failed to do."

The PC candidate when interviewed today said that the only part of the speech he checked closely on the tape recording was the part where he alleges Mrs. Parker attacked him for opposing social security measures and voting against them in the House of Commons.

Deluge Drowns Sparrows

MACOMB, Ill. (AP)—It rained so hard Friday it drowned the sparrows in their roosts. After a cloudburst dropped 1.10 inches of rain in about 15 minutes, the courthouse lawn was covered with dead sparrows. Guy Nell, the courthouse custodian, said he gathered up about 1,100 birds which had fallen from trees around the courthouse.

THE PETERBORO—This design uses two fourteen foot joist spans in depth making a commodious layout for property about 60 feet wide. The second floor is laid out to provide additional bedrooms and bath. All rooms are adapted to a pleasing furniture arrangement, and a good cross circulation. The exterior features a lovely bay window and a small porch which protects the front door. While brick is indicated the design would look equally lovely in shingle or siding. This is another in the series on practical home planning by Harold C. Beckett, Architect, 52 Chatham Street West, Windsor, Ont.

Army Planning Big Exercise

CALGARY (CP) — The largest peacetime military exercise in the history of the Canadian Army will be held at Wainwright military camp Aug. 20-29, with more than 5,000 active and reserve force troops taking part.

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding, western command, will be directing officer of the exercise.

To be known as Exercise "Buffalo IV," and designed to take place on a divisional scale, the scheme will also act as a test of the 25th Canadian infantry brigade replacement group, the next Canadian formation to go to Korea.

An unusual side feature of the exercise will be a familiarization or indoctrination course run by the army for newspaper reporters. Lectures and discussions will be conducted by qualified instructors on army organization, what to look for in battles of defence and attack, how to look for information and censorship.

Windows Are The Eyes Of Your Home

The small car bumped along the muddy road in the early summer sunshine and pulled up under a tree at the marked for lot No. 68. All the frontages on this side faced south, stretching to wooded ravine on the north property line.

George Kirby switched off the motor. "Jim tells me there are just two left in this area—this one and No. 97 across the ravine there. We've got to settle for one today."

"They both suit us, mused his wife. "Neighborhood, services, tax rate, location—they're identical. But that lovely big elm is an added premium. I vote this one, George."

'Identical? Not quite, honey. In one way they're absolute opposites. I'm thinking about windows."

"Windows? How can we tell about windows if we havent even seen a plan?"

"We don't need a plan—all we need is this piece of ground. Let's analyze this thing. No. 97 faces north, with the wooded outlook to the south. This one faces south, with the same view to the north. Now, we both want our big windows on the south side, to capture winter sunlight? Right? If we built on No. 97, they will also face the wooded view. Then, too, we can have smaller windows higher up on the north, or street side, and achieve privacy. That's not all — you take the prevailing winds in this area . . . "

"What a marvellous brain you have, darling! You win—I'll forget the elm tree."

THINK EARLY ABOUT WINDOW

The moral in this little incident is obvious—its never too early to think about windows.

Many potential home builders do not think of them at all until the decorating stage is reached when they are confronted with a glare problem in the living room. Or they have to paint the nursery bright yellow because the sun never enters.

Others become window-conscious while plans are being drawn up, and then realize suddenly that the picture window is going to command a striking view along rows of clotheslines and garbage cans. A wise few, like George Kirby, begin thinking of windows before closing the deal on their chosen homesite. Thanks to new techniques, better materials and design, today's approach to window planning is untimely linked with the basic problems of orientation and site planning.

All windows have, from time immemorial, performed two main functions: (a) the controlled entry of light and air, and (b) observation. To these we have in recent times, added a third—the admission of solar heat in winter.

Each of the basic types in use today performs one or more of these functions efficiently, but a window will rarely do all three. That is why a house usually has more than one type of installation.

The most common of these, the familiar double-hung sash, is also the most versatile. It will open at the top, at the bottom, or in both places at once. The two sashes are held firm at any position with sash balances. Where a large window is required, several double-hung sash may be installed side by side. The new narrow mullions permit a slim, neat appearance in double-hung sash, where formerly divisions had a bulky appearance if installed in series.

VENTILATION IMPORTANT

Ventilation is the prime need here, of course, but often the importance of daylight is overlooked. Some folks say bedrooms are for sleeping in, so why worry about the sun?

A great many more like to see the sun first thing in the morning. They claim it's a poor sort of bedroom if one cannot tell what sort of day it is without getting out of bed.

Thus, the most desirable bedrooms look out on the east or southeast. If this is on a street side, privacy may be maintained by the use of an awning window "strip" placed fairly high on the bedroom wall. Where privacy is not an important consideration, the double-hung sash is of course ideal.

WINDOW TYPES

Clerestories are becoming increasingly popular here. Combined with others at a lower level, the arrangement ensures particularly good air circulation.

The most popular kitchen window is very often a small version of the picture window. The housewife, who spends a good deal of time in the kitchen, prefers to look out on a pleasant corner of the garden or a tree on the lawn.

The picture window in the living room poses several problems of its own. It is usually a fixed sash, though it requires one or two flanking sashes or louvres for ventilation. Obviously, if the outlook is noteworthy, a picture window is appropriate. If it fronts a busy street, or the neighbors' drive, however, not much is gained, and much of privacy may be lost.

If you are including a picture window in your plans, remember it admits a great deal of light. There is no light so strong as daylight, and when it comes from one big source in a large room like the living room, a glare problem may result. A second window, even a small one, will correct this if it is placed on an adjacent wall.

If hot, sultry weather is a concern, think twice before placing a picture window or glass wall on the west side. The sun hangs in the western sky for hours on summer evenings. A large window on the south wall will admit sunlight during most of a winter's day, with the roof overhang keeping sun off the same window in the summer.

The term "cross-ventilation" is often mis-used. Two windows placed at right angles will not provide this desirable state. You must have two windows on opposite walls.

Most of us are well aware how slowly some houses cool off after a hot summer day, even if the air has turned cool outside. Study the prevailing winds before you build. Let's suppose they, are southwesterly. If low louvres or ventilating windows are placed on the south or west wall near the floor, you will thus provide an entry for the cool evening air, which always appears first at ground level. It is equally important, however, to provide openings, such as clerestories high up on the opposite side, to serve as exits for the warm air already in the room.

If your house is built on a slope, remember the cool layer of evening air on the ground tends to flow downhill like water; your low windows should be placed on the uphill wall in this case, and your high openings should look downhill.

All window styles in use today are factory made in a variety of styles and stock sizes, with either wood or metal sash. Study the available styles and sizes when planning, and avoid the unnecessary expense of custom-built windows.

Plot Layout Tile Floors Carefully

BY MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Home hanlymen who attempt to install resilient tile floors without practice or instruction find that there's more to it than meets the untrained eye. Floors must be carefully prepared according to tile manufacturers' recommendations. Then comes the even more exacting job of laying out the tile pattern.

The pattern is blotted in the same way for all resilient tiles—asphalt, rubber, linoleum and cork being among them. This column will deal with the common, "on the square" pattern. The other general type of tile pattern is known as "on the diagonal."

First step in planning the pattern layout is to find the centre of the floor. Start by locating the centres of two parallel walls, then snap a chalk line on the floor between these two points. The centre of the floor is, of course a point midway the length of the line. It can be fixed by tape-rule measurement.

Now you must do what the trade calls "squaring off" the floor by snapping another chalk line through the centre point, exactly at right angles to the first chalk line. The following method of striking the right angle is preferred (for accuracy) above others.

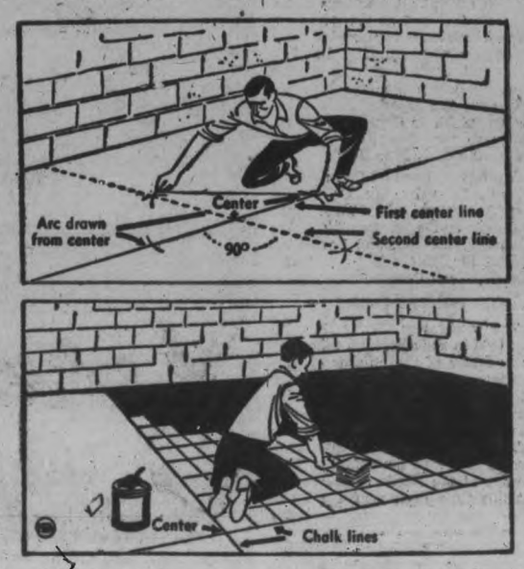
From the centre point on the first mentioned chalk line, draw an arc that cuts the line at two points equidistant from the centre. Use about a three-foot radius. Using the two points where the arc crosses the chalk line as centres, draw two more separate arcs on both sides of the chalk line. Now snap another line through the points where the latter two arcs cross each other. Extend the lines to the other two opposite walls.

Next, determine the number of tiles needed to extend from center to the four walls in order that all border tiles will be the same size for balanced design. This is determined by placing a row of tiles along each of the two centre lines, but not on top of the lines.

If the space for the two end tiles in one row turns out to be smaller than the space for those in the other row, one of the chalk lines can be moved a few inches, always being kept at right angles to the other. Thus you can adjust the rows so all end tiles can be cut the same size. Be sure to erase the old chalk line to avoid confusion later.

Now the two temporary rows of tile can be taken up and adhesive spread over half the floor. The proper paste for cementing various types of floors—wood, cement or metal—must be used. Spread it with a notched trowel designed for the job.

Avoid losing sight of the center lines in spreading adhesive by leaving a small exposed spot where the lines cross and other spots where line smeet the walls. Then strike new chalk lines on top of the adhesive, using the old lines as guides.



When the adhesive has set to the point where it no longer sticks to a finger when touched, the first tile is ready to be put in place. Lay it adjacent to a center line with a corner of the tile at the point where the two chalk lines cross. Then lay a row of tiles along each center line, being sure the rows are laid accurately and straight, for they will serve as guides for the rest of the installation.

Starting from the corner of the quadrant where the first tile was laid, install all succeeding tiles as if you were building a pyramid from the top down—the peak of the pyramid being the center of the floor. Avoid sliding tiles into place. Lay all full tiles in each quadrant first. Save all cutting until later.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—If oiling doesn't keep door hinges from squeaking, what else can be done?

A—Pull out the hinge pin and file a flat area the whole length of the pin. Oil again and replace.

CHALK LINES used as guides in laying resilient tile must be drawn at exact right angles to each other.

Peterborough Riding

Conservatives Represented Peterborough 64 Of 86 Years Since Confederation

When the voters of Peterborough riding go to the polls Monday, probably the chief question in their minds, apart from the issues discussed during the election campaign just ended, will be whether or not the Liberal party can bring to an end the Progressive Conservatives' 13-year hold on the constituency.

Although the riding has returned a Liberal only six times in the 19 elections since Confederation, it cannot be called a "safe seat" for the party which formed the official opposition in the last parliament. At the last general election in 1949, Liberal candidate Dit Clapper came within 243 votes of defeating his opponent.

In that contest, CCF candidate Howard Miles obtained 2,804 votes, generally claimed to be to the disadvantage of the Liberals. In spite of the fact that a CCF candidate is running again this election, the Liberals are more optimistic than ever. They claim to be better organized and say they have had more time to spend in campaigning.

Peterborough riding is substantially the same constituency as old Peterborough West which lasted fairly well intact, with a few minor boundary changes, from Confederation in 1867 until last year, when only the name was altered.

In 1924, part of Peterborough East was incorporated into Peterborough West, the remainder going to Hastings - Peterborough, which was established by the redistribution bill of that year.

In 1947, South Monaghan township was taken from Peterborough West and incorporated into Northumberland riding. Since then the boundaries have remained substantially the same, although the name was changed by the 1952 redistribution bill.

Peterborough riding now comprises the townships of Galway, Cavendish, Harvey, Ennismore, Smith, Douro, Otonabee and North Monaghan, together with the city of Peterborough. It includes the village of Lakefield.

Peterborough's traditional inclination towards Conservatism is demonstrated by the fact that it has had a Conservative member for 64 of the 86 years since Confederation.

In the first election after the Dominion was formed, Charles Perry won the seat for the Conservatives and held it for five years until 1872, when John Bertram was elected for the Liberals. As a result of the election scandals of that year, however, Mr. Bertram did not take his seat. The returning officer returned William Cluxton, a Conservative, who sat from March, 1873 to November 7 of the same year.

The House was dissolved January 2, 1874, and in the ensuing election Mr. Bertram was elected, holding the seat until the next general election in 1878.

That year began a long Conservative reign in the riding until 1904. George Hilliard held the seat from 1878 to 1887, James Stevenson until 1891 and James Kendry until 1904, each for two terms.

R. R. Hall won the seat for the Liberals in 1904 and J. R. Stratton in 1908. J. H. Burnham won it back for the Conservatives in 1911 and held it for two terms until 1921, when G. N. Gordon scored a Liberal victory.

E. A. Peck was Conservative member for 10 years, winning elections in 1925, 1926 and 1930. Then J. J. Duffus held the seat for the Liberals from 1935 until 1940.

GORDON KNAPMAN FRASER, who has represented Peterborough riding since 1940, is this year once again the Progressive Conservative standard-bearer. He is seeking to win his fourth election. If he succeeds, he will establish a record for any candidate of any party in the riding.

First elected to the House of Commons in the general election of 1940, he was re-elected in 1945 and 1949.

Noted for his personal interest in the problems of his constituents, he has achieved a reputation as one of the most prolific questioners in the House of Commons.

Ever since entering the House, he has been a member of three of its most important committees, external affairs, banking and commerce and public accounts. Recently he was added to membership on the committee on government-owned railways and steamships.

In addition to his parliamentary duties, he has contributed to many local activities, such as tourist promotion, social welfare and conservation.

Until 1926, he was president of the first tourist association in Peterborough, the Trent Waterway Development Association, which was formed in 1920. After 1926 he became a director of the Ontario Tourist Association.

Among the subjects in which Mr. Fraser has taken a keen interest as a member of parliament are veterans' affairs, especially housing and the Veterans' Land Act, agriculture, the Trans-Canada highway, trade and commerce, a national health program, the St. Lawrence seaway, the Unemployment Insurance Act, pensions for the blind and improvement of mail delivery.

He is an honorary president and life member of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society, president of the East Centre Progressive Conservative Association (comprising Victoria, Haliburton, Durham, Northumberland and Peterborough counties), member of the executive of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association, member of the Board of Governors of Lakefield Preparatory School, life member of the Scottish Rite Club, Hamilton; life member of the Barton Lodge, AF and AM, Hamilton; member of Moore Preceptory No. 13, Knights Templar, Peterborough, and a member of Clementi Lodge, AF and AM, Lakefield.

Mr. Fraser was born at Hamilton, Ont., March 6, 1891, a son of Robert Squair Fraser and Elizabeth Ann Fraser. His father was of Scotch descent and his mother of English stock.

He was educated at Highfield School, Hamilton Collegiate and Hamilton Art School. He was married December 2, 1914, and he and Mrs. Fraser have three children, Gordon Kaye, who served with the Royal Canadian Navy for 2½ years and is now with the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests in Tweed, June Noel Tuckett, an office-employee at CGE, and Phyllis Noreen McNeill, at home, and two grandchildren, Gordon Kaye and Karen.

He is a member of the following clubs: Peterborough Curling, Peterborough Golf and Country, Kawartha Golf and Country, Kiwanis, and Peterborough Cricket Club, of which hs is honorary vice-president.

He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and resides at Burleigh Falls.

MAXWELL JOHN SWANSTON, who is making his first bid for the House of Commons as Liberal candidate, is no stranger to politics but has heretofore confined his activities to the municipal field.

He entered Peterborough city council in 1940 and served eight years as an alderman. He was elected mayor in 1949 and re-elected in 1950 and 1951.

Mr. Swanston was born in Ashburnham. Both his father and mother were early settlers of this district.

He attended public and high school here and served his apprenticeship on The Examiner as as compositor. He is a former president of Local 248 of the International Typographical Union.

During the First World War, Mr. Swanston served as a pilot with the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Air Force.

He entered business in 1936 with others in forming the Peterborough Printing Co. Ltd. and is now president of Peterborough Printing Ltd.

He has been a member of the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital since 1949 and was made chairman in 1952.

He is a member of Peterborough Lodge AF and AM; a Scottish Rite Mason, charter president and honorary member of the Lions Club, and a member of the Peterborough Club and the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Swanston attends St. John's Anglican Church, of which he is a member of the advisory board.

In his younger days he was a star baseball player and was catcher for the Peterborough senior baseball club for several years. Today his hobbies are confined to gardening, fishing and hunting.

He is married to the former Helen Burgess of this city. They have one son, James, of Toronto.

MAURICE EMERY KETCHESON, president of the Peterborough riding association of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, will uphold his party's standard in Monday's general election.

Interested in any undertaking beneficial to the citizens, Mr. Ketcheson in 1951 asked for an investigation into use of funds subscribed to build a memorial community centre but decided against pressing the request after talking it over with Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay.

The following year he sponsored a petition addressed to Judge John de N. Kennedy of Peterborough, listing six points of grievance concerning the funds for the proposed arena.

Claiming as his chief interest the desire "to assist any citizen to obtain information and assistance in welfare," the CCF candidate promises, if he is elected, he will have an office "where citizens can call and receive any help I can get them pertaining to business, etc."

Mr. Ketcheson was born April 17, 1882, on a fam at Wallbridge, Sidney township, Hastings county, of United Empire Loyalist extraction. His parents were William David Ketcheson and Cynthia Scott.

When his father sold the farm and moved to Trenton, Mr. Ketcheson learned the barber's trade but, because there were no unions at that time to control the hours of work, he took a position as traveller for the Metropolitan Manufacturing Co., covering the territory from Oshawa through the Ottawa valley.

His wife, the former Ethel Maude Hazelton of Sidney township, is no longer living. He has 17 grandchildren and five great grandsons, one of whom was born in Victoria, B.C., on Tuesday last.

An adherent of the United Church, he has for years been interested in the promotion of the social democratic philosophy and the aims of the CCF.

"This is perhaps the most important hobby I have, if it could be classed as such," Mr. Ketcheson says.

Must Consider Aid Application

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Financial aid from the Canadian disaster relief fund for victims of Western Ontario's May 21 tornado cannot be assured until after the committee administering the national fund is able to consider the district's application, R. W. Main of Toronto said Friday.

Mr. Main, secretary to James S. Duncan, Ontario representative of the fund, said, however, he has assured Middlesex officials their application for assistance will be considered by the committee.

Middlesex county clerk W. A. Sutherland, a member of a delegation which met Mr. Main in Toronto Wednesday, told a meeting of the county tornado relief finance committee that the committee of the national fund probably would not be able to meet until Mr. Duncan returns from a trip to Europe.

U.S. Officials Silent On H-Bomb News

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and the atomic energy commission heard without comment today the news of Soviet Premier Malenkov's announcement that the United States no longer has a monopoly on the hydrogen bomb.

The president was informed of the Moscow report, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters, adding that there would be no comment at this time.

AEC officials likewise declined to discuss the matter. A spokesman said Chairman Lewis R. Strauss was out of town and that efforts were being made to contact him.

The U. S never has said that it has developed a hydrogen bomb. AEC announcements have said only that there have been experiments in certain thermonuclear devices. This has been taken to mean that work has been done on hydrogen bomb-like explosives.

Rumors of a successful H-bomb explosion followed a series of tests last year in a Pacific Island group.

Some sailors wrote letters home telling of entire islands disappearing.

Conservatives

He quoted this extract from the Parker speech as advertised by the Liberal Association in Friday night's Examiner.

"He has been able to take no part in forming the policies that have so greatly altered our lives. On the contrary, he has opposed them—not vigorously, it is true, but he has voted against them."

He said he stands by his previous statement. At the Lakefield meeting last Tuesday he denounced that section of the Parker speech in these words: "That's a downright lie of the worst kind. I've never voted against the passing of any social security measures."

SURPRISED, SHOCKED

And what has Mrs. Parker—one of the two principals in this last-minute pre-election scrap— got to say about it all?

In a radio address Friday night—only her second since the campaign started — she said she was "surprised and shocked."

She flatly denied that in her address she mentioned Mr. Drew's name or suggested that he would cut family allowances; and she denied ever saying that Mr. Fraser had ever voted against social security measures in the House of Commons.

"We women have been urged by all parties to take a greater interest in public affairs," she said. "In fact I think Mr. Fraser himself has so urged. Is it likely that any woman will do so if she is to be subjected to vicious, unwarranted attacks from a public platform by a politician like Mr. Fraser?"

"There was no excuse for such a misrepresentation since my talk was tape recorded by the radio station and was available in its entirety to Mr. Fraser at any time after the broadcast had been aired.

Being accused of speaking garbled untruths is a new experience for me and one which I deeply resent."

And what does the man in the street think of it all?

"Well," said one longtime resident, "it looked like a pretty dull election campaign. This really livened things up. Just like old times."

Mrs. Wellington Mills

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Lone Gunman Nets $85 In Service Station Holdup

HAMILTON (CP) — A lone gunman this morning held up Jack Costigan, proprietor of a service station on No. 2 highway near Wolfe Island, took $86 and escaped in a waiting car in which was imbedded at least one bullet from the holdup victim's gun.

This was the fifth hold-up at the station in three years, but the first in which Mr. Costigan himself has been the victim.

Mr. Costigan told police he was sitting in the station office when a young man walked in and asked for a road map.

When he turned to get the map, the man growled, "All right, I want all your money."

Mr. Costigan said he reached into his pocket, and the man asked, "Haven't you got a cash register?"

"No, I keep it all in my pocket," Mr. Costigan replied.

PRODUCE REVOLVER

With that the hold-up man produced a black revolver, grabbed the money and ordered Mr. Costigan to face the wall and keep quiet for five minutes.

When he heard the man running, Mr. Costigan reached into a desk drawer and pulled out the station revolver. He fired once, he said afterwards, hitting the rear door of a dark blue or black Hudson sedan for which the hold-up man was heading. The car immediately started to move, with the hold-up man still running after it. The gunman caught up with the car after about 100 yards.

Mr. Costigan said he fired a second shot as the man was getting into the automobile, but missed. The car sped off in the direction of Toronto.

Mr. Costigan said the hold-up man ripped the telephone off the office wall before leaving but did not know there was an extension to his home.

A short time after the hold-up, a car reported it had been forced off the road by a dark blue Hudson, and police believe the hold-up men may be headed for Niagara Falls.

May Replace Jute With Kenaf Plant

WASHINGTON — Kenaf, a fast-growing fiber plant that looks like a hollihock and is distantly related to both cotton and okra, may someday rival jute as a major source of bagging material.

Agricultural scientists of five continents are experimenting with the plant, says the National Geographic Society. They have established that its soft, straw-colored fiber can substitute for jute in sacking, twine and rope, and caulking materials, as well as in backing for rugs and carpets. Still undetermined is whether it can be grown and processed cheaply enough to compete with jute.

The Australian government is the latest to test kenaf's commercial possibilities. Successful plantings have been made at Eriama in Papua, New Guinea, and 15,000 additional acres in the Oro Bay region were recently earmarked for seeding. Eventualy, iti s hoped, kenaf may replace jute for copra sacks and wool packs.

FLORIDA PILOT PLANTS

Eperimental plantings of kenaf have been under way in Florida's Lake Okeechobe region since 1951. Interest of the American government, which annually import almost one billion pounds pounds of jute and burlap, stems from experiences during World War II when jute supplies from Asia were cut off.

U. S. agronomists believe the fiber may one day be a major crop in many of the sourthern states. Meanwhile, the United States is also encouraging Latin American growers to test the plant. Technical assistance is furnished under the Point Four Program.

Cuba, experimenting with kenaf on a large scale since 1943, envisions homegrown output sufficiet to bag its entire sugar crop. Cuba annually imports $20,000,000 worth of sugar bagging. A local kenaf industry also would provide off-season employment for sugar workers.

LONG KNOWN TO WORLD

Kenaf isnot new. Both India and Pakistan, which produce 95% of the world's jute supply, grow kenaf commercially. But it has always been a stepchild to jute in those countries. Manchuria has extensively cultivated the fiber in the last 25 years. Before World War II, 25% of its jute requirements were filled by kneaf fiber.

Russia has experimented with the crop since 1933. South Africa, Java, Brazil and El Salvador also have produced it in limited limited quantities.

Kenaf, or Hibiscus as it is scientifically known, has a slender single stem that grows 10 to 12 feet high in three months. The fiber is in the bark of the stalk, around a pithy core. It is extracted either mechanically or by retting in stagnant water.

Tests have been made of the plant's seeds as a source of edible oil, and the seed mash has possibilities as cattle or poultry feed.
